FRESH GERMAN TROOPS ARRIVE AT AISNE AS FIGHT RAGES FIERCELY

Ernest F. Staff (Correspondent) PARIS, May 29.—The 4th division of fresh German troops has arrived on the front and has been known to the fighting. The French were once again today that the French were fighting foot by foot towards the eastern border of Soissons.

retired slowly to a southeasterly direction. We hold the heights between the Vesle river and the Aisne canal. Soissons is 65 miles northeast of Paris—90 miles to two and one-half miles northwest of Rheims. The front of St. Thierry is about two miles west of the town.

FEARFUL SLAUGHTER AS HUNS CROSSED THE VESLE RIVER

Machine Guns Swept Them Down by the Thousands—Strong Reserve Armies Halt the Boches After They Had Advanced Some Miles—Allied Strategy Worked Out as Planned—Lines of the Entente Armies Are Firm and Unbroken—Germans Claim 15,000 Prisoners—Many of Whom Are Believed to be Non-combatants.

THE WAR SITUATION TODAY (Frank Chantley, I. N. S. Cable Editor) After advancing ten miles on the Aisne river front, from a point north of the Chemin des Dames to the Vesle river, which they succeeded in crossing at the cost of a fearful massacre, the Germans encountered strong reserve armies which held them like a chain of steel.

General Foch, the allied generalissimo, has the situation well in hand everywhere. The other big feature of the war situation today was that Americans are now upon the Aisne front, forming part of the reserve army which is holding the Teutonic hordes in check.

The hills south of the Vesle river, in front of which the Kaiser's armies now stand firm, a strong defensive line for the allies and the Germans will hold them there.

It is a noteworthy fact that it was only in the center that the Germans were able to make progress. The right and left flanks, on both of which French and British troops stand have held firm. This has given the German line the form of a sharp salient against the wings of which the allied forces can attack with excellent chances of success.

The Germans claim the capture of 15,000 prisoners in the Aisne drive, but whether or not these are all prisoners of war, is not revealed. Part of them may be non-combatants caught in the tide of struggle.

This was the 70th day of the German grand offensive which was first launched against Amiens, on March 21—and the third day of the Aisne drive.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The Germans are being brought to a halt on the Aisne front. General Foch is bringing up reserves to meet the current of German troops and the British and American troops are with the reserves and are fighting shoulder to shoulder with the French and British.

Members of National War Labor Board Are the Doctors-Who Are to Cure the Labor Troubles of America

By David M. Church (N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 29.—America now has its "labor doctors." The national war labor board is conducted like a body of consulting physicians might conduct their lunatics. The patients are disgruntled labor organizations and employers with a grievance and employers who have troubles. The ailments which the board is to cure are those of two chief surgeons are William Howard Taft, ex-president of the United States, and Frank P. Walsh, of Kansas City, Mo., lawyer and labor mediator.

In their offices in the department of labor the national war labor board meets daily and has regular official hours. There is a steady stream of patients with "ailments" of all sorts. The list of patients runs the gamut from a little group of onion seeders who want increased wages and shorter hours to a group of carpenters who have been called in to explain why they are not maintaining proper sanitary conditions in their shops.

When the office opens in the morning there are generally patients ready to enter the national office. "Oh, the office closes at night there is a steady stream of labor-organization leaders and employers who are seeking adjustments of labor troubles. Directly to the main board—no detours. The are no long sessions with the national war labor board, every one must respect the state his case in brief and in a quick decision given.

The board seeks to hear both sides, but they waste no time in getting the other side in. A group of employees complain against their employer and the employer has to present to put up with the story. The resistance telephone is used and the employer is given an opportunity to ask for a hearing.

Above all the board seeks to prevent strikes. Both parties are generally asked to withhold all action until the decision of the board has been given and the promise is given that all decisions are retroactive. Thus far the board has been very successful in preventing both employers and employees. Their very first case concerned a threatened strike of more than 20,000 cigar makers in New York. The board succeeded in getting both parties to leave the entire matter out of adjustment of new wage scales in the hands of the board.

The national war labor board is a hundred of persons. This was shown the second day of its opening and when Mrs. Clifford Pinchot scouted her heels in the waiting room for more than an hour while some lunatics, some bricklayers and some carpenters were held. When it came her turn Mrs. Pinchot was called and allowed to present her case in some clear making girls in whom she is interested.

American Red Cross Infant Welfare Unite Plans To Save Lives of 50,000 French Babies in Year

WASHINGTON, May 27.—To save the lives of at least fifty thousand French babies this year is the hope of the infant welfare unit of the four hundred started in France, where the death rate among infants is tremendous, according to statements made by Dr. William P. Lucas, chief of the bureau, who returned to this country.

"In America there is one physician to every 500 people," said Dr. Lucas. "In France there is but one physician to 5,000 people, and I know of communities where there is but one to 20,000 people. As a result, the death rate is enormous, and the birth rate has fallen, as it has in each of the belligerent countries."

"The infant mortality work has several phases. One is directly through our centers, where the public comes for preventive work. France was the first country that started preventive work for infants and has the best organization, where the doctors meet the mothers and children. But there is no organized home visiting, and we are assisting to create schools to train women in this work."

"Two months ago we started an educational campaign. The first infant welfare exhibit was in Chartres, and the success there and the interest were immense. We immediately started the organization of the most successful infant welfare exhibit ever seen here. The best American record was one in Philadelphia in 1912 when a nine-day baby show was visited by 67,000 people. In Ypsom our infant-welfare exhibit was visited by 71,565 in the same first nine days. We showed kindergarten work, recreational and playground work, food exhibits, moving pictures and lantern slides as well as demonstrations of washing and caring for infants. This is the general type of our educational work throughout France."

Dr. Lucas said the bureau had examined 25,000 registered babies coming through Douan in the past six months and altogether has come into touch with 100,000 French children.

War Saving Stamps Boost From Bowman

Says Encouraging Your Resources is a Man's Job—Buckler in a Circle Gets You Nowhere

ONE, when there were cow-punchers on the range and things like that, Skinky Hawkins sallied a wild horse that was in his string, rolled a cigarette, tightened his spurs, climbed on deck and—bingo—nose between his knees, back humped, tail flapping like a fly-swatter that mustang started. American Exposed Hohenzollern Devilry Yankee Secret Service Outwitted Teton Cunnings—Story Told in The Eagle's Eye, at Orpheum.

The graphic story of the discovery of the intricate plots of the German spy system worked under Ambassador Bernstorff and their exposure is told in motion picture form, through the marvellous ingenuity of the men entrusted with the work of circumventing plots against our country. The work of William J. Flynn as chief of the United States secret service has made him an international celebrity.

"And when the crucial test came, at the beginning of intensive propaganda against the American government by the use of trained spy magazines sent in the United States by the Imperial German government, his name became known as the man who stood at the cornerstone of the institution which stood a vigilant guard over the safety and comfort of American citizens and American interests. From the perils so amply provided by the Kaiser's agents.

No man knows as well as Chief Flynn the hundreds of lies concealed by this vast foreign organization in aiming protection on American soil without passing hidden messages, detecting, counter-planning and defeating these plans to plunge a death-neutral nation into chaos. Chief Flynn, with his able assistants, accomplished the greatest work of our century in carrying out the mission of safety from internal intruders. This is not because it is so recent, but because of the gigantic proportions of the task he received and the magnitude of his appealing show of efficiency, thorough preparation and the unlimbed resources and Agency of Deas and Sky and the rest of us to save America from the perils of the world of America, have got to put it through.

It is the actual facts of the most important and gigantic of these contemporary events in the history of the efficient conduct of American enterprise upon which Chief Flynn has based his career. His "Eagle's Eye" is a year of experience and knowledge, all detecting and successfully quieting all manner of criminal activity of sufficient importance to require careful preparation because a terrible menace it was intended against American lives, American property and American industry.

NIGHT WAR SCENE IN NEW FOX PHOTOPLAY

"Keep down. Above all things do not move until you get the word." In the darkness that early now and then was broken as a bomb burst and great rays of light showed the line of German soldiers in the trench, illuminated by a great gleam of light displayed an advancing column. Then rang the command to advance. But it was too late—the Snaffles were upon them. The Americans had won the battle of the night.

It was not on the western front, but it might just as well have been, so far as appearances were concerned, the scene of the blowing of the great William Fox play, "For Liberty," in which Gladys Brockwell is the star. It was all a night and only the sound of the bursting bombs showed the movement and struggles of the soldiers in the equipment of the trench.

PURE FOOD AND MARKET

The Housewife's Problem of Today

This Calendar of Thrifty Recipes is intended to help the thrifty housewife feed her family well.

True economy in cooking is the elimination of waste and the selection of strength-giving, palatable dishes that are inexpensively prepared.

Extravagance and what is termed "the high cost of living" is evidenced by what people leave in the shops because they do not know how to prepare it as well as by what is thrown away.

The human body requires proteins, carbohydrates, fats and mineral matter.

Proteins are muscle builders. Meat, eggs, cheese, nuts and vegetables belonging to the pulse family such as beans, peas, etc., are rich in proteins.

Carbohydrates are sugars and the starches and supply energy. They are found in cane sugar and root vegetables such as potatoes, beets, carrots, etc.

Fats and oils provide heat and energy. Cream, butter, oils, meat fats, etc., contain heat properties.

Minerals are bone builders; green vegetables and grain supplying them.

As these elements are combined in varying proportions in different food stuffs, hence the need of a varied diet. A well planned meal includes 1000 food units each division. For this reason meals are usually served with potatoes and a green vegetable.

Well cooked food containing sufficient percentage of body building elements is certain to please the appetite.

All nourished people crave other stimulants. This is one cause of liquor-drinking, especially among men whose work is heavy. A stimulant, a counter balance is needed, which of course is more expensive than normal foods.

Money saved on food without impairing its value or relish is money ahead.

The excellent recipes contained in this Calendar of Thrifty Recipes have all been carefully selected by the leading women of America as being particularly suitable for this sort of calendar.

MEAT DISHES, SOUPS, ETC.

Beef Loaf
1 pound round steak and 3 slices dried bread put through chopper.
1 egg beaten.
Season with salt, pepper and paprika dressing; mould into a loaf and place 4 strips of salt pork on top fastened with toothpicks; sprinkle thickly with flour and paprika. Bake 20 minutes. Add kitchen bouquet and Worcestershire sauce to the juices in the pan for gravy.

MRS. F. J. SHEPARD,
President New Hampshire Federation of Women's Clubs.

"Arms Got Feller"
(Rice with Chicken)
Take two young chickens, prepare for frying. Put a large kettle on the stove with two tablespoons each of butter and olive oil. When very hot in a few pieces of chicken, butter and oil from time to time, as you add about one-half inch of butter and oil in your kettle all the time. Just before you have finished trying the chicken add one sliced onion and fry with the chicken and then add a little water, two cloves of garlic cut up; about one tablespoon of salt, salt and pepper to taste and simmer until done adding water as needed. When done remove chicken and put it where it can be kept hot until needed. Have two or three cups of rice cleaned and washed according to how many you wish to serve. Put it into the boiling liquid left from the chicken, adding just enough water to keep rice from burning. Add more salt and pepper to taste and boil twenty-five minutes, stirring often to keep rice from sticking. When rice is done it should have absorbed all liquid. Now put your chicken in a casserole or on a large platter, keep the rice over it and decorate freely with pimento cut in strips.

MRS. BLANCHIE H. HARRIS,
President West Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs.

Meat and Rice Scallops
1 cup meat, ground (left over of lamb, veal or beef).
2 cups boiled rice.
1/2 cup tomato sauce (or part tomato sauce and part meat gravy).
Arrange in layers of rice, meat and sauce, with sauce on top. Cover with buttered cracker crumbs and bake a half hour.

MRS. D. O. KINSMAN,
President Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs.

Figs in Blankets
Pepper and roll one dozen large oysters; with a toothpick fasten a piece of bacon around each oyster; put in dripping pan with one oyster; turn oysters once and serve hot.

BIG SNAGGS

SAYS:
"My gun, that daily list in a peach. They can be nearly as fast yesterday as they did the day before. But anything I ever need, but what I want to say was, that I got a letter from 'Peter Bunker' and he's come out here so riled up that I'm larger than you can water me down here his way, for we have the SOIL. Put up your boot and be the happy, reding family of the times."

General March at Meeting of Cabinet

Information Lacking Regarding the Cases of the Inauguration—Brought Late Reports With Him.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Secretary of War Baker and Chief of Staff Crowl P. C. March conferred with President Wilson at the White House this afternoon. No information as to the nature of the discussion was forthcoming. It was assumed that the chief of staff explained to his superiors the latest developments in the new German drive.

Later General March was present at the regular cabinet meeting. This was the first time since the outbreak of the war that the chief of staff of either the army or the navy had attended a cabinet meeting although army and navy officers have been urging that the presence of these experts was necessary if the president and his advisers were to completely understand army and navy developments.

General March is understood to have taken with him to the cabinet room the case of the inauguration, which he said the chief of staff of either the army or the navy had attended a cabinet meeting although army and navy officers have been urging that the presence of these experts was necessary if the president and his advisers were to completely understand army and navy developments.

LONGER AIR MAIL ROUTES SOUGHT BY AERO CLUB

NEW YORK, May 28.—The executive committee of the Aero Club of America has written to Secretary Baker and Assistant Postmaster General Proctor, endorsing mail service and urging the extension of the service from New York through the Pittsburgh and Cleveland, and from New York to Boston.

The club authorities point out that the route now shows the absolute necessity of giving more extensive cross country flying, training to military aviation students and point out that by extending the aerial mail service the students will have different routes to cover which they can cover in turn, and the gain extensive experience in cross flying.

SHOE DEALERS MEETING IN MEMPHIS, TENN., TODAY

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 27.—Shoe dealers of Arkansas, Tennessee and Tennessee are holding a convention here today. A permanent organization, to be known as the Tri-State Shoe Dealers' association, will be formed and will be a branch of the National Shoe Dealers' association. Some men attending the meeting here today in the opinion there will be no let-up in the steady advance in shoes. In many sections of the country there are reports that demand is greater for high-priced shoes than for the low priced articles.

TEN BIG STEEL SHIPS REPORTED AS COMPLETE

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Ten steel vessels, totalling a tonnage of 82,498 were completed for the shipping board last week. It was announced by the board this afternoon that the average daily output was a 9,000 ton ship. Eight were requisitioned ships and two were contracted. There were eighteen launchings during the week, the fifteen being steel vessels and three wooden.

WAR CUTS LAWYER CROP

TOPEKA, Kan., May 28.—The war will likely cut down the crop of Kansas lawyers, according to an announcement from the offices of the clerk of the Supreme Court. The annual spring State bar examination was changed from June 17 to May 20 in order to accommodate the young law students who were likely to be called in the draft. There will be no other examination for at least a year and probably until the end of the war, it was also announced.

BELEIVED LIBERTY BELL SIGN WAS PHONE OFFICE

DES MOINES, Ia., May 29.—"Whereabouts can I pay my telephone bill?" asked a stranger of Fred Bonfante, head of the military department of a local store.

"I have no such place here," replied Bonfante in surprise.

"Then what you got them sign up for?" queried the man, pointing to a sign in the door.

Bonfante looked. The sign was a Liberty loan bell.

American Red Cross Infant Welfare Unite Plans To Save Lives of 50,000 French Babies in Year

WASHINGTON, May 22.—To give the lives of less than 100,000 French babies in this year is the hope of the infant welfare unit of the four hundred strong in France, where the death rate among infants is tremendous, according to statements made by Dr. William P. Lucas, chief of the bureau, just returned to this country.

"In America there is one physician to every 500 people," Dr. Lucas said. "In France there is but one physician to 5,000 people, and I know of communities where there is but one to 20,000 people. As a result the death rate is enormous, and the birth rate has fallen, as it has in each of the belligerent countries."

"The infant mortality work has several phases." It is directly through its centers, where the babies are cared for, that the work is done. France was the first country that started preventive work for infants and has the best organization, where the doctor meets the mothers and children. But there is no organized home visiting, and we are assisting to create schools to train women in this work.

"Two months ago we started an educational campaign. The first infant welfare exhibit was in Chicago, and the success there and the general interest were immense. We immediately started the organization of the most successful infant welfare exhibit I have ever seen. The best American record was one in Philadelphia in 1917 when a nine-day baby show was visited by 67,000 people. In Lyons our infant welfare exhibit was visited by 71,565 in the same first ten days. The show showed kindergarten work, recreational and playground work, food exhibits, moving pictures and lantern slides as well as demonstrations of washing and caring for infants. This is the general type of our educational work throughout France."

Dr. Lucas said the bureau had examined 28,000 repaired children coming through Spain in the past six months and altogether had come into touch with 160,000 French children.

Members of National War Labor Board are the Doctors Who Are to Cure the Labor Troubles of America

By David M. Church (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, May 22.—America has its "labor doctors."

The national war labor board is conducted like a body of consulting physicians might conduct their business. The patients are disgruntled labor organizations, labor organizations with a grievance and employers who have troubles. The ailments with which they are afflicted are labor troubles.

When the chief surgeon, Arthur H. Howland, ex-president of the United States, and Frank P. Walsh, of Kansas City, Mo., lawyer and labor mediator.

In their offices in the department of labor the national war labor board meets daily and has regular official hours. There is a steady stream of patients with "ailments" of all sorts. The list of patients runs the gamut from a little group of onion weeders who want increased wages and shorter hours to a group of capitalists who have been called in to explain why they are not maintaining proper sanitary conditions in their shops.

When the chief surgeon is ready to enter the general office. Until the office closes at night there is a steady stream of labor organizations, leaders and employers who are seeking adjustments of labor troubles. Briefly the demand made upon them "There are no long sessions with the national war labor board, every one must expect to state his case briefly and to have a quick decision is given. At all ways the board seeks to hear both sides, but they waste no time in settling the other side. If a group of employees is in dispute with their employer it gives an opportunity to ask for a hearing.

Above all, the board seeks to prevent strikes. Both parties are generally asked to withhold all action until the decision of the board has been given and the promise is given that all decisions are retroactive. Thus far the board has been very successful in preventing the faith of both employers and employees is given. All cases concerning a threatened strike of more than 40,000 paper makers, but the board succeeded in getting both parties to the table and settling the matter. The national war labor board is the second day of its organization, when Mrs. Clifford Pinchot could hear a case in the matter of a strike between an hour while some longshoremen, some bricklayers and some carpenters were heard. When it came to the case of the International Seaman's Union and T. A. Eickert, of the United States and workers.

Yankee Secret Service Outwitted Tenth Cunnings—Story Told In The Eagle's Eye, at Orpheum.

The graphic story of the discovery of the intricate plot of the German spy system worked under Ambassador Hunsicker and their exposure is told in motion pictures portraying the marvellous ingenuity of the men entrusted with the work of circumventing the plot against our country.

The work of William J. Flynn as chief of the United States secret service has made him an international figure. And when the crucial test came, at the beginning of intensive propaganda by the German government by the host of trained spies maintained in the United States by the Imperial German government, he became known to every household as the cornerstone of the institution which stood a vigilant guard over the safety and comfort of our citizens and sons and protected them from the perils so amply provided by the Kaiser's agents.

Mr. Flynn knows no well as Chief Flynn the hundreds of ideas conceived by this vast foreign organization which is the protection of American soil without parallel in history. And in detecting, counter-planning and defeating these plans to plunge a spearhead into the heart of our country, he has maintained the safety from internal agitators. This, not because it is so recent, but because of the significant proportions of the task that is facing our government in its appealing show of efficiency, thorough preparation, and the unlimited resources in money, brain power and numbers. Facing an enemy of such proportions, each trained for years in some phase of criminal practice, such as the art of forgery, the art of espionage, incendiarism and bombing.

Chief Flynn met the emergency so effectively that not one of the plans so carefully prepared by the German menace is now intended against American lives, American property and American industry.

It is the actual facts of the most important and gigantic of these operations by Imperial Germany against the United States which are being portrayed upon which Chief Flynn has based the photo-play "The Eagle's Eye." His years of experience, his keen eye, detecting and successfully cutting out all manner of criminal activity of sufficient importance to come within the scope of the war effort, his service was the foundation of his work to protect America from the present danger of its internal enemies—the Hohenzollern spy system.

He has been named by newspapers everywhere the picture of the perfect man. His name has become synonymous with national safety from espionage, propaganda.

THOMAS ATTACKS THE SMOOT PENSION BILL

Senator Thomas declared that pension bills were made the subject of political rancor and that he had been informed that his opposition to pension bills would lose the Democratic party a large number of votes and would bring the Republicans into greater power.

Senator Smoot of Utah ridiculed the bills and claimed that opposition to all bills always brings reports of a switching of a political faction. Senator Thomas declared he would continue to oppose the granting of further pensions.

PURE FOOD AND MARKET

The Housewife's Problem of Today

This Calendar of Thrifty Recipes is intended to help the frugal housewife feed her family well.

True economy in cooking is the elimination of waste and the selection of strongly-flavored, palatable dishes that are inexpensively prepared.

Extravagance and what is termed "the high cost of living" is evidenced by what people leave in the shops because they do not know how to prepare it as well as by what is thrown away.

The human body requires proteins, carbohydrates, fats and mineral matter. Proteins are muscle builders. Meat, eggs, cheese, nuts and vegetables belong to the pulse family such as beans, peas, etc., are rich in proteins.

Carbohydrates are sugars and the starches and starchy cereals. They are found in cane sugar, root vegetables such as potatoes, beets, carrots, etc.

Fats and oils provide heat and energy. Cream, butter, olive, meat fats, etc., contain heat properties. Minerals are bone builders; green vegetables and grains supplying them.

As these elements are combined in varying proportions in different food-stuffs, hence the need of a varied diet. A well planned meal includes food from each division. For this reason meals are usually served with potatoes and a green vegetable.

Well cooked food containing sufficient percentage of body building elements is certain to please the appetite.

All nourished people crave either stimulants or sedatives. In one case of liquor drinking, especially among men, wise work is heavy. A stimulant, a counter balance is a green vegetable, of course is more expensive than normal foods.

Money saved on food without impairing its value or relish is money ahead. The excellent recipes contained in this Calendar of Thrifty Recipes have all been carefully selected by the leading women of America as being particularly suitable for this sort of a calendar.

MEAT DISHES, SOUPS, ETC.

Beef Steak 1 pound round steak and 3 slices dried bread put through chopper. 1 egg beaten.

Season with salt, pepper and paprika dressing; mould into a loaf and place 4 strips of salt pork on top, fastened with footpeaks; sprinkle it thickly with flour and paprika. Bake 30 minutes. Add kitchen bouquet and Worcestershire-sauce to the juice in the pan for gravy.

MRS. F. J. SHEPPARD, President New Hampshire Federation of Women's Clubs.

"-Arroz Con Pollo." (Rice with Chicken). Take two young chickens, prepare for frying. Put a large kettle on the stove with five tablespoons each of butter and olive oil. When very hot put in a few pieces of chicken, butter and oil from time to time, as you add about one-half inch of butter and oil in your kettle all the time. Fry the chicken until finished frying. The skin and one slice onion and then fry the chicken and chicken and fry a little water, two cloves of garlic cut up; about one tablespoon of butter, salt and pepper, to taste and simmer until done adding water as needed. When done remove chicken and put it where it can be kept hot and moist. Have two or three cups of rice cleaned and washed according to how many you wish to serve. Put it into the boiling liquid left from the chicken, adding just enough water to keep rice from burning. Add more salt and pepper to taste and boil twenty five minutes, stirring often to keep rice from sticking. When rice is done it should have absorbed all liquid. Now put your chicken in a casserole or on a large platter, help the rice over it and decorate freely with pimento cut in strips.

MRS. ELANOR H. HARRIS, President West Indies Federation of Women's Clubs.

Meat and Rice Scallops 1 cup meat, ground (left over of lamb, veal or beef). 2 cups boiled rice. 1 1/2 cups tomato sauce, (or part tomato sauce and part meat gravy).

Arrange in layers of rice, meat and sauce, with sauce on top. Cover with buttered cracker crumbs and bake a half hour.

MRS. D. O. KINGMAN, President Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs.

Pigs In Blankets Pepper and salt one dozen large oysters; with a toothpick fasten a piece of bacon around each oyster; put in a dripping pan in hot oven; turn oysters once and serve hot.

The TIMES is an Independent Democratic newspaper; but it knows no politics as opposed to the most united and vigorous prosecution of the war that is possible. Therefore, it is AGAIN say Man; Democrat of Republican, caught throwing hardware into the machine together with his hands or with his mouth. If this be "partisan," make the most of it!

A FREE HAND FOR MR. HUGHES

There ought not to have been a moment's hesitation on the part of the senate committee on military affairs in granting Mr. Hughes's request for a free hand in the present investigation. Why any senator who professes to want the country to know the truth should have quibbled about it is beyond understanding.

Mr. Hughes's argument against a dual inquiry is unassailable. Any attempt to carry on parallel investigations means hopeless complications and unduly burdensome for the party if evidence should be produced to warrant criminal prosecutions. No one can draw a distinction between Mr. Hughes engaged in for the department of justice and the inquiry into the senate committee on military affairs. Mr. Hughes's authority must be complete. As he says in his letter to the attorney general, "We shall not be able to ascertain whether there has been dishonesty or malversation unless we go thoroughly into all the transactions which have been had."

The investigation that Mr. Hughes intends to make will be comprehensive. If we discover a basis for civil suits by the government, they will be instituted. If we find grounds for a criminal prosecution, it will be ordered to go before the grand jury to hold indictments. If we find no sufficient basis for such proceedings, our conclusion, which was shared by the country, could not well be stated as a more negative conclusion, but should be accompanied by a fair, candid and adequate statement of the facts to which our investigation has disclosed.

This is what the American people want, and they know that it is what Mr. Hughes will do.

The senate committee on military affairs has already conducted a preliminary investigation, the results of which commanded neither public attention nor public confidence. Two reports were submitted, which were widely conflicting both in their statements of fact and in their conclusions. Some of the members of the committee refused to sign their report, and it was apparent that no serious or intelligent attempt had been made to investigate. The committee had been misled by the situation, one group suppressing everything that was creditable in the way of aircraft production and the other exaggerating all the mistakes and the delays.

The fiasco of the senate's own investigation is an added reason why Mr. Hughes should have a free hand or be embarrassed in the work that he is to do. In giving him a free hand the committee is surrendering none of its rights or its powers. When he has finished, it will be free, if it chooses, to conduct an aircraft investigation of its own, but the investigation throughout the existence of the sixty-first congress. But in the same time the committee is surrendering through Mr. Hughes, who will have a fair, candid and adequate statement of the facts.—New York World.

Without the slightest intention to do with the actions of the majority of the senate military committee, in investigating impudently in this case, as it has done after its own views, unfair and astute methods of investigation had become manifest, the majority of this committee continuing to act the part which it played ever since it began its stupid inquiries last December. Hence, the hope which was held by the people that Judge Hughes would investigate the appointment of Judge Hughes was made, that he could readily understand how a senate investigation might interfere with investigation by the department of justice.

The committee, when it finally determined to intrude, would, had it desired to be fair, have appointed as the sub-committee on the collection of evidence, the three members who refused to sign their minority minority report, and who insisted that there any report to be made all the evidence available should be secured and the matter taken up personally with President Wilson, in order that he might furnish what facts he had. These were the only men who really showed a desire to go to the bottom, and hear the evidence before bringing in a verdict. They alone of the members of the committee, showed the fullest degree of the proper idea of responsibility and the right spirit of inquiry, and would, had they been appointed as suggested, have done less harm than the sub-committee which was selected.

COMMENDABLE STATE OF MIND

While Congressman Kitchen is stowing his guns because President Wilson insisted on prompt action on the revenue bill, instead of favoring adjournment, there is one phase of the situation that must commend itself to all and that is the lack of maintenance of friendship and the relative unanimity with which all parties and all shades of opinion start on the serious work of framing a revenue bill.

The radicals of both parties claim a triumph because the tendency is to rely on direct taxation to something like the degree for which they originally contended. They say that this should have been the policy from the first. On the other hand, the conservative elements assert that they stated while the revenue law now in force was pending, that they would favor a very considerable increase in tax on wealth in the second revenue bill to be passed after the tax law had time to readjust itself. And they say that such time has now arrived and they are ready for the increase.

The discussion is of relatively little present interest, since, so far, there seems to be comparatively little difference between the two elements with reference to what should be done now. The difference over this question was between parties in the two most political parties after the tax law. The ultra-conservatives when the present law was enacted wanted the tax on wealth and on excess profits much lower than it is. The ultra-radicals of both parties wanted it much higher.

INNOVATION A GOOD ONE

Though an innovation, the policy of calling the chief of army staff into the national cabinet meetings was done yesterday, in a good one, and we believe should have been adopted long ago: in fact at the foundation of the country. The present administration has in most things followed closely the suggestions of the general staff of the army and navy. In this it has been extremely right. The military men know more about military matters, and the navy men more about naval matters than any layman possibly could, although about every man you meet is a military and naval expert, and nobody can tell more definitely what the fleet ought to do, than some who have never seen the ocean.

If a policy suggested by either staff falls, then the membership should be changed, if it appears that the misalignment resulted from incompetency; that the general staff should have charge of military and naval dispositions. This has been done more consistently by the present incumbent of the presidential chair than by any previous war president, and this is wholly commendable.

"JACK" WHITE'S PROMOTION

The people of Twin Falls county, ever those from whom he quite radically differed in his editorial policy, will rejoice to learn of the promotion to lieutenantcy, of John Warren White, formerly proprietor of the Huhl Pioneer and the Idaho Call, two epic newspapers, one published in the west and city and the other in Kimpney. At all times patriotic, "Jack," as he was familiarly called, did not hesitate, whenever his pen was directed toward freedom, to join the ranks as a private. Being a veteran of the Spanish-American and Philippine wars, and familiar with military tactics, he rose steadily and it is no surprise to those who know him to find that he has earned a commission. His work in drilling troops at Camp America, near the capital of the nation, will beyond a doubt be satisfactory and earn him further promotion.

HITTING OF RUTH AN UNUSUAL ASSET

By Jack Veheik (I. N. Sports Editor) NEW YORK, May 23.—When the good left arm of Babe Ruth begins to weaken the scribble will start showing the swan song that usually accompanies such incidents.

Ruth is a pitcher of unusual talents. He is a right-handed pitcher, steadily control and the strength and speed to turn back the heaviest hitting teams. He is good for between twenty and thirty victories a season to the Red Sox, and in addition to the percentage of games he wins with his arm may be added a certain percentage that are won by the means of his bat.

For four years Ruth has been a member of the Red Sox and for those years he has been one of the greatest stars of the first magnitude. In his last three campaigns his hitting has been the mark of the American League on frequent occasions, and this year he has started showing his way to another fat batting average. He took with the slider, been consistent, and Manager Ed Barrows says that he is a natural .300 hitter.

CIFFY JEW SLIDES OUT OF SIGNING FRIENDS' NOTE

NEW YORK, May 23.—President Alfred B. Smith, of the Board of Aldermen, tells how he was misled by the acquaintance got out of endorsing the note of a friend.

The two Jews were in the clothing business and long been intimates, but had not seen one another in several months, so that Solomon was very sure of his friend's name. He called upon Isaac—that is until he found that Isaac was on a money-raising expedition.

Noon Meal Periods For Wisconsin Women Workers to Be Argued

Madison, Wis., May 23.—The question of the length of noon meal periods for women workers of Wisconsin will be argued tomorrow and Wednesday before the industrial commission. It is expected that an order has been proposed by the women's department of the industrial commission which provides that, in Milwaukee manufacturing plants where a room conveniently located has been adequately equipped as a lunch room, the lunch period may be forty-five minutes.

In restaurants throughout the state the proposed order provides that the meal period may be thirty minutes. If strict labor between meals does not exceed five hours, and if the employees eat their meals upon the premises, in all other places of employment to which the women's hours

WASHINGTON, May 23

The new revenue legislation introduced by President Wilson Monday will reach out into many heretofore untouched fields of taxation. This was pointed out today by leaders who will have charge of the new bill despite the general understanding that the revenue act to be passed will be limited to the incomes, war profits and luxuries.

The word "luxuries" is to be regarded in an elastic term, it was stated. It will be the purpose of many articles which have escaped taxation in the past. For instance, the leaders expect that the new bill which will be proposed will be a small levy, perhaps a fraction of a cent, upon a box of matches, insignificant as they may seem. It indicates how far into the everyday life of the average citizen the new taxes will extend.

Roberts Painted as a Vicious Serpent

Attorney Plays Man Who Betrayed Grace Lusk—Says Her Honor Was High As Ideals

"WAKUESHA, Wis., May 23.—Painting Dr. David Roberts as a "vicious serpent" was the chief theme of the address which kept her honor as high as her ideals. Attorney James Clancy this morning made a final plea to the jury to save his client from the penitentiary. He pleaded that Miss Lusk's act in killing Mrs. Mary Newman Roberts was entirely prompted by a diseased mind.

"It is impossible to believe that this woman could be here on trial today as the taker of human life and a self destroyer unless her mind was diseased," declared Clancy.

Bridging the Gap From Steer to Steak

Live stock is raised on the farms and ranches of the West.

Meat is eaten in the large cities of the East, and by our boys in France — thousands of miles away.

The day of transporting live animals from ranch to seaboard and overseas has passed. There was too much waste. The modern packer locates his large and specialized plants in the producing regions.

By means of his nation-wide organization the modern packer maintains a continuous flow of meats, to all parts of the country, so that each retailer gets just the quantity and quality of meat his trade demands, and at the time he wants it.

Swift & Company recently shipped 1,000 carloads of meat products in one week to our Armies and to the Allies.

Bridging the gap from ranch to consumer can be done successfully—and at low unit costs and profits—only by large business organizations.

Swift & Company's profit on meat, always so small as to have practically no effect on prices, is now limited by the Government to about 2 cents on each dollar of sales.

DAUGHTER DISPUTES PAPA AS TO HIGH HEELED SHOES

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 28.—Women's high heeled shoes are a curse to humanity. State Representative James Kirby, of Petersburg, says so. He tried to legislate the "plague" out of existence last year, but aside from incurring the ridicule and amusement of his fellow legislators, failed utterly.

Undaunted, Representative Kirby is determined to wage a successful war against the evil next general assembly—that despite his own daughter's opposition to it. She is a staunch exponent of the three and a half inch French heels.

DRUGGISTS MERCHANTS FACE SERIOUS WAR PROBLEMS

CHICAGO, Ill., May 27.—Necessary readjustment because of import restrictions, embargoes on the shipment of coal to non-essential industries and the constantly increasing difficult labor situation are three of the more important problems facing the members of the National Retail Druggists' association who opened their annual spring meeting here today.

Other important matters affecting the retail trade as the result of war are scheduled to receive attention. Many prominent merchants will address the meeting, expressing their opinions regarding means of meeting the new conditions.

Two Counters Defeated by the Americans

Scores of Yankees and Silesians eager to surrender—Yankers have Real Wallop

PARIS, May 22.—Two German counter attacks were delivered against the American troops that captured Cantigny on the Picardy front, but both were broken up, the French war office announced today. The counter attacks were delivered after Americans, in a storming attack threw the Germans out of Cantigny and rolled them back about 175 yards eastward of the village.

The Americans are fighting on the heights of the Meuse and on the Woerwa plain. The first engagement in which the Americans took part was in the sector of the Rumblo-Ribno canal.

Developments on other fronts failed to dim the brilliancy of the Americans' real wallop at the Meuse. The doughboys apparently took the boches by surprise, following the triple rattle of the enemy on Monday.

Late reports from the scene of the American victories shows that scores of the enemy, mostly Silesians and Silesians between the ages of 17 and 50 were eager to surrender. They emerged from caves and dugouts, throwing up their hands and crying "Kamerad."

When our infantry rushed Cantigny the greatest resistance came from a crescent of machine guns in woods and bushes which kept up a steady stream of bullets.

The Americans dug in beyond the village and speedily made preparations to resist a counter attack. During the afternoon the German artillery opened a feeble bombardment with gas shells and high explosives.

Aerial activity increased. During the drive our observers worked for the first time jointly with the French in directing the gun fire.

The accuracy of the American artillery was praised by the men in the ranks as being to a large measure responsible for the victory.

Chautauqua Board Holds First Meet

Centering at Farm Bureau Rooms Elects Committees—Grounds Still Unselected

The initial meeting of the Chautauqua board was held last evening at 8 o'clock in the rooms of the county farm bureau, with about thirty persons present. The spirit of the meeting was exceptionally good and the work of the board was accomplished without difficulty. The members of the several committees are well adapted for their work and those in charge are looking forward to a very successful carrying out of their undertaking. The Chautauqua will be held during the week of June 20 to 27. The date of the location for the games has not been definitely decided upon yet. The chairman of the committees appointed last night are as follows: Chairman for the season—E. B. Babcock. Publicity committee—H. J. Kingsbury. Grounds—Earl Felt. Tickets—J. C. Beauchamp. Entertainment—F. W. Bronough. Mrs. W. C. Edwards was appointed secretary of the Chautauqua Reading Circle and will also have charge of decorating the stage.

HER PRAYER WAS ANSWERED

Little Girl's Appeal for Automobile Ride Proved That Her Argument Was a Good One

The six-year-old daughter of an absent mother has been taught from infancy to have implicit faith in prayer. So strongly has this been impressed on her mind that practically all of her desires and childish wishes—sooner or later find expression in prayerful appeal.

The child is a winter enthusiast, and on the first warm day after the severe winter weather she asked her father to take her out for a ride. He explained that their machine was put away for the winter, and that it could not be used at that time. The child then sought her mother and asked her to pray for somebody to come around and take them out for a ride. The mother tried to explain that such a prayer would be unavailing, but undaunted in her firm belief, the child went to her room and prayed that she might have an auto ride. An hour or so passed, and the little girl waited expectantly and anxiously for the automobile to arrive.

Seeking to allay the child's disappointment the mother started to explain more fully, when the shriek of an automobile horn was heard outside. The door was opened, and to the amazement of the mother, a neighbor asked the girl whether she desired to take a ride.

"Yes, you have room for me, mother," the girl asked.

"No, we just have room for one little girl," replied the man at the wheel. The child hurriedly put on her coat and cap, and she left the neighbor she turned to her mother and said:

"See, mother, if you had prayed with me you could have gone, too." The mother is still wondering.

MARINE CORPS' NEW INSIGNIA

Green Instead of Blue Uniform Is Not Recognized by Those Who Are Not Up to Minute

Surprisingly few civilians even after the country has been in the world war for nearly a year can readily identify the various uniforms of the United States service. Especially is this true in regard to the United States marine corps. The change of the marine corps' uniforms from blue to forest green has added greatly to the bewilderment of the layman who likes to recognize a military man by his uniform or insignia.

The small boy, however, is not so easily fooled; as is shown by an incident which occurred a few days ago. One of the sergeants from a marine recruiting station was walking along the street when he came on a group of small boys and girls playing on the sidewalk. As he approached them one of the girls asked:

"What man in uniform?"

"I guess he's a French officer," said another girl.

One of the boys eyed him closely for a moment, and then placed himself squarely in front of the sergeant, and holding him by the coat with two chubby little hands, said: "I wanna see watcha got on yer cap."

The lad knew that the device embracing the globe, eagle and anchor means "marine," whether the wearer be clothed in blue, forestry green or khaki. "Oh, you're a marine, ain'tcha?" he exclaimed jubilantly. "I'm a sergeant and a sharpshooter, too," he told his playmates; with a knowing little nod.

Messenger Wears Tilt

War times and the unprecedented demand for aids for Uncle Sam have brought many quaint characters to Washington, notes a capital correspondent.

U-Boats Have Murdered Thousands

There is a danger lest familiarity, even with such a monstrous crime as unrestricted submarine warfare, lead to indifference to its enormity, says an exchange. Therefore, it is well to bear in mind that, except when the attack is made on fighting ships or transport carrying military men, the torpedoing of ships and sending men to their death far out at sea, is simply murder, unredressed by any extenuating circumstances whatsoever. Just how great a bill of indictment is being drawn up by the German admiralty against itself is seen in the statement given by the government leader in the house of commons, that up to February, 1918, German U-boats had killed 14,120 noncombatant British men, women and children. This, he it noted, is exclusive of the murders done upon people of other nationalities.
