Uncle Sam's Boats Hurled the Hun Horrors Back Across the Marne

FRIGHTFULNESS IN RAID PROVEN BY MUTE TESTIMONY OF EMPTY BOAT

Shell Ridden Motor Lifeboat of Carolina Picked Up at Sea—Most Members of Crew and Passenger List Are Reported Safe—at Least Ten Vessels, Mostly Small Sunken on the Raid—Belief Expressed That Spies Aided in Giving Tips to the Submersibles—Lid still on All Information Regarding Movements of Ships Hunting the Huns—Reports of Capture of Crew Unconfirmed—Mines Strewn by Raiders.

TODAY'S DEVELOPMENTS IN THE SUBMARINE SITUATION Definitely established that the steamer City of Columbus, of the Savannah line, carrying passengers and which was ordered, is safe in the harbor at Vinograd Haven, Black Sea.

Without survivors from the steamer Carolina landed at Lawes, Del., giving first definite information that the vessel had been abandoned. Three hundred passengers and members of the crew of the steamer Carolina have been picked up at sea from open boats by the steamer Elita B. Douglas, according to information received at the offices of the New York and Porto Rico Steamship company this afternoon.

German frightfulness brought home to America in dramatic fashion by plucking up at sea of shell ridden motor lifeboat from steamer Carolina, indicating the Germans had shelled it as it pulled away from the liner. Boat contained a cap, three oars and some biscuits. One of the oars splintered by shell fire. Bullet holes plainly visible in sides of boat. No indication as to fate of boat's passengers.

Tanker towed into Atlantic port after battle with U-boat. Tanker was badly damaged. Customs revenue is kept regarding measures taken by navy department to combat submarines. Officially refusing to discuss reports that crew of one U-boat held at Brooklyn yard.

Secretary made it plain that he considered every precaution was being taken and explained that to guard against possible spy warnings all information as to American shipping movements or the success or failure of the submarine chase will be withheld.

GERMANS BALKED AT EFFORT TO GET FRENCH CAPITAL

LOOKED AT EVERY POINT HUNS LOSE IMPORTANT GROUND TO FRENCH Teuton Massed Phalanxes Wither Away Cold Steel of Sons of Gaul Owed the Troops of the Kaiser—Italian Chasseurs Join in Battle and Win Great Honor.

Ernest P. Orr, (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent) PARIS, June 4.—The Germans have again been balked in their efforts to secure the Marne.

All of the crown prince's attempts to extend his gains on the Alsace-Marne battlefield in the past forty-eight hours have been frustrated and at numerous points the French have driven forward capturing highly important ground.

There has been no abatement in the intensity of the battle, however. The Germans have continued to hurl reserves against the solid phalanxes of the allies, only to be thrown off by the sturdy resistance of the defending troops.

The Germans redoubled their efforts between the Ourcq and the Marne rivers and west of Solons. All of the reports of the Toulon drive forward were smashed under the fire of the French defenders.

Another bloody battle raged around Mount Crotoy. Five times has this piece of blood soaked ground changed hands. But now it is firmly in French hands.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The German submarine "U-111" which is known to have sunk at least ten ships in American waters, left New York on April 20, under orders to cruise off the coast of the United States, destroying vessels, until August, according to information supplied by the submarine's engineer to Enock Roker, a seaman from the sunken ship Diana, who was a prisoner on the undersea boat.

The German sailors insisted, on teaching their captives to speak German and the submarine officers played patriotic airs for the Americans on board.

ANOTHER EVIL IN OUR FAIR LAND

(V. G. Hackman)

Every new condition brings about, aside from its meritoric, certain evils to which we are subjected. The American patriots have been asked to keep a vigilant lookout for German sympathizers and spies. It is necessary of course that this be done, in a time like this when a nation is virtually flooded with pro-German propaganda, and when the American opportunists and demagogues are willing to turn traitor for the sake of their so-called "patriotic" cause. There is a time when a man's estimation that can be done by way of punishment to these plain-clothes spies of Germany, and every man or woman of the United States who succeeds in locating and reporting to the authorities a true genuine, avowed German sympathizer, is rendering an invaluable service to his country. And in our opinion the American patriot would who knows of a German sympathizer and spy, and really has the goods on him and fails to report is pretty nearly as bad as the spy.

But we would like to remind some people that this business of reporting a German spy is not a fool boy's work, and that it is not a matter of some sort of camp or party. It is a serious business. And one of the most damnable things a man can do is to bring some one under suspicion as a pro-German without evidence to back it up. Some people are given to gossip, and they have a sort of sneaking ambition to find evil in the lives of every one in their neighborhood. If they can't find anything to condemn a neighbor for, they latch something up. It has been enough to cast reflections on a man's moral character without grounds, but to cast reflections upon his patriotism is to say or do, in a time like this, is a thing not to be done. It is a matter of good sense, and is about as unpatriotic as being a German sympathizer. Just because a man happens to have German blood in him is no sign he is a traitor to the country he is living in; not by a long shot.

We believe those unpatriotic busybodies who are casting reflections on the good character and patriotism of people just for the sake of revenge or for the sake of satisfying that inherent longing in their weakened nature to make all men appear as mean and evil as they themselves are, should be punished to the full extent of the law.

Get every pro-German you can, but be mighty sure he is a pro-German. Get every German spy and sympathizer into a matter of neighborhood gossip. It is one of the most serious jobs a man can undertake.

HEARST CHALLENGES ROOSEVELT TO MEET HIM IN JOINT DEBATE

Defends His Actions As Patriotic And Declares That His Plans For Carrying On War Advocated From the First Now Being Carried Out—Reiterates Charge That Colonel Is Prompted By Desire to Help Advertise Magazines In Which He Publishes His Articles.

Mr. Roosevelt has sent to the senate thousands of denunciations of the president of the United States, of Secretary Baker and of Postmaster General Burton, and of the Hearst newspaper. He has caused this diatribe to be printed in the Congressional Record and distributed among the people at the very moment when the war is reaching its most arduous and crucial stages.

It is time for the exercise of our utmost combined endeavor, for the exertion of our most vigorous united action.

It is not a time for discussion and disunion and detraction.

All loyal Americans should unite in support of our president and our people to win the war.

This the Hearst publications have earnestly and consistently endeavored to do.

From the very first day of the war the Hearst newspapers have believed that the best way to win the war was to do it with the united effort and energy of all our people.

The Hearst papers said that the management of the war should be confined to the military and naval departments and many counselors were good.

The leaders of both parties in congress opposed the selective draft act.

The Hearst papers circulated petitions from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and collected more than half a million signatures.

Another argument was the merchant ships. FOR TWO YEARS BEFORE THE WAR the Hearst papers fought with vigor and persistence for a government-owned merchant marine.

The bill providing for it was killed by the Hearst papers.

To all-recruiting to the navy, the Hearst papers created and manned recruiting stations in the principal cities of the union.

More than a million of posters on the streets of the country.

The Hearst papers, and I personally, urged ONR MAN CONTROL, instead of a committee of three.

pointment of a commission of three instead of a single individual to control promptly and effectively the food supplies for our country and our allies is a mistake and should be stricken from the bill.

After two months, congress passed and Mr. Hoover in sole control of food.

The president's war message, later his reply to the Senate and recent Memorial Day proclamation were created by the Hearst papers as "historic documents" that should be preserved.

The government departments, department of education, New York public library and the Y. M. C. A. asked for more than 10,000 copies of these documents.

To promote the Liberty Loan the Hearst newspapers devoted 125 columns of news, editorials and cartoons.

The subscriptions of the Hearst publications and employees to the Liberty Loan have exceeded $1,000,000.

What have you done to give the right to criticize the administration and its splendid achievements, or to give the right to criticize the political purposes and the value to the Hearst papers, which have consistently supported the administration and conciliated its enemies?

As far as I can see, no matter what the motive or the result, it is to do harm to our country and our people's cause.

After the war is over, therefore, or after this present crisis is over, I shall be glad to do a joint debate with Mr. Roosevelt on the public platform whether his critical efforts during the war have done more to do harm to our country and our people's cause.

More than 500 delegates, many of whom are here today, are expected to attend the convention's sessions.

J. A. MILTON SAYS HE WAS FORCED TO GIVE UP HIS WORK

Suffered Five Years and Couldn't Find Relief—Tanlar Ends Troubles

"I know several others besides myself who are exhibiting similar conditions and they all say it is doing them a world of good," said J. A. Milton, who is with the Central Coal & Fuel Co., and lives at 101 South 14th St., St. Paul, Minn., in an interesting interview recently.

"During the past five years," Mr. Milton continued, "I have suffered so much from rheumatism, disordered kidneys, and stomach trouble that I was a bundle of nerves."

"I had just about abandoned all hope of ever getting up again, and I had just about given up everything I would eat disagreed with me. I had feverish headaches and was so very nervous for months."

"I never knew what it was to get a night's sleep. My entire system seemed filled up with poisons. I was in such a badly run down condition, and suffered so, that I was unable to get up."

AMERICAN CATTLEMAN INTERESTED IN HOLSTEIN MILKMAKERS

THOUSANDS of cattle raisers throughout the United States have their eyes turned toward the three days' sale of pure-bred Holstein cattle to follow the three days' meeting of the Holstein-Friesian Association in America, which opens here tomorrow.

The sale will comprise picked specimens from all over the United States, including some of the most famous sires and dams in the world.

It is expected that this sale will eclipse anything in the nature of a cattle sale that has ever been held.

This is the thirty-third annual meeting of the association. It is the largest dairy cattle-breeding association in the world, numbering nearly 11,000 members.

A banquet will be held on Wednesday evening, when the speakers will include Governor Phillips of Wisconsin, Professor S. H. Innes, of the Department of Agriculture at Washington, and Professor E. V. McAllister.

Free range, abundant shade, growing green food, are essential in raising late-hatched chicks.

Hot dry runs without shade or green food retard development and, with the rapid increase in the bill and loss of late hatched chicks, the loss of late hatched chicks can be raised successfully.

Keep the chicks cool, and the chicks will make good table fowls for fall and winter.

Get the young chicks at free range as soon as possible after they are about four weeks old.

When the chicks are about two weeks old, a dry mash made of bran, shorts and corn meal, or barley meal when the corn is not available, should be fed to the chicks in a feed hopper all the time.

Separate young cockerels from the pullets and provide separate runs for them. Your pullets will develop faster and better.

Noted Lecturer At High School Wed. Eve

Dr. H. L. Southwick Will Give Talks on Shakespeare—Bacon—Pepys

The name of Henry Lawrence Southwick, the distinguished classic teacher and orator, is presented by the program with the following dates:

At the present time president of Emerson college of oratory, Boston, Henry Lawrence Southwick is a prominent and brilliant figure on the oratorical platform.

His personality will naturally command the interest of an audience. He is a man to be remembered among a host.

He is a man of broad culture. His lectures will bear the test of scholarly literary criticism.

He has won enviable distinction as a reader, especially in the interpretation of Shakespeare.

His work possesses the attractive and force that with the public together with the literary finish and the artistic beauty which command the respect of scholars and thinkers.

The press says of him: Professor Southwick is a man of debate, true and more intellectual than a scholar as well as a student, a judicious expounder, an original, true and more intellectual teacher.

He will give miscellaneous readings tomorrow night.

It was a great pleasure to be made in ordinary terms—North Abington (Mass.) Journal.

Heartily endorsed—Providence (R.I.) Journal.

Better than metal.

Certain-teed is fast taking the place of metal roofs, not only because of the scarcity and high cost of metal, but because of marked simplicity, yet full of power.—Baltimore (M.D.) Sun.

A scholarly production—a message to university young men and women of the highest value.—Los Angeles (Calif.) Times.

His career in planning.—San Diego (Calif.) Times.

He succeeded admirably in suggesting the grim humor of the "Cardinal" and the famous declamatory passages and brilliant theatrical outbursts for which the play is noted were skillfully handled and won enthusiastic applause.—Boston (Mass.) Herald.

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS' FOUNDATION

MILWAUKEE, June 4.—When the members of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America gathered in Milwaukee today from all parts of the union, they found the political pot boiling most merrily.

In the past the headquarters of this association of cattle breeders has been in the east, and the executive offices of the organization have been chosen from among eastern candidates.

This year an effort was made to launch more progressive and aggressive policies in the organization. It is expected that Wisconsin and certain of the other western states will be leaders in the movement.

Opposition has developed to the national secretary, Mr. F. L. Houghton, of Brattleboro, Vermont, and there is a possibility that the delegates from Wisconsin and other middle western and western states may unite on one of their number for this important position.

Among those whose names are being mentioned for the secretaryship are W. L. Baird, of Waukegan; Chris J. Peterson, of Racine; A. J. Glover, of Fort Atkinson, and H. H. Kildee, of Park Hill, Minn.

It is also reported that many of the western delegates are working for the removal of the general office from Vermont to some western point, it being argued that the interests of the breed would be best served if headquarters were located more centrally.

TIMES PRINTING & PUBLISHING COMPANY

Twin Falls, Idaho News of the World to the Hour C. L. Longley, General Manager J. D. Wipolan, Associate Editor

(Entered at the Twin Falls postoffice as second class matter as a daily publication, April 11, 1918).

The TIMES is an Independent Democratic newspaper. It knows no politics as opposed to the most unbridled and vicious prosecution of the war that is possible. Therefore, its EDITOR is a man, Democrat or Republican, caught throwing hardware into the machinery—either with his hands or with his mouth. If this be "partisan," make the most of it!

THE HEARST REPLY

THE TIMES publishes today the reply of William Randolph Hearst to Theodore Roosevelt's last attack on him, or rather attack on the administration camouflaged as an assault on the record of the journalist. This is done solely with a view of giving those of our readers who are interested in the controversy both sides.

This paper has always given Colonel Roosevelt's utterances plenty of space. At the time he made a speech near the close of the raising of a separate division, THE TIMES published it in full, though it occupied several columns and was contrary to the views of the army general staff which had been adopted by the administration. When the colonel opened the Maine campaign for the Republicans some weeks ago with a bitter attack on the administration, this paper gave him more space than was allotted to the address any other paper in the international country. The same is true in regard to the recent attack on the administration on the ground that it secured re-admission of the International News Service to the cables of allied countries.

Hence, fairness as well as the interest shown by some TIMES readers warrants still further publication of the contentions.

THE TIMES cannot accept the Hearst theory that Colonel Roosevelt's unfair and overrating attacks on the administration are prompted by monetary considerations, but adheres to the belief that they spring from perverted vision due to overdeveloped ego. On the other hand, while Hearst makes a good case for his paper on many counts, THE TIMES is still of the opinion that their utterances were deserving of the disapproval which this paper voiced on some occasions. But the article is readable and so far as it goes, with the reservations pointed out, is substantially true.

THE EAGLE'S EYE

"The Eagle's Eye," is one of the few motion pictures describing actual editorial motives, by reason of its intimate relation to problems now being solved by our boys across the water. It visualizes those strikingly in anything else could the evils of secret diplomacy as practiced by the German empire. It is an elementary principle of education that a larger percentage of things seen are remembered than things heard or read, hence the picture always brings home a lesson more directly to more people than a lecture, however eloquent, or an essay, however well written. As in the works of Hitchcock, the facts are skillfully interwoven with a setting of fiction which serves to accentuate rather than obscure them, and all the essential points are sustained by official records of the government of the United States.

It would be superfluous to add adjectives descriptive of the villainous methods of German diplomacy in this comment, when the facts are so vividly portrayed, as they are in this great picture, which is making the average citizen in the initial series at the Orpheum this evening. It is safe to say that anyone who sees the first installment tonight will not miss others in the future.

SAVE SUGAR AND FLOUR

Eternal reminding is the price of saving, so far as food conservation is concerned. The notice published yesterday in THE TIMES, received by Food Administrator Munson from State Administrator Dickel, urging further conservation in sugar is an illustration. Remember always that flour and sugar and certain meats must be conserved, but more particularly the first two named must be saved until the next crops are available. We hear people tell of how much they have piled up in the way of flour substitutes. Did you ever think how gladly an embarrassment of that sort would be assumed by millions of people in Europe? Yet, here and there, are people of good intent, who if not continually reminded, are tempted to let down the bars a little on the rules. Remember them and remember the boys in the trenches and the millions in Europe and your own interests and liberties and you will obey to the letter.

OUR GREAT NAVY PATROL

The fact that only relatively small ships were sunk by the submarine raiders serves to emphasize the magnificent patrol maintained by the United States navy, during the present war. Had the submarines been able to strike a transport or even a munitions or food carrying vessel they would have done so, before they made their presence known by attacking smaller ships. Of course, it is always within the range of possibilities that they may get a loaded transport or a destroyer, but so far the work of the American navy in protecting these has been marvelous, and the present action of ships which traveled 3000 miles to secure a surprise is the highest possible compliment to our fleet, that could be paid.

HELPING OUT HAWLEY

There should be an immediate challenge of Senator Borah's leadership of the Republican party in Idaho. The man of parts who will come to the front now to thwart Borah's betrayal of the organization to the Nonpartisan League may not win in the approaching election, but he will lay the foundation for future success when the party comes to itself. It is there that the Republicans in Idaho fit to wear the mantle of the late Walden B. Heyburn? The times are calling him. The drive for love and unbridled methods adopted by Senator Borah and his chosen lieutenants to defeat Frank K. Gooding for the nomination for United States senator for the shortest term are becoming so plain that even a newcomer to the state with his eyes shut and his mind hidden in a fog will be able to understand them.—Now Freedom.

Thus doth the self constituted mouth-piece of the Hawley campaign, proceed to help select for candidate against him, the man whom it decries is the strongest man in the Republican party to make such race.

Wonderful Eclipse on Next Saturday P. M.

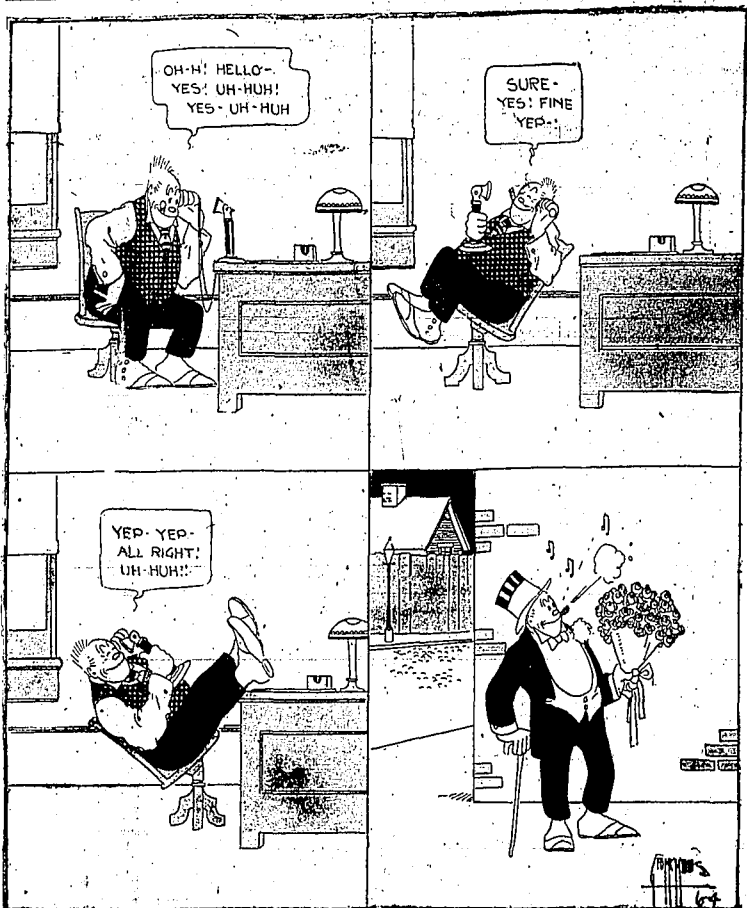

On the afternoon of Saturday, June 1, 1918, the wonderful spectacle of a total solar eclipse will be visible, wherever permitting, over a track extending from the Pacific (Washington) to the Atlantic (New York). The moon's shadow is 70 miles wide at the western coast, narrowing to 40 miles in Florida, says Prof. Edmond Stone, director of the observatory, in the June Popular Mechanics Magazine.

At about an hour the moon will gradually encroach upon the sun's disk, the daylight will fade, then the narrowing crescent of the sun will appear, and the sun will be seen as a bright ball of fire surrounded by a jet-black ball of the moon, hanging in the northwestern sky among the bright stars, will be seen the pearly radiance of a mysterious solar corona. The remarkable spectacle may be enjoyed for 122 seconds at the western coast, and for half that time in Florida. Then the crescent of the sun will appear on the other (western) side of the horizon, and after another hour the full disk of the sun will shine as usual.

Americans Advance and Then Retire

Defeat German Patrol and Drive Them Back But Later Return to Trenches Before Larger Force. Newton C. Parks, (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent) WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, June 3 (9 p. m.)—In the Lunerville sector of the American front this morning an American patrol encountered a strong German patrol near Hameau-Ancres-Viller and attempted to surround the enemy. During the fighting which lasted half an hour the Americans found themselves being surrounded by greatly superior force and had to retire. Our losses were slight. The enemy's losses were unknown. During an air fight today between three American planes and six German machines. Lieutenant Sumner Sewall, of Bath, Maine, forced down a German plane from a height of 5,000 meters. The boche plane landed within our lines. The fight occurred on the front northwest of Tost and the boche made the "fatal mistake of leaving his formation. No sooner had he done this than he was attacked at close quarters, the bullet flying in all directions. An American plane resolved bullets in both wings, and a certain Yankee pilot sent leaden missiles through the enemy machine's fuselage without apparent effect. The German was trying to regain his formation when Sewall "got on his tail" and forced him down. The plane was going continuously all the way. The other German machines escaped.

Three British airplanes attacked twelve enemy machines. Attacks against the allied forces near Monastir were repulsed. (Monastir, which is in Serbia, is held by the Serbians).

They have been receiving 33 cents an hour.

FORTY CASUALTIES: NONE FROM IDAHO

Italian Congregation in Chicago Decided to Stand by Pastor—Follows Worsen for Year.

CHICAGO, June 4—Three detectives ran in a more or less brutal condition today following a morning they were given in a riot of over 2000 parishioners at the Church of Our Lady of Pompeii. Angered because their favorite pastor, Father Barbaccia, was reported to be taken away to another church they gathered about the church in protest.

Fearing for the pastor someone called the police. When they arrived several small fights were in progress which spread to all the parishioners, who were taken away to the police station.

The detectives joined in. After a battle royal the greater part of the crowd was dispersed and several wagon loads of them arrested.

Musical Duo at Chautauqua

The Morrison-Smith Company, coming to Chautauqua on the third afternoon, is one of the most talented two-people companies on the platform. Alice Genevieve Smith is one of the country's foremost harpists, one who influences the singing quality of tone into her playing, so rarely secured by players on this wonderful instrument. Mildred Morrison, pianist, soprano soloist and reader, has been a prominent figure in the Lyceum and Chautauqua world for several years. As a reader she has attained unusual prominence.

AMERICA'S SERIAL SUPREME "THE EAGLE'S EYE"

By WILLIAM J. FLYNN
Recently Retired
CHIEF OF THE U. S. SECRET SERVICE

Today the first episode of this wonderfully thrilling serial of international importance begins. Written by Chief Flynn, based on facts, many still now unheard of, this great twenty-episode picture shows with startling realism and truthfulness the intimate inner workings of the Imperial German Government's most spies in America.

The plot to destroy the "Lusitania," the conspiracy to dynamite the Hotel Ansonia in New York the night of the American Naval Ball, the plans to torpedo the Atlantic Fleet on its way before President Wilson to New York Harbor—bomb plots, labor agitation, and a multitude of other ruthless plans, all told in Chief Flynn's own story. Don't miss this first episode. The actual details of how the torpedoing of the "Lusitania" was planned and executed by Imperial German agents in America.

"THE EAGLE'S EYE"

Produced by THE WHARTONS

In presenting, in a vehicle of fiction, facts showing the secret aggression of the Imperial German Government in America, the purpose is not only to disclose what the spies actually did, but what would have resulted had not their plots been detected and frustrated.

WILLIAM J. FLYNN.

"THE EAGLE'S EYE"

FOREWORD

The Kaiser's Secret Army in America, and Its Activities.

WHEN the "War Dogs" of Europe were unleashed in August, 1914, all America received the news with horror and regret. As the War progressed, the United States, in particular, learned of the carnage of battle and the sufferings of the people, with profound sorrow and sympathy. Our President showed extreme justice in his efforts to prevent our country from becoming embroiled in the conflict of a world's War and submitted calmly to many unfriendly acts.

The Imperial German Government interpreted the Administration's attitude as one of fear of the consequences of War. It, therefore, proceeded to acts of even greater disregard of this country's rights as a friendly nation.

Maintaining strict neutrality, the Administration showed no favor to any of the warring nations. Treating all without partiality, our President merely demanded strict adherence to International Law.

Under such conditions, we were privileged to trade with and sell to all nations such materials as this country produced, whether necessities or luxuries, foodstuffs or munitions of war.

The Imperial German Government, through its accredited agents, and also through secret avenues, purchased unusually large quantities of both foodstuffs and munitions of war. These purchases were made before it declared war against the Allies and long after the War was in progress.

Such purchases far exceeded the shipping facilities available to the Imperial German Government, even in the event that the seas were safe for her vessels. As much as possible of the foodstuffs was shipped to neutral vessels to neutral countries—in which Germany had access—and enormous quantities were hoarded in warehouses here, causing a shortage of the necessities of life and high prices for these commodities in United States.

Unable to ship munitions (contraband of war), through the same channels, the Imperial German Government placed large quantities with American military manufacturers and tried to purchase munition plants, in an attempt to prevent the Allies from obtaining such supplies from this country.

FAILING to reap the benefit of its foresight by reason of the mastery of the seas by the Allies, the Imperial German Government sought to prevent our trafficking with the enemies of Germany, although it was quite willing to buy from this country for its own account.

Meanwhile, the United States Government was acting for and protecting the interests of Germany in all countries with which the Imperial German Government was at war. Accredited officials of the Imperial German Government were the guests of the United States and enjoying our hospitality. This hospitality and protection they abused by resorting to intrigue, espionage and propaganda against the United States, contrary to their obligations as the guests of a friendly nation.

Moreover, through their connivances to invade Canada, to embroil the United States in a war with Mexico and to blow up the Welland Canal; through their unwarred sinking of ships with the consequent loss of American lives; through their destruction of commerce on the seas; the exploding of powder factories; the breeding of class hatred; the manipulation of politics; the fomenting of labor troubles and the brooding of capital, etc., the paid and protected agents of the Imperial German Government, for over two years, actually carried on a form of secret war against the United States, tantamount to invasion, while outwardly assuming a friendly attitude.

These agents, as serious to our peace, safety, welfare and prosperity, occurred with appalling frequency. The Administration was loath to believe them inspired by the Imperial German Government, preferring to credit them to irresponsible parliamentarians of Germany. Not until undisputable facts were presented, proving the Imperial German Government's direct responsibility for these crimes against friendship and humanity, did our President act.

The United States Secret Service was mainly responsible for securing this conclusive evidence of actual crimes perpetrated, and also in preventing others more serious from being consummated.

EVERYONE IS AFFORDED AN OPPORTUNITY TO WITNESS THIS EXPOSURE OF THE IMPERIAL GERMAN GOVERNMENT'S HYPOCRISY AND DECEIT TOWARD THE UNITED STATES AND ITS CRIMINAL CONSPIRACIES AGAINST PEACE AND SAFETY OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

MARGUERITE SNOW

The heroine of "THE EAGLE'S EYE" will be remembered as the noted actress who played a leading part in the famous production, "The Million Dollar Mystery."

The American Nation is passing through the most crucial period of its history. The President and our Government have never needed more than NOW, the loyal support of every citizen, both in act and spirit. Presentation in pictures of facts exposing the Imperial German Government's spy system in America will bring the people to a fuller realization of the formidable secret power of the enemy implanted in our midst and the necessity of all standing solidly behind the President and the Government to win the war.

WILLIAM J. FLYNN.

The entry of the United States into the world-war led me to make the disclosures of facts embraced in this serial. Chief Flynn uncovered the fact that while the snave and smiling German Ambassador spoke sympathetic words of sympathy to the American press, treating the tragedy as a deplorable act of war, he was the man, his was the mind that planned and perfected the execution of the Crime of the Ages. Through his incessant activities Chief Flynn secured one of the "Lusitania" medals (shown below), designed by Germany, and dedicated to commemorate the sinking of that gallant ship.

WILLIAM J. FLYNN.

THE CRIME OF THE AGES The Sinking of the "Lusitania"

When, on May 7, 1915, the news was flashed across the world that the great ship "Lusitania" had been sunk by a German sub-marine the whole nation was stunned with horror and stricken with grief. So dastardly a crime as the murder of 1200 non-combatants—men, women and children, many of them neutrals—was at first unbelievable.

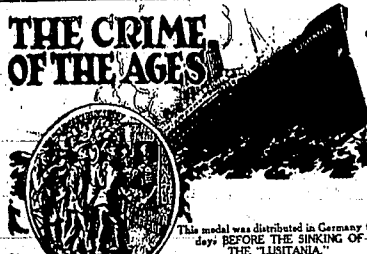

But the American people had yet to learn of the base treachery which inspired the outrage. Chief Flynn uncovered the fact that while the snave and smiling German Ambassador spoke sympathetic words of sympathy to the American press, treating the tragedy as a deplorable act of war, he was the man, his was the mind that planned and perfected the execution of the Crime of the Ages.

Through his incessant activities Chief Flynn secured one of the "Lusitania" medals (shown below), designed by Germany, and dedicated to commemorate the sinking of that gallant ship.

The Medal is dated and was distributed in Germany TWO DAYS BEFORE the sinking.

The "Lusitania" was sunk off the Irish Coast on May 7, 1915. She had on board at the time 1913 passengers and crew, of whom 1195 perished. That the plot was hatched in America at a time when we were at peace with Germany indicates the true feeling of the German War Lords endeavored to stimulate in Germany, and in proof positive that such crimes are not merely regarded favorably, but are given every encouragement in the Land of Kultur. Graphically presented in the first episode of "THE EAGLE'S EYE" this big scene is set up by a super-creating portrayal of the work of the plotters exactly as they happened and distinctly delineated from the records of Chief Flynn.

It is the patriotic duty of every American to learn the inside history of the war against neutrality, and it is our opportunity to prevent these facts to you, through the medium of "THE EAGLE'S EYE."

This medal was distributed in Germany two days BEFORE THE SINKING OF THE "LUSITANIA."

Fickert Enters the Golden State Fight

Wants to Be Governor of the Bear Commonwealth—Factions Line Up For the Battle.

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif.—The bolt is fired; whether it will turn up a center shot or one in the white remains to be marked by fate.

Anti-Stephens "The last time we decided that they will support Charlie Fickert, district attorney of San Francisco, who is considered a "strong" and whose platform is "Law for California, and California for Law."

Up to yesterday the needle of the warring machine oscillated between Mr. Fickert and Mr. McFee, the San Diego man, "who nobody quite knows to take."

The leader of the anti-Stephens group here yesterday said: "About this man McFee: We have reason to believe he has been in Washington with Senator Johnson's endorsement and whispered talkings in it, provided McFee makes progress."

"But we are old line Republicans, and McFee seems a bit too liberal, a little too dreamy-headed, and we have decided to throw in our lot with Mr. Fickert."

Fickert is a two-headed fighter; he has his head in his own gear, and he stands for what we think is the most important factor in the campaign, law—and order for California.

"We feel that the I. W. W. menace is a real one, and that it will take a back man to be able to handle the pheas has done nothing. His state committee of defense has become a joke as far as we are concerned. We intend to fight to see that the law is enforced, and his administration is open to attack that he couldn't beat a Democratic nomination."

"We believe that Fickert will make the people pay attention to him and that he can be elected."

"John D. Nease, who is Fickert's manager, will be here on Monday and will create an organization here with headquarters at the Hotel California."

"We figure that Keyes, Stephens and McFee will all draw votes from the same sources, and that Fickert will have enough from his own sources to give him the nomination."

Mr. Fickert will technically run as a combination, northern and southern California candidate.

While he is district attorney of San Francisco, his home is on a ranch on the summit of Twin Falls.

He can sit on his front porch with one foot in northern California and the other in northern California and make speeches both ways.

He occupies both the nadir and the zenith of political geographical strategic position.

Which reminds folks here of what the Los Angeles Examiner special writer said recently regarding McFee:

"This Charlie McFee statesman from San Diego has again upon the apple cart, has spilled the last few kernels of the molasses fauce; turned on, and to one of his competitors seen able to turn it off, to put back the beans nor would he touch the apple again."

Mr. McFee came back from Washington and at once yanked from the supporter Fickert, who was expected to be governor and would have something definite to say about platform in the fall.

Which makes it very bad for the anti-Stephens crowd here, which has strangled everything to make Charlie Fickert the candidate, which would be centered all the anti-Stephens strength; they had even fixed up a nice program for Harmon.

Well, let one of them tell it himself: "Say, this Charlie McFee has gone and done it. Why, we'd got Fickert's consent to let us run McFee as the ticket as lieutenant governor, and we had everybody else in the party expected to get McFee's consent as a formality. But here he comes home right out loud that he's a candidate for the top of the hill, and we were wanted to be asked to be the trailer to Fickert's parade."

"We can't say him now, Louis White wouldn't let us if we tried."

"And this McFee man comes back from Washington with Hiram Johnson's backing, and the whizzer is already passing about the official-union's union in Sacramento and down here in the Union League and we are going to have a bunch of McFee in the grow so that Fickert can't get out of his shadow."

"It's most embarrassing. We can't let go of Fickert and we can't hang on to McFee."

"It's too gold-rimmed lead. Here we were doing our best to carry through Will Hays' Harmony project by cutting the political throats of everyone who stood in our way, and now here McFee just rates his callow voice and turns her loose from San Diego to the additions to Sibley, and all our counter in the party and the pheas pheas keeps a riding along with no speed or fling."

"What can I do now do when he can't let go, and he can't keep hold?"

THE FARMERS' BONDING BONDS.

Next to the aggregate number of subscribers perhaps the most striking feature of the Twin Falls farmers' bond support given in the farmers' and rural populations of the country, says the treasury department publicity bureau. Not only did the farmers purchase liberally of the bonds, but the rural communities as a rule were more prompt in completing their quotas of the loan than the cities.

More than 20,000 communities in the United States subscribed or oversubscribed their quotas, and in many instances first day.

The majority of these were not cities but country districts.

Iron, typical agricultural states was the first to subscribe its quota and was followed by Oregon, Arkansas, Kentucky, and other states in which agriculture is the leading industry.

It is impossible to give accurate figures but it is estimated that while only 2 percent of the farming popu-of the United States subjected to the first and second loans, probably in times as many subscribers to the third. The significance is increased by the fact that the heavy subscriptions were made at a season when the farmers are ordinarily on the borrowing and not on the leading in paying off of the mortgage, and when the farms of the country are speeded up to the limit.

This distribution of the third loan among the whole people shows that the body of the nation has become aroused and gone into action—protesting with the money and the necessity for individual support of the country has permeated the whole people. The secretary may justly be thankful over the result and call it the best-known war correspondent.

"I saw a fine thing between Temple and Perony" writes one of these war correspondents. "The boys were smashing out. Our squadron was returning to our base 'empty.' There was very hot stuff being pumped at us. We could see miles of tanks, our shells bursting everywhere among them."

"Suddenly one of our scouts was winged. He dropped like a crippled pigeon, at a tremendous pace, and crashed heavily. At once another chap swooped, landed, picked him up, swung his blades, jumped in, took 'her' off and put his tail up to our lines."

"It was all the work of a minute and one of the picket lines 'Yes I've seen this."

All Kinds of "Stunts."

"Monday was great," another old man writes. "All the way west from below Cahoon to La Fore, anywhere and everywhere, we had beautiful targets."

"Our chops dived, looped, and did all quite automatically. 'There was no 'three' about it."

"We circled in formation, dived down, looped, and then went back and linked up with the cavalry. There were no shell holes that could hide the bargains. We raked their hiding places."

"The sun pelted down. The row was deafening. I was bathed in perspiration. We got 'pockets' above—oh, yes—far worse than the Mustangs, bump—far from the guns, which lifted us and dipped us down and then up."

"The enemy had a rotten day of it. 'On Tuesday morning I saw a pretty bit of work."

"Fully 25,000 Germans were advancing toward our very eyes 10,000 feet above—when from the direction of Chancy there swung round seven French fighting squadrons—105 machines—sliding in the line."

"They maneuvered beautifully. Fancy Jim, a hundred planes in a vertical line at once! They sprang a lovely P. M. tide, and 50,000 Germans were burnt it."

"It was indelible and magnificent. 'Down swooped the Frenchmen with a whizz. They spread fanwise. A mighty crescent of 100-panned bombs fell. Then, another, then small shells. Hundreds upon hundreds of them."

"I saw five thousand men at the foot of our camp to escape. It was just awful."

Always on Offensive.

"We're chased the devils all over the globe. You see, they have been fighting far from their base. Their pilots accordingly were carrying big loads of fuel." We had minimum loads. So we were always on the offensive. There has been up and down intermittent supremacy about our boys. It has been a stable factor all the week.

"The Germans have been using two types of gas, one on each side of their engines, on their fighters. Divers were brought down had two feet guns on the machine body, so that they could bring them to aim at an enemy below."

"The guns are of the special Spauldery variety, firing half-inch bullets."

"But why don't they kill?"

"The American and American flyers are all Everybody in it. Up-top form. See you again soon. 'Zoll' old boy."

THRIFT STAMPS AS PAY

Denver-Jerk Dealers Adopt Plan of German Jew.

Until the end of the war, whenever residents sold their old bottles, old rags, old red rubber, in any fly-kiln of old junk, they will receive their pay in Thrift stamps.

The Thrift stamp plan was originated by David Schwartz, a German Jew, and has been adopted by what is known locally as the "Junk Dealers' Trust."

THRILLING BATTLE STORIES

Infantry and Gunners Alike Filled with Admiration by the Black and Self-Sacrifice of "Eyes of the Army"—Dash Down in Flocks and Bomb Bombs on the Hordes of the Beast of Berlin.

"All ranks here their tails well up, and the opportunity of high over any army almost has never been so marked," said General Saunderson in his message from the battlefield.

British airmen with their "talla well up" were surprised at their own wonderful records in the great struggle on the old Somme battlefield. In the air they have the Huns "beaten in a fraction." Infantry and gunners alike have been filled with admiration by the black and self-sacrifice of the "eyes of the army."

The London Sunday Herald has compiled a series of extracts from letters of some of our flying boys, written to intimate friends and comrades at home in the few spare hours they have been able to snatch from the fighting. "Told in the breezy language of the aviator, they are so thrilling as to suggest that has been written by even the best-known war correspondent."

ON CERTAIN ALIEN ENEMIES

By CLINTON SCOLLARD of the Vigilantes.

This vile and venomous brood we have lacerated. This slinking, sneaking set that now we feed. They who would pause not at the darkest deed. What from their bestial baseness have we learned? Our laws, our hospitality, they have spurned. Showing whether they might the poisonous seed. Of treason, with their treacherous Kultur creed. Why not inute out to them what they have earned?

Shall we again, when halved Peace descends, Take them onto our bosoms, open our doors?

To opportunity for them? Heaven, forefend! What place were fitting for them, what fair shores?

'Now out of the earth unless perchance it be Their own that spawned this bloody infamy!

NEW RED CROSS TRAIN MODERN AS HOSPITAL

Just Completed in England for the Use of the United States Army.

Another new Red Cross train for the United States Army has just been completed in England and it has recently been put to the public at Liverpool street station.

It consists of 10 carriages, and, without the engine, is 312 feet long, weighs 41 tons and has accommodations for 450 patients or 250 cases. In an emergency these figures can be increased by the use of staff and other quarters to 600 and 450, respectively.

All improvements suggested by experience in the war have been embodied. The stores are carried in a separate car and an elaborate pharmacy is provided.

Normally, the carriages are fitted with three tiers of cots, but this can be varied at will, the cots folding up when not in use. Infectious cases are isolated and separated from the ordinary patients by the doctors' and sisters' quarters.

There are one or two recreation sections for the men and a special recreation room for "ditching officer cases." The personnel of the car is equally well provided for.

The bed are well sprung and hung so as to minimize the jolting of the train. Every carriage is ventilated by at least two electric fans.

Everything has been constructed with a view to convenience and comfort. Cupboards, pantries, storerooms, lavatories, even a bathroom, appear in the most unexpected places.

PREFERRED TO WALK

Recruit Was Only Anxious About Provision for his Family.

"I'll walk; it's only ninety-four miles."

That is the way A. C. Bonfield of Shasta county, California, replied to an offer of transportation made by Capt. I. C. Boylen when Bonfield agreed to enlist in the Twentieth engineers.

Bonfield lived 12 miles from the nearest settlement. He first wrote to Captain Boylen to find out if his pay allowances and government allowances would furnish enough for his wife and children.

Captain Boylen answered that $47.50 a month would go to his family, he could spend $7.50 a month for $100.00 life insurance and have $8 a month left. Then he was offered transportation.

"I'll walk," Bonfield replied.

BLAST BRINGS UP $115,000

In a Pot in an Old-Well That Was Dynamited.

An iron pot containing $115,000 in gold coins was unearthed recently in an abandoned well on the Isaac, Shafter farm in Lawrence county, near Hillsville, Pa. It became known long ago.

In 1888 Isaac Shaffer, a rich cattle breeder, drilled with oxyacetylene gas toward his farm and fell dead. During the past 30 years his heirs have explored the farm many times, hoping to find the treasure. The gold has been discovered by a German (Pa.) bank's heirs of Shaffer have claimed it.
