AMERICAN BOYS STILL FIGHTING ON THE MARNE

Toutons Resort to Gas Shells in Response to Lively Artillery From American Batteries—Through Fire to Feed Chickens.

Newton C. Parke (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent) WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY AT THE MARNE, June 7. (5 a. m.)—Several fighting northwest of Chateau Thierry with Americans engaged was still continuing early in the morning.

At dawn today (Friday) when the international news service correspondents report that the latest American fighting was slowly driving the Germans back, despite a torrent of German shells that covered all the sky.

The Germans, at an early hour today, were confining themselves largely to heavy mortar and "one-bred and six-fry millimeter" gas shells.

The Americans now hold all the high ground in the battle ground northwest of Chateau Thierry.

A thirty-year-old French woman reports that the Americans held her farm, instead of the Germans, through the night and early morning.

Declares That Books and Papers of Engelhard Are Looked in Safe of Vault and Inaccessible to Ordinary Search.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Asserting that facts he presented justify "the strong suspicion that the platinum industry of the United States has been controlled by Germany," Representative Rainey, of Illinois, today made a direct attack on the floor on Charles Engelhard, chief adviser of the war industries board on platinum dealing.

"The books and papers of the diplomat I. W. W. were not protected by such devices," said Rainey, "as they have been in the hands of the great city of New York and were confined in this way, their seizure by secret agents would have been impossible for reasons every member of congress understands."

Rainey declared that the books and papers of Charles Engelhard, 300 Church street, New York, are guarded by the Holmes Electric Corp.

YANKEES MONOPOLIZE FIGHTING IN TODAY'S ACCOUNTS OF WAR

Initiative of Battle is Now on Side of the Allies Who Strike in Many Places—Exhausted Germans Give Away Before Systematic Attacks—Counter Offensive Movement Grows More Definite—Small Battles in Picardy and Flanders End in Favor of the Allies.

(Frank Charlton, I. N. S. Cable Editor) American forces, chiefly marines, are now holding a wide front on the Aisne-Marne battlefield and have distinguished themselves in the fighting of the past 24 hours by a series of brilliant dashes which carried them forward for important gains of ground.

The first news of the fresh American successes northwest of Chateau Thierry came from Newton C. Parke, one of the International News Service correspondents with the American army at the Marne. Later it was officially confirmed by the communique of the French war office.

The Americans fighting with the cold steel, pushed their way into Torcy and penetrated Bouresches, farther south. Battling their way through swarms of bullets that poured from the German machine guns the gallant boys from the United States swept all before them.

The task of attacking on the western flank of the salient fell to the Americans and French while the British took care of the eastern wing, capturing a village south of Rheims.

The initiative in the battle has now swung to the side of the allies. Their attacks are growing in strength and the exhausted German armies are less and less able to withstand them.

Minor activities were reported from the Picardy and Flanders fronts. In both zones the allies made several raids.

Further south the American troops made gains in the sectors of Torcy, Belleau and Bouresches. These places are northwest of Chateau Thierry.

CONGRESS AFTER THE BIG PACKERS FOR UNFAIRNESS

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP OF PACKING PLANTS GETS A SHOVE FORWARD

Senator Norris Asks for Information

Change Is Made That Stockyards Are Manipulated So as to Prevent Shipment When the Producers Desire to Send Stock.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Congress is today becoming aroused over the question of government ownership of the packing industry, and the movement set on foot some weeks ago towards this is gaining strength.

Senator Norris, a member of the senate committee on agriculture, has given new impetus to the movement by a resolution presented in the senate which calls for information regarding the factors which are operating in connection with the packing industry.

The resolution offered by Senator Norris was the first of its kind since the ownership of the packing industry and paved the way toward government ownership of the stock yards.

Defy Shot and Shell of The Hun

Serve Soldiers With Cocoa, Coffee and Doughnuts—Travel in Army Trucks and Suffer Hardships the Same as the Soldiers.

By Robert B. Doman (I. N. B. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, May 6 (by mail).—Shelled by day and by night, living in water-filled dugouts in the American front-line, eight American women, Salvation Army workers, went through the German attack on the American forces near Montdidier on April 30. Escaped from head to foot with mud which clung in clods to their rubber boots, the women finally staggered back to a little village behind the American lines on May 1.

They were the same women who rode 250 miles army trucks and caissons from the Toul front to the Montdidier front, which the American troops took over at the height of the German attack upon Amiens. American army officers speak with tears in their eyes of the work these Salvation Army women have done and are doing.

"When our boys came back through the German barrage, which played night and day upon the roads near Grivens," said an American officer, "they were not met by these fearless women who served them hot cocoa and coffee and handed out American-made doughnuts and pies to the lads. At 3 a. m. each morning in a week when the rain poured down and soaked both troops and women, these Salvation Army workers stuck to their posts near the front line trenches. They met every ammunition train going up to the trenches and every company of men coming out. They met the haggard 'walking dead' along the roads swept by shell fire and snipers' fire to their needs.

"They built fires in dugouts in the battle zone and warmed the rain-soaked troopers; they kept their cauldrons of cocoa constantly well filled and they baked doughnuts and pies in their tents, day and night. No wonder the Buddies, the Samboles, the Yanks, the Jacks swear by the Salvation Army from one end of France to the other." Here the poem that Private Joseph T. Lopes wrote regarding "These Salvation Folks," after the Montdidier attack:

"Somewhere in France, not far from the foe,
There's a body of workers whose name we all know,
Who not only at home give their lives to make right,
But are now here beside us, fighting our fight.
What care they for rest when our boys at the front,
Who, fighting for freedom, are bearing the brunt,
And so, just at dawn, when the caissons come home,
With the boys' feet out and chilled to the bone,
The Salvation Army with its brave little crew,
Are walking with doughnuts and hot coffee, too,
When dangers and tolling are o'er for a while,
In their dugout we find comfort and welcome their smile,
There's a spirit of home, so we go there each night,
And the thinking-of-home makes us all sit down and write.
So we tell of these folks to our loved ones with pride,
And are thanking the Lord to have them on our side."
For five days preceding the attack, the eight Salvation Army women to whom Private Lopes refers were not able to come up out of their dugout except at brief intervals during the day. During most of the day they slept or worked in relays. In the early morning hours all came up to do their work before the dawn made them and the American troops and caissons visible to the enemy.

An American army officer who went through the Montdidier fighting, recommends that these eight women be mentioned. They are Miss Cora Van Norden and Miss Geneva Ladd, of New York City; the sisters Irene and Gladys McIntyre, of Mount Vernon, N. Y.; Mirie Turkelson, of South Manchester, Conn.; Miss Gertrude Simmons and Damar Williams, of Chicago; and the famous "Mother" (Mrs. Minnie) Durick, of Dallas, Tex., of apple pie fame.

Recently "Mother" Durick wheeled a big batch of dough out of the army cooks on the Toul front and baked several thousand doughnuts, which were put aboard one of the few Salvation Army trucks. First Lieutenant, seventeen years old, of Chicago, and Captain Charles Marks, of Bay City, Mich., attempted to drive the truck in daylight up to the trenches. A loche battery immediately got on the truck target when the latter, in avoiding a shell hole, went into the ditch. Stillwell and Marks were obliged to take to the ditch when sixty shells fell in a fraction of a second. The fragments riddled it in a hundred places. From the ditch they crawled to a communication trench, carrying several sacks of doughnuts with them. Finally they reached the American trenches. That afternoon, Colonel William S. Barker, in charge of the American Salvation Army work in France, found that the truck and its drivers were missing. The Germans let him reach the truck in his driver before they opened fire. Colonel Barker narrowly escaped with his life when a shower of shells broke around his little machine and the badly shattered truck.

That night, however, with a Q. M. truck, he succeeded in pulling the truck out of the trench and the doughnuts, now cold but as good as ever, up to the boys. The same night another army truck, trying to avoid the same shell hole, went into the ditch at the same spot. When daylight came the German battery blew it to splinters.

"I wish every American who has stood on street corners in America and sneered at the work of the Salvation Army could see what they are doing for the boys in France," said an old regular army officer who returned to Paris this week. "As a body they are taking chances which the members of no other organization are taking. One building they occupied had roof blown off by a German shell. The Salvation Army folks draped tent canvas over the roof and continued their work. While they were stopping in the cellar, several more shells struck, but continuing and smashed all their equipment on a beyond their heads. Now they are continuing their good work in the cellar of the same house, not 200 yards from our front line trenches.

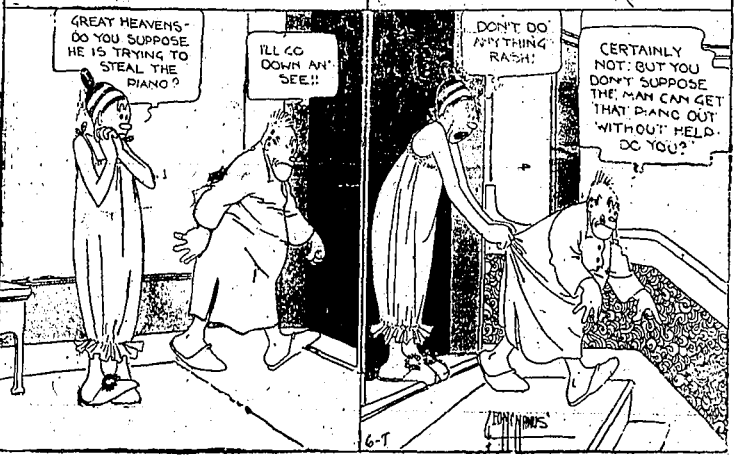

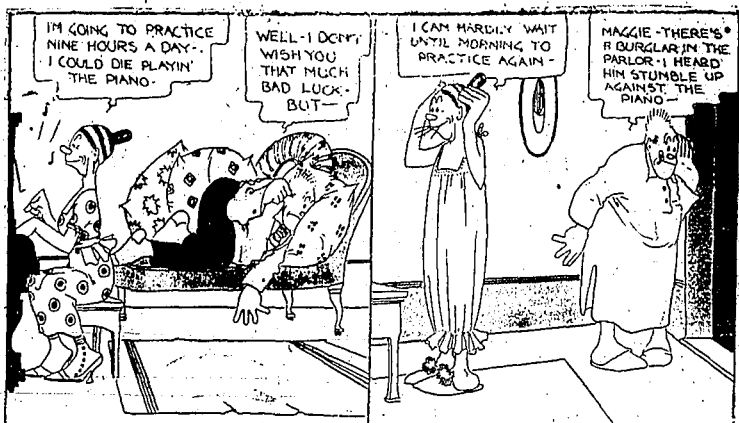

"One night I was sitting in the Salvation Army cellar when a shell hit a house next door and killed three of our boys on the spot. The Salvation Army women continued digging out hot cocoa and coffee as if nothing had happened. They are game, these women. God bless them. They are regular women, of the same breed as Abraham Lincoln's mother and the lives of our country's heroes.

"The boys would limit the first man who uttered a foul remark in their presence. There is none of the canting, vulgar and American slanders which they are neither vulgar college girls nor portly, sociological workmen. They do not smile and say 'well, well, the French dominions'—they are not over here to win officer husbands, to collect souvenirs, or for a job ride. They do not preach that they are here for investigation or for 'getting atmosphere for war romances.' They do not wear Oh, such leather uniforms, white shoes, dainty blue capes and bonnets, nor do they frequent back ten rooms where the swanky British and American officers and their wives are.

"Don't class these Salvation Army women with the girls with money, who are some of the other things to take up valuable cargo space on trans-Atlantic steamers and are being our doughnuts to death with their patronizing smiles and 'coordinating work with care' distances of the Tim Sulzmann's restaurants of Paris. "It isn't fear," said the officer, "laping into slang of his men, 'these women are doing almighty fine work. There are twenty-two of them here in this house. We army men have given them shell-battered and cant-off field kitchens to work with, and, oh, man, the doughnuts, the sandwiches and the pies they turn out!"

How to Keep a Boy Healthy and Happy

That is what every mother of a growing boy is anxious to know. We offer the solution to this problem. It is one of the very few absolutely sure ways of making a happy, manly boy.

Put him to overalls and let him do every possible moment of his life.

The dressed up boy who hardly dares to move for fear of soiling or tearing his clothes is about the most unhappy and peevish individual alive. The boy in overalls (if they are the right kind of overalls) hasn't a care on a Good looking—earthy. No zippering—Get Him No tearing—

Two-Horse Brand Overalls

The best that are made. Constructed for comfort and long wear. Saves the good clothes. The boy always looks neat and trim. Ask your dealer for Two-Horse Brand Overalls. Take no others. A New FREE If Fair Rip Made and Guaranteed by Levi Strauss & Co. San Francisco AWARDED GRAND PRIZE AT P. L. E. "Mm. of Freedom-All" the new garment for women dishes, tables and cook ovens went galley west. The doughboys bought them more dishes, got them a new oven—one asked where—and built them new tables.

"All these women are up in villages constantly under fire. They brave air raids by night and shell fire by day and they buy the most clean old doria-filled collars in order to open now dugout 'hubs' as close to the lines as possible. I know one group of women who lived in a dugout for six days and nights without seeing the light of day except through cracks in the splintered collar walls.

"I am an old army officer, but what I like about the Salvation Army is that it doesn't cater to officers. It is for the doughboys first and all the time. The Salvation Army men do not wear Sam Browne belts, they do a little handlining with officers as possible, and yet Major Teddie Roosevelt, Junior's best friend in Little Major John Adkins, acting chaplain of the 8th Central Postal Directory. They cash the boys' checks without question and during the month of April in a certain division the Salvation Army sent home $50,000 for the soldiers. The Rockefeller Foundation hasn't as yet given the Salvation Army a million dollar donation to carry on its work. Fact is, I don't know just how the Salvation chaplains and ladies do get along. But get along they do.

"Perhaps," laughed the officer, "some of the boys and officers give them a lift now and then when the sludding is rough. They don't aim to make a slight profit as do some other organizations; in fact, ever since Cornelius Hickey put up 'Hickey's Hut,' the first Salvation Army hut in France, they have been working at a loss. I saw an American soldier give a Salvation Army chaplain 600 francs, a hundred dollars, out of his pay at a certain small town in France recently.

"The work done in 'Hickey's Hut' did much to enter the Salvation folks to the American mind. The first arrived in France some months ago addressed only to 'Hickey's Hut, France.' It reached its destination, they do not preach that they are here for investigation or for 'getting atmosphere for war romances.' They do not wear Oh, such leather uniforms, white shoes, dainty blue capes and bonnets, nor do they frequent back ten rooms where the swanky British and American officers and their wives are. BEST IN THE LONG RUN

Who Began Trench Warfare?

THE trench, which always encircled the Roman castra, or camp, was brought to France by Julius Caesar and used by him on the very battlefield where to-day the Allies and the Huns have 25,000 miles of trenches. With rings of trenches, gradually drawn smaller, probably the first modern trench warfare, the Turks in 1667 took Candia.

Vauban, builder of Verdun, in 1673 employed the first parallel trenches, the system of the present war. Defeat, not foresight, turned the Germans to trench warfare. But Goodrich never had to dig in.

Since twenty-two years ago Goodrich manufactured the first American pneumatic automobile tire, Goodrich has driven ahead to the big, graceful, masterful—

GOODRICH SERVICE VALUE TIRES

Be whether Goodrich was revolutionizing tire manufacture by bringing forth the first American clincher tire— Or originating the one practical non-skid, the cross-bar, safety-tread, or tough black tread rubber— Goodrich built tires to one end—SERVICE VALUE—what they are worth to the motorist on his car and on the road in COMFORT of an easier riding car—ECONOMY in gasoline saved, and LONG MILEAGE.

Small difference whether you get GOODRICH SILVERTOWN CORDS, or BLACK SAFETY TREADS; you get SERVICE VALUE TIRES.

for they could not buy anything. The Salvation Army had been apprised by the doughboys (who) for whatever they wanted with slips of paper signed with their John Hancock. They were ready to carry. Twice along the road from Paris came a truck loaded with slips of paper as if they were Uncle Sam's gold. That same truck which was unloaded and the boys paid up close to the front when the cooed had been dished up hot and steaming ready to serve. Twice along the road it was under heavy shell fire, but it made the journey of a shattered cottage wall and dbris. The troops from the trenches were served hot drinks.

Horse Show Held at Camp Lewis June 18

Greatest of Series to be Given—Seating Capacity for Many Thousands of People.

CAMP LEWIS, AMERICAN LAKE, Wash., June 7.—To show what proficiency has been attained by the men in training the horse and mule, to promote interest among the men of this division in the care of their mounts for an "overseas" athletic fund and at the same time wipe out the indelicacies of the Camp Lewis athletic fund, the remount depot of this division at this cantonment will stage a great and very spectacular military horse show on Sunday afternoon, June 16, in the big arena which was constructed last year for such events. Special interest centers on this show because of the prospect that the division will soon leave for France.

The forthcoming show, which the men are to take part in, it is declared will be the greatest event of the nature ever held at the camp, has been approved and sanctioned by the commanding officers. It will be under the direct charge of Captain J. W. Jackson, commanding the remount depot, where horses and mules are now being trained for war use.

The remount depot has literally thousands of animals upon which to draw for this exhibition and the very finest in horsemanship in the army. It being known that some of the best riders in the world are among the enlisted men in the camp.

Unlike the previous exhibition and review held last December in rain and storm, the coming show will not be a Wild West feature, but a strict demonstration of how the quadruped animal is utilized for military purposes. There will be a number of considerable western riders of the more refined sort, in which famous former cowboys will endeavor to outstrip past performance. A lot of good comedy stunts will also be supplied. Although horses will have the headline honors, infantry, machine gun engineering and other troops will participate. There will be every form of military tactics that can be taught a horse. Both men and officers will enter their mounts. Practically all units of the camp will take part through their respective units. The fish activity in preparation is now evident over the entire cantonment.

After a review of all the entries by Maj. Gen. H. A. Greene the show will resolve itself into two distinctive phases, one part to be devoted to competitive riding of first prize, for which prizes will be given. The other phase will include exhibition events and drills.

Among the prize contest features are competitions between four mile team, four horse teams and escort wagon, four horse team with arms, weapons, artillery half gun sections, artillery complete gun unlimbering contest, single mount and machine gun cart, officers' private mount, officers' government mounts, enlisted men's mounts, saddle mules, jumps for officers and enlisted men, mounted mounted up of war and mounted boxing.

A great arena of five acres will hold the show and this has seating capacity for many thousands, including an unlimited parking area for autos.

Joe Jackson Never Batted Below .300

"Shoelace One," Who Left Chicago to Join Shipworkers, Was a Great Hitter

Jack Velock. (N. B. Sports Editor.)

NEW YORK, June 7.—When Joe Jackson left the White Sox to become a shipbuilder, after being placed in Class 1A of the army draft, he surprised a good many patriots here. But no matter why Joe left the Sox, so suddenly, the fact remains that as a ball player he was one of the best at the bat he was always a "beast" in the major league.

Byrne Cobb hit only .216 in forty games with Detroit in his first year. That was in 1906. Since that time Cobb has never been below the .300 mark in eleven seasons without the clubbing at the craftiest pitching in the big leagues. And Cobb promises to go on and on.

Not with all Cobb's great promises to this "Jackal" person loomed up as a worthy rival of the great Georgian, for Jackson starts at a .300 clip when he first broke in as a fielder with the Cleveland Indians back in 1910, and though he played but twenty games that season, having been called back from New Orleans by Philadelphia and traded to Cleveland for Driscoll last season, without the glebe to the tune of $37.

From the beginning of the season of 1911, until August 21, 1917, Jackson was a member of the Cleveland club, and the figures show that he hit like a pile driver. His best batting average was in 1914, when he hit .350. He finished the season clubbing at a .408 clip, and the same year Cobb hit .420 and beat him out of the championship for a better clubbing that has ever been staged in the American league.

Joe Jackson is a natural bunter and a consistent, though not a flashy fielder. He is fast and he just naturally goes out and gets them without the show of the effort that makes the work of many fielders look brilliant. His loss to the White Sox was hard blow, but Jackson made the blow a little harder to bear by leaving the club with the sword intact. He is entitled to a great deal of credit for the show of the effort that makes the work of many fielders look brilliant.

Necessity and Plan of the Restoration of Tubercular Soldiers Explained by Officer

BOSTON, Mass., June 7.—"A soldier disabled by tuberculosis must be restored to complete physical usefulness, just as well as one who has had his leg shot off," said Colonel Harry E. Mook, speaking before the annual meeting of the National Tuberculosis association this morning. "The rehabilitation of these men," he continued, "includes those in military service, who have contracted tuberculosis and in securing their complete rehabilitation a policy similar to that which had been worked out before the war in reclaiming men found to be unfit by medical examination in industry is being employed. Instead of allowing these patients to lie around sanatoria doing nothing except reading and playing cards and becoming, in fact, hospitalized, it is planned to start their rehabilitation during the period when their physical reconstruction is being completed. They will be in wheelchairs will be taught certain useful trades or occupations. When discharged, they will be placed in special vocational schools where they will either be taught a new trade or made more efficient in their old one." The surgeon general plans to keep close supervision over every tubercular soldier as he is treated or apparently cured, and of tuberculosis will be entitled to the following lines of treatment in order to reclaim him as a useful citizen: a. Best medical treatment with careful attention to securing the most rapid recovery. b. Certain occupations in connection with this treatment to prevent relapse, and to help to the employment. c. Suitable employment after the disease is arrested or apparently cured, combined with proper medical, social and economic supervision. d. Methods to be the first real, fresh air cure," according to Dr. Vincent V. Bowditch, in an address entitled "Methuselah and Life in the Open," presented before the National Association this afternoon. "The reason," Bowditch said, "was long work because

CLOSE-UPS IN SPOKETHON

Allan Markley. (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

NEW YORK, June 6.—The championship yacht race held by the Atlantic-Yacht Hacing Association will not be suspended this year on account of the war, as was provisionally predicted. Commodore L. C. Heller made this announcement today, after a conference, when a schedule of the events was prepared. The season will open June 15 with the regatta of the Old Mill Yacht club, which has for many years been considered a classic. There will be four long distance contests. The annual Poughkeepsie race, held under the auspices of the Rockaway Yacht club, will be the feature of the season.

There is no international race this year, and for that reason it was thought best by the members to keep the sport alive, if possible, until the war is over. The Belle Harbor Yacht Club, one of the oldest members of the association, has withdrawn its membership, but two new members have been added, the Rockaway Park New York club and the Midget Squadron. The association has voted to discard the old method of starting the boats with 2 guns.

The following schedule was announced today: Sunday, June 9, Old Mill regatta. Sunday, June 20, Bergen Beach Yacht Club race. Sunday, July 28, Canarsie Yacht Club race. Sunday, August 11, Motor Boat Club race. Sunday, August 21, Jamaica Bay Yacht Club race. Saturday, July 13, Poughkeepsie long distance race. Sunday, July 15, Orchard Beach Light race. Sunday, August 18, Tamuque Club, race around Staten Island.

National Tuberculosis Body Strives for Adequate Care and the Control of the Disease Developed by Soldiers

BOSTON, Mass., June 7.—More than 11,000 tuberculosis soldiers have been reported by the military authorities to the National Tuberculosis association...

last year more than $1,700,000 was raised for tuberculosis work in this country and this coming year plans are being made for a campaign to raise $3,000,000 during the period from November 4 to December 14 by means of the Red Cross seal.

Through the office of the Surgeon General, all men discharged from the army because of tuberculosis and those reflected by the examining boards are reported. Through the office of the National Association these men are put in touch with the examining boards and control of their disease.

Announcement was made of a special conference to be held during September and October. Speakers will include Dr. H. W. Henshaw, Birmingham, Ala.; Pittsburg, Pa.; Columbus, Ohio, and Providence, R. I.

VOCATIONAL TREATMENT WINS WITH TUBERCULAR SOLDIERS IN CANADA

BOSTON, June 7.—"When I was called upon in 1916 to direct the treatment of some of Canada's returned tubercular soldiers, I found that on account of the great danger and adventure of their life at the front these men were not only indifferent to ordinary methods of treatment, but openly rebellious against such methods."

Report of M. C. Stott State Land Register

The following is the text of the report of M. C. Stott, register, regarding land loans, etc., to the state board of land commissioners:

In compliance with order of the 6th inst. asking for report showing the amount of money loaned in farm loans, the status of the mortgages and the amount of money available for loans, also school bonds, library bonds and other public bonds...

(a) Twelve mortgages, aggregating $32,000, were called for by the state farm loan business from the treasurer's office of the state land department...

(b) Four hundred mortgages were delinquent in the payment of their interest from one to five years.

(c) Twenty-nine loans in force for five years on which no interest or taxes had ever been paid.

(d) Four hundred and twenty-four loans in force covering irrigated lands where the state had either failed to take a mortgage on the water stock, or secured possession of a tract in a proper manner...

(e) Twenty-nine loans in force for five years on which no interest or taxes had ever been paid.

(f) The delinquent mortgages were the first to receive attention and after several months work we were successful in securing renewals in each case...

(g) We have been successful in collecting all of the delinquent interest on the four hundred and twenty-four loans...

Jack Velock, (I. N. S. Sports Editor.) NEW YORK, June 7.—Fred Mitchell and his Chicago Cubs have today reached their objective in the National League...

For the first time since the opening of the season the crawling pace-making Giants have been torn from the lead, and the stand in first place by a margin of half a game.

Both the Cubs and the Giants have suffered heavy blows in the loss of star players. The drabber of Grosz Alexander was a stinging blow to the Cubs...

The acquisition of Charley Heilicher, the new Cub shortstop, rounded out Mitchell's infield combination and Mitchell has a strong club in every department.

SCOREBOARD REFLECTIONS

"Miracle" Mitchell's mysterious Cubs' trend the New York Giants and then show them down.

For the first time this season New York is not the first city in the National League.

The Cardinals awoke long enough to rock the Giants to sleep with base hits.

Heuben Marquard gave up three hits in a game, and his effectiveness against the Pirates.

Parker and Deal hammered out homers for two of the Cubs, three runs scored against the Phils.

Shuffling Phil Douglas shifted the Cubs in Philly giving the Moran men only three hits.

Nick Altrock came out of oblivion long enough to pitch and win a game for Washington against the Tigers.

A triple by Waldo Pipp gave the Yanks victory in their ten inning tilt with the Browns.
