Standard Suit Show Is Opened in London

LONDON, June 21.—Died in a bright red robe with gold foldings, Ermine hat, gold necklace and a suit such as was worn in the days of Queen Anne, the first man to wear a "standard" suit, the "Standard Suit Show" in Clothmarket hall, beside him stood Sir Charles Bykne, government official in wool control, wearing a plain, tweed, century business suit. The prices of the new standard suits range from $14.00 to $21.00. Clothing for women is to be standardized as well as that of men in order to conserve goods.

AUSTRIAN LABOR COUNCIL DEMANDS BREAD AND PEACE

AMERICANS HOLDING 33 MILES OF TRENCH

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Thirty-eight miles of trench trenches on the western front are now held by the American troops, according to a military affairs committee report by war department officials today.

The committee members were shown a confidential communication from General Pershing giving the number of American divisions now in action. The number was "considerably more" than expected.

Quantities produced of both ammunition and machine guns is going at high speed, the committee is informed. During the last month 200,000,000 rounds of thirty calibre small ammunition for use in small arms and machine guns were produced in the United States.

There has been no let up in shipment of troops here, and supplies because of German U-boat operations off the American coast. Neither has the transport of troops been cut down, as generally reported.

WHEAT SHIPMENT TO ALLIES WILL STOP FOR TIME

LAST OF PROMISED SUPPLY WILL BE OVER SEVEN TEEN DAYS

Wheat Pit Re-opening Rumor Denied

New Wheat Arrives on Market and Shipments to Europe Will Be Resumed in September After Rest of Two Months.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Rumors that the Chicago wheat pit would soon resume operations were emphatically denied by officials of the new crop administration. Arrived at the markets of the first of the new crop from Virginia had given rise to the rumors that the pit was about to be revived.

Emphatically no Chicago wheat pit will not re-open," said an official speaking for Mr. Hoover, the first wheat of the early spring crop created considerable interest in the wheat supplies at Washington and nearby markets. The supplies are nearly exhausted, it was said, and the barrels have been scraped to the bottom in many distal shipments overseas. Shipments of wheat to our allies will cease temporarily within the next ten days, it was said today. Our promised allotment for this year's crop to the fighting forces has been virtually kept, and with a small movement before the end of the month, every barrel of wheat promised will have left our shores. Nearly 100,000,000 bushels went across, it was learned. Shipments of the new crop begin in September.

Great praise was today given the American housewives who, through co-operating in conservation measures of the food administration made possible the enormous movement of wheat to our allies.

It was the women of America who saved the situation," said administration officials.

Important Conference of Shipping Officials

Thought That Street Car Lines Will Be Commandeered to Expedite War Work at Yards.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—Chairman Hartley and other shipping board officials left this afternoon for Philadelphia, where they will participate in a meeting of the shipping conference on speeding up production will be discussed. One of the questions to be held today will be the commandeering of street cars to expedite the shipping of war material. One running through Chester, Pa., has already been taken over.

Chairman Hartley said: "I was glad today will leave soon for the Pacific coast to inspect building work there."

Want Parliament Convened at Once

Peace Without Annexations and League to Enforce Peace Demanded—Resolution Threatened Unless Conditions Change.

LONDON, June 21.—Following food riots in which 20,000 persons were injured, the Vienna labor council adopted resolutions, said a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam today, containing the following demands:

1. That full bread rations be restored to the public.

2. That the government, whenever possible, enter into a general peace on the basis of no annexations, and join a league of nations for the enforcement of peace.

3. That parliament be convened at once.

The food situation in Austria is described as "desperate."

Prague, Brno, Gallicia and Budapest have been reduced to bread, not even at such exorbitant prices.

The Vienna newspaper declared for the first time that unless a revolution will break out unless the situation is remedied.

The New Free Press warns that a revolution will break out unless the situation is remedied.

Latin Americans to Take Part in War

United States Will Help Build Railroads of Southern Republics for Service Across the Sea.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—The way was paved this afternoon for active military participation in the war by Latin Americans. In the great situation which has declared war against Germany, the senate military affairs committee unanimously adopted a resolution authorizing the war department to train men sent to this country for that purpose by any allied nation.

The purpose of the amendment, it was understood, was to provide for the training of South and Central American troops. PLAYERS OF ALL GAMES OUT OF A DEFERRED CLASS

WORK OR FIGHT? DOESN'T MEAN PLAY OR DOESN'T FIGHT AT OPTION

Baseball Status Still in Grave Doubt

On Its Face Magnates of the Diamond Are Included but President Wilson May Exclude Them for the Summer.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—General Crowder officially raised the question of the status of players of all games, sports and amusements, except athletic performers in legitimate contests or theatrical performances, are engaged in non-productive occupations or employments.

It will be noted that the local boards to make a specific case in regard to ball players, it was pointed out, unless the president specifically exempts them from the order.

The ruling effect was to the decision on sports and games. General Crowder also announced several other important rulings regarding the "work or fight" order, requiring that occupations or employments are non-productive. Referring to sales clerks employed in stores and other mercantile establishments, he said that the regulations do not apply to stock exchanges, managers, promoters, advertising, credit, purchasing, delivery, freight and shipping, real estate, pharmacists employed in wholesale and retail drug stores are also exempt from the regulations, as well as news salesmen, buyers, delivery drivers, electricians, engineers, carpenters, upholsterers and employees doing heavy work outside the plant.

AUSTRIANS THROWN ON DEFENSIVE HURL FRESH TROOPS INTO FIGHT

Premier of Italy Confident—Allied Forces Win at All Points During Past Twenty-four Hours—Heaviest Fighting Takes Place on the Lower Piave Which Is Swollen by Torrential Rains to Advantage of Allies—Only Minor Operations on the Western Front.

LONDON, June 21.—The critical moment of the great battle in Italy, which began with the Austrian offensive last Saturday, has been reached, said a wireless dispatch from Rome today. The Austrians have thrown fresh forces into the engagement and violent fighting is taking place on the Piave, especially in the sector of Montello.

Italy is confident that a decisive victory will be won, the dispatch added.

"The Austrian effort to advance westward in the Montello sector failed," Premier Orlando announced in the Italian chamber of deputies, said a Reuters dispatch from Rome today. He added:

"The enemy was unable to advance across the Monte Bellonzo-Sussano railway, where he was stopped. In addition, we have gained ground on the lower Piave."

Postmaster Recruiting Is To Be Stimulated

Will it be necessary to strike out along new lines to obtain the 40,000 recruits for the marine corps? Major F. H. Delmon, in charge of the central recruiting division, speaking through the Recruiters Magazine, said on a recent tour that the postmaster method would be the future means of recruiting, and that he should have to depend much on the postmaster assistance whenever it became necessary to obtain a large number of men within a limited time.

We believe here that successful postmaster recruiting requires the services of an additional recruiting officer in each district, who can spend his time in travel through the section. He should be able to interview and instruct postmasters and medical examiners, to hold recruiting offices and to obtain assistance from city officials, newspapers and patriotic citizens.

Two hundred applicants might be secured each month through the cooperation of one hundred postmasters. At least it would induce him to work for the marines with as much interest as he works for the army. When the postmaster informs the army of prospective applicants they immediately dispatch a recruiter to the town to conduct a general interview and arrange immediate transportation. The suggestion is an improvement on the army's scheme and the expense involved would not equal the sum now expended on transportation for rejected applicants from postmasters.

The above is published for the benefit of communities in which the Times circulates, and for the benefit of that sort of recruiting service existing here is not to be found.

Houston Opposes Law Against U.S. Employees

Says Deferred Classification Men Needed in Home Departments For Efficiency.

WASHINGTON—That it is singularly unjust and offensive to say that state and federal officers as well as local and district district boards were absent of national interest in the bill desired to provide safe places for slackers in the department of agriculture is the statement of David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture, in a detailed report submitted to the senate committee on agriculture, regarding the amendment by the house to the pending food production act for 1918, providing the payment of salaries, under this act, to any man who has been placed in deferred military classification on account of his employment by the department.

It is equally unjust, Secretary Houston declares, to characterize as "slackers" the patriotic men who are rendering patriotic service in the department of agriculture, and who are making a sacrifice. They are not only not slackers, but are performing very vital emergency service for the winners of the war.

The house amendment, if it remains in the bill, the secretary says, "will mean an exceedingly direct and complete abandonment to carry out its program to secure the increased production of food, feedstuffs and livestock and also to increase the activities connected with the food production act. Furthermore it will seriously interfere with the investigation and activities which the department is conducting at the request of the military and naval authorities, the shipping board and other branches of the government."

Mr. Houston submits with his report a letter from Secretary Baker in which the war secretary discusses the close relationship between the various departments in the prosecution of the war and enumerates some of the vitally important ways in which the department experts have given aid to the army.

"Such deferred classifications as have been made at the request of the department of agriculture," Secretary of War Baker wrote, "seem entirely justified and the war department cheerfully recognizes the fact that the needs of the army have been considered by you in such deferred classification requests and have met with your approval."

In addition to the statement submitted today by Secretary Houston, the senate committee has heard the elaborate testimony from officers of the department of agriculture who explained the difficulties experienced in securing and retaining trained and experienced men to perform the highly urgent and essential activities of the department. The facts presented show:

- 1. That since the United States entered the war, the department has lost the services of 1,537 of whom have entered the military service;
2. That the personal interests of the employees were not considered nor was the employee considered in any way. Recommendations were made, in accordance with the law and the purpose of the selective service law and of the regulations issued by the war department thereunder, only for men who are necessary to the safe and effective operation of the service in which they were engaged and whose qualifications in their particular sector, but in such a way that it would be impossible to replace them without substantial material loss and detriment to the safe and effective operation;
3. That no men have been recom-

COMMUNITIES MONEY

Illustration of a man with a money bag and a scale.

THE LEAK IN THE DYKE

The dangers of a leak in the community's money is not realized by many of us. For an illustration note the picture above. All of us know how dangerous it was for a leak to appear in the Dykes of Holland. The result was disaster. So it is with us. The drain the Mail Order House is on our wealth, is keeping from our growth as a community. Instead of increasing in wealth as any community would if they were to patronize the local merchants it goes into the far distant city, leaving less with every drop for prosperity. Stop that leak—before it drains out all our chances of progress—before it wipes out our homes. Buy from local merchants, and buy all the possible Home Products you can to keep our money here amongst ourselves. It means the success or annihilation of our community.

THERE IS WORK FOR YOU!

LETTING George do it" is altogether too common a fault. Take an inventory of yourself and see what YOU are doing to assist in furthering the interests of your community. Don't excuse yourself on the ground that there is nothing for YOU to do. There is a part for each one of us to play. "There is work for YOU."

We can't all do it direct the affairs of our municipal government. We can't all do it actively participate in civic affairs—but we can all of us at least show our loyalty and do our part in making for a bigger, better, happier and more prosperous city by spending our money with our own people—by patronizing our own industrial establishments, which alone make possible our growth and progress. Don't "pass the buck" to the other chap. Do your share. Think and express only good thoughts about the city that is good enough for you to live in. Talk properly and think properly about your city and its future, and make this property an assured thing by buying at home and boosting home products.

Marines Over There Want News of the War

A marine writes from over seas that he learns more about the war, in its wider phases from reading standard publications that are printed in the United States, than he learns by actual experience. He is quite familiar, of course, with the trend of affairs in his own particular sector, but he goes on in other sectors is a mystery until he reads the details in the magazines.

His statement depicts that history is repeating itself in the great war. Soldiers who fought in other wars, and notably in the great battles of Waterloo and Gettysburg, admitted that they knew only what went on in their own particular unit and in the forces that opposed them, and nothing at all about the work of other troops engaged in the same battle. The standard magazines and newspapers have employed America's best correspondents to "cover" the war and what they have written will form the basis of histories yet to be completed. Their records are taken from the front lines, headquarters stations, the questioning of prisoners, refugees and actual participants in the battles.

River Boat Men Appeal To Congress

Three National Legislators to Vote For Rate Legislation That Will Help As War Measure.

WASHINGTON, June 21.—With the passage by congress of the annual river and harbor appropriation bill which will insure the continuation of necessary projects for the improvement of inland and coastal waterways during the present year numerous delegations representing civic and commercial organizations from cities and towns along the waterways have signified their intention of coming to Washington to urge legislation for removing the present drawbacks to water transportation.

Inquiries are being received almost daily from these organizations by members of congress relative to the prospects for legislation to insure investors in boat lines that they will not be driven out of business after the war by a return to the old unfair, competitive railroad rates to seaboard and inland waterway points. Many of these organizations would have been opposed to such legislation before the war because the communities which they represent were enjoying low rates due to the unfair practices of the railroads. However, they have now been brought to see the light—the fact in which their water transportation facilities vanished—and are patriotically demanding that congress make it certain that the old practices shall never again prevail.

And from present indications congress is responding to the demand and will take up and discuss this question during the present session while waiting for the completion of the new revenue bill. Any legislation designed to build up waterway transportation facilities of the country, many of the members declare, is distinctly within the category of war measures and should be pressed forward with all possible speed.

CO-OPERATION IN SHEEP RAISING

Groups of small sheep growers on the Middlefork Reclamation project, where approximately 600 settlers are producing sheep on their farms, are consolidating their flocks into larger bands for summer grazing.

A large number of the United States department of agriculture is assisting in the work. Approximately 600 sheep, representing 24 small flocks, make up the four bands, which will be grazed on the Sawtooth National forest. The

He will play with the Bethlehem team and become an employee of the steel company.

DISTRICT AND COUNTY WAR CONFERENCES

Believing that interest in war work will be stimulated and closer unity brought about between the state and county councils of defense as well as leading to take advantage of the present state-wide war conference held in Boise, the executive committee of the state council authorizes the appointment that a series of district and county war conferences will be held during the summer in all parts of Idaho, says the Press Bulletin of the Idaho Council of Defense. This action is taken at the urgent request of the Council of National Defense.

Under the plans approved the initial series of conferences will be held in northern Idaho during the summer, the first conference probably opening at Lewiston and the closing one at Wallace. Conferences will also be held at other cities in that section.

The complete itinerary is being worked out and will be announced later. There are in the state several men who have seen service in France, some of them incapacitated through wounds who will travel under the auspices of the state council to the various district and county war conferences and tell the story of their experiences as well as show the imperative necessity of thorough organization in the second line of defense at home so that sure and certain victory will be brought about by the United States and our allies on the European battlefield.

The TIMES is an Independent Democratic newspaper but it knows no politics as opposed to the most unbridled and vicious prosecution of the war that is possible. Therefore, if it AGES any man, Democrat or Republican, caught throwing hardware into the machinery, either with his hands or with his mouth, if it is "partisan," make the most of it!

STRONGER THAN ARGUMENT.

Our Democratic and Free-Trade friends object strongly to the tariff bills blamed for the depression of 1893 and other panics that have followed Free-Trade tariffs. But their arguments aren't as strong as the facts--American Economists. Yes, the facts in the case are stronger than any argument, and they are all on the side of the Democrats. The panic of 1893 came on fifteen months before the passage of the Wilson-Gorman tariff bill which the Economist tries to blame for the panic. It was a recurrence of the short panic of 1857 which resulted in the overthrow of the Republican majority in the lower house of congress, shortly after the passage of the famous McKinley law. It was in 1857, when Harrison was president and both houses of congress Republican that the "farmers' Alliance" waged strong and the Populist party, called a hard times party, was formed. There are facts that are stronger than any argument, going to show that the Democrats are not responsible for a panic that came on when every law on the statute books had been placed there by Republicans. Since the Economists' objects to the change that the McKinley tariff is responsible for the panic of 1907 what about the panic of 1873? Or the panic of 1884, which began two months before Grover Cleveland was elected for his first term and while Arthur was president?

The fact is that all panics and financial and industrial depressions are international rather than national, so the Republicans are not as blame-worthy as they had record on the panic question would indicate on its face. But why try to blame the Democrats when every panic which began within the last sixty years came under Republican laws and four out of the five under Republican administrations?

EXCESS PROFIT INCOME

There is nothing surprising about the disclosures regarding enormous profits made by some industries other than the munitions making business as disclosed by the treasury department report to the house of representatives today. When the great cry was made against munitions makers at the time the first war revenue bill was pending, THE TIMES suggested that other lines of industry were so placed as to enjoy a monopoly by reason of the withdrawal of competition, and that the cry against one line of activity on the ground that its profits were "made out of blood" was demagogic to the last degree; while at the same time it advocated the eventual manufacture of all munitions and ordnance by the government. It was pointed out by this paper that while munitions makers would go out of business at the end of the war, and investment that prove a dead loss, other lines which were getting rake-offs would go right ahead when the war closed. Though opposed to meddling by the government in competitive business beyond the prevention of unfair trading, this is an inescapable point that many lines, normally competitive become monopolistic as a result of the war and needed regulation. It is safe to say that under the new law, other industries than those engaged in the making of munitions will receive distribution.

The coal mining business, which is specifically named in dispatches today as making in some instances two thousand per cent profit, is not a competitive business, however, but has many features of a natural monopoly. So true is this that John Bates Clark, the noted economist of Columbia university has long contended that if an enterprise which on that ground might well be operated by the government. It is not surprising that the coal men objected to the regulations of Dr. Garfield.

LOS ANGELES DEMOCRATS LAY ASIDE PARTISANSHIP

THE TIMES is a believer in party government because men differ along broad lines and those who are nearest another in ideas naturally congregate and form party organizations. At the same time, recognizing that the winning of the war is the biggest job before the American people, it is always glad to see Democrats endorse a Republican who is for the essential policies of the administration, and compliments the party members in Los Angeles, who are lining up for Congressman Osborne, the Republican incumbent.

OPINION OF THE WORLD

The opinion of mankind in general is fully in accord with that of Mrs. H. E. Leach, executive head of the British Women's Auxiliary Army corps, now in this country in behalf of her country to assist in war work, when she says that President Wilson is the greatest man in the world. That the United States acted at the psychological moment when its entrance to the war would prove most effective for the cause of democracy is an opinion which she shares with most thinkers everywhere.

Great Auto Racers Start on Tomorrow

Famous Manipulators of the Gas Wag on Steering Gear Now in Chicago to Run Some

CHICAGO, June 21.—A fleet of eighteen automobiles, driven by the world's greatest racing men, will leave the post tomorrow at the Speedway. The first of the fleet is the 100 mile automobile derby handicap. They are all to be there, with the one exception of Eddie Hickenbacher, now an American "ace" somewhere in France. The derby is a genuine international affair as Arthur Dury, champion of Europe, and holder of the world's speed record of 147 miles an hour, will compete against such men as the Palma, Hesta, Barney O'Grady, Louis Chevrolet and Ralph Mulford. It is expected that Dury, while not the favorite, will be a strong contender. He has geared his Frontenac up to her highest pitch and predicts he will whirl around the two mile course at 150 miles an hour, which would mean a new record and probable victory.

De Palma and Resta, who will compete tomorrow with each other rather than with the entire eighteen, are today unconsciously competing with each other in the favor of the popular miler, Hesta. Yesterday she put over on her rival, by making the fastest lap for the day on the track--a new record for the two mile run, which is what De Palma did the day before.

Personal Habits of American Soldiers Abate Reproach Declares Y. M. C. A. International Secretary

CHICAGO, June 21.—John R. Mott, international secretary of the Y. M. C. Referring to them, and basing his statements upon actual observations at the front, he said: "They are splendid, wholesome, idealistic, wonderful men, our boys. It is reported now that an outsider may get the job. The delay in selecting a manager has caused an air of uneasiness among the players.

and general manager of the Los Angeles Railway corporation, has announced that he has the matter of free transportation for the soldiers and sailors under consideration.

Major Woodman said: "If it legally can be done the proposition should be carried out for we certainly can't afford for our soldiers who are here today and gone tomorrow, and who may be fighting for us on the battlefields of Europe in a short time, to be a case in which the people generally are interested and I sincerely trust some way may be found of extending this courtesy to our fighting men."

He declared of "goods and services" about which we have read a great deal the last few months is one to which we can all heartily subscribe.

A homely saying is "You cannot eat your cake and have it too." This saying explains in a few words the idea of the doctrine of "goods and services."

We cannot go into the markets and buy and use goods of any kind and at the same time have those goods for other purposes. We cannot have labor work for us as individuals and at the same time have that labor available for the use of the government to help it to fight a war.

Every time we buy goods, every time we buy labor, we compete with the government.

War Savings Day

On or before that date every man, woman and child in the United States will be called upon to sign a pledge card for his or her full quota of War Savings Stamp purchases for 1918. That is the day we tell Uncle Sam just how hard we want to win this war.

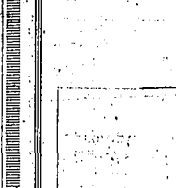

YOU CAN AFFORD—no more, but by the same token, no less. Uncle Sam is asking hundreds of thousands of men to give their LIVES to their country; he is asking you only to lend your MONEY. What are you lending? Get busy with paper and pencil and figure out the utmost you can do regardless of how many War Savings Certificates or Liberty Bonds you already own.
