Americans Take Jaulgonne and Buzzany; Oulchy-LaChateau Falls to The French

RUSSIANS TO GET AID FROM ALLIED POWERS

ALL FACTIONS WILL BE TREATED FAIRLY IN THE REPORT

Final Steps Being Taken in Matter

State Department Detail—Understood That Only Details Remain to be Ironed Out Among Foes of German Autocrat.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Final action by the allied nations in Russia to aid all factions in that unhappy country who are desirous of throwing off the German yoke is about to be initiated. The general board plans of procedure have been decided on. The minor questions of detail are being worked out through cable exchanges between the capitals. As soon as they are completed, a joint announcement will be issued.

Present plans are that the announcement shall come from President Wilson. It will be made in a manner which will pledge every nation concerned to respect the utter sovereignty of Russia as a nation. It will show that the all-compelling plan will be one of furthest economic assistance. Announcement will be made that a certain number of international troops will be sent to strategic points to protect allied interests.

But these forces, whose composition has not as yet been fully decided on, will be no more than a nucleus of an aggressive organization. Their duties will be limited to projecting foreign troops.

Foreign officials and diplomats expect the Russian announcement in the very near future. Just when it will come depends upon the exchanges that are still taking place. Until all details are completed, state department and white house officials refuse to talk. They say that until the president authorizes an official announcement they cannot explain national strategy.

Supplies of all sorts to restore agricultural Russia. Agricultural supplies with machinery and seed will go from here to Russia to aid the farmers in reclaiming their lands. The outfitting of the Russian army, including 600 new locomotives, and many cars built with the needs of the Russian railways and their broad-gauge road beds considered.

Money to furnish a working capital for the Russian people will furnish assistance that their efforts will be directed for the benefit of Russia alone.

It is believed here that any action which President Wilson may take will not recognize any of the Russian factions. The U. S. in all of the negotiations which have taken place during the last three months has insisted at all times that there be no effort to name a government for Russia. It is, of course, possible that the Czech-Slovaks will be recognized at the outset, but it is only in the opinion of a provisional government.

BATTLE DIES DOWN LAST NIGHT TO BE RENEWED AGAIN TODAY

French Took Three Villages Back During the Night—Allied Big Guns in Position to Blast Way Through—Germans Preparing for Greater Retirement as They Slowly Retreat—Burn Everything Before Leaving Territory—Crown Prince's Army in Grave Peril.

(By Frank Charlton, I. N. S. Cable Editor)

After surging up to a height of tremendous violence on Monday the fighting between the Aisne, the Marne and Rheims—the scene of the Franco-American counter offensive shimmered down to savage artillery duels last night to be renewed this morning.

The French, however, employed their infantry to good advantage elsewhere, striking the German positions along the southern end of the Picardy front, a series of sharp local blows which wrested three villages from German hands.

These villages—Mully-Raineval, Savillers and Auberville—all lie between Montdidier and Amiens, near another zone where Americans have given a good account of themselves in battle.

The temporary slowing down of the infantry fighting on the Aisne-Marne-Champagne front was to be expected in the logical course of events.

Fresh reserves had enabled the Germans to stiffen their resistance, and, in addition to this, the advance of from five to ten miles by the American and French forces compelled them to halt in order to move up their artillery.

When the big guns are in position to blast open another pathway, another series of advances may be expected.

While the French war office today told of its infantry actions south of the Aisne it is more than likely that minor operations are continuing in progress with the allies biting off small German salients, wiping out machine gun nests and creeping forward in vital sectors of the front, such as the Oulchy to Chateau zone, on the center.

While the German armies fall back northward preparations are being made for even a greater retirement. This is made evident by the configurations raging behind the German front, where villages and depots are being burned to prevent their falling into the hands of the allies.

The Germans want to get out before General Foch springs the trap.

Should Soissons fall before the bottom part of the salient is withdrawn to ground offering natural defensive positions a great part of the crown prince's army south of the Aisne would be menaced with annihilation or capture.

It is now estimated that the German captive total nearly 25,000 and that nearly 600 German guns have fallen into the allies hands which is an excellent indication of the success of the counter drive.

Ernest P. Orr, (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, July 23.—With both sides reinforced and the Germans offering strong and stubborn resistance at many points, the great battle developed with the allied counter offensive on the Aisne-Marne-Champagne front in the most extreme violence today.

American and French troops have advanced beyond the heights east of La Croix Neuve, which flank the Chateau Thierry road.

The village of Eples has been taken in a storm attack and the Franco-American troops have occupied the heights northeast of Mont St. Pere.

In spite of the determined German resistance the French in the past hours have made progress on both banks of the Aisne-Marne salient and at the apex which rests north of the Marne river.

On the western wing of the salient French troops have withstood powerful German counter attacks, which have been heavily and captured several hundred prisoners.

That the Germans realize that they will be compelled to give more ground under the terrific pressure of the allied "pincers" is indicated by the fact that they are withdrawing northward and in the direction of villages behind their front.

Every bit of the area behind the German front which is being heavily shelled from two sides and great numbers of gas projectiles are being thrown among the moving troops.

The Franco-American troops are advancing astride two important roads: the Chateau Thierry-Oulchy to Chateau road.

The Chateau Thierry-Pere on the Marne.

Allied armies have been doing effective work in bombing the German troop concentrations on the congested highway leading to the north in the hurling tons of high explosives on the railroads, bridges, ammunition dumps, gas installations and military works.

ALLIES GREAT ADVANCE

In the first five days of their counter offensive the Franco-American forces and their allies on the Aisne-Marne-Champagne front have: 1. Advanced from five to ten miles. 2. Captured approximately 25,000 German prisoners. 3. Captured nearly 600 German guns and thousands of machine guns. 4. Forced the Germans back under the Marne. 5. Captured the German pilot position at Chateau Thierry and many villages. 6. Cut the important railroads—Oulchy to Chateau Thierry and the line of communication. 7. Burned the German field railways in the Aisne-Marne salient under artillery fire.

TRADE CONDITIONS AFTER THE WAR

Many merchants and business men, making a careful study of trade conditions which have been brought into being because of the war, are now speculating as to the condition that will exist after the war is over.

There is a general feeling of optimism among industrial managers who think that business conditions will gradually improve, rather than with a suddenness as is feared by some. The very fact that there will be a reconstruction period lasting for several years after the war comes to a close, and that the European nations will have to be fed for several years, because more grain than at the present time, is conclusive evidence that business conditions cannot change very suddenly.

There will possibly be a drop in prices, especially in the cotton and woolen industries. The demand for raw commodities will naturally lessen after the war, departments find no further use to remain.

Food commodities will remain in fact for some time in America, and the conservation program will continue to be practiced for several years to come.

But as the world is gradually restored to its former efficiency and peace, the American market will just as gradually be reconstituted with a larger and more supply of food stuffs. The larger prices that are now being received by many acres of it for the first time, to the production of food stuffs, will still be producing with almost the same vigor as now exist under war conditions. So will come a gradual drop in prices.

Food speculations it is probable that prices will drop lower for a time than they have ever been before in the history of the country. Of course prices will drop proportionately, and there will be a general condition of unprofitableness for a time.

Later farmers and manufacturers, because they are making so little, will be turning their attention to the production of business necessities, and farmers will replant potatoes and so on to raising stock. So many acres of it for the first time, to the production of food stuffs, will still be producing with almost the same vigor as now exist under war conditions. So will come a gradual drop in prices.

Cattle and other livestock will probably always remain in demand, and the prices on meats will remain high. This will induce many farmers to turn their attention to meat production, and by doing so the local market on other commodities will be alleviated.

Kimberly people have enjoyed very much the entertainment tendered them by the Carmen Chautauqua which has been running there for the past week, closing tonight.

The feature for tonight's program was "Columbus's Children" under the supervision of the Junior superintendent. It consisted of a great patriotic pageant by local children.

Whether the company will return again next year has not been decided by the local committee, but it is doubtful whether they will as Kimberly is hardly able to support both the Chautauqua and the winter lyceum.

Butter wrapper headquarters is at THE TIMES office, where they will be printed at any time, in their turn, like any other job.

This marks an epoch in the history of the Teton Valley. While the coal mines in Horsehoe Canyon for years have been a source of convenience to the people of the valley, the transfer of the properties by R. S. Talbot, the Spokane capitalist, changed the proposition from one of local convenience to one of state and national importance.

Defends Agricultural Department Stand

Assistant Secretary Tells Why Employees Were Held on the Work During the War

To Editor Times: In simple justice to a group of earnest and patriotic men, I ask your attention to a few statements of fact.

The House of Representatives adopted an amendment to the Food Production Act of 1919 forbidding the payment of salaries under this act to any man who has been placed in deferred military classification on account of his employment by the Department.

It means a large increase of supply of coal for the state of Idaho, and particularly for the southern part thereof, easily accessible. It means a saving of care in the handling and shipping of coal.

While the opening of the Teton coal mines is a big thing for the valley, it is the opening of the Teton Valley for the people of the valley. It will give stimulus to mining activities here. Other known coal prospects will be more thoroughly explored.

It means a lot to the business interests of the valley to every one of its inhabitants. It is up to us to take full advantage of the increasing business to be done in the valley.

Washington, D. C., July 5, 1918. Hon. C. Driggs, Idaho, Idaho.

"I feel it my duty to tell the doctors I can do to help suffering humanity, and I am more than glad for the sake of others, to give this statement about my wonderful experience since I began the use of Tonic. I have uttered a great deal during the past two years, but I feel that I have not said enough in a very severe form. My food would not digest properly, but would fly in my stomach and ferment, causing gas, bloating and much pain about my heart.

THE DAILY TWIN FALLS TIMES

Established Every Day Except Sunday by the TWIN PRINTING & PUBLISHING COMPANY, Twin Falls, Idaho.

Entered at the Twin Falls postoffice as second class matter on a daily publication, April 11, 1913.

The TIMES is an independent Democratic newspaper but it knows no politics as opposed to the most unselfish and vigorous prosecution of the war that is possible.

THE ENDORSEMENT OF SENATOR NUNEN

If The Twin Falls Times cannot see the difference between the endorsement given Senator Nunen in the last campaign by the Prohibition party and the endorsement given Senator Nunen in this campaign...

The endorsement of Governor Alexander was not intended by the nomination of a complete monkey ticket to be voted for in the Democratic primaries...

The endorsement of Senator Nunen alone makes the Prohibition party a menace to the Democratic party of Idaho without that endorsement...

Now, the question of the relative importance of the certain candidate of the Times and the New Freedom may be an interesting question...

The Times believes that so long as no principle is violated or suppressed, any man may accept an endorsement from any organization...

This may be "highway" reasoning, but The Times cannot rise above it. Whether the members of the team should go into the primaries or not is a matter of conscience...

Getting back to the Alexander endorsement: Suppose that in tendering the name, the Prohibition party had endorsed all the rest of its candidates...

NO CALENDAR FOR 500 YEARS

Christians Decried Time According to Customs of Nations to Which They Belonged.

History tells us that for 500 years the Christians had no calendar of their own, but followed the year according to the customs of the nations to which they belonged.

At the beginning of the eighth century the venerable Bede pointed out that this was an historical blunder. But no general notice was taken of criticism and the error has continued to this day.

However, although we are actually approaching the year 1023 A. D., there is little probability that our calendar will ever be reformed to show the fact that the origin of the year resulted from a substitution of the more exact designation...

Heavy Firing Heard Off Massachusetts

Navy Department Threats Reported Little If Only Target Practice—It Seems Bull Unlikely

NANTUCKET, Mass., July 23.—The heavy firing continued off the eastern end of Nantucket Island throughout the night and early this morning. Shortly after 9 o'clock three hydroplanes passed over the island in the direction of the firing. Officers of the first naval district today doubted very much as to the exact nature of the eastern end of the island yesterday.

PROVINCETOWN, Mass., July 23.—Firing was heard at 6:50 a. m. today in a northwest direction from here, and ended at 9:30 a. m. in the clear range. It is rumored that patrol boats are battling with submarines off Race point.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—The navy department this afternoon was without any report on firing off Provincetown, Mass. Officially it was believed that an investigation would report target practice by destroyers, which is frequent. This belief is based on the fact that there undoubtedly would be a report of an engagement with submarines, had one actually taken place.

As report of the rumored sinking of the South States light ship off Nantucket by a German submarine has reached the navy department this afternoon. Navy department officials were not including this into the rumors seriously, although an investigation will be made. The report was sent from New Bedford, Mass.

It was believed that a strong patrol now is watching the steamer lines in an effort to locate the submarine. The active assistance of seaplanes from the various base stations.

BOSTON, July 23.—Rear Admiral Spencer S. Wood, commander of the first naval district, was asked if any report concerning the disappearance of the Nantucket light ship had reached him. He replied that it had been reported at this time that a boat had been sighted off Nantucket shoals.

He stated that he had notified the second naval district and had been informed that a patrol boat had searched the waters in that vicinity but had not found any trace of the light ship or of any sunken wreck. It was expected that further reports would be added.

BOSTON, July 23.—Headquarters of the first naval district announced today that the naval authorities at Newport, R. I., had just informed the navy department that communication had been established with the Nantucket light ship and that she was at this time being towed.

No explanation was given of the "reading being" which was continued in the "district" last night and early this morning.

NONE FROM IDAHO

WASHINGTON, July 23.—One hundred and five casualties in the American expeditionary forces were announced today by the war department, divided as follows:

A British soldier writes: Most people I think, know that when a person falls in battle, the person attending to him, the "snare," or feeling, of the missing limb. As a case in point, I might mention that a friend of mine, who had lost a leg in the war, in an incident which took place at the missing leg and came to injury. I myself had the misfortune to lose my left hand on the Mesopotamian ridge last year, and all the pain I have suffered from the wound has been in the hand which I no longer possess. Now, the peculiar part of it all is that on alternate days the fingers of the missing hand open and close; that is to say, yesterday they were closed; today they were open. Tomorrow they will be closed again. Can this be explained? This change takes place during sleep, and once or twice, on restless nights, I have noticed that the fingers of the hand which I was so fortunate, and during the attack I carried my revolver in the missing hand. When the fingers are closed they are exactly in the same position as when they were still attached to the revolver. That I can understand, but why should they open on alternate days? The only explanation I can offer is that when the fingers are closed after I have wakened I am unoccupied nearly twenty-four hours later. Also, I was wounded somewhere about 4 o'clock in the morning, and was operated on about five o'clock the following morning, and the opening and closing of the fingers takes place about this time.

WHERE SOLDIERS ARE BETTER

Army Officer, Explains the Benefits of Development of Physiological Resistance.

In an interview with Surgeon General Gorzias for the American Gazette, about the claims for hot wax to come back after the author says, referring to another army officer for the moment:

"Major Greif said another thing which every mother and father ought to learn by heart. He said: 'The thing which affects a wounded man's chance more than almost anything else is physiological resistance. That is where the soldier puts it all over the civilian every time. When a man goes out from the war, responsible for his own life and the lives of others, it is the peaceful pursuit of war.'"

Razing Logs in Honolulu

The Island of Kohala has been dedicated to lowering the cost of living—if production of 10,000 tons for marketing will do it. The local agriculture and forestry has authorized Chairman Arthur H. Rice to confer with the governor and land commissioner on a plan to withdraw the land from the forest reserve and offer it for lease. This has been done and Chairman Rice has placed in the hands of Deputy Attorney General Smith the duty of drawing up the necessary papers. Kohala now produces coal and sand. It is believed that thousands of tons of marketable quality coal can be exported from the island and a chance is to be given for some enterprising merchant to buy some of the land in the territory.—Hawaii Star-Bulletin.

How to Make a Service Flag

Perhaps it is due to the familiar pictures of Service flags that the flag is the best red ribbon, ten inches wide ribbon and enough blue to form the stars to which you are entitled. Cut the red ribbon into five pieces and then cut the blue and the other two so that they finish off square and a half inches allowing for seams. Sew these strips together, inserting the white pieces for an end. The top edge is a blue star, or embroider it, according to taste. The white field will be varied in size in accordance with the number of stars used.

DAISIC LIKE WORK AS 'TRUCK MAN'—OTHERS WANTED

"There's nothing like it," was the statement of Private John A. Baisch, of Kimberly, quartermaster corps, U. S. army, who testified at the local army recruiting station, May 29. Private Baisch has been stationed since his enlistment at Camp Holston, Miss. His duties so far have been to drive the truck company transporting supplies from the camp to the docks. Through his ability he was placed in charge of a company of colored troops of the stovehouse regiment.

Private Baisch states that he was given the choice of any line of work he wished to take training in, and any man enlisting in this branch has equal opportunity. He is very enthusiastic over the service, stating that it follows a simply unwarlike of the benefit of the army training, and he considers any man foolish, who remains in civilian life.

The local army recruiting officers have now verified their statements regarding the different branches of the army and it would be well for young men to inquire for information at once. Private Baisch states there are now in camp four thousand trucks with no one to drive them, and that is one camp out of many. Volunteers must make these trucks as well as the private.

Private Baisch was first granted a farm furlough of three months' duration but due to the fact that his outfit is soon to embark for overseas

APPEAR HINDING IN HELLS FOR A YEAR. DENIED ASKS TO BE SENT TO FIGHT

MONTROSE, Colo., July 23.—After being in the military for more than a year in the hope of escaping military service, Officer Garber has surrendered himself to his commanding officer and asked for the privilege of fighting against Germany.

Garber, who is twenty-nine, had spent alone among the peaks of the San Juan range of the Rockies. On his first venture back to civilization he picked up a note from his mother, an account of submarine raids off the coast of New Jersey. He rushed to a recruiting office and surrendered with a demand that he be sent at once to fight the Huns.

As Garber had been posted as a deserter, he is now being held at the county jail awaiting action of the government.

FLOOR SACK PROCK BE CALLS CIVIL WAR DAYS

SHREVEPORT, La., July 23.—Four sack dresses are again coming from their own as a result of the war. Time was when Grandma's overstay uniform white dress was the only dress she had, but "times had changed since Grandma was a girl." Then the price of dress goods began to soar again.

Mrs. Anna Schuler has made a white summer dress out of twelve flour sacks and it's decidedly attractive, so much so, in fact, that she has won a prize among fellows of local Dana Fashion and the demand for the new style dresses is now general.

SOUTHERN WHIPPING POST OBTAINS DESIRED EFFECT

Following the work of night order and the subsequent erection of the whipping post the usual gang of loafers lately passing their afternoons with idle hands rammed into the pockets, has totally disappeared.

HOLLISTER BEATS BURLEY IN NINTH GAME SUNDAY

Special to The Times Sunday the Hollister Baseball team met and defeated the Burley team by the lopsided score of 15 to 1. Burley was outclassed from the first. Hollister scoring in the first and second innings, clinching the game. Burley over the score to a hit batsman, a sacrifice and an error.

This makes Hollister's 9th straight victory. Incidentally it broke Burley's string of six straight. Without the Hollister pitcher, was very effective, though a triple and a double. The two teams will probably meet again in two weeks and will most likely play in Twin Falls, if arrangements can be made.

Hollister now claims the southern Idaho, championship and challenge all teams in the southern part of the state. Arrangements can be made by communicating with Manager Klumweger. Next Sunday the team plays Pocatello again at Pocatello.

SPRAY THE ORCHARD

The codling moth, the worst enemy to the apple grower of the northwest, is just beginning its second big drive on the orchards in this section.

Now is the time for the fruit grower to prepare to counter attack with arsenate of lead and kill the worms which will be hatched in eight to ten days.

By mixing ammonium-sulfate with the arsenate, less of the worm aphid can be annihilated along with the codling moth.

By spraying with this mixture, an excellent spraying has been given the orchard, or not, by all means hit it hard now. It will pay big returns. Spray during the next ten days for best results.

The Earl Fruit Co. of the N. W., has a very interesting demonstration tent at their office in Twin Falls, where the operators can see the codling moth in its various stages of existence, and know thereby the extent to which it effectively destroys it and save their fruit.

WOMEN JIHONORATION ON MANY PIONEERS TO GAMBLE ON LIFE

MODesto, Calif., July 23.—Men's propensity to gamble on the serious issues of life were frowned upon by a jury of women here when Dr. P. R. H. Hart was awarded the exorbitant fee demanded of Frank Aragon, but refused to take cognizance of a gambling agreement.

When Aragon learned the stork was on its way he told Dr. Ward: "I'll pay you twice your usual fee if you'll operate and nothing if it's a girl." The doctor accepted the wager.

It was a boy and Aragon refused to pay double. The jury sustained him.

APPROPRIATE REMEMBRANCE

Men of U. S. Engineer Corps, In Camp at Humphreys, Va., Transformed Into Skilled Mechanics For Peace as Well as War Times

CAMP A. HUMPHREYS, Va., July 23.—A terrific explosion, a few days ago, shook the surrounding country for a radius of ten miles. Although the shock only lasted a bare ten seconds, no residents were terrified. Some thought an earthquake had occurred, others had visions of an ammunition depot explosion.

At Acentink, a few miles from here, however, an old-timer volunteer teared remark which revealed the mystery. "That's them damn engineer snappers at Camp Humphreys," he said.

The explosion was a test of the new explosive with which the engineer regiment was experimenting. Denver Lads Plans Sahara Desert Kingdom Over Which Both Would Rule

DENVER, Colo., July 23.—Eggar E. Merrill, sixteen years old, and Alvin Berta, fifteen, originated a plan of setting up a kingdom of Sahara Desert and established themselves as rulers thereof. Merrill who, despite his lack of years, has received patent papers for two inventions, fled when his invention plans were seized and is still missing. Berta, after a conference with his father and government agents has consented not to become a king until he reaches his majority.

Data and maps taken when the office of young Merrill was raided show he possessed their evenings in the public library gathering information they hoped to utilize in the invasion.

The date set for the establishment of the new kingdom of the Sahara was October 17, 1920. Upon reaching the desert the first task the partnership kings had set for themselves was the organization of an army of 1,000,000 natives. This army was to dig two wells from which the water was to be siphoned to the Sahara region being below sea level. Thus, two lakes of an area of 250,000 square miles were to be produced. The rivers Senegal and Nile were to be flooded, making it impossible for prospective enemies to transport troops and munitions to the new kingdom.

After equipping an army of 7,000, the youthful monarchs were to cross Portugal into a secret treaty, making Portuguese East Africa part of the Kingdom of Sahara. In return

Portugal was to annex British and French Guinea in Liberia, Gambia and Southwest Africa and part of German East Africa.

Personal revenues of the partnership Kings were to be $14,000,000 each. Parents of Merrill have started a nationwide search for the lad. They believe he is headed for Africa.

Diagram Showing Dependence of all Organs upon Spine and Spinal Nerves

Observe this formula for relief as it has been tried hundreds of times. Any vertebra, if displaced, will cause pressure upon a nerve.

To Suffering Humanity

The man who "Knows How" to relieve that pressure, and as a result "Makes Sick Folks Well."

DR. WYLY TWIN FALLS COUNTY'S BIG CHIROPRACTOR

Comes to you with a message of hope. You Need Not Be Sick—again I repeat it "You Need Not Be Sick," 90 per cent of my patients come to me after they have tried all other methods of healing and failed to find relief, and nine out of every ten are made well and happy.

Why? The musclic is easy—it has been demonstrated, over and over again in chiropractic clinics, that 95 per cent of all human ailments are caused, primarily by a subluxation (partial dislocation) somewhere in the spine, thus causing a pressure on some of the nerves as they pass out between the vertebrae (or joints of the spine). If this pressure continues over a period of years or even months (as is usually the case) it decreases the flow of mental impulse to the organs. It very especially decreases the capacity of the three great systems of elimination, viz: the bowels, the kidneys and the skin; hence the poisons manufactured in the body in the process of assimilation, instead of being thrown from the body as they should be, are stored in the organs and body tissue, causing all sorts of physical disorders.

Now In order to allow nature to do her work, unaided, we must do three things:

- 1st.—We must correct the subluxations in the spine and relieve the pressure on the nerves; (this we do by the adjustments.)
 - 2nd.—We must stimulate the tired and benumbed nerves to normal action (this we do by the vibration and electricity.)
 - 3rd.—We must remove the poisons which have accumulated in the system (this we do by our mineral vapor and electric light baths.)
- When this is done health, perfect health, follows as sure as the night follows the day. Isn't it plain?
- Doesn't this appeal to your reason and better judgment? If it does, just come on now and prove to yourself and your friends that it is correct. There is nothing mysterious about your case. You don't need an operation. You don't need a lot of poison medicine and you DO need the poison that is already in your system. O.K. instead of loading it up with a lot more. Don't take my word for this. We are treating from 30 to 30 patients a day. Ask any of them. They are getting well. You can, too. Come on in and see me. I'll charge you nothing for spinal analysis and if I can't help you I'll frankly tell you so. We are too busy to work on cases we can't help. I have a competent, graduate chiropractor, and two most competent and capable nurses as my assistants, and we are all four busy all the time. We are pleading dozens and dozens on the road to perfect health and happiness, and we can place you too, if you will give us a chance. Don't put the matter off any longer; the longer you do, the longer it will take to get well.

REMEMBER—(Consultation and spinal analysis is FREE—Come and let's talk your case over and you look over our sanitarium and let's get acquainted.

Major Roosevelt Showed Much Grit

Son of Former President Bound Up His Own Wound to Let Surgeon Help Others

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE MARNE, July 22 (P. M.)—Major Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., who received a machine gun bullet in the left leg, was wounded at the very start of the allied counter drive on the Aisne-Marne front on Thursday morning.

Major Roosevelt went over the top with a battalion following a creeping barrage across a wheat field. As the advance went on, a machine gun that had not been knocked out by the artillery of the Americans, sprayed the troops with its fire. Roosevelt and several others stopped, the rest of the battalion going on ahead. In the meantime the major had confided his command to a captain.

When the stretcher bearers appeared, Major Roosevelt insisted that the enlisted men be carried back first. Finally upon reaching the dressing station, the major bound up his own wound, saying that he would not take up the surgeons' time from more important duties. He rode in the evacuation hospital on the front next to the ambulance beside the chauffeur. But the more seriously wounded might rest inside.
