Anglo-French Forces Drive Forward On a Twenty Mile Front at Picardy, Capturing Many thousand Germans and Guns

AMERICANS WIN IN HARD FIGHT AT VESLE FRONT

REPEATED COUNTER ATTACKS FAIL TO SHAKE LINE OF YANKERS

Americans Also at Picardy

Many Strong Machine-Gun Positions Wiped Out by the Advance of Our Boys Under the Fierce Fire of Pops.

Newton C. Parke (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AVRE-VESLE FRONT, Aug. 7 (4 p. m.)—Beating off repeated counter attacks and inflicting heavy losses upon the enemy, the Americans who forced crossings of the Vesle river between Flines and Bazoches dug in and clung tenaciously to their positions.

Many strong German machine gun positions on the slopes north of the Vesle were wiped out of existence by the hot and accurate fire of the American artillery.

The American attack was launched at 4:30 yesterday afternoon following four hours of artillery preparation. The assault centered between Flines and Bazoches.

Our right wing crossed the Vesle to considerable strength, the machine gunners doing much to break up the enemy. The left wing was held up near Bazoches by heavy fire from the German artillery and machine guns.

By 10 o'clock the Germans had organized a counter attack. The attacking waves, which were repulsed by the American positions at the foot of the plateau, were shattered and the Americans held firmly to their positions.

Under cover of heavy bombardment and under cover of active fire from our machine guns, the left wing again went forward at dawn this morning, forcing another crossing of the river to the west of Flines.

The American machine gunners again proved their worth during the past 48 hours, with close crossings of the Vesle forced at two places between Flines and Bazoches by our infantry.

The terrific pounding of our artillery during the preliminary bombardment last night was followed by a shattering fire from our Mitralleuses which mowed down the enemy opposition, allowing our general attack detachments to get across the stream.

The Vesle at the point of crossing is 25 feet wide.

The machine gunners kept up their deadly spray of bullets while our advanced elements hastily dug their selves in on the narrow strip of the bank on the northern side of the stream.

PACKERS DENOUNCED IN STRONG REPORT OF FEDERAL TRADE COM.

GIANTIC MONOPOLY ALLEGED TO HAVE GRASPED BUSINESS

Railroad Discrimination Given as Cause

Private Stockyards, Storage Plants, Stock Cars and Refrigerator Cars Basis of Monopolization of Trade.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Bitterly assailing the great packing firms Swift, Armour, Morris, Cudahy and Wilson for creating a "structure of conspiracy, control, monopoly and restraint," the federal trade commission, in a report to President Wilson, recommends that immediate steps be taken to give the government a monopoly over such portions of their business as "will restore competition."

This report has been in the hands of President Wilson since July 6, but because of the onerous changes made in connection with it, and the radical recommendations therein contained, it was not made public until today.

After declaring that producers, competitors and consumers are all injured by the present monopoly of the packers the commission makes the following recommendations:

First, that the government acquire, through the railroad administration, all rolling stock used for the transportation of meat animals and that such ownership be declared a government monopoly.

Second, that the government acquire, through the railroad administration, the principal and necessary stockyards of the country, to be treated as freight depots and to be operated under such conditions as will insure open, competitive markets, with uniform charges for all services performed, and the acquisition or establishment of the principal yards from time to time as the future development of live stock production in the United States may require.

Third, that the government acquire, through the railroad administration, all privately owned refrigerator cars and all necessary equipment for their operation, and that such ownership be declared a government monopoly.

Fourth, that the federal government acquire, through the railroad administration, all principal centers of distribution and consumption. The same to be committed to the president, "one fact practice abroad as well as at home, inevitably will attach to our country if the practice be continued."

Accompanying the letter of the commission to the president, is a voluminous report in which the findings of the board in its complete investigation of the problems herein contained. The report shows the magnitude of the large meat packing companies, the extensive railroads, and the various instrumentalities by which they have established and maintained control; the operation of their combination in the details of the various agreements and combinations; the practices of the packers and their social and economic effects as well as the remedy proposed as set forth.

Out of the mass of information in his "report," says the letter of the commission to the president, "one fact stands out with all possible emphasis. The small dominant group of American meat packers are almost international in their activities, while remaining American in their identity. Some which now attaches to them for their practices abroad as well as at home, inevitably will attach to our country if the practice be continued."

Two killed in action, one died from wounds, twenty severely wounded in action, twenty-four wounded in action, degree undetermined, and ten missing in action.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Two army and two marine corps casualty lists were issued today. The army lists contained 237 names, divided as follows:

One hundred and thirty-one killed in action, sixteen died from wounds, five from accidental accidents, five from other causes, and six were killed severely and twenty-two wounded severely and twenty-two wounded, degree undetermined.

Two killed in action, one died from wounds, twenty severely wounded in action, twenty-four wounded in action, degree undetermined, and ten missing in action.

YANKERS REACH HIEHNS-SOISSONS LINE ROAD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—American troops have crossed the Vesle east of Dinocourt and have reached the Hiehns-Soissons Highway. General Pershing reported in his communique of August 7, made public by the war department this afternoon. The text follows:

Section A—East of Dinocourt our troops have crossed the Vesle and reached the Hiehns-Soissons Highway. A hostile counter attack broke down under our fire.

FRITZIE FLEET TO GET LICKED ON ITS EXIT

AMERICAN AND BRITISH SEADOGS READY FOR THE BIG DASH

Chairman Padgett Is Enthusiastic

Finds Complete Co-operation Among the Tars of Both Nations in Guarding the World Waters From the Teutons.

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent) LONDON, Aug. 8.—When the German fleet dashes out the American and British navies will be ready to give "complete satisfaction" according to Representative Lemuel L. Padgett, of Tennessee, chairman of the house committee on naval affairs.

Mr. Padgett has just returned from a tour of the naval bases at Queenstown, in Scotland and England dealing with other members of the house committee on naval affairs.

The committee found the American and British navies perfectly fit and cooperating with the utmost good will. "Instead of two services the two countries have one service," said Representative Padgett.

"We are impressed by the firm belief that the Americans and British are cooperating cordially and such complete satisfaction for our people if the men have an opportunity."

The British navy has had an enormous task, but they were performed with signal ability that elicited our highest admiration.

The Americans were accompanied by Captain Guy Gaunt.

Russian Members of Assembly in Revolt

Else Against Bolshevik in Several Cities and Set Up Government of Their Own.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Members of the constituted assembly of the northern region are reported to have revolted against the Bolshevik regime and set up a government of their own in the streets of Narnia, Volgin, Archangel, Novgorod, Viatka and Kazan according to a dispatch received from Ambassador France by the state department today.

The cable was dated August 5 at Murmansk and said the allied diplomatic missions were in Kandalaksha pending their consideration of reports from unofficial sources.

(By John McHugh Stuart, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent) PARIS, Aug. 8.—(4 p. m.)—German prisoners equivalent to the number of a division have been taken by the Anglo-French forces on their new drive in Picardy today, according to information from the battle front this afternoon.

(A German division is commonly said to number about 12,000 men although the size varies widely).

The new drive extended all the way from Albert to Montdidier it was learned, and excellent progress is being made.

The maximum advance of the Anglo-French troops on the Picardy front is now five miles, it was stated in dispatches from the fighting zone late today. Among the villages recaptured from the Germans are Morcourt, Demain, Ablincourt and Morlancourt.

The heights west of Corzy and south of Morlancourt have been wrested from the Germans.

(By Earl O. Reeves, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent) LONDON, Aug. 8.—(4:10 p. m.)—The Anglo-French forces on the southern end of the Picardy front have crossed the Avre river and are advancing toward the Luce valley.

Tanks are being employed in the assaults east of the Avre. The great attack against the Germans east and southeast of Amiens was preceded by a violent artillery bombardment of three minutes. A hundred tanks were thrown into the battle.

The allied progress was made over a front of about ten miles between Morcourt and Morlancourt, it was learned this afternoon. The attacks were delivered against the apex of the German salient.

The British and French attacked with irresistible force, sweeping back the Germans and attaining all of their first objectives within a few hours.

Soon the German prisoners were streaming back to the Anglo-French rear.

The joint offensive which was begun by the British Fourth army in conjunction with the French was carried out over a wide front. So sudden was the allied assault and the scale on which it was carried out was so extensive, that the Germans were routed at many places and were unable to save their artillery.

The allied progress centered to the east and southeast of Amiens. The Germans were powerless to withstand the driving blows of the British and French soldiers.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—(3:20 p. m.)—The Germans have begun to destroy bridges over the Aisne river and are withdrawing some of their heavy artillery north of the Aisne, according to reports reaching here this afternoon, from the Aisne-Marne front.

As a result of the continued raids by allied aviators over German towns many German airplanes have been withdrawn from the Aisne-Marne battle front.

(By Frank Charlton, I. N. S. Cable Editor) With the French and British still hammering the Germans south of the Aisne river, and the British biting deeply into the German front in Flanders, the allies opened a terrific new drive today east and southeast of Amiens on the Picardy plains.

The assault was launched over a wide front by the British Fourth army and the French First army at dawn, with Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, the British commander in chief, directing the operations.

Initial official dispatches from British great headquarters in the communique issued by the French war office at noon said the attack was progressing under favorable conditions. It is believed that the Germans were again taken by surprise in this second great allied counter-offensive of the year.

They were certainly caught napping when Marshal Foch launched the first drive with French and American forces on the Marne on July 18.

England, at Apex of Military Progress, Today Stands Determined to Fight Until Germany Is Subdued

Floyd MacGriff, (L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Aug. 8.—The end of the fourth year of the world war, whose last few months were marked by the mightiest fighting in the history of the human race, finds Great Britain fully determined to continue the conflict until Germany surrenders...

Briefly, Great Britain has accomplished these things in the past year of the war: she has established her clear superiority in aerial warfare, loosened the U-boat's activity so that it cannot be counted on by Germany to destroy merchant shipping...

But there are certain problems which Britain will carry forward into the fifth year of the war. Food, man power, ships and pacificators...

Man power is a more serious problem. England, Scotland and Wales have raised an army of some 5,000,000 men. Very little aid came from France...

Ships are needed. England has not yet seen the day when she has received the amount of tonnage sunk monthly by U-boats. So many of her ships are engaged in repair work...

Their chief assets is the germs of war weariness. Found to be found in any country which is engaged in the sacrifices in men and money for four years which England has...

England has steadily submitted to ever-increasing taxation to meet the war bill, which for the four years of the war has amounted to a total of $1,146,700,000...

Another asset to Great Britain is the fact that she is now fully equipped with the business of war, her industries all being mobilized to that end and standardized to give the greatest effect...

The end of the fourth year finds England at the apex of her military resources. Clear evidence of the British colonies and dominions has been a small factor in strengthening Britain's military resources...

Finally, the British government's resolution to make no peace with Germany unless the other side has signed a similar holocaust of horror and barbarity...

SACRIFICING NEGOTIATE HELP WIN WAR, SAYS DEAN

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—Dean T. F. Hunt, of the University of California, believes that if all the men would dispose with neckties the nation would be a great deal closer to victory. Let him present his own case: "Of course, a tieless brigade will not win this war, but the idea of neckties is a waste of money. It is essential. It is conservative to estimate the use of two ties per person annually. A high school boy tells me he is required. It is conservative to say that the average price of ties in this country is $1.00. There are forty million males in the United States over ten years of age. It would keep quite a number of Belgian babies from starting, or it would furnish a million overcoats for our soldiers. The men and women who now manufacture ties should, of course, be engaged in making clothing for soldiers. "You and I will not help to win this war if it is to be won by saving one dollar's worth of waste, we are consuming two dollars' worth of gasoline, nor if when we are saving five cents on the laundry bill by wearing colored shirts we spend ten cents on cigars. When the Lord balances our account, He will find us in red ink."

WISE RECOMMENDATIONS RELATIVE TO PACKERS

The federal trade commission in its report made public today made recommendations relative to the packing industry entirely in harmony with the theoretical principles of orthodox political economy and with sound economics

The ownership and manipulation by the government of the rolling stock for the transportation of meat animals, including refrigerated cars, to the stockyards, to be treated as freight docks, which they are; and of such branch store houses and cold storage plants as are necessary for transportation uses or for accommodating shippers while awaiting favorable selling conditions

The packing report if adopted would obviate the necessity for state owned elevators, except on short lines engaged in intra-state commerce, as stockyards, storage plants and stockyards on interstate lines should be owned and operated by the same owners

It again demonstrates the fundamentally reactionary character of the men in the senate who voted against the government taking over wire lines and who talk against government railroads

THIRTY-FIVE THOUSAND ACRES OF NEW LAND DEVELOPED THIS YEAR ON NORTH SIDE TRACT NEAR JEROME

Land Prices Raising Rapidly, and Are Expected to Almost Double Within Next Few Years—Jerome Rapidly Improving, and Growing as a City to Accommodate North Side Business—Fine Grain Crops This Year—Some Farmers May Buy Sheep.

Probably 25,000 acres of North Side land developed during the past fifteen months... The water situation on the North Side has been fine this year. No one has had cause of complaint...

Some of the farmers, in fact many of them, are contemplating a little indulgence in the sheep business... The North Side has undoubtedly enjoyed a great deal of rapid growth...

LABOR DISLOYALTY WITH AN INNER CONSCIENCE

The trouble with everything that happens that we do not expect to happen is that there is always something about it that is not seen by the casual observer. A man with an opinion is always liable to be wrong, but if that opinion is not distinctly understood by his fellows...

But there is generally a reason for things that happen, and there is a reason for the labor strikes that are now under way in Northern Idaho. That reason is undoubtedly the W. I. influence.

The inner conscience of most labor troubles and disloyalty moves upon the part of labor can be traced to some well-known disloyal laborer who is striving through all to gain its own ends. The average laborer, and the average labor organization, has the feeling of the war at heart.

Borah Talks Extradition to Dentist Gathering

Senator Borah Would Insist of "Pulling" Kaiser and Emperor—Wants Open Diplomacy. CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Senator Borah of Idaho, speaking before the convention of the National Dentist Association in session here, became a dentist himself—a dentist presiding for the social welfare of the world. "The Kaiser and the Emperor," he said, must be extracted root and all, before the ache will end.

"When the Germans have turned their faces toward the fatherland and the German government commences to talk peace, what shall be our answer?" he asked. "We will enlist more men and keep on fighting. Not until the Hohenzollerns and the Hapsburgs have been disposed can there be any lasting peace."

Senator Borah expressed the hope that one of the positive gains of the war would be insistence on the part of this country upon "open" treaties.
