

MOTORISTS FACE PROBLEM OF GAS

Automobile and Petroleum Men Must Get Together in Close Harmonious Co-operation.

INCREASE IN MOTOR CARS

Said to Be Possible to Construct Internal Combustion Engines Which Will Consume Much Less Fuel of Inferior Kind.

The perennial fuel problem will never be solved until the automobile industry and the petroleum industry get together in close and harmonious co-operation, says Mark L. Riccus, general director of the oil division of the United States steel administration. In an interview, which appears in Motor, the national magazine of motorists, Riccus says the problem is not only a possibility of the future, "but even an actual fact. The present will be the minimum of gas to be consumed in the future. It is not the most costly, indispensable of the situation. In 1912 our production of petroleum was 225,000,000 barrels of 42 gallons. In 1918 the output of this basic product of interior fuel was 300,700,153 barrels, an increase in four years of more than 30 percent. On the other hand, in 1912 there were about 1,000,000 motor vehicles in this country. In 1918 the motor population of the United States had risen to 2,511,738. This represents an increase of over 250 per cent in four years. With one side of an equation growing less than 20 per cent and the other side increasing more than 250 per cent, the inevitable situation is not hard to forecast.

Engine Uses Less Oil.

I am not an automobile engineer, as a matter of fact from personal knowledge, but I have been informed that it is possible to design internal combustion engines which will consume much less fuel per mile than is now being consumed, and of a much inferior quality. If this is a fact and the automobile industry faces the situation in co-operation with the oil men to effect this saving, while these latter are endeavoring their best to increase production, it would seem that we might cut enough off each end of our problem to solve it. We seem to be only at the beginning of the gasoline era; a few years ago gasoline was a waste by-product of the oil, and the most important product of petroleum, amounting to almost 50 per cent of the total value of petroleum products. With the receipt of the rest of the world, it seems that the time has come when each of the independent units each other should cooperate in bringing about the most efficient consumption of gasoline and the most intelligent understanding of each other's problems.

CARE OF WINDSHIELD GLASS

Application of Strong Soapuds Will Prevent Fog or Rain From Obscuring Vision. Strong soapuds made from soda-ash should be rubbed on the glass of the windshield and allowed to dry. This will prevent fog or rain from obscuring the vision through the glass. Soda-ash is sometimes used for this purpose, but it does not last as long as the above, and glycerin is also recommended.

AVOID FORMATION OF RUST

If Car is Used in Bad Weather and Rims and Rims Should Be Wiped Clean With Sponge. If the car owner, after being out in bad weather, will take the trouble to wipe the tires and rims clean with a sponge and then wipe them dry, especially along the beads, he will do much to prevent the formation of rust.

HANDLE BATTERY WITH CARE

Motorist Should Economize on Current and Keep Engine Turned to Start on Second Turn.

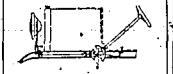

The man who has trouble starting his motor should be careful of his battery. His battery should be recharged with care. He should keep his engine turned up so that it starts on the second or third turn. This can be accomplished by turning the engine over in advance and, remember, this is very large. The current required is 200 to 600 times as much as that required for an ordinary household power house light.

It provides a mechanism coupled with the steering gear and movable later and out of operable relation therewith, in order that if desired the light may be kept stationary while the vehicle is traveling.

DELICATE CAR-DOOR POCKETS

Wooden Strips May Be Securely Fastened by Using Blue-headed Screws.

Many men are afflicted with "delicate" door pockets. Those which are made of inferior material or are improperly fastened, these are not to be trusted. The correct way is to use wooden strips attached to the door. When this happens they may be securely fastened with blue-headed screws, which should have their heads when the material is laced. These same screws can be used to advantage in fastening the linoleum flooring to the boards, especially at the corners.

FIND LUBRICATING FAILURE

Car Owner Should Emulate Example of Locomotive Engineer by Using Hand to Find Trouble.

The locomotive engineer frequently has to find out where the lubricating failure, and this is a hint that the car owner can put to good use. Failure of lubrication permits excessive heat, and this in turn causes the engine to stop. A car owner who is discovered in his trouble by the hand may be in a position to find out where the trouble is.

Second Conviction on Serious Charge

ST. ALBANS, VT., May 2—Robert W. Wain, United States cavalryman of Watouana, Pa., was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury in Franklin county court today, at the end of his second trial on the charge of killing his 14-year-old sweetheart, Jennie Hemmings.

Wain was charged with slaying the school girl on a narrow strip in sight by the roadside bearing marks indicating violence. Wain was convicted of manslaughter at his first trial; but the lack of new evidence had given his lawyers hope that he could be freed. His partner was that he was assaulted by hoodlums while in the company of the Hemmings girl; that the gangsters separated the couple and killed his girl.

Mrs. Kendall Gets Enormous Alimony

HOISE, May 2—Word was received here today that Mrs. Lyman B. Kendall of New York, formerly Miss Nettie Ballinger, has just received one of the largest divorce settlements allowed by the courts. She has been granted a divorce from her husband with $100,000 annual alimony for life, together with an estate valued at $1,000,000. When her husband died, Mrs. Kendall was worth $1,000,000.

PERI STICK

MINERAL MATTER FOR SWINE

Mixture of Charcoal, Salt, Ashes, Sulphur and Copperas Will Tend to Prevent Worms.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture. It has been reported by experienced feeders that a mixture of charcoal, ashes, lime, salt, sulphur and copperas kept where the hogs eat will tend to prevent worm infestation. There is no positive evidence that this mixture is of any value, but it is of value therefore as a source of mineral matter in the diet, and perhaps as a worm-killer. A balanced ration must furnish all the necessary mineral matter. The mineral matter is not under control, and in order to make sure that the hogs have an abundant supply, free access should be given to a mineral mixture. The following is a formula for such a mixture:

Charcoal mixture: 100 lbs. of charcoal, 10 lbs. of salt, 10 lbs. of sulphur, 10 lbs. of copperas, 10 lbs. of lime, 10 lbs. of ashes, 10 lbs. of sulphur, 10 lbs. of copperas.

Mix the lime, salt, and sulphur thoroughly and then mix with the charcoal and ashes. Dissolve the copperas in one quart of hot water and sprinkle the solution over the whole mass, mixing it thoroughly. Keep some of this mixture in a box before the hogs at all times, or place in a self-feeder.

DOUGHBOYS ATE HER DOUGHNUTS

NEW YORK, May 2.—Mrs. Minnie Burdick of Allogton, Tex., looks throughout the Salvation Army, as "Ma" Burdick, helped from France about the "Honor" American Doughnut company for 17 months for American soldiers. "Ma" is 40 years old and has the oldest woman war worker with the army. She was awarded her Doughnut Medal in her 10th year for her work in the hospital. She set the record for making pies under fire, turning out 244 million pies in twelve hours. "Ma" Burdick of the "Honor" Army, her husband, was with her son as a soldier in France and a daughter in doing Salvation Army work among the overseas doughboys. John Sheehy, M. Carmelite of Tull City, Ind., and Adelle, "Milly" Hale, noted for his work in the New York Bowery, were other Salvation Army workers about the lines. Hale was noted for carrying food forward under heavy fire.

LEAGUE IDEAL IS FAVORED BY SMALL NATIONS

PARIS, May 2.—The peace conference may develop into a season with the small powers moving independently of the big nations. President Wilson's uncompromising attitude regarding Italy which has already insisted the guarantee of the lesser nations, is stimulating the movement of the smaller powers to get official recognition by the conference. The intervention by Colonel St. M. Howe in behalf of the Irish-Americans, which resulted in Premier Lloyd George granting them an audience, is regarded as a most fortunate sign. Even if the minor nations do not get official recognition in the final conference, they will at least have an opportunity of setting an unofficial hearing.

GERMANY NOW AND A YEAR AGO
 A year ago this month the German high command was pulling of a bluff that the American soldiers could not be landed in France in time to stem their onrushing hordes, or at all. At the same time they were delivering their heaviest blows at the allied lines in Flanders and turning loose their freak seventy-five-mile gun upon the city of Paris. Her loss was their stock in trade. They had just been fighting a battle to the hilt with the British. Meanwhile the allies were hoping for the coming of the American troops, while the Germans sought to deliver the knockout before those troops could be brought into action.

Today there are German efforts founded upon the same kind of bluff as that upon which they declared the American troops could not be taken across the sea. In their hearts they know the American boys were overland. In their hearts they know that their only hope lay in one grand smash. That is the condition today. In their hearts they know that now is the time to strike for mobilization of the forces of peace, for softening of the measure of reparation. They put up strong talks about not signing the treaty if it restores Alsace and Lorraine, and they say they might even refuse to sign any treaty at all.

The success or failure of the victory loan will have a determining effect upon the final decision. If the victory loan in the last days of the drive goes over the top, the Germans will understand that the American nation is in this fight to the finish. But if it fails to go over, the Germans will take heart, and will base false hopes upon the failure which might go so far even as to start a new war.

Germany, it must be remembered, though hully bent by the strain of war, has been unbroken by war's ravages. She has no rebuilding problem, no relieving problem. Her problem is only that of returning to work—and what can tell whether the exposed patches detailing riots and disorders within the empire are anything more than camouflage to hide the inordinate preparations again to attempt to stand the world off as Germany seizes its place in the sun?

It is indeed a patriotic duty of every thoughtful American who believes in American institutions to get behind the government now as it got behind the government a year ago. The motive may be just as great today as it was a year ago.

HIGH FINANCE—AMERICAN AND RUSSIAN

American financiers have been known to pull off some rather shabby transactions in high finance, but after reading of the Russian bolshevik plans of national finance, the conclusion is forced that the great financiers of the United States are more pliable.

Ever since Lenin and Trotsky got hold of the Russian government, the available printing presses have been turning out money. They need money for some reason, not quite clear when one considers the explanation of Lenin, which was, that great quantities of the filling paper were produced "with the deliberate intention of destroying the value of money as a means of payment." Labor alone was to be the medium of exchange in the bolshevik state. So, though the first thing the bolsheviks did was to issue money, it really has no place in the ideal state. Of the plan to abolish money Lenin is quoted as saying:

"Soon even the simplest peasant will realize that it is only a scrap of paper not worth more than the rags from which it is manufactured. Men will cease to covet and hoard it as soon as they discover it will not buy anything, and the great illusion of the value and power to money on which the capitalist state is based will have been definitely destroyed."

Just what medium of exchange the rulers were to use to get food stuffs for their still starveling population is a little doubtful that the rulers had all figured out, but the medium by which producers from the soil and producers in the factories could exchange their products will require some explanation before the idealism of the bolshevik state will be accepted in America—or even in Russia, very long.

It seems that all one needs to do to have a modern reformer to declare every accepted theory of the present and past entirely wrong, and set up new ideals based on the direct opposite of what has been accepted. It has been a pet theory of certain reformers ever since the invention of printing that money could be saved while it merely passed a law. Lenin's attempt seems to be the first in which the value of money is sought to be destroyed. Thus does the world move steadily in eternal progression.

BUSINESS REVIEW OF WEEK

Recovery in business, irregular and checked, yet nevertheless constant, is again the record of the week, says Dan's Review. While faith in the future continues more conspicuous than satisfaction with immediate conditions, the recent advance in activity is being gradually extended and the gain should become more abruptly defined when existing political and economic obstacles are diminished or eliminated. The complex and uncertain international situation, with its formidable problems pressing for solution, remains a barrier to that full trade development which seems now to be in process of formation. And divergent views about prices are still an added weight for the firm in some of the leading industries. Yet commercial advances, with all their variations and disappointing features, seem a distinct note of optimism, and a strikingly favorable element is the remarkably light business mortality, failures in the United States this week, under 100 in number, being the smallest reported for a single week in a great many years.

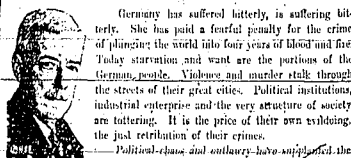

WILL WE GO BACK TO WAR BEAD?

The announcement some time ago by Herbert Hoover (now Paris) that there was no longer need in the world to supply the munition demand, and the harvesting of the promised bumper crop of munitions, did not seriously interfere with American preparations for war. It was a great many of them here laid in a supply of flour to see them through the period between now and early fall. That the rest of the world will be compelled to accept some substitutes for white flour perhaps will be considered unfortunate for them, but they will have less need for the doctors and the midwives, if the stories about the superior wholesomeness of the war bread over the white variety, heard when the nation was on war rations, were true. Meanwhile, if the stories were true, the American people will be permitted to return to the ante-bellum practice of giving their grains with their teeth.

We Must Feed Germany, So That She May Pay for the Evil She Has Done

By ROBERT LANSING, Secretary of State

Germany has suffered lately, is suffering bitterly. She has paid a fearful penalty for the crime of plunging the world into four years of blood and fire. Today starvation and want are the lotions of the German people. Violence and murder stalk through the streets of their great cities. Political institutions, industrial enterprise and the very structure of society are tottering. It is the price of their own wickedness, the just retribution of their crimes.

Political chaos and anarchy have supplanted the highly organized government of imperial Germany. Social order is breaking down under the difficulties of defeat and the hopelessness of the future. Like the anarchy which for years made an inferno of Russia, the fires of terrorism are ablaze in the streets of Germany. It is not time to allow sentiments of vengeance and hatred to stand in the way of devising this configuration, which will soon be at the German borders and threatening other lands.

To make Germany capable of resisting anarchy and the hideous despotism of the red terror, Germany must be allowed to purchase food and to earn that food industrial conditions must be restored by a treaty of peace. It is not out of pity for the German people that this must be done, and done without delay, but because we, the victors in this war, will be the chief sufferers if it is not done.

You may demand reparation as much as you please, but unless the German people are furnished materials for their industries and commercial opportunities to sell the products of labor in the foreign markets, and unless the laborers have food Germany can never pay, even in part, for the evil she has done. Furthermore, if the present state of chaos continues and the political power continues to grow weaker, there will be no responsible German government with which to make peace; there will be no government strong enough to carry out the conditions of the treaty of peace.

I say to you men of France and men of America, and to you men of the allied powers, that there is no time to lose if we are to save the world from the despotism of anarchy, even as we have saved it from the despotism of anarchy. We must make peace without delay, and ships laden with food must enter the harbors of Germany. We have reached a crisis in the affairs of the world.

Like Prohibition, Movement for Good Roads Now Sweeps the Country

By W. C. EDENS, Past Director Highway Improvement Association

Just as prohibition, once started, spread so quickly over the nation that the states rushed to get on the "dry" bandwagon; so the good-roads movement is sweeping over the country. The rigorous manner in which the states have taken up the cry to put themselves out of the mud indicates that at last the public has come to a realization of the sound economic basis of improved highways.

Illinois, once the most backward of states, has come suddenly to the forefront. Illinois, in its $50,000,000 bond issue project, solved a question that has puzzled good-roads enthusiasts from the beginning of their propaganda for better highways. "This was the question of a sound, economical and fair method of financing a state system of main highways to which all other roads could be tributary."

The taxation problem always is with us, and if an attempt were made right now to levy a general tax for good roads it would be met with very serious and powerful opposition.

But Illinois got around this question through the expedient of the original plan of the automobile license levy to the principal and interest of a bond issue. Motorists generally cooperated in advancing this method of taxing themselves, realizing that the saving in depreciation and running expenses would more than meet the burden.

Thus the "Illinois plan" was evolved and today we have dozens of sister states looking into it and preparing to adopt it, all or so much of it as their constitution or other local conditions will permit.

There is a general disposition to await price readjustment before ambitious construction plans are put under way for 1919. I believe that broad-minded business men will go half way in meeting public officials

What Have You Done About Tires?
 HOW 400,000 CAR OWNERS HAVE SOLVED THEIR TIRE TROUBLES

You, like every other motorist this spring, are thinking about your tires—and the kind you will buy.

For 400,000 other motorists the problem is an easy one. They have learned to write you can cut their tire bills in half.

These motorists are taking advantage of a new scientific principle in tire construction. Because of this new principle of construction, they are using tires which are sold under a stronger guarantee than any tire now on your car; they have all the advantages of 20 per cent overprice and at only 1/2 the cost of ordinary tires.

These car owners are using Gates Half-Sole Tires.

Gates Half-Sole Tires are the invention of Charles C. Gates, B. S., and with five acres of factory working constantly night and day, we are now erecting additional buildings to double the capacity this year in order to keep up with the demand.

With these tires on your car, your tire troubles will be over—they are guaranteed puncture proof, and the largest business houses in the country are included among the 400,000 users who endorse that guarantee.

To you, Gates Half-Sole Tires mean better tire service than you have ever had before, and the cutting of your tire bill one-half.

There are over 1000 authorized service stations where you can investigate this remarkable fire economy. Trained experts located in this territory are listed below.

Cannot Guarantee Armistice in East

AMSTERDAM, May 2.—Mikhael Reber, head of the German armistice commission, has notified Marshal Foch that it is impossible for Germany to guarantee an armistice in the east as a result of General Hatter's plan for a Polish offensive in Posen and Silesia, said a dispatch from Berlin today. If attacks are made, it was declared, it would be impossible to continue the transportation of Polish troops across Germany from France.

German Indemnity Is Fixed by Newspaper

LONDON, May 2.—The total indemnity that Germany must pay the allies is $25,000,000,000, but the British government will give fifty years in which to make the final payment, said a Paris dispatch, to the Post today. A fifth of the total sum—$5,000,000,000—must be paid before 1921.—It will require about half of that to meet the cost of Germany and maintain the troops in the occupied zone.

A Rare Money-Saving Opportunity

About Sunset Magazine

SUNSET, the Pacific Monthly, is the West's own national magazine. It is the only "general" magazine of national circulation and influence published in the West. It is therefore distinctly representative of the West in its viewpoint and in its treatment of world and national affairs. "Americanism in United States Must Be to Us a Political Religion"

By FRANKLIN K. LAKE, Secretary of Labor

That there are today over seven million persons in the United States less than ten years of age unable to read or write English, including those who cannot even speak or understand our language, proclaims an indefeasible indifference to civic responsibility on the part of the average American. The native Americans, those men into whom traditions of liberty have been sunk by experience of generations, are primarily responsible for whatever indifference has been shown by this nation in the education and enlightenment of those whom they have invited to these shores. Upon us is the responsibility, ours the responsibility and ours the opportunity.

We know that there is no such thing as Americanism, unless Americanism is in our souls. We have to feel it first, and then we have to put it out among other people. We want now to give a new significance to that word. We want it to mean help; we want it to mean sympathy; we want it to mean understanding; we want it to mean largeness of view. We want it to mean not patronage but the largest human fellowship.

America is an inspiration. America is a spirit. America is something mystical which lives in the heavens. It is the constant and unobtrusive searching of the human heart for the thing that is better. That is compelled to move on and on by something that we know not of. That is the spirit of the American. "Give us of thy heart," the marching of the "Mighty Hymn of the Republic" is true, that God's truth is better than, and you defeat America, but until you take that from us the real America cannot be beaten in battle.

We are trying a great experiment in the United States. We are fashioning a new people. We are doing the unprecedented thing in saying that Star, Trotter, Colt and the other races that make up the civilized world are capable of being blended here, and we say this upon the theory that blood alone does not control the destiny of man, that out of his environment, his education, the food that he eats, the neighbors that he lives, the work that he does, there can be formed and realized a spirit, an ideal which will master his blood.

Americanism in the United States must be to us a political religion. And it is our function to be the preachers of this gospel: Now because man has liberty in his hands—because he has the right to determine his own destiny—now the day of freedom is at hand, and he can make this world what he wants it to be.

President Appeals for Observance of Employment Sunday

Washington, May 3.—President Wilson has called from Paris to the White House, Washington, D. C., April 17, 1914, the following public statement on "Employment Sunday":

"The church organizations of the country having generously invited me in an effort to inaugurate a new holiday in service of the United States in favor of the returning soldier and sailor and war workers, and having designated Sunday, May 4th as employment Sunday, I am happy to add my voice to others in an appeal to the people of this country to observe employment Sunday. When the work of reconstruction and every similar movement.

"I hope that the people of this country will enthusiastically observe Employment Sunday, as a day of fresh dedication to the national obligation which will serve to weld together the people in a new and different problem of employment and industrial organization. In these days of victory we can make no better offering than that of service to the men and women who have won the victory."

Secretary of Labor, Mr. Wilson, said in a statement issued here today.

Quick Rescue Work Saves Miners From Death by Fire Damp

WYOMING, May 3.—Work was done by black damp in the Nottingham mine of the Lockheed and Wyoming coal company at Plymouth today. At 12:45 this afternoon, company officials announced that the miners had been cleared, the condition of the men being good.

A fire started in a roadway yesterday and broke out about today. A force of men were at work working at this location of the mine. Black damp caused by the fire was present in large amount and the work stopped. When the work of rescue started some of the rescuers were overcome.

The company officials quickly organized a big rescue party. They found the men stretched over the roadway and rescued them from the danger zone, supplied first-aid methods and then sent them to the surface, where doctors and ambulance men were waiting them.

CLUB SEEKING OLD UNIFORMS TWO RUNAWAY BOYS STOPPED

Stiffs, Bats, Gloves and Other Equipment Disappears When Team Halted Play During Way—Search Will Be Made

Who are the old uniforms, hats, gloves and other equipment of the Twin Falls baseball club? The search for them has just been started. It is just now being discovered in when the club was broken up by the "war" season. The equipment disappeared. The manager believes that it has a fair idea of where the "stuff" has gone and will make a little while to offer a chance for its return. It is not unusual that will be made for it.

The uniforms are not fit for legs, but they would be of some use where they are badly needed. The club's new uniforms then could be saved considerable work. May 3.—A search will be made for uniforms which will be appreciated by Manager Hoy.

The "war" uniforms were not returned to the club and will be donated to the people of the local league. The uniforms were not returned to the club and will be donated to the people of the local league.

Will American Women Replace Service Uniform With Sex Lure Drapery?

By ELIZABETH NEFF, W. C. T. U. Dress Campaign

Is the American girl going to slump back into pre-war style-slavery? She has worthily won a military uniform, she has won honors for her bravery side by side with our soldiers; she has nursed the wounded and cheered the hussies; she has fought for great ideals. Now will she let herself degenerate into the mere female of her species? Will the American woman allow her service uniform to be replaced by the suggestive drapery of sex lure? Is she willing to be a living poster or a grotesque cartoon for the advertisement of manufacturers' goods?

Other things will not why does the American woman, supreme arbiter in all respects, submit meekly, abjectly to the wildest fad of fashion devised by men—American men who have the traditional conception of woman and dress her in the continental half-fouled character part?

It is pathetic, when the physical development and health of our girls is a national asset, to invite disease by unhygienic clothing? Is it fair to the young manhood of our nation to suggest in our homes the temptation from which we try to protect it, on the sly?

It is the American girl who must bravely restore order out of chaos, must set the standard of purity, and to do it she must dress her part. What shall the new world leader, the American girl, wear? It is easy to say what she will not wear, and that is a lonely opinion, derived by the press "dress reform." The art of all ages cannot design costumes for our pretty American girls that will be beautiful, graceful, comfortable, healthful and modest, then the art of all ages has failed and it is up to this important young person to take the matter in hand herself. Therefore it is time for women to set herself a new standard of modesty.

This is, in brief, the new campaign begun by the W. C. T. U. for the advancement of social purity. It is summarized in this official resolution:

"Whereas, certain styles of women's dress are unhygienic, immodest, incongruous and conducive to extravagance and immorality; therefore

"Do be resolved, that the women of the W. C. T. U. use their influence to demand simpler and more modest clothing for both day and evening wear; and discourage the unnecessary wearing of summer furs, winter pumpkins, narrow skirts and open necks as well as constant change of fashion."

CLUBS AID FEEDING METHODS

Very Noticeable Changes Have Come About as Result of Demonstrations by Members.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

One of the outstanding effects of the boys and girls club work in the improvement in feeding methods employed by clubs who have followed the lead of the club members...

LUBRICANT WILL STOP SQUEAKING

Tighten Bolts Here and There Around Machine and Make Liberal Use of Oil.

TROUBLE IS MOST ANNOYING

Noises Frequently Occur in Springs and Spring Shackles If Neglected and Allowed to Run Dry—Head Wire Offenders.

"Squeak, squeak," said the car, and again it said "squeak, squeak, squeak," until the driver pulled up at the next stop. This is one of the most annoying troubles while driving a car that is otherwise in good condition.

PROPER PRESSURE FOR TIRES

Inflation Should Be Same for All Seasons—Gauge Is Not Absolutely Necessary.

The air pressure should remain the same winter and summer, says the manager of a tire company.

HOLDS AXLE IN ALIGNMENT

Adjustable Radius-Rod Support Fastened for Certain Cars—Daily Adjusted.

Recent claims of merit are made for an adjustable radius-rod support that has been fitted for a certain type of front car.

FOR INCREASE OF AMPERAGE

Good Dural Material Used, Carbon Element With Small Oil of Wood and Hammer.

There is a new method of increasing the amperage of a battery by using a carbon element with a small oil of wood and hammer.

FEEDING TOO MUCH CURRENT

Owner Who Uses Lights and Starter Very Little Should Hold Over...

MANNER OF SHIFTING GEARS

Shifting Usually Caused by Inequity of Force on the Clutch and the Clutch Speed.

FEEDING ALFALFA TO HORSES

It Should Be Given Sparingly as Digestion Difficult to Secure—Follow Liberal Supply.

FEEDING CLOVER TO CATTLE

Developed and Fresh-Adapted in Barn Lot Should Be Served for Poultry Flock.

How Often One Hears...

"If my father had bought property 25 years ago, he'd be a rich man today."

And how seldom the man who says this reflects that 25 years from now his son will be saying the same thing of him.

Twin Falls is a growing town, and real estate is a good investment, and the best and most bargains are offered in The Times.

The following real estate concerns advertise their best offers in this paper.

Victory Liberty Loan Advertisement

The Boys We Prayed for Have Finished Their Job.

Now all we stay-at-homes must put the last ticks on Liberty.

They have won their fight—it's up to us now to foot the figures.

The Victory-Liberty Loan is OUR part of the scrap. Our check book will be our bayonet—the V-shaped emblem on our label is our chevron.

Every man who couldn't go to the front is called on to get back of this loan.

The roll is being called and all is ready. Don't wait for someone to invite you but phone to your bank or broker and tell him that you're on the way with the Finishing Touches.
