Here's a New Plan to Foil the Auto Thief

Here's the plan: Authorize the secretary of state to issue exclusive permits to owners of automobiles to use certain numbers, names or devices to brand certain parts of their cars and the brand to be placed on certain designated spots.

Require these marks to be cut, stamped or stamped into the material of the part in such a manner that they would not be removed or obliterated without defacing or mutilating the part. Make it a crime to drive a car with such markings defaced.

New Super "6" Coming With Lower Price

The Super Six has a wealth of power, flexibility, ease of control, quiet acceleration and reserve capacity for desperate runs of hills. It craps on hills, jukes up quickly and mounts hills on high gear, avoids changing gears on rough roads.

De Palma Out for Big Prize of Auto Year

INDIANAPOLIS, May 3.—Ralph De Palma, world's speed king, has entered the coming Liberty Six race at Indianapolis, May 31. The premier driver in the American racing game will start in the show for $50,000 in gold in the 12-cylinder Buckard race that he has had with great success on the speedways the last few seasons and which has as many records to its credit as a champion "hot" car.

This will be the 400-mile race that De Palma has entered at Indianapolis and the title that he has named an American-made car. In the 1917 event he drove a Simplex to sixth place in 1918 he drove early in the race, his only start with a Mercedes. In 1922 he drove the Mercedes to fourth with two laps to go to victory. In 1923 he drove did not start, but he managed to qualify while in 1924 he secured a victory in the last Grand Prix of the Grand Prix Drivers.

However, this American car has proved its mettle in two seasons of racing and secured its name "Liberty Six" in the hands of the "Big Boy" Speedway, where his Indian had put it over the jump on the victory in five starts.

UNIQUE METHOD OF TESTING AUTO TIRES

A novel method of testing automobile tires, employed by a Denver manufacturing concern, is shown in the photograph. The track, made of steel, is circumference, presents every feature of good and bad roads. An ingenious machine, with its legs on which the tire is attached, travels the tire around the track. A special light fixture of heavy metal is suspended over the tire in such a way that the tire itself carries the load. Once started on its journey the tire continues until it has given its maximum of mileage.

Michelin Has a Very Interesting History

A review of the history of the world-wide Michelin organization is a story of pride.

In 1824 a Frenchman most enterprising and progressive one that began the manufacture of rubber goods in a district of France. He was the grandfather of P. Michelin, today president of the great Michelin tire factories, which rank as the standard institutions of their kind in France, England, Italy and America. Since 1822 the family has been identified with the industry of automobile tires, an enterprise to handling and compound rubber when this dates back 55 years.

In 1901 M. Edouard Michelin was made president of the French company and became active in the making of bicycle tires. In 1902 he became president of the tire company and immediately after in automobiles. The following year he proved his theories by contracting the first successful automobile tires ever made. From that day to this, automobile tires have commanded M. Michelin's time and "personal attention," and have been the subject of constant research.

ENAMELING TO PREVENT RUST

Ordinary Material Which Dries Quickly to a Little Use as a Cheap Oil Replacely.

In order to do away with rusting of parts beneath the hood and block engine which when properly applied looks like plaster in the hooded variety. Ordinary enamel which dries quickly and is easy to use. It is cheap and makes oil-catches. Parts to be enameled should, if possible, be taken off and cleaned with a stiff wire brush. The enamel should be applied with a stiff varnish brush. The enamel may take as long as a week to dry and care must be used to have an atmosphere free from excessive dust; that means not to dry it in the upper story of a hay barn. Parts that may be enameled to advantage include steel fan blades, pulley arms, brackets and elbows, nuts that are not often disturbed, exposed pieces of shafting, sliding-wheel centers, operating rods, rollers, etc. Even a cylinder casting may be treated, as a good enamel will stand heat without blistering.

Obtain You Litters A Year

When Sows Are Given Dair of Feed and Care This is Good way to Increase Production.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

It is commonly expected among producers to require their sows to produce two litters a year. Although the sow does not bear again until the next year, it is possible to rear two litters in a year, because the greater portion of the feed consumed has been utilized for the production of milk.

The sow needs a rest before she is bred again, and the time for this is between the weaning and weaning periods. Intense feeling will bring the sow from a thin condition into a good, strong, vigorous condition in a short time. When this is done she will be in proper condition to assume her duty of nursing the litter.

The sow should be fed liberally during the nursing period, and the milk should be increased as the litter grows. The milk should be increased as the litter grows.

CANNON-GIVES A BUM STEER

The Times is indebted to a subscriber for a newspaper clipping which goes to show that Miles Cannon, the new commissioner of agriculture in the state cabinet of Governor Davis, advised farmers to spray their blossoming prune trees with arsenate of lead to check the ravages of the red spider, whereas, according to the clipping, such spraying would kill the crop for that year. Attention is here directed to the gross blunder, for, as our subscribers say, calling attention to it might save some inexperienced farmer his prune crop.

It is, indeed, unfortunate, that such unskillful men should be placed over important public work, and as the clipping says, "such is politics."

It is one of the great misfortunes that appointments to most political positions are made because of some drag of the appointee. One man is appointed to placate some faction of the party in power who is instrumental in "blasting the nomination" for the person having appointive power; another man is named because he has just delivered a big vote on election day for the successful candidate; another is appointed because he did a good turn in times past to somebody, and is entitled to consideration when the plans are shaken, and so on. Most political appointees are good fellows, capable of putting up a good front, but frequently hopelessly incompetent to fill the position to which they are called to serve the public.

That also is true of the men elected to office, although in their elective position they are permitted to train their predecessor's chief deputy at a salary of about $1500 they are able to go by the $4000 salary provided for themselves without the public's ever suspecting that their choice was hopelessly deficient in training or capacity for the position.

In the instant case, if Mr. Cannon had not been so situated, he would have consulted with his subordinates, the state horticulturist, and been advised as to the proper treatment for the red spider on prunes. That caution will develop with a little more experience, and then he will be able to carry his bluff out with perfect savoir-faire.

Notwithstanding evidence, pointing out all the time of justice, money amounting at times to absolute incompetence in the public service, there is growing rapidly a sentiment favorable to more extended control of everything by the state. We have a state commissioner of agriculture whose advice to prune growers, if followed, would destroy their crops. Have we any assurance that a state commissioner of grain elevators, or a state inspector of feed sugar factories, or a state regulator of railroads, or a state overseer of power plants, or a state superintendent of forests, elected by the people chosen by an elected officer, would be any more competent than a commissioner of agriculture who advises arsenate of lead for killing red spiders on blossoming prune trees?

There are inequalities and rank injustices in the social economy of our day, but the remedy is not in multiplying political jobs or state inspection bureaus to be filled by men who ought to be engaged in some productive employment, nor yet in adding a lot of new "things" to the state which the state will never be able to perform, because the men capable of performing them cannot afford to give up their present work, and could not get the opportunity if they were willing to sacrifice their own welfare for the public good.

The Cantonment is one which should cause advocates of more complete state supervision of our affairs to pause a moment to consider. We have now a commissioner of agriculture whose advice, because of this blunder, will never be considered worthy very much. If we had other state officials to give professional advice on subjects with which they are not thoroughly familiar, the only advantage accruing would be to the men who draw the salaries. And very much of the union, and the federal government would be very much more economically and efficiently managed if there were not quite so many things to look after and regulate and advise about.

WHY BOYS DON'T LIKE TO TALK ABOUT "IT"

When boys saw real service at the front they returned home and friends, the first things after the handshaking and greetings, is a request that they talk about "it"—meaning their experiences at the war. And the boys sort of blush and pale some, inconspicuously detail and suggest that they want to "forget it." One returned soldier who was four months in the front lines declared that the next time the world goes to war he's going to make a short job of it by jumping into the crater of Vesuvius. The quick ending by this method seemed more desirable than the low-drawn-out struggle with shells, bombs, airplanes and gas.

One of these boys just back from the front, but, busy, up standing, whom nobody would suspect of having nerves, disclosed his uniform fifteen minutes after arriving home, and returned to talk about "it." He had been three months in a hospital. He had been gassed, shell shocked, and wounded twice. "It" was an experience that he had in France. He wanted to forget it, and his friends finally got to respecting his wish. But when the victory-laud committee went to get him to make a speech for the boys over there they thought they would get the story. But they didn't.

"I don't want to talk about it," he declared angrily. "What's more I'll not. I want to forget all about it. It's hellish, gruesome nerve racking memory I want to efface utterly. He doffed his cap to tell me that it is necessary to have someone get up before you people and satisfy a morbid curiosity by describing how you saw your best friends shot down, blown up, gassing their legs out in a hand held reeking with poison gas, scores and scores of them, before you will lead your money to Uncle Sam? Is that what we're coming back here to face?"

Why, when even to think of this like taking a tonic, and pulling upon every individual nerve in my body. Can you imagine crawling out into No. Man's land in the dark and searching for the bodies of your buddies after a day of attacks and counter-attacks, then being riddled with machine gun bullets, torn, shattered, of death? Or trying out their lives by candlelight before your eyes? And get up and tell about it to pry your nose from your dollars?"

"Not in a thousand years! I left my base of mind over you, I split a pint or two of blood on a yellow hillside. We fought back a little more than our lung. And somewhere I lost a lot of my nerve."

"But I'm looking to God I won't have to lose my reason for my fellow men and what I'm doing. You just tell them down at the meeting that that's all I have to say."

What Have You Done About Tires?

GATES QUALITY

HOW 400,000 CAR OWNERS HAVE SOLVED THEIR TIRE TROUBLES

You like every other motorist this spring are thinking about your tires and the kind you will buy.

For 400,000 other motorists the problem is no easy one. They have learned how they can cut their tire bills in half.

These motorists are taking advantage of a new scientific principle in tire construction. Because of this new principle of construction, they are using tires which are sold under a stronger guarantee than any tire now on your car; they have all the advantages of 20-per-cent-oversize and at only 1/2 the cost of ordinary tires.

These car owners are using Gates Half-Sole Tires.

Gates Half-Sole Tires are the invention of Charles G. Gates, E. M., and with five acres of factory working constantly night and day; we are now erecting additional buildings to double the capacity this year in order to keep up with the demand.

With these tires on your car, your tire troubles will be over—they are guaranteed puncture proof; and the largest business figures in the country are included among the 400,000 users who endorse this guarantee.

To you, Gates Half-Sole Tires mean better tire service than you have ever had before, and the cutting of your tire bills one-half.

There are over 1000 authorized service stations where you can investigate this remarkable tire economy. Trained experts located in this territory are listed below:

CONVENTION OF TAX REFORMERS COMES IN JUNE

GOVERNORS OF STATES ARE INVITED TO NAME DELEGATES

Want Men Who Are Familiar With Tax Administration or Who Are Interested in Subject—Meeting of Great Importance.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 3.—Letters inviting governors of all states to the 1919 and 1920 annual meeting delegates to the seventh annual convention on taxation of the National Tax association will be held in Chicago June 16 have been sent out by Treasurer Loveland. This is regarded as extremely important to Illinois. It may be the means of improving the state's admitted lag in tax revenue returns.

In his letter inviting the governor says:

"It is suggested that delegates be selected as far as possible from among public officials whose duties require them to deal directly with the administration of taxation and who have a responsibility for legislative proposals, and persons who, through study or occupation, are familiar with and actively interested in taxation and tax reform. This is important because under the constitution of the National Tax association only duly appointed and accredited delegates may vote upon resolutions, although the conference is open to all for discussion and debate."

Defeat Reveals the True Character of the German Nation and People

By J. E. LOUGHE, Professor of Psychology

From the viewpoint of a psychologist the German mind, in showing the same inflexibility in defeat which it exhibited to conspicuously while the war was in active progress. The most striking trait of this character is a lack of moral fiber, which throughout history all epochs like all peoples, have lacked up to a certain attribute. The Germans have shown themselves to be merely brutal they.

The flight of the Kaiser is an indication of their type of mind. This man runs away he has not the ability to stand and share in the fate of his people, which he brought about by his own act. Yet in Germany no one appears to have uttered one word in criticism of the Kaiser's course.

The surrender of the German fleet, from the German viewpoint, was the right thing. They would rather be live captives than dead brutes.

It seems inconsistent that this appalling cowardice should be exhibited by the same people who fought their way into Belgium, France, Serbia, Russia and Roumania. But it is a matter of everyday observation that any cowardly people will maintain what he may term his courage as long as he is winning.

The pretense of a defensive war which the Germans have set up affords another indication of this same mental characteristic. It is a great deal the masses of their people believe that the war was defensive in character, but the fact that the nation abjectly surrendered before a foe who had been victorious in every one of its territories had been conquered.

The lack of Germany's realization of the wrongs which she has done leaves the world sick at heart. Yet we look in vain for the faintest expression of regret from the Germans for their atrocities. The simple reason for this lack is that they do not realize they have done anything wrong.

Before the war the Germans had pretty well concealed their true national character by making a display of several admirable qualities. The truth has at last burst upon us and there is no mistaking it.

Registered Package Thought to Be Bomb

WASHINGTON, May 3.—A registered package, bearing a Glendale address and addressed to a prominent citizen, was opened by the postoffice department of that city this afternoon. IMPROVEMENT IS SHOWN IN EMPLOYMENT

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Employment conditions improved today as demands in the southern states for farm laborers, according to figures of the United States employment service for the week ending April 25, and issued today. Labor, surplusage and demands from 34 states reporting for the week showed an increase of 25,000 men, with a surplus of 82,000, six cities in five states showing a shortage aggregating 2400, with 20 cities in 14 states showing an equality.

With the exception of Connecticut, repairs for the week of labor supply and demand show a marked improvement in the New England states.

In the absence of definite figures from New York City, Buffalo is the chief center of unemployment in the state, reporting 8500. Industrial relations are good throughout the state, except in Rochester, where they are reported as "acute" while New York City is "unsettled."

Supply and demand in New Jersey and Delaware are equal. While some surplus is reported in Pennsylvania, conditions are good.

Chicago, East St. Louis, Tolet and Rockford report some surplus, while Rock Island reports an equality. Industrial conditions are good throughout the state except in Chicago and Rock Island.

Youngstown, Ohio, reports 13,000 unemployed, with unsettled industrial conditions. There was no report from Cleveland. Indianapolis with 2000 surplus is the chief center of unemployment in Indiana. Industrial relations are reported good in that state. Louisville, Ky., reports a surplus of 1500, with industrial conditions acute. There is some shortage of farm labor.

Labor supply and demand in Maryland, West Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Tennessee, Louisiana, Missouri, Arkansas, Texas, Oklahoma and South Carolina show an equality industrial activities show an improving demand for farm labor. Conditions on the Pacific coast continue to improve.

SOY BEANS GOOD FOR SHEEP

In Feeding Trials at Wisconsin Station Produced Larger Gains for Oiler Amount of Feed.

Blindness is a recurrent ophthalmic or inflammation of the conjunctival membrane of the white of the eye and the lining of the eyeball. (Cataract, blepharitis, strabismus, presbyopia, myopia, and other conditions.) The peculiar characteristics of this professional occurrence and its serious results—because the attacks often follow the cutting of teeth—of about a month, many physicians suppose that they are influenced by some phase of the mouth—the tongue.

The ignorant recourse to knocking out the wolf teeth or cutting the hair, or winking catarrhs, are not so very efficacious. Some cases respond to the use of the eye, as well as such other measures as tend to the improvement of the horse's condition.

SHEEP NECESSARY FOR SHEEP

Animals Go Out in Stormy Cold Weather and Snow and Rain Blotks to the Wool.

A good stud or stud for sheep is necessary if the flock is expected to yield good results. They go out in a crowd, cold weather, and wet snow and cold rains will stay in the wool and make it mat. The sheep will be rendered sterile by the cold, they get sick and sometimes die from poor nutrition.

HORSE NECESSARY MUCH GRAIN

Necessary for Animal to Maintain Weight and Spirit and Perform Maximum of Work.

In order to perform the maximum of work and still maintain his weight and spirit, the horse should receive a comparatively large allowance of easily digested grain and a correspondingly small proportion of palatable roughage.

Brewery Workers Lose Their Jobs

CHICAGO, May 3.—Fully 2000 skilled brewery workers in their jobs go unfulfilling because of the government's new liquor control act.

Manufacture of "near beer" and other non-alcoholic beverages, which the new act allows, does not require the amount of labor that beer making does, according to brewers. It is believed that many of the men who there were, will be released.

Daniels Is Against Competitive Navies

LONDON, May 2.—"It would be a crime if England and the United States should undertake competitive naval expansion," said Joseph Daniels, American secretary of the navy at luncheon given in his honor by the Anglo-American society. Mr. Daniels indicated that Great Britain had a big navy, adding that America would contribute her quota to a mobile fleet to police the world.

Mr. Daniels pointed out however, that a mobile fleet would be necessary for police duty.

POWERFUL DRIVE STARTED BY THE BOLSHEVIK ARMY

LONDON, May 3.—The long heralded bolshevik offensive in northern Russia has started. It was indicated in the official report of General Fromm, British commander, received today.

The bolsheviks directed powerful attacks against allied positions along the Volga, at the same time shelling back against front positions on the Dniep. Both attacks were repulsed.

Bolshevik attacks started yesterday in the complete cold. "The bolsheviks are attacking. It is a matter of time before they will force our positions but were forced to withdraw. On the Volga, powerful attacks were repulsed with big losses."

A contingent of Americans was stationed recently on the Volga front, where the bolsheviks are attacking. It was learned from an authoritative source.

Sheep Like Soy-Bean Forage as Much as the Meal

Sheep fed the same roughage. One lot received alfalfa corn and whole soy beans in equal proportions, while the other received the same quantities of alfalfa corn and whole oats.

The average gain of each lamb during a period of 12 weeks was 102 pounds in weight and a production of 81.2 pounds of wool. In another experiment the same ration was fed for 12 weeks to two lots of nine lambs each. The lot receiving the soy and produced 85.1 pounds of wool, as compared with 77 pounds increase in weight and a production of 81.2 pounds of wool for the lot receiving the alfalfa. The pound lot also consumed more feed per pound of gain.

The average funder would usually return a loss article if he knew who the owner was. That's why you should advertise that lot article in the Times "Lost" column immediately.

GRADUATE LICE ON CATTLE

Plan, Order to Destroy This Pest Which Causes Injury and Retards Growth of Cattle

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Cattle lice are injurious to all classes of cattle, but the greatest losses occur in young stock and particularly in calves. Losses are caused by irritation, excessive discharges of secretions, and by the mechanical death of lice.

Ordinarily lice on cattle are not objectionable to the owners because that they cause considerable annoyance. Usually the animals which are most troublesome are those which are kept in close quarters, and frequently the owner licks them, whereas the ordinary cattle may be annoyed by the lice.

Three kinds of lice are commonly found on cattle, and all three species may be present at the same time, but the same method of treatment may be used for any of them. When they make their appearance on the cattle, the lice fall out of the ears, and spread rapidly until every animal is infested. When an animal is grossly infested, it is not uncommon to see animals which have been driven away from the market and are being used for hides and tanned animal skins and other objects. Bohemia Protected Against Anarchy by Great Faith and Patriotism

BY THOMAS MASARYK, President

The Bohemian government in Russia will last longer than is generally supposed, not because of the inherent force of the ideas and methods of the Bohemian, as many persons erroneously think, but because of the weakness of the other parties, which are sleeping in a dangerous state of lethargy.

I am not afraid that Germany, even though surrounded by countries in liquidation, like Russia, like Austria-Hungary, will be disappointed because of anarchy in realizing its fullest hopes of reformation. I do not fear that in the least, in spite of its unfortunate geographical position, "The Czech-Slovak republic will be protected from the infection by its great faith, its great patriotism, and by good organization and preparation. The new state, like the other victors of the century, need fear nothing from this anarchy which never has and never will have power to destroy the edifice created by victory.

As to the Hungarians who are unwilling to recognize their claims to Slovakia, it is possible there may be some question. But over the outcome I feel no anxiety. Whether the outcome shall be settled by force of arms, whether as a matter of right, the triumph will be ours.

Ten Million Victory Gardens Should Be Planted Early This Spring

By C. L. FACK, War Garden Committee

The war garden committee, which has been credited with much of the effort by which the number of home gardens in America has been steadily increasing during the last three years, still has a quarter of a million of patriots raising food at home to win the war, has received word from Herbert G. Hoover that the work must not lag this year.

The nation's health authorities have reported to the committee that a material improvement in the health of the nation, particularly among men and women beyond the prime of life, has been brought about by the moderate exercise, sunshine and fresh air and lively interest brought about through the general adoption of gardening as an occupation.

And the fiscal guardians of the government have not been slow to recognize the home garden as a great national asset. Hitting the average law and crediting each gardener with creating $35 of wealth—that is, supplying food for which $25 otherwise would have been spent—last year's government put not less than $132,000,000 in the way of being lent to the gardener in return for Liberty bonds and War Savings stamps.

But even more important than the money lent to the government by home gardeners as a direct result of their outdoor activities is the health of their created, considered and fostered by the garden returns. Students of national economy have concluded that few will willingly return to the practice of having from day to day the things that can be raised in the garden.

WOOL-GROWERS GIVEN ADVICE ON MARKETING

Buyer and State Official Talk to Meeting Hold at Farm Bureau Yesterday

Meeting had apparently decided not to proceed that far this year. Therefore the growers had been called together for an explanation of the situation and for whatever aid in marketing could be given.

Mr. Blackburn pointed out the wool market, saying that he believed that enough wool had been sold to establish a market. He proposed that the growers had been called together for an explanation of the situation and for whatever aid in marketing could be given.

Ten Million Organized Women Indorse United States School Garden Army

By MRS. JOHN D. SHERMAN, General Federation of Women's Club

Ten million women in the United States want school-supervised gardens for children. These ten million women are the members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, with state, district and local organizations, and of the National Council of Women, which includes 29 national organizations. The interests of these organizations are in the child.

We believe that the school-supervised gardens of 1918 were a distinct success from a practical and food-producing viewpoint and that they had. One and a half million boys and girls had school or home gardens. Food produced amounted to at least $10,000,000.

We believe that gardening for children is a school subject, that it should be handled by the schools and that it must be made a regular part of the school course. We believe that practical knowledge of gardening ranks in importance with reading, writing and arithmetic in the development of the child. We believe that in learning to produce food from the soil the child acquires a mental and moral growth of far greater value than any knowledge which is limited to textbooks. It helps him form intelligent and creative citizenship.

We believe that supervised gardening, which includes instruction in the use of food, storage and marketing, will train a child in thrift and responsibility. We know that while the child is at work producing food from the soil he will learn the vital life lesson that he must not be a parasite and that honest productive labor of the hands is as honorable as that of the head.

We know that gardens supervised through the summer months have kept thousands of children off the streets and out of the juvenile courts. Three million children in the United States go to school hungry. School gardens will help to feed the ten million organized women of the United States and on behalf of the ten million children of the country to support the United States School Garden Army. The appropriation will be an investment in citizenship.

Farm Club Leader Is Making Rounds

Miss Thama M. Spencer, farm club leader, is making a tour of the county, visiting the different clubs at their regular meetings. Last Friday she dropped in on the Springing Swan club and was delighted in seeing a good time for the night with the big game. She will be back in the county in a few days.

Mr. J. S. Larson will have charge of the club at Cedar Grove, and it is called to order by the president, Mrs. E. L. Smith, who has been elected president of the club.

The club work is now in the hands of the members. The club work is now in the hands of the members. The club work is now in the hands of the members.

There's a New Store In Town

Yes, a new store to serve you.

We believe in the future of Twin Falls and the wonderful country surrounding it. We have supreme confidence in the bright outlook ahead so we have cast our lot with you.

The foundation on which we aim to build our business for the future, is a square deal to all.

For Instance—If we sell you a pair of shoes, and we tell you they are genuine leather, you can rest assured they are all we claim. If after wearing them out you find the slightest trace of paper, bring what is left of them back, and not only get a new pair free, but get a five dollar bill besides.

IS THAT NOT A FAIR WAY TO DEAL WITH THE PUBLIC?

We believe you'll agree it is. It's profitable to you because you know what to expect when you spend your money. It's profitable to us because it wins the confidence of all, and brings more trade to our store.

WE ARE AWAY FROM THE HIGH RENTS, SO WE CAN STAY AWAY FROM HIGH PRICES

Folks have been busy all week telling us we are too far out; that we cannot expect to bring the people out here. But they have overlooked a good bet. They failed to see that our rent is low out here; that we can save prices to such an extent that people will come because we save them money. When people get to know our merchandise, prices and service a little thing like a few steps out of the way will not keep them away.

War Expenditures Reach Huge Sum

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The treasury has added up about $20,000,000,000 America's entry into the war a little more than two years ago.

This amount includes, however, nearly $10,000,000,000 in loans to the allies, which eventually will be repaid. That the war expense of the nation has amounted to $10 billion since the signing of the armistice is proved by the announcement that during April treasury expenditures amounted to over $1,000,000,000 of which about 60 per cent went for the payment of direct war bills; and the remainder for the purchase of war materials and foodstuffs in this country.

President Not for Economic Pressure

PARIS, May 3.—It is understood that some of the associates of President Wilson suggested economic pressure on Italy to change the attitude of the Italian government on France.

The president, however, said that anything of the kind was out of place, so far as the president was concerned. "The president" warned those making the suggestion that any woman and children in Italy would suffer should economic pressure be attempted and that, regardless of the official attitude of the United States, America has Italy appreciates the good qualities of the Italian people and will continue to give all possible financial assistance, maintaining as much result in foodstuffs as can be sent across the Atlantic.

The American officials have been instructed to carry out this policy to the letter.

President Wilson, furthermore, is urging Great Britain to send coal to Italy, as it is badly needed by the Italian industries.

Got Something You Want to Sell?

Most people have a place of furniture, a piece of crockery, or something else which they have discarded and which they no longer want.

These things are put in the attic or stored away in the barn or left about getting out of hand and less value each year.

WHY NOT SELL THEM?

Somebody wants to have your things, and you can get a good price for them. Why not sell them? You can get a good price for them. Why not sell them?
