

PRICE OF PEACE MADE KNOWN TO GERMANY

Allied Terms Handed to Hun Delegates at Versailles

COLD AND FORMAL DIPLOMACY MARKS WHOLE PROCEDURE

VERSAILLES, FRANCE, May 7.—Germany heard her fate this afternoon. In the very city where the Prussian empire was created the new republic of Germany was told the penalty she must pay for inaugurating a four years' orgy of bloodshed and rapine.

The scene was most impressive. Months of the hardest effort on the part of the allied and associated powers was crowned with a successful agreement on how peace should be restored to a war-torn world.

The Italian delegates, who had rushed from Rome to Paris at the last minute were present. The Germans, headed by their junior leader, Count Von Brockdorff-Rantzau, filled the central portion of the dining room west, opposite the foot of tables which ran through the main dining room of the Trianon palace.

The great room was flooded with light which streamed through the windows of the sun parlor in the rear. The arrangements of the tables followed the lines of the Trianon palace.

All of the participants were in waiting-dress, the generals who wore the uniforms of the various armies. There was no special diplomatic dress.

Following down the table from Premier Lloyd George came the delegation of the following order: France, including Marshal Foch; the British, including Marshal Foch; the British, including Marshal Foch; the British, including Marshal Foch.

ITALY WELCOMED BACK

Recent dispatches from Rome indicate that the Italians are doing some second thinking. It is doubtless beginning to dawn on them that an extremely undesirable plight they would have been in if they had insisted on making for themselves a place of isolation in the world.

They realize, as they think things over, that they are economically helpless without the cooperation of the allies. And they must realize, too, as their passions cool, that they were pleading a bad case, and that moral isolation would be as bad for young, struggling, modern Italy as economic isolation.

Italy in every way needs her allies more than they need her. And this fact holds the best promise of a re-making of Italy's former status as a harmonious member of the peace-keeping group of powers.

With the Italians coming around into such a mood, it is only wise and right for America, France and Britain to meet them half way—not in a compromise of basic principle, but in a renewal of friendship and respect. Italy left Paris; Italy is welcomed back. Let bygones be bygones.

The allies can properly enough show this spirit without any flourish of magnanimity, because their debts to Italy are certainly as great as Italy's debts to them. It must not be forgotten, in this period of Italian wrong-headedness, that Italy went into the war on the allied side at great risk to herself, at a time when the allied cause was critical, and that she contributed largely to the victory. Her rout of the big German-Austrian drive on the Piave last summer was the beginning of allied triumph, and one of the chief factors that made the crowning victories of the British, French and American armies possible.

The emotional Italian public of late has been sadly misguided by imperialist braves and jingo demagogues. Let this aberration not be held against a sterner man, if it comes to see the error of its way.

THE EXTRAORDINARY SESSION

Though congress is called for May 19, there is no reason to believe that it will be able to get through with the appropriation bills before the end of the fiscal year, June 30. There are six big appropriation bills which will come before congress—the army, navy, agricultural, district of Columbia, sundry civil and general deficiency bills.

To expect congress to get down to work, and within six weeks to pass through these appropriation bills, aggregating billions of dollars, is to expect what is not at all likely to happen. In the first place, there is the conduct of the war, the conduct of the peace conference and the criticisms of the league of nations covenant to be aired, matters of very much more political significance than the ordinary conduct of the nation's affairs.

In addition, the majority members are crying "economy" for party sake, and it is likely that the heads of departments will be given a severe grilling before their estimates are allowed. Then, too, there is likely to be very radical differences of opinion between the leaders of the two houses, to harmonize which will involve conferences, and long delays.

There is naturally opposition to the passage of resolutions cancelling last year's appropriations for thirty days, and no congress may put aside its party politics and pass new bills, and this opposition, justified no doubt, will develop into a serious situation, if it goes so far as to threaten the several departments not now provided for with impairment of their efficiency or total disruption.

LAND FOR THE DOUGHBOYS

Homesteads, with buildings and equipment to make them ready for immediate occupancy, will be provided for soldiers and sailors who wish to engage in farming, if a bill proposed by the secretary of the interior is not defeated in the next congress, as was a like measure in the last.

Secretary Lane's plan is to purchase lands in all sections of the country, to subdivide the tracts thus acquired, to build on each parcel a house and barn, and put the ground into condition for use for truck gardening, farming or grazing, as the character of the soil, the climate and the sections dictate.

These settlements will not be scattered haphazardly, but will be established as communities so that the homesteaders may have the advantages of churches, schools, telephones, transportation and markets. The government will allow the soldiers and sailors a maximum of 40 years in which to pay for their land and houses. Money will be advanced also for the purchase of machinery, equipment and live stock. These loans will be for a short period. Interest at a rate of not more than 4 per cent will be charged by the government.

With the department of $100,000,000 which the bill will authorize, the interior department estimates 25,000 homesteads ranging in area from 16 to 160 acres can be purchased and developed. The task of preparing the land for the land cultivation, it is expected, will afford employment to many soldiers and sailors. The whole undertaking will be financed by the failure of the last congress to pass the appropriation bills which upset not only the plan of the administration, to care for the returned soldiers, but placed the several departments of the government in embarrassing position.

PRICES OF MEATS

With beef getting in the markets of the United States at between 30 and 31 cents a pound, live weight, and choice heavy hogs bringing 12 and 13 cents, that the prospects for lower rates on the bringing of lamb and mutton are very full, indeed. Rather does it seem more likely that the lamb will be offered just a little thinner if some tool can be found that will see it out.

Opinions of experts, that is, of men who make a living by buying and selling livestock, which are perhaps entitled to as much respect as other opinion, is that meat prices will remain substantially their present level until such time as labor and material cease off, while corn will go still higher. Meat prices will move within narrow limits for the next few months, they say.

Cattle on the hoof are also at high figures. Except that there is an unappreciated demand from Europe for pork products, beef is affected by the same considerations which have put live hogs at record prices.

The reasons given for expecting higher prices for corn, which no doubt is affected by the speculators who have made a corner of the grain, one of whom is reported to have made $2,000,000 in five days, are late seeding, heavy rains amounting at places almost to cloud-bursts, and the appearance of a disease known as Australian "take all," a fungus growth which "takes all" of the plant when it gets started.

HUMAN ANIMAL IS A QUEER CRITTER

It is a strange commentary on human nature that the average person can work himself into a frenzy by reading of the atrocities inflicted by the soldiers of one nation upon the helpless inhabitants of another, or by seeing them visualized in a motion picture, and then remain utterly unresponsive when he is asked to aid his government in fighting hills-injured in an appalling, but very national, way.

It may be taken as an indication that all his rage at the oppressor is only skin deep. Later he may recall with a secret thrill of personal pride, just how hard he became when he learned of the destruction of Little, the slaying of women and children, and the use of forbidden methods of warfare.

Getting mad at injustice, inhumanity and general barbarity is a good human attribute. Getting mad at Germany was the average American's privilege during the war.

But the average citizen is not entitled to the prevailing American post-war emotions—gratitude, enthusiasm, pride and increased loyalty unless he gives this citizen, in peace, the same support he gave in war.

And the only way he can do that right now is by subscribing to the victory liberty loan for which he is worth.

VILLA'S ACTIVITY EXPLAINED

Word comes from Mexico City that various brigades and distillers of the United States are contemplating leaving in Mexico when this country goes dry. The world having been made safe for democracy, Bandit Villa may now be engaged in making Mexico safe for the brewers. The suggestion that the brewers may find refuge in Mexico has aroused the prohibitionists of Mexico to active opposition to the move. Maybe Villa is hired to kill off a few of these active opponents of the proposed migration of the liquor manufacturers, to make Mexico a desirable place for them.

Chinese to Protest Japanese Control of Shantung Peninsula

CHICAGO, May 5.—T. H. Hsu and H. K. Kung, special envoys to the peace conference from the province of Shantung, China, are en route to the East to sail for France and personally present to President Wilson a protest against Japanese control of the Shantung coast.

The envoys stopped in Chicago for a short time last night.

The proposal control of Kiau Chai by Japan makes the "peace of the world," Mr. Hsu declared. "It will entail Japanese control of all northern China and the establishment of the policy of the closed door."

The proposed settlement means that 4,000,000 people of Shantung province will be delivered into bondage. The Japanese in their dealings with the Chinese are lost to honor, as has been demonstrated repeatedly. Thus, too, the province of Shantung will be given to the Japanese and to deliver this territory into their hands, is a double blow to their pride.

Hopes German Aid Comes From America

PARIS, May 5.—"We hope that the next plan for establishing European financial and making trade with Germany possible will come from America," said the Temps in commenting upon the refusal of the American to help guarantee a $100,000,000 loan to Germany. The newspaper continued:

"In any case, outside of American aid, we must set our own house in order. The American attitude must make all European nations reflect on their position."—All through the United States will most likely go to the colors which clear up the own financial troubles as far as possible by adopting good tariff, railway and economic policies. France must be one of them.
