CREW OF MISSING SEA PLANE PROBABLY SAFE

Sixty-Sixth Congress Convened in Extraordinary Session

NC-1 SIGHTED WORKING UNDER HER OWN POWER

ADMIRAL JACKSON BO RE- PORTS TO NAVY DEPART- MENT

No Further Details Are Given

Democrat Fritax Is Standing Be- side Wrecked NC-1, but Cannot Work on Her Until Re Mod- erates—Boat Lost Bouquancy

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The NC-1, the missing sea plane, has been sighted seven miles from Punta Del Oca, Admiral Jackson this afternoon advised the navy department. He gave no further details except that she was traveling under her own power.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Navy department officials were frank and apprehensive today for the safety of the crew of the NC-1, the navy seaplane from which word had been received for more than three hours. Up to last night there had been a feeling of confidence that the seaplane was being towed by the tug, but today fears that the crew may perish already expressed. All further details according to reports reaching here, a gale was sweeping the sea and the waves were running high.

Navy department officials, who are unable to say definitely, expressed the opinion today that the seaplane to the other two machines would not prevent the "four" from hopping off today if the weather conditions were favorable. With Hawker, the Australian, wielding his way across the Atlantic, it was pointed out that America's seaplanes are the only ones in the world of being the first country to send an aviator overseas.

At 8 o'clock today the department had been for an hour without having received any reference to the flight. At 10 o'clock last night Admiral Jackson told a message giving weather conditions and stating that the "four" was safe.

HORTA, Azores, May 19.—The NC-1, the missing sea plane, was sighted in the trans-Atlantic flying route, was unable to hop off for the naval base at Ponta Del Oca, St. Michael's Island, but had planned this morning.

HORTA, Azores, May 19.—Ten destroyers and the battleship Texas and Florida were scouring the seas southwest of the island and Corvo, 400 miles from Ponta Del Oca, to locate the missing NC-1. The British aircraft carrier, Saturday Morning, in her attempt to reach the NC-1, had failed to get her out of the flight. The destroyer Harling, which picked up the seaplane after being abandoned by Commander Bellinger, reported today that she was so badly damaged that it would be unable to continue on to Portugal.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The NC-1 will hop off from Horta for Ponta Del Oca and then for Lisbon as soon as the weather permits. The NC-1 was taken off, reported today that she was so badly damaged that it would be unable to continue on to Portugal.

PRESBYTERIANS WANT CLOSER CHURCH UNION

Vote to Send Telegram to South- ern Branch With View to Closer Relationship

ST. LOUIS, May 19.—With a view to establishing union between the different branches of the Presbyterian church, the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America, in session here today, voted to send a telegram to the assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States—the southern church—asking that negotiations for closer relations be undertaken. The members of the assembly are now in session at St. Louis.

The vote to send the telegram was taken after the submission of the report of the committee on church cooperation and union. The report, recommending the different churches of the Presbyterian system have closer relations, contained a full statement of the situation and an organization is provided in the report.

DESPONDENCY IS CAUSE OF ENDING LIFE

John C. Koch, Rancher, Sui- cides at His Home—Hillier, Sui- cides in Cause of Act

Brooding over failure health had become unimpaired, John C. Koch, of the Sixth avenue east ended his lonely existence by discharging a shotgun through his head. Leaving his bed shortly after 4 o'clock he had himself in the bathroom. He was awakened by the shot, which killed him instantly, the discharge entering below his left ear and coming out at the top of his head. The coroner's jury has held that his mind was not deranged at the time of the act, but that he had stood with his head over the barrel of the gun, pulling the trigger with his toe. He had no relatives, merely sleeping a few weeks ago at his night chambers.

SLUGGING TWIN FALLS TEAM DEFEATS FILER SUNDAY WITH VOLLEY OF HEAVY ARTILLERY

Standing of the Club:

Bill, bang, wiam, blooey; new blipper-bluip, bang, wiam, blooey; burley-burly, bang, wiam, blooey. Deported in the Twin Falls baseball club at Filer yesterday.

Whiff-whiff-Whiff-Piler.
There was no Casey in the Twin Falls line up yesterday and they slaughtered—two Filer pitchers in taking the second league game by a score of 10 to 0. The rural journalist who is fond of having his standard copy bats with the hero's name on it would have been in a loss to describe yesterday's engagement. He could have had his bats crossed off but not so with "our boys." Lefty O'Neil wouldn't stand for it in the first place because lefty is expected to be in the second place. The score proves that the only thing that was crossed was the home plate. This is in direct contradiction to regular baseball rules.

Alvin Miller, by in this line, was back today in full appearance. However, they weren't at all polite in the seventh and raked him through the air.

Patton's out, and Thompson's strike. Boyton's called and both advanced to Patton's out. Whiffers' second 'bunch' scored them both. Singleton pushed another extra base walk-off. Miller walked. Whiffers went to third. Neumann ended it with a double to pitcher.

The eighth added another on. Ted Beck, single and Neumann, freshly triple over center field.

Waller was never in trouble. Carpenter's double in the fourth came with two out. The ninth struck out three. Two batters merely came to the plate, remarked "whiff" and sat down again. In fact, fourteen of them were heard to make similar remarks during the afternoon.

Standing on both sides was uniformly good, one error being charged to each team. Bluff's ninth struck out Twin Falls after being back around to be on the edge of doing something awful several times but failed to make material in either direction. There were no spectacular plays but Otis Neumann handled several pretty pitches at first on Sunday. The left hander in his first play; Lester to Lachner in Staley was the best looking Filer performance, snuffing out both ends of the inning.

RETURN OF 'THE BRAT' COMPANY AROUSES THEATRICAL INTEREST

Last night, the announcement of a company, and whose composition was the return of "The Brat" company to Twin Falls with that of her work in the Twin Falls is well known to all. It is in favor of the new work in a new play, "The Heavenly Body," which was almost immediately re-staged by the same company. The play is the story of the life of the Holy-Child, Marie-Therese, who was a devotedly pious and highly entertaining one and one half century ago.

The company, which was the first to be shown in the Twin Falls, has a reputation for being a first class troupe. The play is a comedy in its nature, and is a very good one. It is a very good one. It is a very good one. It is a very good one.

FROM THE PRESS BOX JUG

The season is young but yesterday's track of the St. Albans Idaho League gave Twin Falls fans reason for optimism over the present race for the championship. The game was a hard fought one, and the home team held their nerve on the pitching. It was a hard fought one, and the home team held their nerve on the pitching. It was a hard fought one, and the home team held their nerve on the pitching.

The next time of play should test this theory out more thoroughly. The Twin Falls and Filer will meet some of the other clubs. It will then be established if Twin Falls pitching will be as effective against these clubs as against Filer. Also if Filer hitters are really weak to have simply been up against the stream of the batter.

PREHISTORIC WORKSHOPS ARE LOCATED IN TEXAS

WASHINGTON, May 17.—In order to get Texas on the map archeologically by gathering evidences of the character of Indian life there, before the coming of the white man, the bureau of American ethnology has been conducting studies in that field which promise important results. It was announced today.

Notwithstanding its magnitude, very little attention has been paid to the many evidences of an aboriginal population in Texas before the advent of the white settlers. This is the more remarkable because the state is situated between the United and the Mexican borders, two of the most interesting regions inhabited by prehistoric man.

J. Walter Peck, chief of the bureau, with the help of Professor T. Moore of the University of Texas, has already located many prehistoric workshops and bone-flint villages scattered all over Texas, Spanish or American sites. Many stone implements found in these localities, some of which made from flint, show remarkable skill in manufacture. The character of these implements indicates that the inhabitants of the middle of the state were hunters, more or less nomadic, while eastern Texas or that part lying in the timber belt, was inhabited by agricultural tribes possessing a craft for a hunting tribe, and often live in this way. It is stated, however, that the ancient Mound Builders of Louisiana and Arkansas, but in the western part of Texas, which is an elevated, more or less arid region, ancient inhabitants were quite unlike the rest of the state, resembling the Pueblo of New Mexico.

Very little is known of the mode of life of the prehistoric Indians in these areas, but the preliminary examination, it is said, indicates that much light may yet be shed on the migration and distribution of Texas Indians in an epoch hitherto unknown to students by a study of prehistoric remains scattered over the state.

The wide-spread belief that the ancient aborigines of Texas were practically the same as the fierce tribes encountered in modern times by the early white settlers is largely the result of want of knowledge of prehistoric remains, the bureau stated.

In the opening years of the 19th century, Apache, Comanche and other savage tribes roamed over Texas, following the buffalo or raiding across its into Old Mexico. Some of these Texas tribes were reported to have been exterminated; it is stated, "There seems to have been constant hostilities between these Indians, in which many smaller tribes were exterminated. The number and extent of workshops and village sites may be the sole surviving indication of some of these tribes, said the bureau, as they imply great suffering and the objects from these differ from those in use by the historic Indians.

The surfaces of several of the flint implements are modified by long, thin, parallel grooves, which are not so common in such an extent that many are, possibly made from flint, and were manufactured there, it is believed.

Air Fliver Appears in Old England

London, England, May 17.—A new kind of airplane has just been perfected here. It is destined to bring aviation within the reach of those with slender means.

It is so constructed that two people sit side by side in a small cabin. Its total weight is only 400 lbs., and it will fly with pilot and passenger at a maximum speed of 35 miles an hour. It is known as "the poor man's aeroplane," because it sells at the record price of $1,000.

The petrol-holding capacity of the machine permits of a four-hour continuous flying at an average consumption of three and one-half gallons per hour, and it will fly 77 miles to the gallon, or that the maximum journey of which the poor man's airplane will be capable is 310 miles.

COOPERATIVE EXCHANGE ORGANIZED

Members of the county farm bureau at Preston, Conn., have organized an organization under the name, "Preston Co-Operative Exchange, Incorporated," with a charter membership of 29 men. This exchange is capitalized at $12,000 divided into shares at $25 each. Any farmer may become a member by subscribing for one or more shares. Provision is made in the by-laws that any member desiring to withdraw may do so, with the approval of the board of managers, upon giving three months' notice in writing and returning his stock, for which he will receive not less than par value. That all bills for goods sold to members shall be paid before the goods are delivered is required by the by-laws. This is essential to the success of such an organization and the stockholders strengthened the by-laws with a vote that no exceptions shall be made. By paying cash at the time for goods, the "right" becomes a "savings fund," being used only to secure and open cars upon arrival.

If you have a car you no longer need, sell it through a want ad.

TWO MILLION DEMOBILIZED

Nearly a Million Officers, Men and Nurses Bled in France, According to Figures Given Out by General March.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—The 7th division commanded by New York troops made the greatest advance of any American division on the western front during the war, according to figures made public by General March, chief of staff. From the time it went into the line the 7th went about 71 1/2 kilometers, or about 44 miles, in America during the world war. It spent $2,381,300,000. General March revealed at his weekly conference with representatives of the press today. Of this amount, he said, $2,124,000,000 was for actual war expenditures, of which the army spent $14,000,000,000 in demobilization, the general also announced, 19,627 officers and 11,921,225 enlisted men having received their discharge papers. Of these 22,550 have applied for commissions in the regular army.

Contributing to this total 10,617 for a three-year term, and 14,750 for one year. On March 15, there were 243,025 officers, men and nurses still in France.

These officers training corps have been established in 217 colleges and high schools in the country, the general added.

American experience in the world war has proved that this country is self-sufficient in a foreign land than had been estimated by officers of the general staff of the army, General March showed. In 1915, it was estimated that Germany could land 351,000 men from ships in sixteen days, and in the following 21 days could land 440,000 more, making a total of 791,000. This would include 175,000 horses, equipment, and supplies for three months. In 1918 many foreign ships were sunk by American's experience in the world war, when it was found that an average of 25 days was needed for the round trip of a transport, and several for a cargo carrier. When the estimates were made, General March stated, it was figured that the transports could make the round trip in less than sixty days.

The movement of troops overseas by America's "order" regard suspended in the history of warfare, General March showed.

VESTS LEND CHARM TO SUITS

Washington is an important factor in spring styles and this suit-belt tendency in their favor. It is plain that the vest wears the smart "little" garment of heavy white silk that leavies it company and lends it additional charm. The kind of regulation neck length and narrow front the best it is split at the side over a neckline and has two buttons and two buttons fastenings by way of adjustment. The new waist-length vests are made of many different materials and in many patterns. They will become more a summer adorning.

To the Shrewd Buyer---

The success of a family depends on wise buying just as the success of a business does. And in most families, one person does the bulk of the buying. This buyer to achieve the maximum success of money-saving must put the purchasing on a strictly-cash basis. The charge account may do for the hit and miss buyer who does not count the cost, but intelligent buying, systematically planned leads you to the strictly cash, one price store. The cash store simply gives you more for your money, and good buyers buy where they can BUY THE BEST THE CHEAPEST.

These Prices are of interest to the entire family. Study them—compare them—take advantage of them—they are money savers.

TWELVE SEASONS NEEDED TO BUILD UP CHAMPIONSHIP BASEBALL ORGANIZATION

Grever Cleveland Alexander and Bill Killefer.

"It takes 12 years to build up a championship ball club. That's the way Charlie Comiskey figures it, and he's probably right to do so, as he has built up several of them."

It takes about ten minutes to break up a winning organization, if the way you own it can't make a deal that quickly.

The chief reason Killefer had a team from under his 1908 house was the strike of a pen. Baker had a team in 1907, but he was in the Phillies, a former pitcher in 1907 and a runner in 1910 and 1917.

Let's try this:

The chief reason Baker had a pennant winner and a contender was Grever Cleveland Alexander, the greatest pitcher in modern and Bill Killefer, the greatest runner in modern times. Alexander's ability to win more than 30 games a season and Killefer's ability to catch more games than any other pitcher in the National League. Baker had the winning combination of the best of the ball player on his team.

There's a lot of psychology in baseball. Imagine, if you will, the confidence of a ball club being held in the field with Alexander, in top form, in the box and Killefer behind the bat.

Picture to yourself the way they show their love for each other. These ball players know that they have only one chance in a hundred of losing their job and 100% up to the confidence they know they need.

Back Away Confidence

For many years a picture was sold in the neighborhood of 30¢ per copy to the stable man—total, but he took away a confidence that would bring other victories.

This fact is one of baseball's first principles.

In 1914 Connie Mack, striped ball American League champion of that year, was the best pitcher in the American League. Mack's pitching was back into a first-rate pitcher after winning a pennant.

Fresh From Land of Movies, He Stages a Real Hold-up

DAYTON, Ohio, May 19.—When Victor Connor, thirteen, came to Dayton from the tin snuffery in California he brought with him much of the wild and woolly atmosphere, together with an old Mexican rifle. He represented himself as a movie lander in Hillie and Dale's Park he met Miss Marjorie Hestie, on the staff of the Dayton Daily News. She was a movie lander here, and declared: "There's nothing gold in Dayton, and I thought I'd have a little fun."

"I'd count told him to renew his rifle at school."

ALBERTA LAND

530,000 Dry and Irrigable Acres

Land is located in Southern Alberta and is the best in that famous district. 300,000 acres will be under irrigation, the balance is being sold for grain growing.

The lands are being put on the market by the Government and the company is looking for bona fide settlers. All lands within a radius of ten miles or less to shipping points.

Dry lands are being sold at $10 to $20 per acre. Irrigated lands $40 to $60 per acre, which include water, irrigation and maintenance charges $1.50 per irrigable acre per year. Many payments and low interest.

Alfalfa, grain, field peas, potatoes and root crops can be successfully grown.

Write direct to the company for full particulars and pamphlet.

PROFESSOR LEWIS ON THE PRICE TREND

Professor I. T. Lewis, head of the economics department of the University of Idaho, recently announced his opinion that prices of commodities and wages of workers will never again reach the pre-war level. Never again is taking in a great deal of time, but if a certain limitation be placed upon this exaggerated statement, making it read "never again in this generation," the professor is probably correct. He says that, though prices will fall from the present level in almost every case, this fall will not be rapid enough to be noticed by the consumer. The share labor will get from the national income will be proportionately larger than ever before, he says.

In his analysis of the high cost of living problem, Professor Lewis emphasizes these facts:

The general public is mistaken in its feeling that prices will fall immediately after the signing of peace, although there are many factors in the situation that would lead to this conclusion. We have every prospect for producing the largest wheat and corn crop the United States has ever had. The meat packing houses have enormous holdings of meat and meat products in cold storage.

Large stocks of goods of every description which were being held for war use and which will not be needed as demobilization begins, comes a fact. The government purchases will fall off. England has already cancelled all her war orders. Finally, the men returning from overseas service will naturally increase the supply of production.

There are many forces which will tend to keep prices up. The cost of transportation is still high. Ocean rates have dropped slightly. Railroad rates continue the same.

The uncertainty of European supplies will tend to keep prices up. Finally, the government's price fixing policy, adopted as a special measure, is being continued in peace time. This policy holds that it is unwise to demoralize industry by a sudden shifting of prices. The government believes that it is unfair to compel producers to sell at a loss goods that they produced at the request of the government.

Professor Lewis believes that the consumer will not notice this change at once. Retail prices change much more slowly than wholesale prices. Producers are making every effort to keep prices up.

Although wages will fall somewhat, Professor Lewis believes that they will be readjusted to meet the needs of labor. This is a result of a growing recognition on the part of the employer that wages must not be reduced while prices are high.

Labor has gained advantages during the war that it never had before. It is now in a position to enforce demands that it cannot have made two years ago. Employers are beginning to recognize that labor and employer were not on the right terms before the war and there seems to be a tendency on the part of both to make conditions right.

THE VERSATILE DANIEL

The North Side News, quoting a story from The Times telling of the purchase of the Foley house in La Grande, Ore. by D. M. Denton of Twin Falls, adds comment as follows:

"Mr. Denton was in Jerome on Sunday after paying a visit to his farm northeast of Jerome—in fact two farms, we believe. He is a versatile Daniel. He is one of the main push behind The Times, is in the real estate business in Twin Falls, and in the farming business on the North Side tract. Now he has taken on a hotel, and besides all this finds time to dip his oar into politics and leads of it in many public enterprises and community undertakings. And what is more, the News observes that he manages to get away with all of it in very good shape."

The News is only partially informed as to the versatility of the aforesaid Daniel. In addition to hotels and farms, Daniel has an interest in a vulcanizing works in Twin Falls, he raises pigs—pork chops, pig, all-around swine, but whether they are of the Duroc Jersey or Poland China breed the editor is not informed. Then there is a flock of the finest kind of Black Minorca chickens to which Daniel devotes a little spare time, when he has a touch of it. As if all these things were not enough to keep him busy, during the year, that has gone he took into himself a wife, and together they have four children—and Dan and his family have a garden—a war garden—and an automobile, and, oh, lots of other things! Daniel is fully appreciative of all his blessings, but there is nothing aside from his family that he takes more delight in than he does in the friends he has, and the constantly growing subscription list of The Times—well, that is what keeps him smiling all the time.

WHAT IS "BREAD"?

Before the war the term "bread" was understood to mean bread made from ordinary wheat flour. During the war it might have meant almost anything on which to spread butter or its substitutes. But what does it mean now?

At the time the food administration called for the use of substitutes in the manufacture of bread, so much publicity was given the ruling that the chances of a purchaser's being deceived into believing that the article he carried home from the bakery as bread was made wholly from wheat flour were slim; and no objection was made under the food and drugs act to the labeling and sale of the product, conforming to the food administration's rulings as broad.

The restrictions on the use of wheat flour in bread have recently been removed, and any product now sold under or labeled with the unmodified term "bread" should, if brought within the jurisdiction of the act, be prepared from wheat flour only, says the United States department of agriculture, which enforces the food and drugs act. If wheat flour substitutes are used, their presence should be clearly stated on the label. The same principle applies in the case of cereals.

FEEDING THE WORLD

"Feeding the world" is usually spoken of as if it were a tremendous philanthropy in which the nation has engaged as an unpleasant but necessary part of its war burden. Many people really seem to imagine that tons of thousands of tons of food sent to hungry Europeans are being given away.

Many others, who know that every pound of it is being paid for at full value, nevertheless resent it because of the indirect effect on their own pocketbooks. They point out that it is these enormous shipments of food to Europe that make the cost of living so high here at home.

As a matter of fact, there is nothing really artificial or abnormal about this movement of food to Europe except the unusual quantity of it. Foodstuffs, like other commodities, naturally move toward the place where there is a demand for them. The stronger the demand, the greater the volume. This is always true in a free, open market, and, as long as America has more food than Europe, and Europe is willing to pay whatever is necessary to get it, there could be no way of preventing that food from going abroad except an arbitrary interference with the supply-and-demand law, that is, a national embargo on the exportation of food. And such an embargo now would be foolish as well as cruel, because we have far more than we could possibly eat ourselves.

It is true that the United States government made special arrangements for distributing the exported foodstuffs. But that does not mean that the government is deliberately, in behalf of the nation, taking and distributing food that would otherwise be left here at home to flood the American market and lower prices. It means merely that the government is putting a little extra order and system into a business that would in all probability go on in just as great a volume if left in private hands and regulated solely by the economic laws. Indeed, it is quite possible that if the demand were allowed full sway without government control, it would make prices still higher, the world over.

Not only is there no real philanthropy in this export trade, but there is more actual benefit to it than most people realize. Those high prices paid abroad mean prosperity for the American farmer, and when the American farmer is prosperous, everybody else is.

WEIGHING EGGS

It was very funny in an old Italian play, when a miser swore that he would buy no more eggs unless they were too large to get through a certain ring that he established as a standard. But that miser had the right handle. There are hotel-keepers in this country now that use a similar test, rejecting all eggs that will pass through a ring an inch and a half in diameter.

That test, however, is not perfect, since it concerns form rather than substance—a long egg may pass through the ring while a short egg that is really of the same volume will not. The only dependable standard, according to experts, is weight; and there is a growing demand that eggs shall be sold by weight as most other kinds of food are, instead of by the dozen.

The absurdity of the present system is obvious. There is an enormous amount of disagreement, but the eggs ought to weigh two ounces, thus forming a pound and a half to the dozen; but this rule has no binding force, and is seldom observed in practice. One egg may weigh an ounce and a half and another two ounces and a half, and yet both are sold at an ounce a dozen, as if the number were the main thing.

As a writer suggests in a recent magazine, a butcher might as well sell chops at so much apiece regardless of size.

The size of an egg varies according to the breed of the hen, according to the individual hen's age, according to the feeding, the time of year and the freshness or staleness of the egg. In "selected eggs" there may be a rough attempt at giving definite value for a definite price, but it does look as if the only really fair method is to sell them by the pound.

A BRAZILIAN REVELATION

South American journalists in general seem to have a special genius for knowing things about the United States that are not so, but certain Medeiros de Albuquerque of Brazil is positively inspired.

After a visit to this country, he publishes in a Rio de Janeiro newspaper a particularly brilliant piece of misinformation, accusing the United States of "fomenting revolutions in Mexico" and adding that "Brazil" is considered by the United States only as a possible future ally.

"Brazil" is considered by the United States only as a possible future ally. He explains this supposed attitude toward Brazil as follows: "The United States wants to obtain as part of the payment of the debt of France and England a loan for Brazil's debt to those powers. On the day this is realized, Brazil will be sold to the United States, which, on the first occasion we fail to meet the interest, will do to us what she has done to Central American nations"—something which, whatever it is, must be particularly horrible and oppressive. Any American of mature age and intelligence and a moderate knowledge of his own country and its aims must yield, as he reads this, to a growing sense of wonder—wonder that even a Latin journalist should be so pitiable and so wonder as to where and from whom he picked up the material for his revelation.

THE AIR FIRE PATROL

Army airplanes will inaugurate the forest fire patrol service June 10, with the opening of two routes starting from Alameda, Calif.

One of the services to be performed by airplanes this would seem to be of the most valuable. It is catching the fire early which alone can prevent the terrible loss of property and often life which accompanies a great forest conflagration.

Nowhere else does fire do such irreparable harm. "For only God can make a tree," and it takes him centuries to make a forest of fire old timber.

It is especially suitable for the fire patrol to start in California, for that is the home of the Redwoods, and what could compensate for the destruction of these forests which, when cut, enrich all the earth!

Governors to Meet

At Salt Lake City

Professors at the last conference in Annapolis, Md., last December, in selecting Salt Lake City as second choice for the meeting place this year, but the governors could not go to Salt Lake City for their annual conference. Less than 20 of the 35 governors once about the middle of August, are to meet in Salt Lake City, according to a letter to Governor Binns last week from the choice secretary (manager) from Miles C. Riley, of Salt Lake, Riley said that the governors will meet in Salt Lake City, Wis., secretary of the governors. Governor Binns' letter has announced that the governors will meet in Salt Lake City, Wis., secretary of the governors. The following is the action taken by the conference last year.

Something You Should Know About Tires

This Tire Solves Your Problems too

When Charles C. Gates, E. M., discovered the scientific principle that reduces tire expense one-half, and embodied it in his great invention, the puncture-proof Gates Half-Sole Tire, his next problem was to build an organization of dealer experts that would bring this tire economy to the door of every car-owner.

Keen-minded men were carefully selected in each locality, and trained to meet the requirements. Today more than 1,000 of these experts are located all over the United States constantly serving ever increasing numbers of car-owners.

Materials in localities where dealers have been established are enthusiastic. Three years experience has proved to them that Charles C. Gates has made it possible to get 7,000 to 15,000 more miles out of their tires than ever before—and without puncture, at only 1/2 the cost of ordinary tires.

the cost of ordinary tires. 500,000 users including the largest business houses in the country now know why Gates Half-Sole Tires can be sold under a stronger guarantee than any other tire on the market. With five acres of modern factory humming with activity night and day to meet the demand, The Gates-Rubber Company is now erecting additional factories to triple its output. When these are completed new service stations will be opened, and eventually guaranteed puncture-proof tire service at only 1/2 the cost of ordinary tires will be available to every motorist.

Today there are 1,125 authorized dealer-experts who will gladly show you how you can cut your tire bills in half, and get freedom from tire trouble. Those located in your territory are listed below:

DUBLIN, Ireland, May 10.—The war is a stupor, son of Erin and will not let fighting continue about him any effectual in a shell hole from the effects of gas. Presently he recalled imaginary circumstances and where he was. Heaving he would soon die and willing to make his last hours happy ones, his comrades told him he was back in County Mayo, Ireland. But raised up on one elbow, looked around at the shell-hole ground and tree stumps, and then exclaimed: "Thank God Home Rule at last!"

WOMEN SEEK TO HOLD HEREDITARY TITLES

Shortage in Cream Ponies, a Missing Sword and Some Other Things That Worry Old 'England in Post-War Days.

LONDON, May 10.—(By mail)—The right of women to succeed to hereditary titles, hitherto reserved for "heirs male," is the latest plain but forward step in the "equality of the sexes" campaign. The government's equality of women law, which is passing through parliament, means some 100,000 women advocates of "nice for women" ever demanded, but the limited number of public works, in return for which they are rendered.

The army, however, either preferred cash to hand to paper promises, or it actually had reached the limit of its resources, leaving the fact that he was beaten, and led on a donkey through the streets of London. The public works, repairs, etc., in order to meet the 30 per cent rate.

The famous Hanoverian cream points used by the British sovereign on state occasions, are threatened with extinction, owing to the war, and the royal master of the horse is being a special trip to Holland and Belgium to endeavor to obtain new blood.

London is undergoing a super-surgical cleaning. Armies of workmen, including cleaners, decorators, painters, vacuum cleaners, chimney sweeps, etc., are busy throughout the city, and the "cleaning" is being done in a systematic way.

It is a girl, however, when she was a manager's capt. "Yet in the British Royal Courts of Justice. Recently a girl messenger clad in a blue and white uniform, cap, entered the high court with her cap on. "Remain that cap," pointed the horrified judge. "It was a mistake," she said, "I thought it was a hat."

The British authorities in India are desperately trying to keep check of the throno suction proceeding in Afghanistan, so as to know who is king, and who is the real ruler.

DIRECTIONS FOR PREPARING MASHES AND GRAIN MIXTURES FOR LITTLE CHICKENS

Frame Used to Protect Feet of Small Chickens From Older Ones in Use at Governmental Farm, Beltsville, Md.

Directed by the United States Department of Agriculture. Young chickens should be fed from large to the floor daily, depending upon their age. After the chicks are ten days old, a good growing mash, composed of parts by weight of corn, two parts alfalfa, one part cracked corn, one part white clover, and one part alfalfa meal, should be fed in a trough.

When one has only a few chickens to raise, it is best to purchase the material from a dealer. The best material is that which is made in a factory, and is sold in a bag. It is best to purchase the material from a dealer, and to have it delivered to the farm.

BETTER DISPLAY IS HELP IN MARKETING

CHEMICAL FARM TOPRES. The exhibition test is the only reliable test. Keeping your food means economy in strength. The one that fails to supply enough boys and operators. A good farming mill is an efficient tool for wood-croppers. The tractor does not have to stop at the end of the row to rest. Most people start a blue-grass pasture by seeding clover, and timothy with oats. Sweet corn is a little more tender than field corn, and usually is planted in little rows. Why grow crops that rob the soil? It does not prevent soil from being ground. Why? until the ground is worn and dry. Vent the bottom of the soil, so you can see. Village cubs are especially notorious as bird eaters. Don't let scrap iron and worn machinery rot on the farm. Gather it up and sell it to the junk dealers.

WHALE DAIRY IS PLAN, ALTHOUGH THE CAN FIGURE OUT HOW TO MILK

LOS ANGELES, May 19.—A whale dairy or floating factory, located in the Pacific, where domesticated whales would give milk for raising and other purposes, is a possibility of the next distant future, according to Captain John L. Loop, pioneer whaler of Southern California who has taken on the project with William Wray, Jr., an oil-drain manufacturer and recent purchaser of the island.

FIGHTING HUNGER IN GREECE

XANTHI, Greece, May 10.—Greece is indeed so the United States for many things, but she probably will remember longest the aid given by the American Red Cross to the 50,000 or more refugees who have been coming from every land and mountain pass freely. Alexander, Premier Vassilakis, has expressed his gratitude for the assistance which was made possible through the generosity of the American Red Cross.

FORESTRY CONFERENCE PLANNED

The definite date and the exact cities will be announced as soon as arrangements can be completed.

OHIO BARBERS HAVE TRADES CLUB

Cleveland, Ohio, May 19.—When the last shagwags are laid over the remains of John Barleycorn (May 21 observance in Ohio), there will still be the barbers' day, although the Barbers' Union has long since merged into the barbers and the school and the tall, cold bottle. There are more than 1500 members in the Cleveland Barbers' Club, according to Max Hilde, secretary of the club, who says that formalized work is to be continued on into the drought and the drought.

PNEUMONIA DEATH TOLL VERY HEAVY

Public Welfare Department Says Half of Death Result From This Disease

PHOENIX, May 10.—Since December 20, 1931, pneumonia has caused more than 48 per cent of all the deaths reported in Idaho, according to an announcement which has just been made by the department of public welfare. The number of deaths recorded in this period is 1975, and of this total 952 proved fatal to the victims.

MEMORIAL PARK

WASHINGTON, May 17.—McLean City, Ind., will have a memorial park, the county having just accepted the gift of a memorial park. The park is to be located on the site of the old McLean cemetery, and will be a memorial to the American Forestry Association, which is restoring all memorial trees in a national honor roll.
