the lines of the "health columns" which have already proved valuable.

Such columns would deal with crime and its causes, the machinery of criminal justice, the study of criminals and efforts at crime-prevention.

It is no a good suggestion.

Our handling of crime is perhaps the greatest failure of modern civilization. The chief difficulty, perhaps, is that we hardly seem to know enough about crime to make a start, so complex and baffling a problem, and so varied and so baffling a problem for treatment. Crime seems to have its roots not only in human nature, but in our social and economic institutions. It seems to increase with the industrial age. The psychologists, the sociologists, the criminologists, cannot agree as to what society should do about it.

But a start has to be made some time. In understanding the situation and providing remedies. And when society finds effective remedies, they may be very different from those trusted so confidently in the past.

WASHINGTON — By Ray Tucker

POISONING. Japan's opium officials against the Chinese have not been headlined in the news, but it has proved protests from the United States, Great Britain, Canada and the State of California.

"The gist of these charges is that Japan seeks to 'moralize' China — and perhaps other nations — as to the sale of opium. The United States, Great Britain, Canada and the State of California have protested against this. The United States, Great Britain, Canada and the State of California have protested against this. The United States, Great Britain, Canada and the State of California have protested against this.

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 — Louis Bromfield, the novelist, is back at his literary chateau at Sagaponk, a historic place on the New York coast where he has made such a home for himself. He is now as quiet as a mouse, and he is now as quiet as a mouse, and he is now as quiet as a mouse.

A RECORD

Two men killed and three wounded in a pretty good record for three days of hunting. This is the record to date in Oregon where the deer hunting season opened a few days ago.

There is just one explanation of the killings. Among the hunters were men who had never been allowed to take a gun into their hands. There are many of these in Oregon and elsewhere. Men who are sensible enough in every other way but who apparently bid goodbye to common sense when they get into the woods. Many of them will fire blindly at anything that moves without a thought as to the nature of their target. The movement of a limb or tail calls for a blast of gun fire and all too often the bullet lodges in a fellow hunter.

THE LAUNDRYMAN'S VICTORY

It has been only a few months since the Supreme Court decision which killed the New York minimum wage law, and threatened similar laws in other states. But it has been time enough for the Brooklyn, N. Y., laundry owner who brought suit to have lost his business. He is now looking for a job.

Immediately after the court decision, "business looked good for a while," he said. "I was able to under-charge my competitors a little on what I saved in the past."

METHOD. Chiang Kai-shek was arranged to visit against use of this Indian weapon against his Chinese followers. Japanese authorities have taken him and the Legion that they are powerless to prevent or punish violations.

But private investigations have convinced the authorities of other nations that the opium traffic is a deliberate part of Japanese strategy. Dope dealers are let off by Japanese officials in Manchuria with light fines or even no punishment at all. Their soldiers are allowed to carry opium as an integral part of their military equipment — for distribution to prisoners and conquered inhabitants.

THE RUMOR. Bromfield-touted a party for the "Hay" at Les Ambassadeurs in Paris. Diplomats and celebrities.

The career of the richest Maharajah is more thrilling than anything in the world. He is a prince of the world. He is a prince of the world. He is a prince of the world.

DISHARMONY

Children are very quick to sense disharmony in their environment. They cannot always say what the trouble is, and may not even be acutely conscious of it. But they are unhappy and nervously tense. If there is any trouble in the household.

YOUTHFUL SPIRITS

Boys' exuberance is one thing but hoodlumism and malicious destruction of property is quite another and if this sort of thing is going on in Twin Falls, it is indicated by reports to the police. It should be stamped out by whatever means may be necessary.

It is a sad commentary upon social progress that, at a time when more attention than ever before is being given to the making of better men and women, and to the growing generation of both sexes mischievous, vandals and worse appear to flourish with the persistence of a noxious growth. Of course there is no way of telling how much worse it might become with the influence of the new training and group training is a poor substitute for home discipline and a wholesome home atmosphere is the thing most apt to result in sound youthful morals and useful citizenship.

GENTLE ART OF LYING
(Dallas News)

Dr. William Moulton Martin is a New York psychologist but no degree in psychology is required to substantiate his conclusion that ninety-five per cent of all men are addicted to "social lying." Why reason? The world is full of liars. The world is full of liars. The world is full of liars.

MONEY MAUSOLEUM

"At Fort Knox, in remote Kentucky," says the magazine "Time," "the government has built a 'mausoleum' for its last-of-its-kind ten-billion-dollar hoard of gold. The mausoleum is impregnable; a granite fortress with a cave of steel and concrete, surrounded by two water-filled moats, which at the end of an electric tunnel can flood the underground vaults where the yellow bars lie sleeping. It is the most impressive monument to superlativity that man has erected since the Druids built Stonehenge."

This is the sentiment of the suggestion made by another scouter two or three years ago, who suggested that all the gold in the world be gathered in one place and shaped into a temple, housing a great sphere of solid gold, which would be lit from within by the sun's rays, dressed in cloth-of-gold to pay it homage.

Such cynical remarks, perhaps, are sacrilegious in a civilization that still has a reverence for gold. But with the world's gold still flowing to this country and the historic gold count apparently making so little effort to stop it, and so much talk abroad about gold being unnecessary for monetary purposes, many people naturally wonder whether that gold in Kentucky will ever be put to use for the gain as a medium of exchange.

The speaker replied: "Enjoyed nothing. I am the next speaker."

TOWNSENDITES PIN HOPE ON DEFENBACH

Pension Plan Manager Cites Naming of Candidate for Toga

BOISE, Sept. 23 (AP)—The race for William E. Borch's United States senate seat, became a triangular affair when the name of T. J. Defenbach of Boise formally was entered as the Townsend candidate in the general election.

Borch, a Republican, seeks reelection for a sixth term, and Governor C. Ben Ross is the Democratic candidate.

Defenbach's certificate of nomination was filed by E. Davis Townsend manager, and was accompanied by a check for $49.

"We think we've got a good chance to elect Defenbach," Davis said.

"We figure we will pull 10,000 votes of the possible 170,000 that will be cast in November."

Only Half Toga Town. The estimated 25,000 Townsend vote in the Democratic primary and that 10,000 voted in the primary with only half of our people turning out."

The Townsendites nominated Defenbach and two congressional candidates at a state convention August 11.

Congressman Compton L. White of Clatsop, a Democrat, was nominated in the primary.

Mayor Duncan M. Johnston of Twin Falls, another Democrat, also was nominated, but he retired two weeks ago.

"His one hope is to be selected to take Johnston's place," Davis said.

Europe Increases Sugar Beet Crops

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)—The commerce department reported today estimates of beet sugar production in Europe this year indicated a substantial increase in every important producing country except Great Britain.

The American consulate-general at London said unofficial estimates placed beet sugar production in Europe for the coming season at 1,700,000 metric tons, a total of 430 per cent increase.

That estimate did not include the forecasted production of Russia where the output was estimated at 2,500 metric tons, an increase of 500 per cent.

Republican Named For Mine Inspector

BOISE, Sept. 23 (AP)—The Idaho Republican executive committee completed the party's state ticket today by naming J. E. Hobbs of Nampa as the candidate for state mine inspector.

No candidate made the race in the Republican primary.

Arthur Campbell, Democrat of Millard, is the incumbent.

Hobbs came to Idaho 34 years ago. He is a graduate of the Colorado school of mines and has been engaged for many years in mining.

Alexander Campbell, former mine inspector, declined to make the race although he received 200 votes in the primary from persons who wrote in his name.

MERCHANTS CANCEL STYLE SHOW PLANS

Bureau Decides to Concentrate Activity on Meeting of Teachers

Plans for an annual fall style show were abandoned by Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce merchants, yesterday, after the board voted to concentrate all activity on entertaining the 800 school teachers who will assemble here for the South Central Idaho Education Association meeting Friday and Saturday, October 18 and 19.

The merchants assembled at the chamber of commerce room for a luncheon session, voted to accept the offered assistance of Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce in staging the event and decided to decorate display windows and to entertain the teachers for the benefit of the school.

Mr. W. B. Beach, chairman, appointed W. A. Van Engelen, chairman of the entertainment committee, with Mrs. J. H. Stinson and Leland E. Miller as other members. Named as chairmen of the finance committee was Mr. J. H. Stinson.

Further arrangements for the event will be in charge of the two committees. Mr. Beach said the event will be a success.

REEMPLOYMENT SERVICE AIDS IN BEET HARVEST

The National Reemployment service, through an agreement with the Associated Sugar Company, will undertake to organize and supply crews of men for work in the sugar beet harvest beginning in this district next Monday, Captain R. S. Reynolds, district supervisor for the reemployment service, announced.

Applicants for work in the beet harvest were advised to register before Monday at the local reemployment service office.

Sugar company field men will keep the reemployment service posted as to requirements for labor in the beet harvest, Captain Reynolds said.

Preference will be given to local labor, he added.

HEART ATTACK FATAL TO RETIRED FARMER

Helen N. Harnish, 71, retired farmer, died at his home at 119 Ninth avenue east on Wednesday afternoon following a sudden heart attack.

Mr. Harnish was born in Denmark, December 26, 1863, and came to the United States 44 years ago. He came to Idaho in 1908 from Nebraska. He was a member of the Lutheran church.

He was survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Harnish, with whom he celebrated their golden wedding anniversary July 18, 1933, and a daughter, Mrs. George C. Leith of Omaha.

A brother, Peter Harnish, resides in St. Paul, Nebraska, and also was survived by two brothers and two sisters in Denmark.

The body rests at the Twin Falls mortuary pending funeral arrangements.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGH CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS: Terrence Mahony has learned that an attempt is to be made to kidnap Elsie Little, film star, at the Glendale hotel. Mahony, however, that Andrew Lawson, respected friend of the Little, is behind the plot. So he goes to the hotel, takes the kidnaping through a clever ruse, and then turns on the kidnappers and rescues Elsie. Meanwhile Lawson has announced Elsie's disappearance to Mr. Little and Little has threatened to sue him if he is heard at the Little door.

Chapter Seven
MURDER

Mr. Little left the room. Lawson walked. His dark eyes were glowing, and his fists were tightly clenched. All his murder was laid out before him. From inside the door he heard the front door open. Mahony's head popped in the hall. "What's that?" he asked. "The door's open," said Lawson. "What does that mean? What have you been doing to her Elsie?" "What? What's the matter with her? Elsie she been hurt?" "Through the slightly open doorway Lawson could see a black-haired woman in the hall with Elsie in her arms. So that was what Lawson had done—pretended to be one of his men. In that case he had probably carried out this business single-handed. And if so, there was hope for him yet.

"If I turned around him quickly. Hanging over the mantelpiece was a small, sharp-pointed, ornamental dagger. He picked it up and crept toward the wall of the room. Just inside the doorway Lawson saw the black-haired woman made for the study door.

"She was kidnaped by your friend Lawson," he said. "I've managed to get her away from his clutches. Now for heaven's sake stop squawking; pull yourself together and try to be useful."

He thrust open the study door with his foot, entered the room, and crept to a small table. On it stood Lawson crouched against the wall. Mr. Little entered almost immediately behind him.

"Lawson!" he exclaimed in an incredulous tone. "Lawson! I don't believe it!"

His voice died away abruptly in a choking gurgle as Lawson's knife slid neatly into his back below the shoulder blade, piercing to the heart.

Mahony heard Mr. Little gasp as he lay dying. Elsie down on the sofa. He turned quickly, just in time to see the back of a tall man vaulting through the doorway. The door slammed to as Mr. Little, already dead, subsided in a heap on the floor.

Mahony stepped quickly forward and bent over Mr. Little. The knife sticking out of his back made clear what had happened. The front door of the house slammed. From outside came the sound of an engine accelerating. The sound faded.

Mahony withdrew the knife from Mr. Little's back, found some bandage, and tried to revive him. But a couple of minutes showed him that it was useless, and he abandoned the attempt and paused to consider what his next move should be.

Again the front door-bell rang shrilly.

"Oh, damn!" said Mahony, and went to the window and looked out. On the front door-step stood a policeman.

From the sofa came a long, shuddering gasp. Elsie, morose alighting, she stretched out her arms in the manner of one awaking from a trance, and opened her eyes wide. The sound of a movement from Mahony
