Mrs. Simpson Changes Abode

Four Victims of Killer Found In Cabin Near Elko Federal Agents From Salt Lake City Enter Case After Arrest of Man Giving Name of H. S. Kinchabocker

Three Stockmen and Itinerant Slain

ELKO, Nev., Oct. 17—Four men, three of them prominent Nevada cattle ranchers, were found shot to death in a cabin about a mile southwest of Elko today.

Deputy Sheriff W. O. Guidice and the body were piled on top of the other in the small cabin. He quoted Kinchabocker as telling officers the missing stockmen might be found in the cabin. Kinchabocker was held under a $500 bail sentence for releasing the cabin inmates of the cabin.

Government Militia Fights Desperately; News Censored MADRID, Oct. 17—Pounded by three major insurgent outfits, government militia fought desperately tonight to halt the ring of steel slowly closing in around the capital.

Kansas's Cross-Country Swing Meets Approval of Running Mate Predicting Victory for Republicans

(By The Associated Press) TOPEKA, Kas., Oct. 17—Governor Alf M. Landon and Colonel Frank Knox mapped the close of their campaign today in a final conference which ended with the Chicago publisher predicting victory in a "fight."

London was inside as his running mate talked, conferring with William R. Castle, former undersecretary of state, and J. Robert Clark, Salt Lake City, former ambassador to Mexico.

Chicago, Oct. 17—A nation-wide radio address by Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R-Mich.) was cut off in the eastern division of the Columbia Broadcasting company tonight in the middle of a speech directed against President Roosevelt.

Atlas said the address, interspersed with recordings of speeches made by President Roosevelt in 1932 and 1933, was broadcast by the major portion of the Columbia chain's member stations.

Brussels—Move Toward Independence Leaves Only Three Big Powers Back of League's Decision

(By The Associated Press) Little Belgium, historic battlefield for the armies of the world, just might shake the intricate framework of Europe's interlocking alliances.

It was reported in Paris the Belgian foreign minister, P. Henry Spaak, had returned to French Ambassador Jules La Roche. Belgium ultimately would withdraw from all treaties covering Belgium's military assistance.

Belgium, the foreign minister said, probably would abandon her military assistance pact with France, remain out of any Locarno five-power treaty, and shirk her obligations to other nations under the League of Nations covenant.

Lights and Shadows In Day's Events

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Tenn.—Luther Green, 60, pastor of the First Baptist church, was being tried today for the slaying of a woman.

On August 11, he was accused and charged with the slaying of a woman.

Sleeper—CLEVELAND—Edward Wallhouse, 55, was asleep when police found him in a doorway.

Gruesome's Dream—NEW YORK—Alderman Morton Moses, in his campaign against big bundles in subway trains, wrote to the transit commission he saw "what looked like a big statue" sitting in a crowded train.

Under Cover—ATLANTA, Ga.—Spectators looked for a hidden ball trick when a light fuse burned out and darkness fell in the ballroom.

Robbers at Mae West's Apartment Lucky That They Got Away Early

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 17, (AP)—Last night, Mae West, a different story in the Hollywood life.

Legion stadium fight rights last night a few minutes after the hold-up men had terrorized and robbed five men and three women of more than $500 in money and jewelry.

And the difference probably would not have been favor of the robbers, she indicated today.

I think we would have got the situation under control right away. The film under control right away.

Flames Race Through Pacific Coast Areas Women and Children Evacuate Two Towns in California Mining Area

(By The Associated Press) SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 17—Fires crackled fiercely through dry timber, brush and grass from central Oregon today, still uncomfortably close to picturesque major lodge towns and San Francisco bay resort areas despite drenching operations.

Women and children evacuated Soudsburyville and Minding City in the California mining area where Mark Twain lived and wrote. The fire took 54 shacks on the outskirts of Soudsburyville and damaged cabins at Minding City where 700 men turned it back.

Traced on to Winnona and destroyed several buildings. The Iowa Hill Mining company was contacted.

Flames Spread in Southern Washington and Western Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 17 (AP)—An east wind fanned fiery fires of the dry way, are to sound again in proportions in southern Washington and western Oregon today.

Blue And Gray To Meet At Pittsburgh ATLANTA, Oct. 17 (AP)—The rebel yell and Yankee cheer, oral weapons of the Civil War, are to sound again at Oct. 19, 1936, this time in friendly salutes.

Confidential of Success Referring to the campaign slogan from which he is returning tonight to his Hyde Park, New York, home, Mr. Roosevelt said he "seemed to thrive" on ten nights on a sleeping porch during the day.

Deep down in my heart I am confident in terms of humanity will continue in Albany and Washington in the days to come.

What we all need is a good auto highway to South America!

Woman Friend Again To Be King's Guest Mrs. Simpson's Friends See Possibility For Royal Romance In New Invitation

(By The Associated Press) LONDON, Oct. 17—Friends of Mrs. Wallis Simpson talked more than ever tonight about the possibility of a royal romance when they heard reports the American woman might be a guest of King Edward VIII at his country estate 35 miles from London.

The king is at Fort Belvedere, where he has been accustomed to seek relaxation. Conjecture over whether King Edward might exert his personal will over the sentimentality of his subjects and marry outside the pale of royalty was revived when Mr. Justice Hawke was reported to have held private conferences on the setting of a date for hearing Mrs. Simpson's divorce suit filed her husband, Ernest.

Executive Heads for Hyde Park After Western Swing

ABOARD THE ROOSEVELT SPECIAL, ENROUTE TO HYDE PARK, N. Y., Oct. 17 (AP)—The portrait of the executive man in New York's capital, President Roosevelt wound up his campaign speaking trip of 8,000 miles with an assertion tonight that he believed "we have a happier America, a better America, than four years ago."

His informal, unscheduled address, delivered in cheering throngs, reflected his mood and old acquaintance, touched chiefly on reminiscences of the days when he first came to Albany with his wife, when he was state senator, and later when he was governor for two terms.

With Governor Herbert H. Lehman, Roosevelt said the president said he was "inclined to think we can afford to have any change made in the occupancy of the executive mansion in the days to come."

Refering to the campaign slogan from which he is returning tonight to his Hyde Park, New York, home, Mr. Roosevelt said he "seemed to thrive" on ten nights on a sleeping porch during the day.

GARNER DEFENDS NEW DEAL REGIME

Reelection of Roosevelt Called 'Safest Thing' for Country

UTAH, Texas, Oct. 17 (AP)—Vice President John N. Garner declared tonight in his first speech of the campaign that the administration's program represents "the highest type of true American conservatism" and that "the safest thing that could happen to the country is the re-election of President Roosevelt."

In a nationwide broadcast from his home, the vice president defended the president against charges that he vetted communists support, asserting that "Franklin D. Roosevelt is no more of a communist than I am and in my own country I am generally estimated as a hard-headed business man."

Democrats Form Stephan Club at Idaho Falls

IDAHO FALLS, Oct. 17—Fighting themselves to prevent the spread of conditions which they brand "intolerable" in their city, the Idaho Falls Democratic Stephan for Governor club, headed by George E. Patten, Larry Hamlen and Charles H. Thornum, passed a resolution for the defeat of Barnalis Clark, the Democratic nominee for governor of Idaho, at a meeting here last night.

The resolution reads: "The officers and members of the Idaho Falls Democratic Stephan for Governor club, in the interest of good government, our families and the young people of the state, will do everything in our power to check the spread of the intolerable conditions that beset our city by defeating the Democratic gubernatorial candidate in the coming election. We commend the good people of Idaho Falls for their patience and their tolerance, but we believe that in the interests of community and family life and the welfare of the state, the time has come for action."

Angelo Patri

School-age youngsters play joyously in the park, rarely adult, never parrot like children according to Angelo Patri. Laughier, talk, endearing should be part of the school life. Mr. Patri is convinced that the teacher instead of being the head forcing knowledge upon a group of children should be merely the watcher and a guide. He believes discipline is necessary, but that discipline should be more in the form of guidance than force. In "Our Children" beginning today in The News, you will find Mr. Patri gives many hints on how to handle the particular problem you may have with your child and he goes even further in an offer to take up personally with you any problem that may seem to bother you. would not all in league meetings until Italian annexation of Ethiopia is recognized officially. Present indications are that full-fledged Italian support of the league is at best a problem for the future. Great Britain, seeking to ward the increasingly divergent political camps of Europe into a semblance of unity, hopes to devise ways and means of bolstering the collective security treaty network. In the past she has pinned most of her faith on the League of Nations and the Locarno pact. Russia, likewise, is deeply concerned with developments. Russia's potential military allies are Japan, Germany and Italy, especially Germany where Chancellor Hitler and his highest subalterns have delivered unceasing anti-bolshevik tirades.

CAMPFIRE SPONSORS' BOARD HEARS REPORT

The Campfire board of sponsors at quarterly meeting held here last evening at the home of Mrs. W. A. Van Engelen, heard a report of the Board of summer camp and formulated plans for future activities.

After being accepted by the board of sponsors, this report, which is illustrated with pictures and sketches, is to be forwarded to National Campfire headquarters at New York City.

The last half of the meeting was devoted to outlining board of sponsors activities for the coming year, under the following headings: Extension—the children are not yet appointed but any girl interested in Campfire is invited to visit Mrs. Floyd Campbell and an effort will be made either to place her in a group, or form a new group. Education—a committee will be appointed to provide ways and means for girls to earn their dues, who to act as a clearing house for out-of-town service uniforms. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the hostesses. Members of the board present were: Mrs. Harry A. Ball, Mrs. Harry Benoit, Mrs. Ralph Pink, Mrs. Edgerton Mrs. C. E. Smith and Mrs. Van Engelen. Other board members, who were unable to be present are: Mrs. B. L. Price, Rev. Raymond Steer, Mr. R. A. Gulliff, Mrs. R. L. Piemeisel, Mrs. Kenyon Green, Mrs. Elurgene McCoy and Mrs. J. E. Hayes.

SIX DECADES BACK

A Series of Historical Sketches of Early Days in Southern Idaho

George Goodhart's day as messenger for a firm company has required him to visit Bill Osborne, trader, formerly resident near a dam, and to carry out his duties as messenger for the firm of Goodharts, at his trapping grounds on the North side of the Snake river. He had found Osborne's home at a vacant place to visit his emergency camp, a lean-to, the next day.

The lean-to was built of poles, which constituted a roof and three sides, one side being entirely open. This afforded a temporary protection, and was usually stocked with bedding and provisions for a day or two of lodging.

Goodhart took precaution not to be surprised in Osborne's camp, as he had been told to do so. He hid inside and prepared for a good night's rest.

Friday Osborne
The next morning, daylight found him hunting out the trail to the lean-to. It was a long tramp, as the horses had never been over the trail, which was in some places obstructed by fallen timber and in places rocks that had to be avoided.

But in this he was mistaken, for at that minute, Bill Osborne, who had been waiting for him, stepped out of the lean-to, and reached for his gun. He was ready for action. His hand was on his gun when he saw that the man was not a desperado, but a man of breeding, vigor, and the sound of a horse's hoofs on the rocks of the crossing of the little stream had convinced him of this.

Bill Osborne, with a body racked by pain caused by a sprained ankle, a broken leg, and a neck not at all, was a man, intent to kill. "The killing of his rival in love was only a part of what lay through his excited mind. He would shoot at a shadow. He was not ready to die himself, but had arranged to die before him before his departure. When Young Goodhart came in sight almost at the feet of Bill Osborne, he had a gun in his hand, and a look of murder on his face. He was ready for a moment, for the weak-kneed Osborne had made his aim poor.

Crazy With Pain
Goodhart threw himself on the ground, and almost instantly he had taken his gun. When Osborne found himself overpowered, he threw down his gun, and he realized that he had a man on his hands.

Goodhart's eyes were fixed on the man, and questioning remarks which Osborne had sprained his ankle some four or five days previous to the first engagement. This compelled Goodhart to handle his patient almost by force. He realized that he must get Osborne to a good hospital where he could be treated.

Goodhart prepared some mountainous food for his patient. Osborne, who had been treated in the past, accepted this treatment under protest and threat. He was the first to get up, and this compelled Goodhart to handle his patient almost by force. He realized that he must get Osborne to a good hospital where he could be treated.

some time after their marriage. They were happy to meet again and he heard the incident of her stealing and away from Port Boise to help him bring Bill Osborne to camp.

After only a few days' traveling they made their way to Ross Fork Port and Mission and were married. She told George that she had not seen her father or mother for several years, but had made her home among the Indians.

males of Julia Payette, Goodhart's half-breed wife, granddaughter of Francis Payette, one hundred a few hundred yards above the mouth and on the east side of Goose Creek, near the town of Burley now known as George Goodhart was said, discouraged, and disgusted with Indian life he traveled to Port Hall, where he sold his furs, and as the Bannack was of 1878 under Chief Pullback there was no employment with the government as guide and scout.

Following the trail of the horse thief
George Goodhart had been captured at Rattlonsville stage station several weeks, when one afternoon he saddled his horse and rode to the construction camp of the Oregon Short Line railroad to get what mail might be there for himself or those who lived at the station.

It had been several days since anyone had called for the mail and accumulated. Goodhart of papers had accumulated. Goodhart divided them into two bundles and made them fast to his saddle. It was a considerable distance from the construction camp to the nearest station and night came on before George reached camp. His horse had been stolen from him.

He had intended going to DeDeo City on the following day, so he decided to kick out early the next morning, get the papers before breakfast, and still get a reasonable start for Boise.

Darklight the next morning found George in the saddle. He found the papers near where he had crossed White Gate gulch and near there he found a horse trail that interested him more than the papers. This horse trail had passed east, crossing the creek under the protection of the willows, but as the banks of the creek were abrupt and muddy it was impossible to get water across from the river. George demurred, but as his wife insisted he consented to camp under the shelter of the willows and pack the water from the river. While George was unpacking the animals his Indian wife rode her horse, and called Old Chief, the dog, to the river to water him. She had alighted when the crack of a rifle was heard and she saw her tent and the saw "HIS WIFE RIDE TO THE GROUND."

It was a mortal wound, and due to the quick action of the Indians she was able to escape. George Goodhart kept a sad, silent watch for the balance of the night, and the next morning he learned that the Indians had been to his camp and had killed his wife. He was told that she had been shot in the back of the head.

that they had scoured the country from Indian Creek to Boise City, but no signs had been found. They felt sure that the thief had left Boise from a different direction.

George had inward convictions of laughter at the stupidity of these thief hunters but said nothing and made them goodby and moved on toward Boise. He rode directly to the stable of the sheriff, where he was in the habit of keeping his horse in town. When the sheriff's force was aware of his presence they asked him in humming the horse thief. Arrangements were made regarding the reward and expense, and George expressed himself in proper gratitude and then picked up the trail and overtook the thief. He was given a fresh horse and a man as deputy.

Whatever trouble the depression has caused, it has done this one good thing for investors: It has given a five-year period in which no investment can have greater fundamental safety.

But there is more satisfaction than that to building and loan investments. Your money in building and loan not only works safely... it works hard. It earns you as much as any other condition permit.

It helps your neighbors buy their homes. It aids building. It creates jobs right here in your community. And it does its part to hasten the return of those better times which, we have every reason to believe, are now on the way!

The Wrong Murderer

Mabony had been a bit worried about that hat. He glanced at it casually.
"Ten. It's mine," he answered in an unconcerned tone. "I blew off my head when I was on top of a bus, and was away before it could hit. I didn't bother to go after it because it's only an old hat."

Now for some awkward questions about how that hat had got into the house in Jamaica Road, he thought. But he did not get the chance to deny anything. Inspector Kennedy made a point of never asking people questions they expected.
"Who is Mr. Brown?" he asked. "Is he a friend of yours?"

The question was quite unexpected. It gave Mabony a very nasty shock. For one moment he had a horrible feeling that the Inspector had discovered everything about "Billy Brown."
"IT'S A VERY common name," he replied. "I don't know any particular friend of that name."

"You're not surprising that I know somebody called Brown, but I don't know any particular friend of that name," he answered. "I don't know any name named Mabony."
"Who'll tell one," said the Inspector in a disbelieving tone. He rose from his chair and stood looking down at Mabony. His manner was no longer casual, his voice was crisp and business-like.

"What former friends?" asked Mabony. "The kidnaping gang," replied the Inspector promptly.
"Who? You think I was friendly with the kidnaping gang?"
"Yes," said the Inspector. "I saw you with them. You were in the house with them. You were in the house with them. You were in the house with them."

Bruins Of U. C. L. A. Beat 'Big Brothers'

Los Angeles Eleven Triumphs Over California Bears, 17 To 6

By Russ J. Newland BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 17 (AP)—Out of the air by rifting passes and a trusty kicking toe, the Bruins of the University of California at Los Angeles snatched their greatest football victory today, a 17 to 6 rout of their so-called "big brothers" — the University of California Bears.

Actuality the scoring passed point conversion in the first period decided the game. It was a straight, sharp thro from Harold Hiltson, who replaced Billy Schroeder catching the ball in the clear and ran 5 yards to score.

Moscow Team's Fumbles Prove Costly In Final Period Of Conference Battle On Portland-Gridiron

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 17 (AP)—University of Oregon thrilled a handful of spectators with a fourth-quarter rally and a 13 to 0 victory over the University of Idaho today. After the threat of an Idaho score, stopped by fumbles almost on top of the goal line, the Webfeet puffed by the pressure and ended whatever hope the Vandals had of scoring. Two fumbles in the fourth period set Idaho back from the Oregon seven-yard line to the 18, where Oregon took possession on downs. A sharp Webfoot punting attack pushed the ball to the 18.

NEW ROUTING FOR HIGHWAY PROPOSED

A wooden bridge spanning Rock Creek canyon northwest of Twin Falls has been condemned by Twin Falls highway district which, at the same time, has offered to provide an 80-foot right-of-way and contribute $1000 a mile toward cost of construction of a proposed new route for United States highway so that it would follow the "pole line" road on which the now closed bridge was built.

Twin Falls' first settlers in 1855 built with private subscriptions, the wooden bridge which now has been barricaded and closed to traffic as a safety measure.

The proposed change in the highway route, J. D. Sizemore, Twin Falls highway district engineer, explained last evening, would take the highway two miles north from Five Points at the end of Main avenue and then turn westward on the old "pole line" road to return to the present route at the corner two miles north of Piler.

The proposed new route, the engineer pointed out, would eliminate dangerous curves at five points, at the southwest corner of Piler, and two miles north of Piler, and would eliminate all the railroad crossings at Curry and Piler, as well as narrow bridges on the present route over Rock Creek canyon and Dead Man's gully.

"I don't see why I've a bad influence to read about handles. I read two chapters last night, an' now I've got my prayers said up a week ahead."

bridge which has been closed as a safety measure would cost approximately $40,000, the highway district engineer, estimated.

PROBATE PROCEEDINGS 'IN JANSRUD ESTATE'

Twin Falls county treasurer, Mrs. Core E. Sizemore, as public administrator, started probate proceedings in the estate of John G. Jansrud, Twin Falls photographer, who died here last October 8. There are no known heirs, the public administrator's petition asserts. The estate, including a life insurance policy and audio equipment, is valued at $1500. Hearing on the petition was set by Probate Judge Guy L. Kinney for next October 22.

Proceedings were instituted through the office of Edward Babcock, county attorney.

INCREASE SEEN IN COUNTY'S VOTING

Auditor Orders Ballots for at Least 2000 More Electors

Records of registrars for Twin Falls county's 21 voting precincts indicate that at least 2000 more Twin Falls county citizens will cast ballots in the coming general election than voted two years ago, Frank J. Smith, county auditor, said last evening.

On the basis of the registrar's records, he said, he had ordered 18,000 ballots printed for the coming election, as compared with the order two years ago for 16,500 ballots.

Voting in the coming election for president, congressional, state and county officers will begin in Idaho next Monday, under terms of the already voter law.

Abstract, the county auditor said, many applications for absentee voter ballots have been received. In addition to the 2000 among candidates for national, state and county offices, Idaho voters in the state capital will vote on a separate ballot for two candidates for the state supreme court, and on a third ballot they are to record their verdict on Idaho's retail sales tax and two proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Registration of voters will continue until 9 o'clock the evening of next October 31.

American Bankers Place Twin Falls Man on Committee

Harry Eaton, assistant cashier of the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company, has been appointed as one of five members of the American Bankers association state bank division's committee on state legislation, he has been advised by J. W. Simmons, deputy manager of the bankers' association and secretary of its state bank division.

The appointment was made by the president of the bankers' association, chairman of the committee to which Mr. Eaton was named is O. M. Malone, president of the Guaranty Trust company, Houston, Texas. Other members are Walter Pfeil, president of the Commercial State Bank, Wagner, South Dakota; W. C. Gordon, president of the Farmers Savings Bank, Marshall, Missouri; Bennett King, cashier of the Garrett State Savings Bank, Garrett, Kansas.

Mr. Eaton attended the recent annual meeting of the American Bankers' association at San Francisco.

COUNTY ANNOUNCES REAL ESTATE SALE

Beginning Monday morning at ten o'clock county-owned property which was taken over by tax deed prior to 1928 and during the years 1928, 1929 and 1930, will be sold at the court house, it was announced Tuesday.

Much of this property has been decreed since it was advertised, however, according to county authorities. Under the law all purchases of less than $100 are for cash; from $100 to $500 the terms are half cash with the remainder payable in one

STUDENTS SCHEDULE SERIES OF DEBATES

Twin Falls junior high school debaters will match their arguments with members of the high school squad in the series of debates starting Monday afternoon at 5:15. Miss Eunice Evers, music and penmanship teacher, coaches the junior high school debaters and Gerald Wallace, social studies instructor, mentors the high school squad. Wallace's schedule calls for debates at noon at 2:15 and at 4 o'clock.

Resolved: That the new neutrality act of the United States is impractical, is the question teams will try to settle. It involves the question of United States protection to her citizens in foreign countries.

Frank Brocken and Edward Chapman, Eddie Ecker and Helen Thomas are to uphold the negative side of the question against high school teams in Monday's arguments, while Betty Sparks and Ada Mae Deacon will take the affirmative side in two debates.

Negative debaters on Tuesday will be Mary Sue Beard and Frances Schweikhardt, Fred Bacon and Marilyn Webster, and Alice Pearson and Dick Saffady. Those on the affirmative side of the question are Ruth Ann Hayes and Vera Molyneux, Lillian Laubertson and Patricia Smith, and Martin Sweeley and Norman Johnston. Wednesday's battles include Gene Hull and Leona Rae Hrabak, on the negative, and Alice Mae Murr; and Irene Larvington on the affirmative.

All of the junior high school negative teams will meet senior high school affirmative teams. The negative team will argue with high school affirmative debaters. Negative teams will have cash with the balance in two equal yearly payments. Deferred sums draw six per cent interest.

LODGES SEND MEMBERS TO SESSION AT BURLEY

At the state I. O. O. F. and Rebekah grand lodge convention opening in Burley today for a five day session, Twin Falls I. O. O. F. lodge No. 22 will be represented by Fred Price, John E. White and Robert Olson. Delegates from Primrose Rebekah lodge will be Mrs. V. C. Ballantyne, Mrs. E. O. Palmer, Mrs. W. J. Jollenbeck and Mrs. Evan Starr.
