TREASURY DENIES RECORDS JUGGLED

Secretary Morgenthau Replies to Former President's Charges

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—(AP)—The Treasury department today denied the charges of the late Herbert Hoover that the "bugged" fiscal reports of Treasury department officials might injure government credit if permitted to go uncorrected.

Morgenthau denied Hoover's assertion that the treasury was using an "artificially low system of double bookkeeping" to make the government's credit rating appear better than it really is.

The practice of appearing untruthful in the treasury chief said does not "indicate double bookkeeping or in any case a double ledger."

To Her Public

The classifications were adopted in July, 1934, he continued, "as to which the public has the right to know, the appropriations were made."

"There is no thing in the United States government as a double ledger, nor is there any system of double bookkeeping," Morgenthau said.

"Probably no government in the world and no business enterprise is more meticulous than the United States treasury department in keeping and making public accounts of the money it receives and pays out."

Saying the treasury does not ordinarily answer statements about the money it receives and pays out to the public, Morgenthau said.

"The public naturally inquires to a former president's insinuation of the financial operations of the government and whether they are attacks the integrity of the public accounts, his statements, if permitted to go uncorrected, might tend to impair the confidence of the public in its financial officials, with consequent detrimental effect on the federal credit."

Points to Bond Market

"Asking 'what are the facts?' the secretary said 'the facts are that the treasury accounts are kept strictly in accordance with law, and the bond market is a purely a political consideration.'"

BORAH DRAFTS BILL AGAINST MONOPOLY

FAIRFAX, Idaho, Oct. 18 (AP)—Senator William E. Borah (R-Idaho) today introduced a bill to prevent loss of monopoly during his three decades in congress—about 1,000 percent. Borah has outlined a law to prevent loss of monopoly during his three decades in congress—about 1,000 percent.

"I have a bill which provides that the huge companies operating monopolies shall be permitted to operate only if they are subject to review by the federal trade commission every six months or so."

"There are 18 million people on relief; nine million unemployed. There can be no permanent property under such conditions. Monopoly power must be destroyed. This question will come up in the next congress."

"Another question that will arise is the question of control of money. Those who made our monetary situation gave congress that power. It was designed to protect the interests. But it must be reformed because that power is the power to regulate the price of everything you sell."

"We must have a government managed currency."

But a system has worked out satisfactorily in England, the senator said.

Borah pledged his efforts if re-elected to work for discontinuance of the present reciprocal tariff, declared.

"The American market must be preserved for the American farmer. The present reciprocal tariff provisions will expire in a few months. They will not be given new life if I have my way."

Relative to peace, the senator observed:

"I do not see how a general war in Europe can be averted. It is a contest between the fascist and communist nations for control. I shall oppose to my last breath the mercenary office of a single American boy to settle any of the boundaries in Europe—a task this Christian nation has not late last night no funeral arrangements had been made."

He was born at Castleford June 27, 1870, and had lived in Twin Falls for the past six years.

Surviving are his father, George Borah of St. Maries, Idaho; his mother, Mrs. Borah of Twin Falls; and the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Evelyn Jennings and Clyde Bose, both of Jerome; Mary, Mrs. W. W. Oyster and Wayne Bose, all of Twin Falls.

Socialist Terms Farley 'Great Of Horse Traders'

New York, Oct. 19 (AP)—Vermin of the political campaign of 1918-19 old Clarence G. Farley, chairman of the Socialist campaign committee, paid tribute to the Democratic congressman, James A. Farley, as "the greatest horse trader of us all."

"I have a bill which provides that the huge companies operating monopolies shall be permitted to operate only if they are subject to review by the federal trade commission every six months or so."

"There are 18 million people on relief; nine million unemployed. There can be no permanent property under such conditions. Monopoly power must be destroyed. This question will come up in the next congress."

MAYOR PROPOSES NEW PIPE LINE

$200,000 Bond Vote Would Add Improvement to Reservoir Plan

Plans for Twin Falls' proposed municipal bond election for construction of a ten million gallon storage reservoir near the city filtration plant were developed further last evening as members of the Twin Falls city council discussed possibility of a $200,000 bond vote in addition to the original plan, which would include the laying of new cast iron pipe between the plant and the city, two miles apart.

E. J. Metcalf, Chicago engineer, who recently visited the plant, informed Mayor Duncan McJ. Johnson that the small storage capacity at the plant gives no opportunity for repairs for at no time more than two hours supply of filtered water is on hand. He also pointed out that the present reservoir has no partition and therefore cleaning is impossible.

Estimate Cost

Metcalf estimated cost of the reservoir at $1,200,000 and said that extensive reinforced concrete would cost $600,000 additional. His estimate for the pipe line using 24-inch pipe at $11,250 and 40-inch pipe at $19,000, but recommended use of the 24-inch pipe.

The mayor said that these estimates vary but $400,000 from those submitted by John E. Hayes, city engineer, and also reported that J. V. Coker, state PWA director, had informed him that chances are exceedingly good for getting federal assistance in the project.

Chief Report

Police Chief H. W. Ollitt reported 193 arrests during the month of September, 23 for city ordinance violations, 18 for traffic violations, 61 for drunkenness and 12 for misdemeanor and felonies. Seventy persons were warned for city ordinance violations, 10 were warned for traffic violations and three were warned for violation of sanitary regulations. Complaints investigated totaled 190, 22 arrests were reported out, 31 dogs were killed, 37 persons were furnished to policeman and 14 beds were provided persons other than prisoners. Eight cars were stolen and recovered, seven bikes being stolen, four of which were recovered.

TWO RUNAWAY GIRLS RETURNED TO HOMES

Madeline Michien, 16, and Pauline Wilson, 17, reported runaway, were returned to their homes in Kimberly last evening.

Officers here said that the two girls hitch-hiked as far as Boise, returned to Kimberly and were taken into custody before they had a chance to leave again.

Evening building permits were granted with total valuation of $3550.

INTO OIL-PLATING YOUR ENGINE FOR WINTER

"My worst troubles never happen," the man with the worrying-habit finally admitted, you know.

And for a good plain reason, the worst Winter engine troubles that you ever saw in print, simply don't happen after you change to Oil-Plating.

For Oil-Plating with patented Conoco Germ Processed oil makes sure that all engine parts have plenty to slide on, ALL THE TIME!

Before any mere "free flowing" old-type oil might even begin to flow, modern Oil-Plating has completely prevented ruinous drag on your engine, starter and battery. The reason is that patented Germ Processed oil, before returning to the crankcase, always leaves a long-lasting Plating of oil all the way up through your engine.

Overnight, and even over days of Winter idleness for your car, this slippy Oil-Plating stays up—ready to start before you are! Then you needn't be scared of suffering one un-oiled start or one poorly oiled mile this Winter. Simply Oil-Plate today at the sign of Conoco Germ Processed oil. Continental Oil Company.

LABOR FEDERATION REVIEWS RECORDS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—In its customary report on the major presidential candidates, the American Federation of Labor today cited 47 bills signed by President Roosevelt as "favorable to labor" and quoted Governor Landon in detail on labor's right to organize, social legislation and relief.

No endorsement was given, although William Oren, president of the federation who is personally supporting President Roosevelt, said last night that any working man who reads the report should know for whom to vote.

Labor Acts Reviewed

The review of the Roosevelt record went back to his service in the 10th New York legislature beginning in 1911 and closed with the list of new enactments approved by the federation, including the relief and public works appropriations, bank deposit insurance, TVA, railroad retirement and the Wagner labor disputes act.

Six of the 30 pages were devoted to quotations from Governor Landon's messages to the Kansas legislature and his address accepting the presidential nomination. These included recommendations for relief taxes, efforts to ameliorate working conditions, ratification of the child labor amendment, an anti-injunction act, and amendment of the state constitution to enable cooperation with the federal social security act.

Spain's Civil War Boosts Map Sales

MADRID, Oct. 19 (AP)—Civil war in Spain has boosted study of geography with consequent increased sales in large-scale maps.

Citizens with little leaning for geography now spend their evenings poring over maps of the battle zones and plotting socialist and fascist lines.

Blocks of the sectional map known as "number 40" of Madrid and the central area—have been sold out. The next best seller is "number 47"—the Valencia area on the eastern coast to which Madrid residents may flee if the capital is captured by the insurgents.

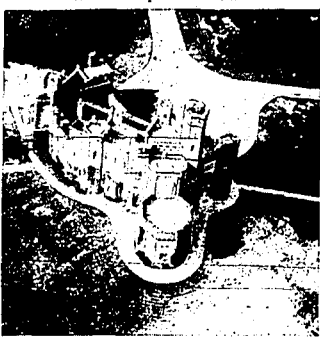

The map is published by Globe Press & Free Press.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Everybody believes in social security; it is the thing which has engendered the attention of the human race ever since civilization began.

So great has become the demand for social assurance that a company years ago perfected a form of policy which was calculated to take care of all this.

It is now generally recognized that some broader form of old age protection must be provided and as a result some forty odd states have provided for old age pensions.

The security is also provided under Federal law. Every employer of eight or more persons is now engaged in setting aside one per cent of his payroll to be paid to the Federal government at the end of this year.

Such payments will probably constitute a steady drain upon the resources of many businesses if for no other reason that a majority of all businesses are not registered as an earning of more than six per cent.

Any insurance company will enter into a contract to do much for annual premiums of about 40 per cent less than the amount the government expects to charge.

Everybody believes in old age pensions. Old age security is now being provided for. But the present social security act is a weak and clumsy step in the direction of the old snout.

Yes for the day of Moses Alexander who yawned the thin one and vetoed the thick one. The Governor's way of referring to his final disposition of the legislative grant left for his attention upon adjournment of the session.

Everybody believes in old age pensions. Old age security is now being provided for. But the present social security act is a weak and clumsy step in the direction of the old snout.

prevent a public address, there was more than needless advertising for this radical leader. There was a serious public principle at stake. The New York Times who by no means a radical publication, objects:

"While the Communists are a feeble folk in this country, when it comes to any test of voting strength, they have complied with the law, have been recognized as a political party, and have had a place on the official ballot assigned to them. Until they can be shown to have violated the laws of the United States, and of the various states, they are as much entitled to hold public meetings and make addresses as are the Democrats and Republicans."

"To arrest them at sight on a trumped-up charge, or to forbid them to meet and speak is to do something more hostile to our institutions than anything within their power."

"They must not be invited to address. Let the police be on hand to make sure that they do not. They must not advocate the overthrow of this government by force. Let the public prosecutors of crime arrange to get a stenographic report of the speeches, to discover whether they have committed an indictable offense. If they have, let them be brought into court and put on their defense like other citizens. We have laws amply sufficient to protect the public against seditious or violent proceedings. We do not need to have enough Communist agents and spies of fair and foul to condemn and penalize peaceful methods of political agitation, even if they aim at setting up a system of government abhorrent to nine-tenths of the American people."

It would be obvious that if police authorities are to forcibly prevent free speech and assembly for Communists or Socialists, and get away with it, they could also murder Republican or Democratic minorities. The only way to preserve constitutional rights for anybody in these crazy times is to preserve them for everybody.

TAYLOR ACT MAY PROVE VICIOUS. The market for alfalfa in this part of the state has received a severe blow through the Taylor Grazing Act, of this there seems little doubt.

The market for alfalfa in this part of the state has received a severe blow through the Taylor Grazing Act, of this there seems little doubt. The alfalfa industry in this part of the state has received a severe blow through the Taylor Grazing Act, of this there seems little doubt.

Sheep men who have connections here that entitle them to grazing leases will continue their feeble protests against the extension of the industry once the Taylor Act starts its work, and there appears to be no way to keep the industry from being killed.

With an embargo on Idaho hay effectively in operation, the Federal Government is further limiting of the market through the Taylor Act cannot but prove disastrous to the grower here.

SISTERS UNDER THE SKIN. Nobility social circles of England have of late been considerably disturbed because of the new bill which is now before the House.

And now we come to the second chapter of the kindly romance. Dispatches of today relate that Mrs. Simpson had applied for a divorce, with a reasonable prospect of success.

Thus will Mrs. Simpson free herself from a second unsuccessful matrimonial venture and, as a reasonable prediction, become the "first lady" of the British empire.

Everybody believes in old age pensions. Old age security is now being provided for. But the present social security act is a weak and clumsy step in the direction of the old snout.

WASHINGTON By Ira Bennett. DIFFICULT. Maybe it's the radio, maybe political boss-antho has lost their ancient art, but it's a fact that in recent years the changes "soor-back" don't rear its horrid head as of yore.

Instantaneous communication throughout the country works both ways. It starts sensations with amazing quickness—but it kills them off as quickly.

It would be very difficult now for a mad wag to do a compromising letter from a foreign diplomat, such as sent Backville West, British minister out of the country, ably assisted by never Cleveland's book.

OPEN. Mysterious winks, suggestive shrugs, and veiled hints that a tremendous underground is to attempt all prearranged coup d'etat for November result seem to be based on air.

A strong bill of Republicanism has been introduced. Some Jeffersonian dictation from the New Deal is noted. Hopes are built upon supposed religious and racial emotions and sympathies. But the investigations, lead and logical political analysis fail to uncover any "underground" movement of magnitude—unless it be that of first voters to the radio who they pretend to lead.

These fact-finders may say that both big parties have laid their cards on the table. No issues are hidden. Many voters see Roosevelt and Landon in person. All of them can hear their voices. It seems to be an open fight.

FETHAS. Senator Lorigner's peculiar expense probe committee pursues campaign tactics. It has a corps of investigators at work. They have turned in plenty of material with which the committee could bring bad news. No hearings have been held. Prospects now are that the committee will merely issue "statements."

UNMOVED. Another committee is quiescent—Senator LaFollette's one-man investigation of alleged industrial espionage and corruption of labor. He is waiting for a court decision of the Railway Audit and Inspection company—who are charged—with continuing labor union may be pending proceedings until long after the election.

ENOUGH was brought out by the LaFollette committee to show that many large industries concern take precautions against possible disclosures during strikes. They keep an eye on labor unions, too, through special agents. On the other hand, labor is being thoroughly posted as to the plans of employers.

COLLUSION. How far industrial concern can go in making contracts with a public official. The department has often found industrial bids to be identical. Recent files complained that bids for reclamation works supplies and equipment were identical. He referred them to the department of justice.

One thing is certain. The fact that Mrs. Simpson is encountered with a mere living husband seems to have mattered not at all. Out here in Idaho it is the same for the neighbors.

NOTES. Donald Richberg tells Washington law students that the supreme court has become a super-legislature that is "marking the time of the people." Admiral Halsey, late commander of the coast guard, now a member of the maritime commission, takes a leading part in discussing Pacific coast waterfront disputes.

Blatter imports took another big jump in August. Building of airplanes for both army and navy has been big proportion, and navy air base are taking shape.

By James McLaughlin. TRUSTEES. Banking insiders are bracing themselves for another legislative attack when Congress reconvenes. They get next best thing—Lithianium of TVA is working on a bill—a sort of sideline—which would impose further strict restrictions on the power of the corporation in question. There is a possible conflict of interest in these two capacities which the public would like to know about.

New York Day by Day

NEW YORK, Oct. 20—Bob Burns doesn't make up all those get-up-hauls. He's not in recent years that the changes "soor-back" don't rear its horrid head as of yore.

Whenever he has a chance to slip the Hollywood wire, he lights a check for Van Buren to take up his Sunday clothes. And, of course, on these visits he broadcasts much yodel yamer for his radio broadcasts. His income now nudges $150,000 a year.

"Doubt, Ky. known as 'Irvin Cobb's town.'" And so on. Even New York is known far and wide as O. Henry's Bagdad on the Bushway. All of which is reminiscent of the name of a certain town.

Gift of prophecy notes: In looking through an E. Phillips Oppenheim file, I have substituted in this I will tell you a thing which you can think of. It is a thing which you can think of. It is a thing which you can think of.

Our Children

LEARN HOW TO FACE TROUBLE When children discover, as they must, that their lives are abundant, it troubles them. They don't try to cover the fact. Don't hide them. It cannot be done. It is best to face the fact as it is, and put one's self to the test of making the difficultly bear as lightly as possible on the spirits of the children.

I remember very well the day an enemy boy from the other block, called me a qualified Won. I thought it was an terrible name, a character to be called; and as soon as father was in position to listen I asked him, "Am I a Won? What is Won?"

Father laughed. "I guess you are a Won," said he, "but I wouldn't let it bother me. It is a name you can't get away from. I'm one too. You see that is the name that bad-mannered boys have for Italians. It happened to be born in Italy so I am an Italian. You are my son, so you are Italian. That is all that the boy meant. I imagine the father was born to some other European country. The only Americans whose people were born here are the Yankee boys.

"But he meant it to be a bad name."

"Well, that is because he doesn't know any better. You do. Next time he calls you that stand fast. Remember Julius Caesar, Michael Angelo—and Dante—and tell him about Christopher Columbus. As a father told her stories the hurt grew less and after a time Won grew on his ears. He has learned that to be an American with a perfectly good right to the title, and to an honorable history.

All children are not so bold as easily as you are. Some that have roots in tragedy are not to be wiped off with an ancient tale. They have endured with this grace of spirit one can muster. Time heals all wounds, and some of them must be left to be forgotten.

But some can be made child by one's acceptance of him. If a child is afflicted, is lame or blind or deaf, or handicapped in any way, the father can usually help the child to the same matter-of-fact attitude of acceptance as he has to face the fact. There is a pleasure that can be obtained even under the stern hand of affliction, and one can lead the children to see this.

To those who must bear the bitter knowledge that for some fatal reason they have been set apart from their associates because of nationality, color, race or creed, there is always a way out. Teach such a child to be the child of his nation, his tradition, his religion, whatever it may be, and that there is honor in that. He will find his way is honor in any belonging on this earth.

Teach him that the first and last quality that counts is character. Admiration and affection is meaningless. Nothing mean can stand in the presence of a character. It is the character that counts. Character is the greatest force in civilization today as it always has been in the past. Thus an alien child may be the child of his nation, his tradition, his religion, whatever it may be, and that there is honor in that. He will find his way is honor in any belonging on this earth.

DROUGHT RELIEF CLAIMS DOWNGRADE

Crop Failures Cost Less to Government Than in 1934

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—With favorable fall weather growing and statistics of recent weather, farm land, federal officials today said this year's drought would be less costly to Uncle Sam than the disastrous one of 1934.

Tabulation of federal drought relief expenditures in 1934 showed they were well above the half-billion dollar mark. Federal expenditures so far this year were estimated at less than $100,000,000, with indications the maximum final total might be about twice that.

More than one-third of all the counties in the United States were listed officially today as emergency drought territory by the special agriculture department committee which designates such territory had made no addition to the list in more than two weeks.

Nearly one-half of the 3,971 counties in the country were designated as drought areas two years ago.

Farmers in designated counties are eligible for federal grants and loans and emergency jobs. Reduced railroad rates and other conservation programs also are offered in such territory.

Two years ago about $120,000,000 of federal funds was spent to buy more than 2,000,000 head of livestock in drought areas.

Officials showed less than 4,000 head actually had been purchased in 1936 at a cost of less than $100,000.

The works progress administration reported 250,000 farmers in drought areas were employed on special projects in the United States, which figures were available. They said this was expected to be the peak.

The WPA said nearly 800,000,000 had been spent on projects in the drought areas that were expected to had gone to regular field workers.

STOCKHOLDERS SUE FOR GENERAL MOTORS BONDS

NEW YORK, Oct. 19 (AP)—Henry Jacobson, a Chicago holder of 100 common shares of General Motors stock, filed suit today to recover stock bonuses totaling more than $200,000 which he claims were paid illegally to officers and directors of the General Motors corporation.

Jenkins Prefers Utah Salt Beds To Race Tracks

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 19 (AP)—The man who holds more automobile speed records than any one else in the world is an unknown on race tracks of the country.

He is Ab Jenkins, who recently raced over the salt beds of the Nevada, Utah, shattering virtually every mark for one to 40 hours' driving.

The roar of the crowd, the thrills of competition in the turns of the speedways and the narrower ones of the smaller dirt tracks hold no allure for Jenkins.

The hard, unfenced sands, furnished by nature and ruggedly, are his race course. His audience for the most part consists of mechanics, officials and a few of the curious.

Jenkins never had raced in a 600-mile class in Indianapolis, nor had he matched his own record for an hour's skill in the old speed squares of California. He likes the place where his giant car can surge forward in one mad triumph of sheer speed.

Knox Charges Secrecy Veils New Deal Aims

Vice Presidential Nominee Points To Unanswered Questions Put To President

(By The Associated Press)
LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 19.—Colonel Frank Knox, Republican vice presidential nominee, opened the final two weeks of the presidential campaign tonight with a charge the Roosevelt administration "has secret and undisclosed plans."
President Roosevelt himself, Knox declared in an address at the Coliseum, had failed to answer questions on 10 subjects concerning what he will do if reelected. Calling it an unbelievable situation, Knox declared, "this administration has secret and undisclosed plans which we know not what."
Whether the president intends to urge the enactment of a new NRA if successful in the election was one query Knox gave special emphasis.
Knox charged the Roosevelt administration with appealing to the forces of revolution, and declared he does not believe in the American system of free enterprise.
"Knox said his Republican running mate, Governor Alf M. Landon of Kansas, had made his "hopes and plans" public knowledge.
"Some may disagree with some of these plans," said Knox, "but not with the fact that they have been drawn to that last ditch defense, a defense of their record, and to fight the forces of communism and socialism in this land."
It was a "campaign of silence" the Roosevelt administration at first planned to wage this fall, Knox charged, but he declared "they have been driven to that last ditch defense, a defense of their record, and to fight the forces of communism and socialism in this land."

LANDON ASKS F.D.R.'S STAND ON N. R. A.

Aides to provide the foundation of his national broadcast address tomorrow night at Los Angeles. This subject has been advanced in previous speeches and in a statement today the candidate called upon President Roosevelt to say whether he intended to "perpetuate the NRA willy-nilly."

Before an Albuquerque crowd estimated at 8,000 by Evans-Clegg, the Pat O'Grady, Landon said "livestock and sheep men of the southwest have especially good reasons to object to the policy of this administration."

"In the first nine months of this year," he said through loud speakers on his rear platform, "more than 20,000 Mexican cattle have been imported into the southwest. These imports have depressed the price of our domestic market and better prices."

"We Republicans," Landon continued, "have no quarrel with the doctrine of reciprocity, which is Republican in its origin, but in the language of our present administration the secret negotiation of reciprocal trade treaties without public hearing or legislative approval."

"Full Crop at Fair Price"
"What I object to primarily are the concessions of this administration to the nations who have a little bit farm products. The concessions from abroad have benefited them, but not our industrial producers."

"Our industrial producers can adjust their affairs to existing conditions more readily than the farmer."

Landon said his "primary duty" was to restore foreign markets to farmers, with increased production, could have a "full crop at fair price."

LEADERS CARRY FIGHT TO ENEMY TERRITORY

"to perpetuate NRA willy-nilly," as called the reciprocal trade treaties as detrimental to citizens, and reiterated "no one wants to save" at the expense of the needy unemployed. Crowds greeted him at Albuquerque, Hazon and elsewhere. He expects to make stops in Arizona and Oklahoma on the way back to Indianapolis to speak Saturday.

Campaign convention accelerated overnight. Colonel Frank Knox took the Republican case before a rally at Lincoln, Neb., and Secretary Ickes went to Philadelphia to reply to Secretary Morgenthau's speech of former President Hoover, who asserted the "new deal" "juggled" fiscal accounts.

"The facts do not support any of his criticism of government accounting and reporting methods," the treasury secretary said of Mr. Hoover's speech.

At Washington, the communications commission decided to "look into" complaints about the recent interruption of the broadcast in which Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) was "debating" with a "recorded" voice of the president. Vandenberg said in New York the incident was closed off for it was concerned.

Going to Trenton, N. J., for another attack on the new deal last night, the Michigan senator planned to strike out again in Wilmington, Del., this evening.

Tonight, too, John W. Davis will take his place beside Alfred E. South & the second former Democratic presidential nominee to campaign against reelection of Roosevelt with plans for a Russian system to New York under auspices of three-fifths Democratic.

EXTRAVAGANCE and WASTE

In State Government

Never before in the history of Idaho has there been such a wild orgy of spending the people's money. Never before has there been created such a gigantic machine to perpetuate a party in office.

In four years FIFTEEN NEW TAXES have been saddled on Idaho Citizens. State taxes have increased from $4,924,974.46 in 1933 to the appalling sum of $8,659,387.70 in 1936, PRACTICALLY DOUBLE.

Under the National Democratic "Soak the Rich" smoke screen the present Idaho State Administration has SOAKED EVERYBODY to the tune of more and more millions.

Extravagance and waste have been extended to very possible branch of state government.

The Wrong Murderer

By HUGR CLEVELY

SYNOPSIS: Terence Mahony is accused of murdering a man and of being in with a gang of kidnapers among other things. But though he has important evidence, Inspector Kennedy has decided to let Elia Mullins take the blame, a chance to worm damning information out of Terence before arresting him. It is the thought of the murdered man, and because she recognized Terence's voice at the scene of the murder is the most important witness against him.

Chapter 2
RUPERT'S VIEWING
When the inspector had Mahony left his lodgings and returned to his home, he was again into the drawing room where Ruth and Lay-Hamden were seated.
"Hello," said Lay-Hamden cheerfully. "You're looking rather pleased with yourself this morning. Why?"
"As a matter of fact, I'm feeling rather pleased," answered Mahony. "The last time I was in here was a little. She doesn't suspect me of murdering her uncle any more."
"That's good," said Lay-Hamden. "I don't wonder that you're pleased."
But Ruth frowned, and looked at Mahony in a puzzled manner.
"What do you suspect you're longer. Are you sure? What makes you think that?" she asked.
"She said," replied Mahony. "She told me she was all wrapped up and heavy yesterday, and hardly knew what she was saying."
"Did she tell you that she didn't suspect you any more?" asked Ruth indignantly.
"She told me so herself," answered Mahony impatiently. "And she invited me to dine with her this evening. I'll be sure to go. As if she still suspected me, does it!"
"I don't know," said Ruth slowly. "There was something very wrong here. She told me she was all wrapped up and heavy yesterday, and hardly knew what she was saying."

Rural Rehabilitation Officials Discuss Program at Twin Falls

With every county in the state represented, a two-day conference of all state and county rural rehabilitation community service and farm debt adjustment officials here today, concluding sessions here today. Fifty representatives, including several district officials from several quarters at Portland, are devoting the two days to different aspects of the service program in the interests of the 300 rehabilitation clinics in Idaho, and laying plans for the coming year and its activities.

County Officials Present
Fifty officials, including six women home budget directors, of the rehabilitation service, which is a division of the resettlement administration, are attending the sessions. They are gathered in the chamber of commerce club rooms.
Prominent on the program Monday morning were Walter A. Duffey, regional representative of the National Administration director for Idaho, Washington and Oregon and W. T. Lockwood of Boise, state director of the National Emergency Council. The meeting was presided over by Desha Head, state rehabilitation director for Idaho.

Regional Chief Speaks
At the afternoon session, presided over by Harold Harvey, assistant state director of rehabilitation, H. H. Mansfield of Portland, regional head of debt adjustment division spoke.
Senator James E. Pope spoke of the permanence of the rehabilitation administration. Other speakers and guests at the session include Herbert P. Pool of Portland, regional head of community and cooperative service; LeRoy Bower of Portland, regional farm management and rehabilitation section; E. K. Baumgardner of the community service division; T. J. Lloyd of the debt adjustment division and W. D. Slatis of Portland.
Mayor Duncan McD. Johnson welcomed the conference at the opening session Monday and at the luncheon Monday evening at the Park hotel which was attended by all persons.
Consideration of the problems connected with the influx of thousands of new families coming to Idaho from the drought regions will be the feature of this meeting today which will conclude this afternoon.

RED CROSS MAPS ROLL CALL DRIVE

Need of Red Cross in Peace Times, Told at Local Conference

Why the Red Cross is necessary in peace time, was answered by Parker Carver, of Boise, Idaho roll call chairman, when he spoke to the sectional conference of Red Cross roll call workers from Twin Falls and surrounding counties at a luncheon at the Park hotel Monday.

There are more fatalities every year in America from highway automobile accidents, house and farm accidents, than in any one year of the war," Mr. Carver declared.
"Out of a spirit of gratitude Idaho should respond liberally to the call of the Red Cross," Clyde Baird, field supervisor of the National Red Cross, said. He went on to explain in his talk: "Idaho is one of only nine states in the union which have not had major catastrophe in the past year. All other 35 of the 49 have experienced such disaster.

Mrs. D. L. Alexander, chairman, presided at the meeting which followed the luncheon. Mayor Duncan McD. Johnson extended greetings to the workers. The National Red Cross society of Washington school under the direction of Miss Hazel Nelson, presided at the social gathering at the Park hotel Monday, and to their work, on their theme, "I Serve."
The conference was held in preparation for the annual Red Cross roll call which opens in Twin Falls on November 11, under the direction of Mrs. George J. Joyce, drive chairman.
