Halloween Vandalism Is Held To Minimum

Twin Falls Youth Limits Michief As Officers Keep Vigil

As hundreds of Twin Falls residents attended Halloween dances and parties last evening, mischief makers curbed their usual seasonal activities and confined most of their activity to soaping windows and overturning rubbish. It was a gala Halloween, but one of unusual quietude. A crowd of special officers toured the city only to discover that little damage was being done. Chief among the few acts of vandalism was overturning of several fences, gates and small boxes.

One group of boys was taken to the police station early in the evening and sent home one by one to prevent mass damage.

Young Children
Young children especially seemed to give greatest amount of trouble. Boys were dressed as cowboys and other wild characters; while girls and other wild characters, they found their respective husbands playing ponies and making rain attempts to scare their friends.

Police credited the efforts of the Orpheum and Idaho theaters and the Twin Falls High, which sponsored a picture show extending to 11:30 p. m., for keeping the mischief makers away from the city. L. D. S. NEWSPAPER COUNSELS VOTERS

Church Members Urged to 'Stand for Constitution' at Polls

BALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 31 (AP)—The Deere News, independent daily newspaper owned by the Latter Day Saints (Mormon) church, called in a front-page editorial today for all church members "who believe the revelations and the words of the prophet" to "stand for the constitution" in Thursday's elections.

"More than one hundred years ago the Lord declared: 'I establish the constitution of this land, by the hands of wise men whom I raised up unto this very purpose.' In the same revelation He asserted that this constitution 'should be maintained for the rights and protection of all flesh, according to just and holy principles.'"

"The quotation regarding the constitution is from the 'Doctrine and Covenants,' one of the standard ecclesiastical works of the Latter Day Saints church."

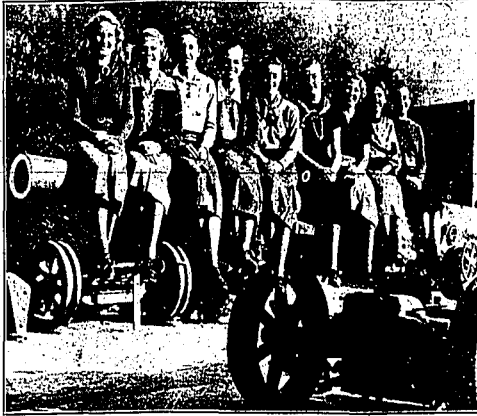

"We are nearing the end of a presidential campaign. The candidate has characterized the constitution as of 'home and buggy days' he has advised members of congress to join in support of laws irrespective of the belief of the congressmen as to the constitutionality of such laws. The great bulk of the constitutional laws passed by congress at his request, to carry out his views, has been pronounced unconstitutional. Even though publicly asked to declare his intention in the matter, he has thus far failed to say that he will not continue to carry out the principles of his earlier legislation."

"He keeps his silence in face of the fact that if he is elected he must take an oath—the same which he took when he first became president—that 'I do solemnly swear (if affirm) that I will to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the constitution of the United States.'"

"The other candidate has declared he stands for the constitution and for the American system of government which it sets up. He makes it clear that he will keep inviolate the oath which he must take as president of the United States. He has shown himself to be an honest, truthful man, a patriotic, efficient public servant."

"Church members who believe the revelations and the words of the prophet, must stand for the constitution. Every patriot, loving his country and its institutions, should feel to day bound to vote to protect it."

Coupe Newest in Lincoln-Zephyr Line. A new three-window coupe with ultra smart body lines is the biggest Lincoln-Zephyr news for 1933. This coupe (shown above) has a striking line—modern in the wheel-arch—upper body treatment of the automobile—upper—shown above—available last year. The rear quarter sweeps downward to the belt to give the car a characteristic coupe appearance, which retains the originality of this typical of the Lincoln-Zephyr bodies. The coupe's interior is simply wide for three adults (and a blond). Either can be swung forward to give access to a compact seat back of the seat big enough to hold a good sized steamer trunk. This implements the Lincoln-Zephyr's "no-compromise" policy now being shown at Lincoln-Zephyr dealers throughout the country.

Elect a Man... who believes that laws on the state's statute books should be enforced. A man who stands for civil service for the state police—FRANK L. STEPHAN.

Vote for HENRY DWORSHAK for CONGRESS. Second District. He is opposed to reckless trade treaties and will devote his time to protecting Idaho farm markets and developing Idaho's resources for the benefit of Idaho people.

SPEAKER REVIEWS SUGAR LEGISLATION

Tom Heath Quotes Figures in Argument Against New Deal Policy

PILER. Oct. 31—Tom Heath of Preston, manager of the Franklin County Sugar company operating Idaho's only independent sugar plant, told an audience here last evening that under the "New Deal sugar law" the Jones-Costigan act "everybody paid for curtailment of American production to permit importation of more sugar from Cuba."

The American beet grower, he said, received $12,000 benefit payments during the three year period covered by the Jones-Costigan act, while Cuban sugar producers during the same years sold $100,000,000 worth of the stuff on sugar from $5 to 50 cents per 100 pounds.

Five thousand beet growers, he said, received $12,000 benefit payments during the three year period covered by the Jones-Costigan act, while Cuban sugar producers during the same years sold $100,000,000 worth of the stuff on sugar from $5 to 50 cents per 100 pounds.

Best Price Lower The price which American growers received for their beets, including benefit payments, during the past three years, he said, averaged $6.88 per ton. He compared this with $7.28 average for the preceding 15-year period before the adoption of the Jones-Costigan act.

Democratic candidates for congress, and that is exactly what many voters if they told us they intended to reduce prices of Idaho products, but that is exactly what the Democratic congress has done during the past three years."

He referred to a tabulation to show that the tariff on sugar had been reduced to below $1.50 per 100 pounds under only two administrations since the duty was fixed at $1.50 during Washington's administration in 1789.

Administrations which set the low mark for the sugar tariff, he showed, were those of Taft, Cleveland, Wilson, and Roosevelt, all Democrats.

Heath spoke here, and also broadcast an address from Twin Falls radio station under auspices of Twin Falls county Republican central committee.

Proposal For Deep Well WATER SUPPLY
For the City of Twin Falls, Other Municipalities, Farmers, Industrialists, And Other Consumers of Twin Falls County:
We Submit for Your Consideration:

- FIRST: QUALITY OF WATER
- (a) A supply which is primarily PURE.
 - (b) A supply which is palatable and meets the needs and requirements of domestic, municipal, industrial and other consumers.
 - (c) Water when analyzed as to solids will show approximately, as follows:

Color	None
Odor (cold)	None
Sediment	Sandy
pH	8.1
Total solids	488 p.p.m.
Loss on ignition	108 p.p.m.
Alkalinity (bicarbonate)	176 p.p.m.
Alkalinity (normal)	None
Soap hardness	250 p.p.m. or 14 grains
Chlorine	60 p.p.m.
Iron	Less than 1 p.p.m.
Fluorides	4 p.p.m.
Nitrates	Heavy trace
Silica and insoluble residue	37.2 p.p.m.
Calcium as Calcium Oxide	87.4 p.p.m.

Magnesium as magnesium pyrophosphate	102.2 p.p.m.

- SECOND: DEPENDABILITY OF SUPPLY:

 - (b) Pumping capacity sufficient to produce, at least, fifty per cent (50%) in excess of seasonal peak load.
 - (c) Transmission lines of sufficient size to carry one hundred per cent (100%) more, than seasonal peak load.
 - (d) Transmission lines of sufficient strength to carry one hundred (100%) above maximum pressure, or static and friction head required.
 - (e) Uniform pressure or static head, at the point of delivery, of not less than one hundred (100) feet and not more than two hundred (200) feet, to meet the needs of your city, other cities, and consumers.

- THIRD: SCHEDULE OF RATES
- (a) Rates to be adequate and justify the investment.
 - (b) Rates to be reasonable and to be within the financial range of each and every class of consumer, and communities, whether large or small.

FOUR: BONDED DEBT

(a)—Consumers would not require a bond issue under our project for production and transmission of water supply. As to your city, we propose to furnish water at wholesale.

We submit for your consideration that an adequate supply of deep well water for society, other cities, industrial plants, and farms on the Twin Falls tract, will result in a substantial saving in the operation of the Twin Falls Canal system covering winter delivery of water; a material and substantial saving of the irrigation Waters of Snake River; a very substantial reduction of the seepage of farm lands of the respective communities; an opportunity for the South Side Canal Company to make necessary repairs to the canal system during the fall and winter months, at a considerable reduction of cost; and inconceivable a permanent pure water supply for less cost to the farmers than the investment and maintenance of individual wells, water systems and pressure tanks, regardless of the quality of water obtainable from such individual wells.

The undersigned and his associates submit for your serious consideration our proposition which we believe is feasible, practicable and within the financial reach of each and every property holder and citizen of Twin Falls County holding property or living west of Hansen Butte, under the Twin Falls Canal system.

The undersigned and his associates shall be glad to meet with your City Council, Commercial Club, Service Organizations, or any other Civic body, for a more detailed discussion of our project.

Respectfully submitted,
WM. A. PETERS;
Post Office address, Jerome, Idaho.

SIX DECADES BACK
By CHARLES SHIRLEY WALGAMOTT
A Series of Historical Sketches of Early Days in Southern Idaho

Mr. Walgamott is recounting the early history of Cassia county, established from Orange county in 1879. The old Cassia county included approximately the territory now comprising Twin Falls and Blaine counties. Several of the early settlers were named last Sunday; other memorable residents are listed today.

J. Q. Shirley was the first settler to come into the flat River country arriving there in 1876. G. Gamble was with him. Soon after them came the Briers, Sam Cook, Stauffer, and then Taylor, Tinsley and Craton.

Wm. Lambing also came with the first northern Idaho survey company. The Waldens and James Woodruff came on to Marsh Creek in 1875. Frank Reno, Frank Terrell, James Hill and John Hayden were of the early settlers. Named men are: Charles Parks, W. H. Eyles, J. R. Rice, H. C. Decker, Briers, Charles Gamble, Samuel Corbitt, and De Rice.

forty-five miles distant. The largest of these areas are now more than six feet through.
The diversion of water from the flowing streams to the dry places of the earth became the dominant thought. With diligent labor the settlers were able to divert the water down the steep walls of the canyon into a good road.

It was at Blue Lakes that Perrine began the realization of the dream that had his beginning in Blaine County, Indiana. Where he had a floater school had had a long struggle for something worthwhile to do toward his wife. However, yielding to the wishes of his parents, he attended the Moorhill College at Moorhill, Indiana, where under the supervision of President D. D. John, his education was to be extended.

Called by West
For two years he stayed, but the things in books were far less appealing than the things of nature. He had heard of the wonderful mineral riches of the Wood River valley. Along with the lure of riches was the romance of the West and young Perrine came west.

At the extreme lower end of Blue Lakes valley a squaw man by the name of McCullous, who some years before had been an interpreter for the government, had located a placer claim and was busy washing out gold. When Perrine called on him for the purpose of buying out McCullous' placer holdings a bargain was soon struck, which stipulated among other things that Perrine was to move the McCullous claim, squaws, papoose, and all from the Blue Lakes valley to a point on Snake River canyon, three miles above Shoshone Falls.

When we consider that the squaw man had four squaws with accompanying papoos and camp paraphernalia, it becomes evident that this was no easy task.
It was here that Perrine received his first lesson in the Indian mode of transportation, and a picture of that caravan, with its pack horses dragging load poles and travois loaded with squaws, papoos, and Indian camp paraphernalia, plied along the Blue Lakes trail by Mr. Perrine, would be today a picture worth owning.

It was here that Perrine received his first lesson in the Indian mode of transportation, and a picture of that caravan, with its pack horses dragging load poles and travois loaded with squaws, papoos, and Indian camp paraphernalia, plied along the Blue Lakes trail by Mr. Perrine, would be today a picture worth owning.

When we consider that the squaw man had four squaws with accompanying papoos and camp paraphernalia, it becomes evident that this was no easy task.

other locations, the Perrine holdings, which included all of the north side valley, had reached the magnitude of one thousand acres. The fruits from the Blue Lakes orchard were gaining a world-wide reputation. Mr. Perrine showed fruits at Paris, France, in 1891, and took first prize. He has taken first prize at every World Exposition since. As the Blue Lakes valley grew in its products increased in world popularity.

Development Begins
This was a great day for southern Idaho, for the country was developing a man that would develop the country.
When L. B. Perrine had satisfied himself that his plans were feasible, he realized that the first thing to do was to secure the right to water, by proper water location, and then to convince his friend McCullous of the great possibility of turning the waters of Snake River onto the desert banks of the valley.

MEDALS AND CASH FOR HEROES' ACTS

Carnegie Commission Announces 33 New Awards

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 31 (AP)—The Carnegie Hero Fund commission recognized 33 acts of heroism Friday, awarding bronze medals and cash benefits to persons in 16 states, Canada and Alaska.

Six of the latest group to win designation as Carnegie heroes lost their lives and one suffered permanent injuries in attempting hazardous rescues.

Among the episodes cited by the commission:

- Roy Tipton, of Valdez, Alaska, lost an eye in a landslide, gave his parka (fur lined coat) and mittens to a weakened companion and trudged five miles for help. Parts of Tipton's frozen feet had to be amputated.
- Frederick Campbell, of Little Rock, Arkansas, snatched a 10-year-old girl from a runaway horse just before it dashed against a freight train.

Drowning Rescues

In all 17 medals were awarded for attempted drowning rescues; eight for efforts to save persons from suffocation by gas in mines, a furnace, a caisson and a well; three for rescues from fire; two from trains; and one each from a runaway horse, active exposure and an attack with a gun.

Awards went to persons in Maine, Minnesota, Idaho, California, Indiana, Kentucky, Wisconsin, Massachusetts, Arkansas, South Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Connecticut.

Deer Hunt Cost For Each Hunter Averages $9.07

An analysis of hunting cost data furnished by 226 of the 500 hunters who participated in the special deer hunt on the Cassia district of the Minidoka national forest during the period from October 1 to 10, shows that the average expense per hunter amounted to $9.07. Average expense per deer killed was $107.

Total expense borne by the 226 hunters are made up as follows: Transportation, $164.81; hotel lodging and meals $46.20; equipment $409.22; horse hire $27; incidental $38.72; special hunting license and deer tag—$44, making a total of $701.34.

The hunters spent an average of 22 days on the hunt, including time going and coming, and bagged 103 bucks and 81 does.

The fenses were furnished by approximately 45 per cent of the total number of hunters who entered the forest for the hunt and may be correctly assumed that the remaining 274 hunters likewise incurred an average expense of $9.07 making the total expense for all hunters amounting to about $4,500.

Power and Utility the Year Around

McCORMICK-DEERING Farmall Tractors

WHEN the spring season is in full swing, the horse farmer is at his wits' end for time. Long hours in the field behind slow-moving teams bring him to the end of the day thoroughly tired . . . and then the routine of horse chores begins.

Farmall tractor owners will tell you that this drudgery is needless. They do more work in the field each day with their up-to-the-minute power, and when night comes, they snap the switch and call it a day.

The three McCormick-Deering Farmall Tractors—F-12, F-20, and the F-30 shown above—handle planting and cultivating of all row crops as well as the general-purpose work from plowing to ball jobs.

WHY YOU SHOULD ELECT C. BEN ROSS UNITED STATES SENATOR FROM IDAHO - FOR IDAHO - NOT RUSSIA

Not Tied Up With Any Russian Caviar Importer Or Any of the Principal Distributing Outlets of the Communist-Owned Amtorg Trading Company of New York.

HERE IS THE REPUBLICAN REASON WHY BORAH SHOULD BE RE-ELECTED

Copy of an advertisement of ROMANOFF CAVIAR CO. In the Boise Capital News

MY FELLOW CITIZENS:

The honorable William Edgar Borah, dean of the United States Senate, is seeking re-election to his sixth consecutive term. His record of service has been unparalleled by any living senator. Borah is the most powerful man in the United States senate.

This man who has served Idaho so faithfully during the past 30 years is a candidate asking to serve his beloved state for another six-year period. His past record cannot be challenged. His sagacity, his sincerity, his Americanism is revered nationally. Why should such a man, when he is seeking re-election, meet resistance?

Borah has been attacked because he has refused to campaign nationally for the Republican party. This is a camouflaged and unfair attack. What we need in this grave hour is American, not partisan politics. What Idaho and the nation needs is the return of William E. Borah to the United States senate, where he has served so long, so faithfully, and so brilliantly. This is not a time for experimentation with a man who has had no practical congressional experience.

It has also been said that Senator Borah is getting too old to be of service. A look at the congressional directory will show the fallaciousness of that statement. Four senators who served in the last session outranked Borah in age. All four statesmen are nationally famous for their service: Senator Duncan Fletcher, Florida, 77; Senator George W. Norris, Nebraska, 75; Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, California, 73; Senator Arthur Capper, Kansas, 71. Borah is 71 years of age. The average age of supreme court justices is 72 years. Age, in a man of intelligence and temperance does not bring incapability. It brings a wisdom which younger men cannot know. It brings a broader, more firm outlook on national problems. Borah has grown more astute with his years in the senate.

Should Governor Ross withdraw and throw his support behind Borah, he would be absolutely sure, the next time he runs for public office, of his election. That, in addition to his own party vote, all Borah followers would support him. Even the Democratic party should see the sagacity of such a patriotic move. It should whole-heartedly welcome it.

The Democratic party would not gain respect if it would bring the downfall of Borah, who not only represents Idaho but the forty-eight states.

A United States senator is sent to congress to represent the entire country in addition to his particular state. National political figures are appealing for the re-election of Senator Borah. Within your hands lies the power to return this great statesman to the senate.

Idaho needs Senator William E. Borah for senator. The nation, too, needs Senator W. E. Borah for senator. Sincerely, FERDINAND HANSEN.

Here are the Democratic reasons why C. Ben Ross should be sent to the U. S. Senate to represent US—THE PEOPLE OF IDAHO

He knows Idaho and her problems like a book.

He has devoted most of his adult life to the betterment of the conditions of the people of his state.

He will devote his time to improving and providing markets for Idaho farmers, Idaho producers — The people he will represent. Just as he has been a great governor for Idaho, developing her resources, reducing taxes, taking care of the aged, working for Idaho — as U. S. Senator.

ROSS will do something now — He will not wait 30 years

MCCLURE CHARGES NEW DEAL LIES

Sheepman Charges Misrepresentation in Political Advertising

GOODING, Oct. 31.—Dr. S. W. McClure, Bliss sheepman and prominent Idaho Republican leader, charged that Democratic leaders were using "lies" in their advertising program as he addressed a political meeting here tonight.

He said that Governor Land, in an advertisement appearing in a recent issue of the Gooding Leader, where he stated "The Young Democrats inserted an advertisement asserting that the national debt was 20 and one-half billion dollars, when in fact it was only 11 billion dollars."

He stated that the "debt" was 11 billion dollars at the close of the war and a Democratic administration increased the debt to 20 and one-half billion dollars in 1921. During the next 11 years the Democrats reduced the debt to 16 and one-half billion dollars.

They Are All Old Residents of Twin Falls County

These are the men who look to the Republicans for election as County Commissioners on Tuesday next.

Ernest V. Molander

Carl Ritchey

Ben E. Potter

ERNEST V. MOLANDER, dual district farmer for more than twenty-five years and a candidate for county commissioner on the Republican ticket, said during a visit to Twin Falls last week that he has at one time believed that Deep Creek might develop into a permanent open among the towns of Southern Idaho.

Mr. Molander went so far as to open a general store on his farm and later Deep Creek was designated as a post office of which he became postmaster. A lodge hall was built and a hotel established. A blacksmith shop followed. The occasion for all this had to do with prospective railroad development which however failed to materialize.

It was in 1906 that Mr. Molander became a permanent resident of Southern Idaho. In that year he bought the farm upon which he lives, coming here with his family from Ault, Colorado. This was not his first appearance in what has since become the Twin Falls country. As a mere youth in 1885 Mr. Molander worked on a fruit farm at Orchard and when at the end of a year or two he went back to Colorado it was with the fixed intention of some day returning to Idaho. "It was the water which impressed me," he says. "The Snake River was the biggest stream I had ever seen at close range and it looked to my youthful eyes as though there was enough water to irrigate the whole state. And the contrast between the patches of irrigated lands of those days and the daily trails which threatened the very asparagus and which were the only roads we had, of course made the picture all the brighter. Well, anyway, I haven't changed my mind. I came here with my family in 1906 and I have been here ever since. And I have never regretted the move."

Mr. Molander served as a trustee of the Deep Creek School Board

CHARL RITCHEY'S farm career in Twin Falls county has twice been interrupted by military service. Mr. Ritchey, Republican candidate for county commissioner, came here in 1914 and joined his father who had previously bought a Twin Falls county farm. At the end of a year or so he embarked in his sheep business on his own account and remained in that business until the trouble on the Mexican border first drew him into military life. He was married upon his return in 1917 and a short time later he joined the colors in the World war and served with the American Army of Occupation until practically the close of the war. He was in hospital for a number of months and was finally invalided home in the summer of 1919.

Returning to Twin Falls Mr. Ritchey became a salesman for the Browning Auto company but later reentered in farming. For a time he was located near Piler and during this period he became one of the organizers of the first Grange at Piler in 1924. He resided at present on a farm East of Twin Falls where he has lived for some years.

"Millions of acres is nothing like that," says Mr. Ritchey. "Although in the days when I lived there we didn't really know there was anything much better. Of course there was no such thing as irrigation there and very often we harvested Spring vegetables which should have been irrigated. It was the water which impressed me. It was the water which impressed me. It was the water which impressed me."

Mr. Ritchey is well posted upon business as well as farm conditions throughout Southern Idaho in the days when his children were of school age. For twenty years he has been one of the commissioners of the Dulhi Highway district.

DOHN and raised on a southeastern Kansas farm, Ben E. Potter of Kimberly, Republican candidate for county commissioner, began his career as a bank clerk in Eden, Kansas. Farming was not exactly an unknown quantity with him but aside from the duties of the youthful which generally go along with farm life, Mr. Potter was not what he might be described as a seasoned farmer when he came to this country in 1914.

"I did not exactly pick out this section for myself," says Mr. Potter. "My father came here a year before I did and when he returned he did not take a great deal of persuasion to induce me to leave Kansas. Even in those years we did not have enough rainfall to properly raise crops and the worst of the trouble was what rain there was didn't come at the right time. We didn't use the word drought much in those days but conditions here were worse than until at the present time actual drought exists over large part of that section of the state.

"It isn't necessary for me to say that the Twin Falls country has the best water rights on earth. This is a known fact and I have always known that I made no mistake in coming to Southern Idaho."

Mr. Potter originally bought a 40 acre place and later added a second 40. He is engaged in general farming with particular attention to potato-raising. With the exception of ten years of service on the Kimberly school board he has held no public office up to this time although he has always taken a lively interest in public affairs. He and his family still reside upon the original land selection of over twenty years ago.

Here, Mr. Average Citizen, Is a Picture of the Next Governor of Idaho

BARZILLA W. CLARK

HERE is the Man of the People—if there ever was one—who has brought down on his head every conceivable form of personal abuse which the power trust, the timber trust and the DuPont-owned Republican party's sordid imaginations could conceive.

Here is the man, humble to an extreme, but whose courage has no limit—who has had his family and relatives villified and smeared only because he dared to run for the office of Governor on the Democratic ticket.

Here is the man a Liberty League oligarchy has set out to defeat only because his election might spread the gospel of public rights—of the right of you and your neighbor to share the benefits of our natural wealth—our power, our mines and our timber.

Here is the man who has been elected five successive times as Mayor of Idaho Falls with increasing majorities each time!

THE MAN---

who believes Idaho and Idaho's people should share the benefits of our natural wealth!

who will work shoulder to shoulder with Roosevelt to see this accomplished!

who can't be stopped by all the money bags of Wall street!

who believes in a government for the common man instead of the DuPonts and their chosen few!

who stands for a square deal for the laborer, and the farmer!

who wants to give the people of Idaho—you and your neighbor—the kind of government you are entitled to!

That Is Barzilla Clark---The Man!

Here is the man who has given to his city a tax rate of only 12 mills—the lowest by almost 50 per cent of any first class city in the whole state of Idaho!

HERE is the man who has never been identified with either farm or home foreclosures—a man who owes no political debts to a ruthless G. O. P. machine for being appointed receiver for eleven closed banks.

Here is the man who believes in the bank guarantee law, who believes in old age pensions; who believes in social security that gives honest security.

Here is the man who believes in abolishing all tax levies on property for state purposes.

Here is the man—putting it briefly—who believes in giving the benefits of our resources and our government to the masses—to you and your neighbor—instead of the chosen few.

Here is the man who believes in President Roosevelt and his program to better the conditions of the Common Man.

And here is the man whom the plain ordinary people of Idaho—you and your neighbor—will select as their next governor.

The Wrong Murderer
By Hugh Clevely
Synopsis: Inspector Kennedy suspects Terence Mahony of knowing more about the murder than he should...

Chapter 40
LAWSON CALLS
"All right," Kennedy said briskly, "I'll give you a couple of hours' start after you leave this office. Then if you're arrested, that will be your look-out. You won't be charged and brought up for trial in the ordinary way; say anything that I shall give you will necessarily be 'that suits me,' answered Mahony.

"I see your idea all right," went on the inspector. "But I'm not certain that it's a good one. Obviously, you're not going to let me hope to kill Lawson in a false sense of security. Well, suppose he does escape and just stay here and do nothing. What then?"
"That might be a bit awkward," admitted Mahony. "But I have an idea that he won't do anything at all. I don't think he's at all anxious that Miss Prater and her friends should know of his un- easy suspicion that he knows a bit too much."

"I'll let you know what progress we make," promised the inspector. Lawson was not only pleased but delighted with his interview. As he sat in his car driving to his apartment, he was reflecting that things were not quite so bad as he had supposed the previous night. The fact that the police were interested in Mahony was a murderer made him take a far more optimistic view of the situation.

Vote for Idaho Labor and Idaho Farmers!

Elect C. Ben Ross U. S. Senator

For 25 Years His Devotion to Idaho People, Idaho Problems and Idaho's Welfare Has Been His Only Concern

C. Ben Ross is not a fence straddler. He is not an expert on the Polish Corridor or champion of oppressed people of Russia or Asia. Ross has one interest—the interest of Idaho. Ross' record is one accomplishment after another for Idaho—his native state.

Idaho Labor and Idaho Farmers will not have to wait 30 years for the introduction of a bill in Congress to better their conditions. When C. Ben Ross is Senator, he will start work right now for the people of Idaho. Ross will not orate and do nothing. Ross is a man of action.

Wise Leadership of Roosevelt and C. Ben Ross Has Made Idaho Prosperous

When Idaho Labor and Idaho Farmers and all others send Ross to the Senate they will have a man who will serve only them—not foreign enterprises. Ross will not need 30 years of shadow boxing training to get in shape to fight monopolies. Ross will not let us down. Ross will never have to render an imaginary Supreme Court decision to justify his failure to vote in the interests of his people. No one in Idaho has any doubts on the fighting ability of C. Ben Ross.
