Carries Crew of Twenty-three, Including American—Fog Bank Off Irish Coast Reduces Speed—Wireless Reports Indicate All Is Well Aboard—Description of Machine

LONDON, July 2.—The British dirigible was about 100 feet from its starting point at 2:15 this afternoon, according to a message received from the commander, and was being navigated without any trouble. The dirigible from East Portlaine to Minerva, L. I., is about 2,000 cubic meters of gas, and has a carrying capacity of 200 tons. It is about 100 feet in length and 10 feet in diameter. It is being navigated by a crew of 23 men, including an American.

LONDON, July 2.—The first attempt in the history of the world to cross the Atlantic ocean in a dirigible balloon is under way, with the great British dirigible H-30 pushing westward from America above the north Atlantic line. Leaving the East Portlaine aerodrome near Edinburgh at 1:48 o'clock this morning, the dirigible is being navigated by a crew of 23 men, including an American.

SPORT EXTRA WILL BE ISSUED ON THE FOURTH

The Fourth of July is upon us and the great anniversary which marks the first beginning of the history of the United States as a nation, and which is the greatest step toward personal freedom in the history of the world. Admiringly to celebrate the great American holiday, The Times will not issue a regular edition on that day, but to serve the citizens of Twin Falls with the news of the festive contest to be staged in Toledo on Independence day, a special "Sport Extra" will be put upon the streets immediately after the conclusion of the contest. This, the public interest in this great event will be satisfied and thus The Times employees will be given respite from the constant grind necessary to the production of a newspaper every day to contemplate the glories of freedom and renew their faith in the world just recovered from the war madness.

Always a notable occasion, there was never so great cause to celebrate the Fourth as this year, which has seen the close of a war for freedom involving the whole world. A year ago the thoughts in our hearts were far different from those which hold sway this year. Last year the vindication of our great principles was still a matter of stupendous effort. This year it is a feat accomplished. What July, 1776, saw dimly foreshadowed, July, 1919, finds standing triumphant in the full light of day, and extended to embrace the nations of the world. We are safe ourselves, and free. We have helped to bring safety and freedom to others. We should rejoice and be exceeding glad.

FIRST DAY UNDER PROHIBITION

A few deaths as a result of the "grand celebration" of the departure of John Barleycorn were reported yesterday. If the law is enforced there will be no more deaths from this cause, no more murders instigated by drink, no more drunken brawls between wives and husbands, and the law is difficult of enforcement. The first day of prohibition apparently saw few direct violations in so far as "hard" drinks are concerned, but the sale of beer and light wines in saloons continued in New York, Chicago, St. Louis and many other cities. There may have been arrests for the offense, but none were reported by the correspondents of the International News Service up to noon yesterday. Apparently there was an effort on the part of the saloon keepers to prevent violations on the first day.

There seems to have been a misunderstanding of the intention of the United States attorney general upon which the sale of beer and light wines was continued. An announcement late in the afternoon from Washington was that persons who sold beer and light wines did so at their peril, that prosecutions would surely follow on the initiative of the department of justice or upon information furnished from other sources.

Boston was the nearest to "baning" of any large city in the country, only three saloons remaining open in the Hub. These were dispensing "near beer," or a beverage containing less than one percent of alcohol. New York, on the other hand, seemed to be the sweetest city. More than three thousand saloons were reported open and doing "business as usual." In some of these places the drinks were confined to beer and light wine, though under what definition of a "light wine" these latter are included is not made plain. Experienced drinkers do doubt that there is "kick" in either of these "light" wines.

A spectacular parade was held in Columbus D., where William Jennings Bryan rode on a camel at the head, indicative of his appreciation of the final accomplishment of national prohibition, or the making of the nation a desert so far as alcoholic liquors are concerned.

The law is on the books. Its enforcement will either be effective or violations of it will become so flagrant as to destroy public respect for law, and when law falls into disrepute, law, the foundation upon which society rests—it will mark the beginning of the disintegration of the republic.

THE FINEST CROP OF ALL

There have been clubs without number organized within the last two or three years to encourage boys and girls and their elders to raise better crops and produce more and better results for their labors. But in Los Angeles they have the best club of all. It is a group of old people who call themselves the "Centenarians Club," and whose motto is, "Live to be a hundred and grow old gracefully."

Nobody can grow old gracefully who forecasts future worries, or who indulges in bitterness or vain regrets for past disappointments and failures. No one can grow old gracefully who hates growing old, and regards it as a personal grievance instead of a divine graduation. The only way to accomplish this most desirable aim is to live each day courageously and kindly, to look forward to each tomorrow with serene confidence that it will bring something worth living for.

Growing old gracefully may begin right early; yet certain it is that youth lingers longest where age is least dreaded, while those who have for their ambition a beautiful old age will reap as their reward a harvest of golden years.

A scientist has discovered that a pig can be made to eat more by feeding it lactic acid. Very little—but one idea of nothing to do is to stimulate a pig's appetite.

It's a good thing not to over-eat in hot weather, but some habits don't eat enough to resist the heat.

NICE PROFITS AS RESULT OF PROHIBITION

Furniture Dealer Congratulates Himself on Era of Prosperity. Awaiting Trade.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 1.—Prohibition will bring with it one of the greatest booms in the purchase of home furnishings in the history of the world, was the assertion of President Edward A. McShane, of Boston, at the recent summer meeting and the annual outing of the Home Furnishings' association of New England here. Statistics have proven that in dry states prohibition has been followed by an era of prosperity for the furniture dealer, and results have already proven that this will be the result throughout the country on July 1.

"People are already buying more and better furniture," he declared, "and this will be more marked after July 1. Men who have spent $2 and up a week for liquor will turn most of that money into channels that will benefit the home. This is not a guess. It is a proven fact, and New England furniture dealers must prepare to meet this demand."

"Since the armistice was signed the furniture dealers have done an amount of business and now will come with the arrival of dry times. The trouble will come in attempting to keep up with the demands. During the war furniture are greatly swamped with orders, some were sold their entire year's output during the first three days of the buying season, while steadily all of them are beyond ordinary capacity of a production in an effort to meet the insatiable demands.

"The days of cheap furniture are past and the nice popular grades of lower priced furniture are no longer in demand. In view of the increasing prices of furniture this is significant. It marks a new order of things, and the arrival of prohibition is the cause. I look for the greatest era of prosperity in the history of furniture."

Negro Killed in Chicago Race Riot

CHICAGO, July 1.—One negro died, another is seriously beaten and five men are suffering from "bullet wounds today as the result of a race riot in Chicago's west side district. Charles Jackson, colored, fell and broke his neck while he was fleeing from a mob of white men after he had shot five of them. Jackson's brother, who was severely beaten, the Jacksons were accused of insulting two white girls as they stood on a street corner awaiting a car.

HENSIAN BARBARITY REPLICATED IN ILLINOIS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 1.—Harbor night as may be encompassed in the darkest days of Illinois are described in a newspaper account. Mrs. Frank Werner, of this city, made by the state apartment of public welfare. The woman is believed to have been the hands of her 10-year-old adopted son on a stove because he stole five cents from a cashbox. It is being asserted that she forced him to small hands on the red-hot stove as a lesson against stealing. The discovery evoked a prolonged series of legal mistreatments, in which the foster mother is accused of unmercifully beating and punishing the boy for his refusal to regard to his injuries. Mrs. Werner could give no rational account of them. "He might have fallen against a door," was her circulating information. The boy himself was not prone to answer, quizzical, evidently through fear, authorities said. It is expected the custody of the child will be taken from the woman.

Portland Telephone Operators Walk Out

PORTLAND, Ore., June 30.—Despite the caution of local leaders of the electrical and telephone workers' unions that no heavy action should be taken in response to the call for a sympathetic strike of telephone workers here, many of the operators walked out early today. Two exchanges were completely disabled and service during the morning hours was badly crippled.

A mass meeting is scheduled for tonight at which leaders representing the electrical and laund workers to discuss their action. However, many of the radical workers walked out this morning.

Overseas Officer Visits Recruiting Station—This City

Leut. Col. Alva Lee, U. S. Army, inspected the local army recruiting station on Tuesday. The colonel is in charge of the station and is reported on the general staff of the division. He reports to the division headquarters in American Falls and he left Tuesday evening to make those who visit before returning to his office at Salt Lake.

Col. Lee says that the new army offers excellent opportunities to young men of character, energy and ambition, who desire to complete their education. Those not caring for the grammar school and high school subjects may learn a trade and earn good wages while learning it. Those who desire to enter West Point are given special instruction under graduates and after serving one year are appointed to the corps of cadets. The pay while serving at West Point (the finest military college in the world) is $700 per annum.

On recruiting details are commissioned second lieutenants, U. S. Army, at $700 per annum. From then on there is no limit to their military career except the limit of ability. General Dyer's job awaits him when appropriate promotion.

All in-line business or professional success awaits those having character, real, industry, loyalty and ambition. It is no place for a lazy man.

Produce Best—The All-Weather Club, 10th and 11th streets, is invited to visit the L. O. F. Hall on July 3, 4 and 5, and make it their first room. The hall will be open from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. Local Old Fellows would like to meet all Old Fellows and neighbors during the Round-Up. It is announced.

On Motor Trip—Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Manchester, wife of Mr. Manchester, arrived in this city last evening on a Chevrolet with Mr. Manchester. Mr. Manchester has been property for the past eight years. The trip was made in a Chevrolet without a single serious mishap, having started at St. Joseph, Mo., made a stop in Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota and Montana. While in the city they are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Redeye.

Protects Supply—From the North, "Silo" comes a report that the water supply from the Jackson River, Wyoming, reservoir, is saved from diversion by the Snake River Irrigation company at Idaho Falls. A donation by Judge Cowan in Blackfoot denies the company's claim based on a prior lien to a certain amount of water. It is claimed being a contention that water now being below normal, the supply passing through the Snake river from Jackson Hole belonged to Idaho Falls farmers.

LOCAL TRAINED NURSE SECURED

Red Cross Public Health Committee Succeeds in Wise Move—Emergency Hospitals are Offered for Use During the Round-Up

Public health nursing, which proved so valuable in the great work of reconstruction in the future, was first organized in the larger city—namely New York, Chicago, Providence and Boston, perhaps forty years ago. Singularly and especially rural communities, however, have not shared in the development and the Red Cross the principle of nursing is now particularly desirous of placing public nurses in local communities.

The public health nurse, with her general and post-graduate training is now recognized as the most efficient instrument for promoting a higher order of community health. Her duties are of the most direct and practical form of social service. Striking at the root of epidemics by the prevention of the spread of contagious disease, she organizes classes of women who study the first principles of household sanitation, home nursing and home dietetics. (The Outlook, June 11.)

Some months ago a local public health committee under the auspices of the Red Cross society was organized, and during the subsequent months this committee has been faithfully trying to carry out the plans of the society and prepare for the placing of a trained nurse in this community, one who is especially equipped for such work.

It is gratifying to be able to state that about the middle of next month the local nurse will receive her berth, which will be, as it is known now, in a hospital having a single serious mishap, having started at St. Joseph, Mo., made a stop in Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota and Montana. While in the city they are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Redeye.

This committee deserves praise for the faithful work it has done. Members of the committee are: Mrs. Burton E. Morse, chairman; Shad Hodgson, vice chairman; Mrs. E. L. Warren, secretary; W. E. Nelson, treasurer; Dr. W. P. Pike, Samuel Hart, Mrs. George A. Hart, Mrs. W. F. Edwards and Mrs. W. A. Moore.

Chiropractic

(Spinal Adjustment)

"REMOVES THE CAUSE OF DISEASE"

There are many causes of disease. One of the most common of these is imperfect nerve supply.

The normal condition and perfect functioning of every part of the body depend upon nerve control.

If the wires are cut, crossed, or disconnected, an electric bell will not ring no matter how long, hard or often you push the button.

Even so in the human body. If the nerves controlling a part do not carry impulses (Messages), to that part, it fails to act. Physiologists teach that every action that takes place in the human organism is in response to a nerve-stimulus. If these stimuli are unable to send an impulse along the nerve, there is no action at the end of the nerve—the part is virtually dead—just like the electric bell.

What prevents the nerves from carrying these messages? Many different factors may operate to bring this about. But the commonest of these is pressure on the nerves.

Where does this pressure occur? At the point where the nerves pass between hard and movable bones in the spinal column.

How is this pressure taken off the nerves? By replacing the vertebrae (bones of the spine) in their proper position.

Chiropractic recognizes the fact that many diseases are due to imperfect nerve supply. It determines the cause of the faulty nerve supply. It does to pressure it finds the place where the pressure exists. It removes the pressure. It restores perfect nerve supply, and assists Nature in re-establishing a proper organic state and functional activity.

If you, kind reader, are suffering from a disorder that has not responded to other forms of treatment, call at my office and we will talk things over. If my specialty is indicated in your case, I will tell you so.

Consultations are gratis.

Private Peat Is Off the Program

Private Peat will not appear at the Chautauque this evening. He is sick in Blackfoot. Though some disappointment may be felt by some, says the management, promises held out that a capable substitute will take his place. W. L. Mellinger will lecture at both afternoon and evening entertainments.

A lecture on "Mammography" method" will be given in the afternoon by W. L. Mellinger. The Regulars will give readings at both the afternoon and evening programs. In addition to the presentation of Mrs. Morrison's program.

Yesterday was given over entirely to music. Camera's Casco-Slovak band played both in the afternoon and evening. The regulars who give the music the full measure of appreciation which their splendid ability commands. It was a splendid treat.

Perils of Big City Shown on Screen

There are a thousand different sides to any big city. Some know it only as a center of safety and pleasure. Others know it as the breeding place of wealth and luxury. One city will furnish the stranger chiefly by its tall buildings, another by the beauty and extent of its public parks, the perfection or opposite of its transportation systems etc. But every big city has a hidden side that visitors who are not so much interested in the under-world, with its pictures and claims to fame.

Such an underworld of crime and criminals has been made the setting of a Gladys Brockwell photoplay, "Falls of a Big City," which opens tonight at the Idaho Theatre. The picture is a William Fox production, tells a powerful story of a woman who battles against temptation and forsakes her life of crime. She begins with her feet on the underworld's man who promises to go straight with her. The picture is said to be one of the most appealing that ever reflected life in the slums.

ROY JOHNSON, Prop.

FILER, IDAHO

DIRIGIBLE BALLOON

before ten o'clock this morning (Greenwich time) about eight hours after she sailed away from her anchorage near Edinburgh.

Until she encountered the mist clouds, the great dirigible had been speeding westward at the speed of 40 miles an hour. She probably will reduce her speed as she crosses the way through the fog and it now appears likely that she may not reach Missoin, Long Island, until Saturday morning.

Her history making flight apparently is being made in as prosaic a fashion as that of any modern ocean liner. The crew of 23 men, including Lieutenant Commander Lamson of the United States navy, are as comfortably housed in their boudoirs as the officers of any of the big Cunard liners, excepting their freedom of movement is more restricted.

The United States navy is represented on board the balloon in the person of Lieutenant Commander Lamson, who is working as a member of the crew.

The giant dirigible was given an enthusiastic send off when she started the last Fortune flying field and headed westward towards the sea. The motors were working perfectly and all on board were confident of a successful voyage. The airman were hopeful that they would arrive in time to take part in the fourth of July celebration in New York city on Friday night.

There are more than a score of men in the crew of the great balloon and everything possible has been done to insure their comfort on the long trip through the air.

Major Cooke, the navigator, planned to make most of the trip at a low altitude in order to make observations easier and to keep in direct touch with the steamships passing beneath.

Weather conditions have been excellent when the historic flight was started and the indications were for fair weather for the coast. The dirigible had already proved her mettle by the 2,000-mile flight above the Atlantic, when she rode through storms that caused great inconveniences to ships in the sea.

Careful preparations had been made and the greater part of Tuesday had been given over to careful inspection of the mechanism of the "balloon." Every test known to aeronautical science was given to the dirigible to insure the utmost safety. An immense supply of petrol was taken on board as a precaution in case the dirigible was blown out of her course and would have to travel a greater distance than the probable fuel for.

In addition to Major Scott and Lieutenant Commander Lamson, U. S. N., the following additional officers are included in the crew:

Lieutenant Durant, wireless operator.
Captain Combs of the British navy.
Captain Greenhard, first officer.
Lieutenant Shutter, engineer officer.

Major Cooke, navigator.
Colonel Holt, and Major Pritchard. Before the dirigible set out her wireless equipment was organized and the original apparatus was removed and a long range plant installed. The new wireless has an 800-mile range.

An electric heating apparatus had been installed also, so that the men could do their own cooking on board.

The officers and crew were equipped with appropriate suits of clothing to keep out the latitude cold.

The dirigible was fitted with a parachute attachment.

Unless the dirigible encounters gales or strong head winds, she should arrive at Roosevelt Field, near Mineola, N. Y., on Friday, probably in the late afternoon or evening.

DENIES DEATH OF LOVE BECAUSE OF HIS WOUNDS

ST. LOUIS, July 2.—"If Charles was a divorcee he can have it, but there is no truth in the assertion that I caused to lose him because he is pennilessly crippled by wounds suffered in battle," Mrs. Alma H. Huslock of this city declares. Mrs. Huslock, wife of Private Gustave H. Huslock, blamed their matrimonial troubles on the soldier and said he came to see her only three times while being treated at the reconstruction hospital here.

Notice to the People Of the City of Twin Falls and Vicinity

The Elks Round Up, July 3, 4 and 5, will probably attract the largest crowd that we have ever had in our city, and we will be taxed to the utmost to make accommodations for our visitors.

It will be necessary to assign the greater number of the out of town people to private homes for room accommodations. This will be done by the Elks Committee in charge and utmost care will be taken to see that those sent to your homes are people who know how to conduct themselves. We advise, however, that when your guest arrives with his card of introduction from the Committee that you collect your room rent in advance for the entire period of stay as the Committee is not in a position to guarantee any unpaid room bills.

Those attending the Round Up in cars and who live within a reasonable distance of Twin Falls are requested to arrange to return to their respective homes at night as our accommodations will be taxed to the utmost and it will require every room possible to take care of our visitors, who come from a distance.

Let us show our visitors every courtesy possible, and all are urged to allow the use of their lawns and water hydrants for those coming in to spend the day and bringing their lunches with them.

The Elks have entire charge of this Round Up, it is true; however, it is their desire to have each and every citizen of our city to feel that he is a committee of one to look after the comfort and welfare of the stranger within our gates to the best of his or her ability.

Round-Up Committee
