John Lefty Singleton, the only man on the Twin Falls ball club who hasn't made an error, if you don't count the time he fell off the bench, is leaving. Lefty is making tracks today for Salt Lake and to judge from his talk, will probably submerge for the rest of the season. At least he remarked that Idaho was too good for him.

Lefty has been an extremely handy player to have attacking around the ball park. He went through the entire first half of the season, without bogging any of the numerous folding chances that came his way. He hit close to the mark and a good many people figured him the smartest pitcher on the club. There was never any worry about the right garden with him on the job. However, he is a professional ball player and there isn't quite enough kale in the treasury to support him in the style to which he has been accustomed.

Meanwhile Ace Carson has temporarily delayed his departure for the coast and is now digging for the club on terms for which he might remain. The famous bottom coal, ready to erupt, is now for the home fans again if the proper inducements are held out.

"There is but one infallible measure of Newspaper Advertising Value and that is the Want Ad page."

The above statement was made by William Nelson, formerly owner and editor of the Kansas City Star. Pre-eminently the most successful western newspaper. It is doubtful if there was ever a man in America who was better qualified than Mr. Nelson to give a valuable opinion as to the best test of a newspaper for advertising.

Moreover Mr. Nelson's opinion is heartily endorsed by all the leading authorities on advertising.

This reason is that the want ad business, no secondary considerations, influence the advertiser. The only way to secure a certain paper is that he either knows from previous experience that paper gets good results, or he has been so informed by a friend. The give him of a classified advertiser is "Results."

That is the reason that the Times publishes more paid want ads than the two other Twin Falls papers combined. Because want ads in the Times gets results, and as Mr. Nelson says, Mr. Merchant, and others, the only infallible test of a newspaper's value as an advertising medium is the want ad page.

THE TIMES Prints more Want Ads than the two other Twin Falls Papers combined. Therefore it's the ONLY PAPER that measures up to the infallible test.

"And the compilation of what they stood for and us who represented America at the peace conference was our duty to see to it that every decision we took part in contributed to an end which was able to influence to quiet the fears and realize the hopes of the people who had been living in that shadow, the nations that had been denied assistance to their freedom. It was our duty to do everything that it was in our power to do to make the triumph of freedom and of peace lasting triumph in the assurance of which might every where live without fear."

The only way to secure a certain paper is that he either knows from previous experience that paper gets good results, or he has been so informed by a friend. DOUGLAS-FAIRBANKS ON EDUCATION

Douglas Fairbanks, in an article in a current magazine on how he would bring up your children if he had a chance, says some things which every parent would do well to ponder. It gives the movie fan rather a jolt to find that "Doug" is as much of a philosopher as an actor, but the jolt will not hurt him any. No philosophy was ever more wholesome. Judge bits of it, and think about them: "I would plant and water and cultivate the seeds of humor in the youngsters—and in the long run the crop that they would crop from that planting would be worth as much to them, I think, as anything that the acrobatics can give."

"I'd teach them to expect tumbles, and to take their tumbles with a smile—there's nothing more important, it seems to me. No man is so pitiable as the man who has been trained only for success; who cannot be happy except when everything is coming his way, and who comes at length to a hard, swift fall. There is no philosophy no saving him for such a circumstance. It is more than likely to be crushed by a misfortune which a man who had been trained to misfortunes would count as nothing at all."

It's a great thing to believe that you are pretty likely to succeed; for if you believe it hard enough you are pretty likely to win out in the long run. But it's a great thing also, to have in your soul some ironical philosophy that will help you to stand up and play the game in case things don't turn out as planned—something that will carry you through when men who are trained only for success are beginning to throw up their hands and quit.

WIFE-TRAINING

The little war brides in England show no inclination to settle down to the routine of home-making. To induce them to do so, the ministry of labor proposes to establish schools where these young wives may learn pleasant and practical methods of housekeeping, how to care for their babies, and how to appertain the husband's income so that it may provide for the family and obviate the necessity for the wife's working outside of her home.

It is estimated that about 400,000 English girls married during the war. Of these by far the greater number were munition workers. They were fed and housed in cantens and hotels provided especially for the purpose and learned nothing of domestic art. They were too busy helping to provide the ammunition for their husbands in the field. About 300,000 of these wives have no children, and it is vital importance to England that they set about the business of home-making and bringing up families. As an added encouragement to the girls to take up the study of home-keeping there will be a maintenance fee of about $4 a week for each girl until she has been thoroughly trained in domestic science.

Such a movement would be valuable anywhere. Most of the financial difficulties which drive women into the industrial field come from a lack of understanding as to how to manage a home and administer an income.

And even though a woman may prefer to find her domestic tasks over to someone else and devote her time to other occupations, still if she must direct a home she can do so far better for having a practical training.

CHANGING A RELIGION

Max Harden, the German editor, asks: "Will 60,000,000 to 70,000,000 industrious and, for the most part, personally worthy human beings reach the conviction that not only certain methods but the entirety of their thinking and willing. Their political religion has been condemned by the genius of the age, and that humanity will not rest until this religion has been rendered wholly impotent?"

GERMAN PRINCES DEFEND KAISER

Call Upon Populace to Prevent Degradation of War Lord, and Offer Themselves

BERLIN, July 9. Several hundred German princes will present themselves before a tribunal and demand redress for the acts which the ex-kaiser is accused of. If the Prince Frederick Wilhelm of Lippe is tried on Monday...

The prince, who is now residing at Frankfurt-on-the-Oder, has sent telegrams to all German princes, stating that he will appear before the tribunal of Prince Frederick Wilhelm of Lippe in order to defend himself for his father's trial in London.

"German princes," said Prince Frederick Wilhelm, "has brought out my disarrangement and has given our enemies a chance to satisfy their thirst for revenge with greedy manifestations, which demand our emperor, who, until recently, they praised."

The degradation they want to bring on me and on my family, if we stand aside while the emperor treads the path of sorrow? It cannot, must not be. We German princes stand shoulder to shoulder in this case. We followed him in war and in peace and carried the sword which was also his, we now stand by him, calling out to our emperor: "Walk on for him, or with him."

To the Amusement Lovers of Twin Falls and Vicinity:

The following entertainment from L. S. Scott, manager of the Metropolitan Theatre of St. Paul and Minneapolis, the Theatrical Gateway of the Great Northwest, the Twin Cities that put the stamp of approval or condemnation on all amusements coming to the Northwest, is cheerfully endorsed by Mrs. Manager:

"An event of far-reaching importance, never before realized within the borders of the State of Idaho is the appearance of four of the world's greatest stars in the city, combined in one company, presenting a exceptionally successful play by an American author, staged by an American master of stage technique and sponsored by one of the most daring of all American managers."

"The announcement of any one of the following stars at the head of a dramatic organization is sufficient guarantee of the merits of that organization, the combining of a really ALL STAR cast is not only unusual, but it is really an epoch-making event in the theatricals of the world."

"Negotiations have been quietly progressing for weeks, and only within the last few days has the management of THE LAVERING THEATRE been able to meet the demands necessary to secure this worthy and unusual combination of STARS."

"It is with a great deal of pride we are now in a position to say the prime difficulties have been overcome, TWIN FALLS theatersmen, and those in our vicinity will have an opportunity to witness an assemblage of theatrical stars like of which has never before been placed on tour in AMERICA."

"MISS MARGHERIT HILLSTROM, too well known to require more than a mere mention."

"MR. HILTON LACRAT, famous as a creator of unusual and unique roles since his epoch making first in that never-to-be-forgotten THELMA."

"MRS. A. THELMA HALLBERG, first coming prominently before amusement lovers at the creator of the 'vampires' in the world-tired production of 'A WOMAN THERE WAS,' later as leading actress with Mr. Herbert Tree, then STEAR throughout Australia and recently excelling numerous roles in the more serious and worthy moving pictures."

"THE FRENCHMAN TREN is the source of our devotion to take this and manifestly place in the ranks of today's players."

"The entire cast is fully up to the demands such a quartet of STARS demand."

"MR. FRANK A. A GOOD OLD HUMAN," deals with the Intimate Home life of a Irish and blond couple, and is both tense and virile in treatment, with its masterly and touch is such comedy to be enjoyed."

"STAGED by that master of technique, MR. RICHARD BENNETT, in the way that only masters of stage craft are able to do."

"REPRESENTED by MR. H. H. PRAGGE, who has given amusement lovers more worthy nights than has any other American producer, not forgetting his world's famous ALL STAR CAST in 'FINE FEATHERS.'"

"We have no hesitancy in saying this will be the biggest theatrical event of all time in this city or its vicinity."

PRESIDENT EXPLAIN

gures. Our isolation was called 20 years ago and now fear of us is not desired and desired. There can be no question of our wanting to be a world power. The only question is whether we can raise the moral banner which is so often used, whether we shall accept or reject the confidence of the world."

"The war and the conference of peace, now sitting in Paris seems to me to have answered that question. Our participation in the war established our position among the nations and nothing but our own inaction action can alter it. It was not an accident or a matter of sudden choice that we are no longer isolated and isolated. It was our duty to go in if we were in danger of France, and the call of duty in a way as spirituous, not utterly without thought of what we spent of blood or treasure, and not in vain, so worthy of the admiration of true men everywhere, so wrought out of the stuff of all that was heard that the whole world saw at last, in the flesh in addition, a great ideal asserted and vindicated, by a nation they had deemed material and not 'bound to be composed of the spirit's forces that must free men of every part of every man's mind, and it is thus that a new role and a new responsibility have come to this nation that we honor and which we would like to see in the highest levels of service and achievement."

"The stage is set, the destiny disclosed, the curtain about to be drawn of our consoling, but by the hand of God not us into this way of which we cannot turn back. We can only go forward with fixed eyes and freshened spirit to follow the vision. It was of this that we dreamed at our birth, and this shall be truth, show the way. The light streams upon the path ahead and nowhere else."

LANSING FLAYS ALL DISLOYALTY

Warns Frenchmen Against American Who Are False to Their Native Land

PARIS, July 9.—(Dated for Americans who have little sympathy for their country, were flayed by Secretary of State Lansing in a speech in a banquet given in Paris, during the commission to the peace delegates from North and South America last night.

"I regret that it had to be said that the United States has suffered two years from having someone who ought to give expression to American character and American ideals, and in place his country in an evil light," said Secretary Lansing. "I shall not attempt to analyze the moral motives which induce such unworthy conduct on the part of anyone who claims to be an American, but let me set his brand. All I say is that he is neither a friend of his native country, nor of France."

"As I would warn you, my friends, of the loss of any man, who leaves his position in social life or business, who disobeys his name as an American by abandoning his country, to people of other nations."

Secretary Lansing expressed the hope that the future would see peace and justice with which the people of all nations will be united in the same spirit in which they would war."

"In a few days," said the secretary, "I expect to be in the States, and it is my purpose to tell my countrymen that I know what France has suffered. I know the parcels of property and of lives which the French people have borne their army, and that I know that this people will stand at the trial of the future with the same eyes to conquer as they have shown in the past. To that message there will be but one answer. It will be the out-retched hands of a billion millions eager to shake with the people of France in the toll of a new day."

LONDON, July 9.—"It is now plain at Westminster and admitted by all hands that the plan for the trial in London of the ex-Emperor has fallen flat," wrote the Lobby correspondent of the Daily News today. Lord Charles Bessborough, contributed a letter to the Times today on the same subject.

"I sincerely hope that no one should think the public will see the racks and shafts about and will not persist in the desire to try the Kaiser in London," he wrote.
