PROMINENT BASEBALL PLAYERS POSSESS LITTLE FADS OF ONE KIND OR ANOTHER

Many ball players have fads of one kind or another. A list of them will be instructive.

John Bluthorne, who has played short on many teams, collects postcards from the various clubs he visits.

Joe Borg has an account of every game he has ever pitched passed away in a scrap book.

Dutch Leonard has a passion for talking machines, and spends much of his spare cash purchasing records.

Stong for Flowers.
Eddie Collins is strong for flowers, and has up a rose bush here and a new kind of plant there in his garden back in a suburb of Philadelphia.

A large number of players keep scrap books.

Ed Walsh has a pile of them large enough to stock a small library. Few players have had so many features written about them as Walsh has enjoyed, and many a day he glads from one to four pages in his book.

Ed also picked up pictures of himself in action, and has filed up a book about them at home in Michigan, Conn., which is said to be one of the finest of its kind in the country.

Eddie Claret is another who keeps a scrap book. His fondness for some day to place an account of his ball game in this volume. He has nearly everything else.

While on the road this spring we visited Jack Fournier, former Sox and

ROOKIE SHOWS REAL CLASS

John Paul Jones Expected to Derive Much Benefit From George Gibson at Toronto.

John Paul Jones, the young pitcher sent to Toronto by the Giants, is a fellow that the club leader would keep with him if the player, had permitted.

However, a search in the international league will be of great benefit to the Toronto pitcher, especially in view of the fact that he will be under the tutelage of George Gibson, a past master in the art—and it is an art—of developing young pitchers.

GERBER GOOD "BOX" FIGHTER

Shortstop of St. Louis Browns Act Sparring Partner for Populist Kid Regan.

Walter Gerber, shortstop of the St. Louis Browns, during the team's recent home stay, acted as sparring partner for Populist Kid Regan while Regan was training for a fight. Gerber is said to have shown to the workman that he might have been famous as a box fighter instead of baseball.

OPINION OF ARBITER KLEM

Veteran Umpire Says All Players Are Battling as Life Depends Upon Outcome.

Take it from Bill Klem, veteran umpire of the National League, the current pennant campaign is going to be one of the most fiercely fought in the annals of the pastime.

Umpire Bill Klem.

Bill has indicated his way through many seasons, but he declares that not since the days of the old inter-city rivalry between New York and Chicago and New York and Pittsburgh has he seen the most fiercely fought fight so keenly in his doing now. "The old game is back," declared Klem, "made to indicate about that. The boys are all battling as if the life were hanging upon the outcome of the game. That is the spirit that makes baseball the most popular of all sports, and while they are all fighting every step of the journey there has been a pride worthy lot, of decidedly good men on the field for which I am sure the fans are grateful."

DIAMOND NOTES

O'Brien is playing a great game at third for Philadelphia.

Cy Williams isn't particular where he kicks his home runs.

Manager Connie Mack of the champion Athletics team plays golf.

If Owner McMill only had a couple more Clint Hogges and Cayes there would be nothing to it.

Warm weather loosens up the hitters. In the salary news, but it doesn't loosen up the salary cap.

When it comes to driving 'em back to the water bucket, prohibition hasn't much on Walter Johnson.

From the eight baseball stars of the Service League at San Francisco, an all-star team will be picked to tour the states and play amateur teams.

The New York Giants have a first baseman under contract in George Kinnear, who seems to be finally coming through. He is reported as playing wonderful ball for Rochester.

Pitchers come and go, but some hang on forever. Old boss Boston looks like a million dollars in the Three League and is about the only pitcher the Bostonian club depends on.

In the second game of the tournament day next between St. Paul and Minneapolis, the Saints scored 23 runs. Les Brown crossed the plate six times. He drew four bases on balls, and singled twice, getting around each time he got on base.

IDAHO HARVARD CLUB ELECTIONS

TAGGING ALL THE BASES

The vast reputation obtained last May by the Indians in their game against the Browns, is not and cannot be the Browns from taking one half of the double header, however the Indians' checkered record the previous victory.

The Giants got off the homologous long march over the Cardinals, but left them to work hard for the victory. Triples by McGarity and Baras produced the winning run.

Epps have came up four hits, to the Pirates, which helped out with a home run.

The Braves made but one hit out of the first nine innings and batted three in the ninth, but they had enough to beat.

Broadway fans are selling for an immense amount of Red Sox tickets. The attraction has from country to the Dubois. The blanket double boys with two hit while the Red made three in the second game.

Edna Schomburg added another victory to her home team on Friday. Lefty Williams, however, was unable to top the Yankees in the second game. King's holding was a feature of both games.

To Cobb hit in the winning run in his fourth inning at Washington. Hays carried the run home. The Tigers made a clean sweep of the series.

DEMAND END OF SEX INEQUALITY

Women in Industry Determined to Have Equal Pay for Equal Work.

Idea That Men Should Have Higher Wages Because They Have Dependents Is Exploded—Investigation of Conditions in Living.

Standards for the employment of women in industry, as formulated by the women in industry service of the United States department of labor, eliminate all discrimination on account of sex. The tendency throughout the country is toward equal pay for equal work, after a frank discussion of the proposition.

One of the most advanced for testing the argument advanced for higher wages for men, Miss Anderson said, is the fact that men have dependents to support.

"Society of labor during the war argued women to wages for men because that they ever received better," Miss Anderson commented, "and this gave them a taste of higher standards of living, which they are not willing to see lowered in peace. War wages for women also were made to pay for the cost of living for men employees had paid before, and this has been a stimulus to industrial equality. Many employers' new standards of living, which they are equal work, after a frank discussion of the proposition."

One of the most advanced for testing the argument advanced for higher wages for men, Miss Anderson said, is the fact that men have dependents to support.

Wherever the system of collective bargaining is adopted in industry the service industries that women should have representation in the industrial boards or councils in proportion to their numbers. This system is especially recommended by the service of men to assure the employer more efficient production.

Other standards recommended for women are the eight-hour day with Saturday half holiday, one day of rest in seven, an eight work between 10 p. m. and 6 a. m., provision for rest periods and sufficient time for eating and sleeping, and a day of rest for living, supervision as far as practicable by woman executives, and approved safety and sanitary arrangements.

Investigation of the wages and working conditions of women in the dress-making industry is now being made in New York city and later will be made in Boston, Mass., and Chicago, Ill., and other cities.

The Modern Way of Practicing Dentistry

By DR. PARKER
Founder and Executive Head of the E. R. Parker System

REGISTERED Dentists using the E. R. Parker System practice dentistry on the same principle as a leader conducts an orchestra.

A good orchestra consists of violinists, cornetists, trombonists, pianists, flute-players, drummers and all the rest, and when they play together the result is harmonious melody.

No man can be a complete orchestra by himself. Following that simple idea, the E. R. Parker System recognizes that no man can be a complete dental establishment by himself.

And so the Registered Dentists using the Parker System are men who have been trained to do some one kind of dental work particularly well by doing much of it.

The kind of work your teeth require is done by the dentist who is trained in that kind of work, just as the man who knows how to play the violin is the man who has been trained to play the violin in an orchestra.

Thus the dental work done under the Parker System is as good as can be done anywhere.

And the prices asked for this kind of work are more than reasonable, for specialists lose no time, and time saved is money saved, and this saving is shared with the patient.

If you think that Dentistry under the Parker System is done the right way, come in, have your teeth examined free, and learn in advance how little the price will be for having your teeth properly cared for.

Silks and Cottons Are Rivals

The advance of silk for making many things that used to be made of cotton has been indignant and rapid. For frocks as well as blouses, muscades and underwear, silk in the gardenlike varieties has come to be a powerful rival of the more and more costly fabrics that belong to underwear. The choice lies between crepe-de-chine or crepe georgette and organdy when the delicate weaves are considered. Gradually the proportion of silk garments in the lingerie wardrobe grows larger and silk stockings have supplanted those of cotton.

But organdy need not fear that its place will be usurped, even by the finest of delicate weaves. It is a georgette, because brandy has a crispness that makes it irresistible for the weather. Nothing can look as fresh or so comfortable when the thermometer is hitting the high places, and nothing is lovelier in white and pale colors.

The dress at the left of the picture is made of white organdy, with full bodice and a short tunic. Very narrow bands and thin lace edging provide decoration. Both and the lace is set on to the organdy with a narrow banding. The dress is made of white organdy in light blue, with a narrow banding and thin lace edging. The picture on the dress at the right tells all these things in a few words. It is made of white crepe-de-chine with half length sleeves and Chinese collar that proclaim it an up-to-date model of the slip-on style.

Among the New Trimmings
Wool embroidery is found about smart suit trimmings. Gray wool embroidery is liked on gray, blue, and black dresses. It is not only for cloth dresses, but actually on cottons such as organdies and gingham. Black and white embroidery of the successful trimmings on cottons and silks. It is used frequently as a trim and sometimes to lead the eye.

THE PROFITS MADE BY PROFITEERING

The $214 which local millers are making over and above what the Hoover food administration allowed as a "fair" profit, and which Senator Gronum declared the other day in the senate was an "enormous" profit, does not look very big on a single barrel of flour. It is not much of a gouge of the consumer when taken in small doses. But when it is taken in a large way, and figured out on the basis of the total wheat production, it amounts to a large sum.

There was some talk about a billion bushel crop of wheat in the United States, but it has been declared that this mammoth prospective has been cut down to about 500,000,000 bushels. Now that much wheat will supply the material for about 190,000,000 barrels of flour. If other millers all over the country demand tribute at the same rate as local millers, and it is likely they ask as much or more, the total year—approximately a pound of flour a day for each man, woman or child in the land. That would be prosperity. Everybody, including the starving people of the east side of New York, would get enough to eat, at least of flour and bread. But when they have not only to dig up the just price with a fair profit added, but four hundred million dollars tribute to the milling industry, it is no wonder the bakers millers live in palatial houses, with creature comforts beyond the fondest dreams of the men who raise the wheat, or of the railroaders who haul it to market, or of the men who run the mills.

IF AMERICA SHOULD INTERVENE IN MEXICO

Five years ago when the German kaiser, then in the height of his power, made the decision which plunged the whole world into war, his well-remembered remark to the Almighty was a series of many, more or less profane remarks. The incidents on the left knuckles of the Hun soldier, "Gott mit uns," was in keeping with the false claim of the head of the government. It was all a miserable pretense of holiness which rightfully was scorned by the thinking world, which jumped in and belted the stuffing out of the kaiser.

Now, if America ever decides to intervene in Mexico, let it be hoped that no such egregious mistake shall be made by the forces of the United States as was made by the government of Germany, in assuming, or pretending, that it was gone into partnership with the God of the Universe, and are going into Mexico only for Mexico's good. It holds as if somebody would like to create the impression that such is the purpose of the United States. According to a recent telegram from New York, a meeting was held in the bankers' club "to talk out the campaign of spiritual uplift for our boys in the inevitable war with Mexico."

That "spiritual uplift" sounds so much like the German partnership that it arouses suspicion. If the United States is going into Mexico to clean up the country, well, in heaven's name, don't we do the job in the interest of humanity, if humanity will be served thereby, or in the interest of mining or of cigarettes, if mining or of cigarettes will be served thereby. Let's just try to be honest about the job and not seek the glory of heaven to promote selfishness.

U. S. TRADE WITH JAPAN

Persons who are greatly concerned with Japan's attitude toward fair and reasonable relations with the United States should be reassured by the last report of the Washington Chamber of Commerce. It seems that last year the foreign trade which went through that port was with the United States. A man, long familiar with Japanese-American commercial relations says that in ordinary times 50 per cent of Japan's trade is with us. This refers to articles sold to us by Japan. We are shipping to that country nowhere near the amount of goods we should be.

No country as shrewd as Japan will willingly antagonize a nation which pays for 50 per cent of its exports. The chances are that this fact alone will go farther than any other argument to lead Japan to make such decisions with regard to shipping, immigration and other questions concerning the United States as will be satisfactory to this country.

Certainly the withdrawal of American trade would be a weapon sharp to our hand should the necessity arise. Far preferable, however, would be such an adjustment of business and political relations between the two countries as would permit of the great mutual trade expansion possible.

By hoarding the price of sugar at this season, the profiteers will discourage the business of canning at home, fruit will be permitted to rot to waste, and want and destitution will be promoted throughout the country, but the fellows who corner the sugar will make a nice profit out of the deal. So spreads the seed of revolution.

We are informed by an American diplomat that Austria quit because it was a physical impossibility for her to continue the war. He might also have added that Austria quit because she had come to exist.

Flour, having gone up only 100 per cent in the last six years there is still a chance for the farmer who is willing to raise fairs and fortunes.

PRICE FIXING

I have been advocating some form of price fixing for years as a solution of the trouble between capital and labor and of the monopoly menace. Recent developments and the trend of business in this country have convinced me that I was wrong along on the right lines.

Mr. Stone, speaking for the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, in substance, says, "If the present plan (which plan) is not successful the government will have to fix the prices of all commodities. Wages will never catch up with costs of living. The only way to keep everything in line is to fix the prices of all commodities. It is the only way to keep everything in line is to fix the prices of all commodities. It is the only way to keep everything in line is to fix the prices of all commodities."

That looks like profiteering, but it is not. It is the only way to keep everything in line is to fix the prices of all commodities. It is the only way to keep everything in line is to fix the prices of all commodities. It is the only way to keep everything in line is to fix the prices of all commodities."

What good would that do? What is profiteering? Gardiner, wholesaler and retailer under an economically regulated business, legitimately ran at the end of a year, might show an profit of 50 or a loss. The trouble is there are too many of him. This trouble cannot be remedied by profiteering.

What we tell him to null his business and go to something else. So we will be his detouring that he himself after, please me fixed. What we are interested in is supply. He will take care of himself, for then he himself will have a chance. Let's fix the price of the goods. Let's fix the price of the goods. Let's fix the price of the goods.

of night. There is no sense in it while there is cause for it. Farmers as well as the country at large will pay dearly in a reaction. I know of a farmer (and there are hundreds of them doing the same thing) I have no doubt who is selling off at 100 per cent profit. He can sell his high priced hay. In a year, not over two, he will want stock to feed his low priced hay to. Then he will pay a high price for the stock to get it, thus eating up the profit on the hay he is now selling.

Now, if the price of hay had been fixed for this year at last year's price (and it was) he would have saved this demoralization of farm business, and its effect on other business. The price of labor will be the subject of our next.

Pretty and Practical Bathing Suits

We are apt to think that things full knickerbockers gathered on an impulsive visit to the beach. It is a short, alt skirt and a long-waisted bodice, also short sleeves formed by a small flounce of tulle. The stock legs match the suit but when the shoes are black and high at the back, having with white cord or tape across the front.

Longer Hats of Chantilly. Lingerie hats made of black tulle with lace and modeled after the bonnets worn by the princesses of Lorraine are quite a feature in the hats for advanced summer wear. The most effective of these models are made with long full ruffles gathered into a ruffled high band and in cap style. To the band are attached two or three full gathered ruffles of different widths of black chantilly lace.

Net Dress Needed. No summer wardrobe is complete without at least one net dress, because they are delightfully cool and comfortable for hot afternoons or evenings. A simple and becoming little affair is a frock of white net and voile combined, trimmed with a bit of embroidery done in heavy, white cotton threads and girdled with a corded net sash.

Wedding Gowns of Satin. The most distinguished of wedding gowns are of delicate satin, very plain with lace full forming the only ornament.

Shamrock Club—The Shamrock club had a delightful meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Mary Egan. Seventeen members were present. Mrs. Whitehead and Miss Seymour being guests of the club. Mrs. Hurdley was in charge of the program and Mrs. Egan was the winner of the contest prize. The hostess served delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake at the close of the meeting. The club will meet with Mrs. C. H. Griffith August 24th.

And Lived Happily Ever Afterward.—The couple, in the twenties, fashionably but not ultra dressed, unmistakably worthwhile in the face, were pushing the Knights of Pythias building when the man turned his face toward the woman and said in an even tone of a well-modulated voice: "Did I or did I not?"

"You are a liar," without a change in the pitch of his voice, as he again turned his face toward her.

She took her hand from his arm, never lost a step, and proceeded across the street. He stood in irresolution apparently oblivious of traffic, as they alternately spoke and gazed at each other. It was a magnificent and delightful quarrel—in dianapolis News.

ELKS WILL BACK SALVATION ARMY DRIVE FOR FUNDS

Quota of $6000 in Twin Falls County—Campaign During Week of Sept. 22 to 29

With $6,000 in the Twin Falls county quota, the local Elks had over $10,000 behind the Salvation Army drive set for the week of September 22-29.

Major George H. Deamont of Seattle, appeared before the lodge to outline the campaign plans and objectives, which he principally to carry out during peace times the great relief work which the Salvation Army carried on during the war. Idaho is at the head of the parade, the drive, Governor Davis acting as state campaign chairman.

Contribution of a $50,000 home for relief work among fallen soldiers, a $50,000 emergency fund and $25,000 for support of Idaho soldiers in hospitals of other states are among the features of the fund to be raised. All of the money except the $25,000 fund named, remains in the state.

ELKS ROUND UP SHOWS A SMALL PROFIT MARGIN

Report of Executive Committee Last Night Reveals $2840 Accrued to Lodge

Showing a net profit of $2,840.63 the official report of the executive committee was read to the Twin Falls Elks last evening by C. D. Thomas.

Total receipts of the Round Up were $25,691.55 and total disbursements $22,850.92, according to the report. The committee members are now being audited to verify the report.

Considering that the recent Round Up was the first one attempted here and involved a considerable initial outlay that would not be attached to the fund, it is felt that the result, amounting close to $3,000, makes a good showing. The Elks are by no means discouraged at the result.

SIXTY BUSHELS OF WHEAT, ACRE CROP

O. A. Penrod Produces that Yield on Forty Acres of Land

Sixty bushels to the acre is the estimated yield of a field of forty acres recently raised by O. A. Penrod on the H. U. Davis place on the North Side, between Eden and Huxleton, E. A. Patterson of the Idaho Hardware & Implement company brought a number of samples of the grain to The Times office today, and he said that besides the forty mentioned there are other acres that he is confident will run fifty bushels to the acre.

One head of the wheat brought in by Mr. Patterson carried a total of fifty-eight heads, he admitted. This was practically an "even break" with a possible profit from savings of labor at round up park, hit close to the mark.

MOTHER BEARS. Daddy told the children as they were about to leave their evening story that he had decided he would tell them a great deal about the two animals, for he had been studying a good deal with the keepers...

But when you read of one of these animals and of its ways and what it does, and how it looks and how you can know that it is quite quite true, and that it wouldn't be anything else...

How Wonderful Little Cubs Are!

Though it would be nice for everyone to know that, we'll have all sorts, but this is just a little chance I have to tell you that every story in this little book is true and every animal and every way of an animal or thing is just as it is...
