game, however, was full of life from start to finish. Evans, Stoddard, Moxley and most of the other Rupert players are of the aggressive type and naturally love to play. In the first inning, yesterday's was an average game. Tyler, who has been playing for the local club, was a complete throw in the basket. He did not do a great deal, however, and had base and hit. In the second inning, Tyler batted a couple of pretty catches, while doing outfield duty.

John Lachance, the clever little first baseman, appeared in a local contest yesterday. After having pitched yesterday, Lachance played his usual brilliant game behind the plate and took in half of the team's hits. MILL EMPLOYEES HAVE VOICE IN MANAGEMENT

"Through a union of representatives" and a "union" the 2,000 employees of the Riverside and Dan River cotton mills at Danville, Va., will be given a voice in the conduct of the plant.

The "house" and "senate" will be represented by a cabinet composed of executive officers of the mill with voting power.

The "house" is composed of 117 workmen, and the "senate" of 25 foremen, and all resolutions will be held on the company's floor.

It was announced that on employees, elected under the new system, a dividend would be distributed every 20 days, with one employee and stockholders sharing.

The Riverside and Dan River cotton mills is a $15,000,000 corporation, and operates one of the largest cotton mills in the South.

SHIPBUILDING IN COLLEGE COURSES

Many Institutions Will Include Naval Architecture in Curriculums.

TO BE DEMAND FOR EXPERTS

United States Shipping Board Is Encouraging and Fostering Plans for Development of Marine Architects and Engineers.

New York.—Schools of naval architecture and ship construction may soon become important branches of educational institutions of the United States if this nation continues its headway in building vessels. For years the United States has produced a demand for ships that could not be met, and some of these have already established courses in naval architecture, marine engineering and ship construction, while others are planning similar action.

The United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet corporation, which felt as early as the lack of tonnage in carrying out its shipbuilding program, and had to establish emergency schools for intensive training, is now counseling and fostering plans for the new schools in all institutions capable of expanding their fields of learning.

It is necessary for men who are closest touch with the situation that the need for marine architects and engineers will arise as the government enters the open field of competition in construction for home and foreign tonnage. On this occasion P. J. McNeill, manager of the division of ship construction, recently sent letters to universities and technical and preparatory schools which read as follows:

"Does your curriculum include a naval architecture course, and if so, would you be interested in receiving a copy of the following information regarding to ship and ship construction?"

- "1.—Technical order (covering change and alteration for vessels).
- "2.—Proposed standardization of rolled steel ships.
- "3.—List of data.
- "4.—Reference data book of various steel vessels.
- "5.—Chart showing total rivets driven on various shipyards.
- "6.—Marine drawings of government tender type.
- "7.—Drawings of standard machine engine.
- "8.—Blueprints showing the efficiency of shipyards, based upon their tonnage deliveries for six months period.
- "9.—Employment bulletins.
- "10.—Material list for wood ships.
- "11.—List of standard designs.
- "12.—Chart showing the number of rivets driven and the tonnage of steel for various designs.
- "13.—Blueprints showing particular details of various ships.
- "14.—Standard form of E. R. C. contract for ship construction.

"Upon receipt of your request we will forward you copies as desired by you."

Many Colleges Respond.

The University of Cincinnati, Columbia University, Harvard University, Cornell University, University of Michigan, Boston Institute of Technology, Princeton University, Yale University, Drexel Institute, Philadelphia; Webb Academy, New York city; Lafayette University, Bethlehem, Pa.; Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Lehigh University, Easton, Pa.; Stevens Institute, Hoboken, N. J., and the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh, Pa., sent in requests for the data.

Herbert L. Seward, assistant professor of mechanical engineering at Sheffield Scientific School, Yale university, wrote:

"I would be very glad indeed to receive the 16 items you enclosed. We are planning and developing courses in marine engineering and this material seems very appropriate."

"On the job"

Certain-teed forms a complete, seamless surface that sheds rain, snow and sleet year after year with almost no attention. It is always "on the job."

The most severe weather makes no impression on Certain-teed—nor can sparks, fumes, gas, smoke or insects impair its protective strength.

Yet Certain-teed costs no more—less in fact than other types of roofs. It is easily and quickly laid by anyone who will follow the simple directions that come with the roll. Upkeep expense is too slight to consider.

Your buildings, old or new—large or small—in city or country—should have the protection of Certain-teed.

Certain-teed is made in rolls, both smooth and rough surface, (red or green) in hand-cut, red or green, made in sheets for residences, Certain-teed in extra quality—the name means a certainty of quality and satisfactory guarantee. It will pay you to get Certain-teed—most dealers sell it. Ask for Certain-teed and be sure to get it.

DO YOU BELIEVE IN WATER METERS?

Twin Falls has water rights far in excess of its present needs. If the city does not use any of its rights by measure, it will have water to spare for years to come. But it is likely that the city, the any other owner of water, must make beneficial use of its supply, or lose it.

The installation of meters in Twin Falls would cut down the use of water, and thereby hasten the day when the city's rights would lapse. Besides that, such installation would cost citizens of the city approximately $25,000 which could be better used in putting down iron water pipes, especially in streets that are soon to be paved.

The installation of meters would require the employment of more clerks to take care of the accounts of water users, and there would need to be a number of meter readers employed. The Times was under the impression that all the relatives of the city administration already were provided with jobs, so it can see no reason for thus creating more jobs, for some "rank outsider" might slip into a soft place with the administration.

Naturally, when the city administration contemplates the installation of meters to curtail water use, citizen question the wisdom of the move. From sad experience the citizens have come to question the wisdom of anything the administration suggests.

But meters may be a good thing for the city. It is reported that they make an effective screen to keep the fish from leaping out of the faucet. The Times invites public discussion of the proposition through its Public Forum column.

POINDEXTER MAKES BID FOR SUPPORT

Friends of Senator Miles PoinDEXTER of Washington recently announced the senator's candidacy for the Republican nomination for president of the United States. Miles is eminently qualified for the office. He has a broad grasp of economic conditions. He has solved the riddle of the cause of the high cost of living. In an interview given to the United Press, one of The Times news-gathering agencies, the senator said:

"The cost of living is due to the demands of railway employees and others for continued increase of wages. It is due in part to the abandonment of the government by the president while in Europe and hoarding of food by the government and private dealers with various appropriations and loans by the government to purchase fuel, food and other necessities to feed Europe with no appropriation to feed America."

Although Miles declares to state the remedy, it is fair to presume that he would at once start on the labors of the country and cut wages down the lower the better, for that would reduce the cost of living. Then, if Miles were president he would not go to Europe and abandon the government. No, he would stay on the job and keep the army at home, too, by battle with strikers, who wanted an increase in wages to meet the high costs that their increased wages were causing. The big as final and complete solution of the high cost problem, he would make an appropriation of all the money in the national treasury to feed America.

Miles is a wonderful economist, but he fails to say a word about profiteers because they are so numerous he perhaps wants to get their support in his presidential ambitions.

THE BRITISH IN EGYPT

The British government occupied Egypt in 1882 in the interests of Egyptian independence. It was to be "merely temporary." Ever since then, up until 1914, every British ruler and premier has declared that independence for the Egyptian was forthcoming soon. The Egyptian delegates to the peace conference tell a story in exclusive dispatches to The Times that, if true, ought to stir the world to complete disgust with any nation that maintains a benevolent protectorate over distant lands and people, and ought to persuade the United States to get out of the Philippines.

The English crown prince is visiting Canada. Are you interested because he is a prince of blood royal, or because he is just a plain "every body man"? Replies will be regarded as strictly confidential.

It is well that the prohibition leaders have decided not to campaign against tobacco. Men have got to have some vice, haven't they? And if tobacco were banished, they might take to smoking corn silk, or chewing garlic or something.

At least, city customers find a certain satisfaction in the midst of high prices of breadstuffs in the realization that they don't have to help make up any billion-dollar bonus for the farmer's wheat crop.

Maybe when the hotels cut out their fancy French menus, they'll also cut out the fancy prices? Or will they charge more for better patrons know what they're eating?

Paternalism Is Sure in Time to Kill Spontaneity of Human Intellect

By DR. FRANKLIN H. GIDDINGS, Columbia University

The intellectual life can prosper only where liberty of conscience and of thinking are cherished. It has seemed to come among us that of late our American life has drifted too strongly toward paternalism. Possibly this drift has been caused in part by the inconvenience and dangers of social disorder and anarchistic propaganda.

But let us not in our war upon these perils forget that, while they may veniently destroy, paternalism will inevitably stifle and in time will kill all spontaneity and outcropping of the human intellect.

Americanism then at last comes down to this: We want an Americanism that will produce men and women that are not only self-reliant in the practical sense, but who also are self-ideal, strong, outcropping, fearless, creative in the spiritual sense, and such men and women can live and do their part in the world if we have a particular kind of law and a particular kind of liberty, self-determining law and a law-abiding liberty.

Like the Pilgrims and the Puritans who rebelled our institutions, like the patriots who made for us an independent nation, like the men who saved and consolidated our Union, and like the men who now have given their lives to save the whole fabric of civilization, we must continue to make and to safeguard such law and such liberty.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE HENS TALK

"Cackle, cackle, cackle," said Mrs. Hen, as she walked into the barnyard. "Why how do you do, cackle, cackle," said Mrs. Hen, "Hello, friends," said a third hen known as Mrs. Henrietta Hen. Mrs. Hen, the first speaker, was always known as Mrs. Hen as she was the oldest and finest hen in the barnyard and she had a special liking to be known as Just Mrs. Hen. She always made her made for seem to be the only one in the barnyard. Really, it wasn't such a big name as Mrs. Henry Hen or Mrs. Henrietta Hen, but it was something so absurd Just said Mrs. Hen.

"What did you see?" asked Mrs. Henry Hen.

"I saw something so absurd," Mrs. Hen said again.

"So you told us before," said Mrs. Henrietta Hen. "You haven't got told me what it was that was so absurd," Mrs. Henry Hen told Mrs. Henrietta Hen.

"That's right, hen," said Mrs. Henrietta Hen, "don't wait for my one to be given a chance to say Mrs. Hen, Hen, Hen. Well, if you don't want to tell us, you won't," said Mrs. Henry Hen.

"Of course you wouldn't," said Mrs. Henrietta Hen.

"Now hens," said Mrs. Hen, "don't get mad. There is nothing funny about it and I meant no offense. I meant it to be quiet and explain about it."

"Well, as you're Mrs. Hen and Mrs. Henrietta Hen, you'd better be patient, I suppose," said Mrs. Henry Hen.

"She had always talked about it," said Mrs. Hen, "but she didn't think anyone would say anything to her if she did. She had tried it once or twice and no one had."

"This was what I saw which was so absurd," said Mrs. Henrietta Hen.

"She passed, closed her throat, cackled some more and then began with her story."

NOTICE OF CONTEST
Department of the Interior, United States Land Office, Haystack, Idaho, July 29, 1918.

To John W. Durkey, of unknown address, Converse:

You are hereby notified that Edna M. Hyde, who gives Kinberly, Idaho, as her postoffice address, did on July 28th, 1918, file in this office her duly executed application to contest and secure the cancellation of your Homestead, Serial No. 627256, made January 26th, 1917, for 8 1/2 Secs. 3 and 4 Township 11 South, Range 20 East, Boise meridian, and as grounds for her contest she alleged that said Hyde never established her residence on the said land and that he has abandoned the same; that his absence from the said land was not caused by his enlistment in the service of the United States along the Mexican border or elsewhere, either in the army or navy, or the military service of any state; You are, therefore, further notified that the said allegations will be taken as confessed, and your said entry will be canceled without further right to be heard, either before this office or on appeal, if you fail to file in this office within twenty days after the filing of this notice, an answer, under oath, specifically responding to these allegations of contest, together with due proof that you have never had a copy of your name on the said contest either in person or by registered mail.

You should state in your answer the name of the post office to which you desire future notices to be sent to you.

DEN B. OBAY, Register.

Men's Clothes are mighty nifty these days and we're getting in some that are full of "class." Lots of style and fit with special emphasis on the fit is the sum total of the men's clothing you'll find in this up-to-date store.

Fabrics too are a big consideration in this day of high prices and hard to get at that. But we pride ourselves on choosing stuff that will wear and hold its shape and of the latest patterns.

Browns, Blues and Greens are the big favorites, all mighty good colors too for fall. Some are plain materials, others have a check or plaid effect not too distinct.

We'll be mighty glad to show you men whenever it's convenient for you and not urge you to buy, for you will see for yourself that these are values we are offering.

A Wonderful World

"Don't talk to me about the wonders of nature," said Uncle Joe Cannon, "the world today is far more wonderful than ever before. Just think: It took Columbus as many months as it now takes days to cross the ocean, and we talk about flying and traveling with a machine as though they were nothing."

"Why, the other day I dropped into a country school just in time to hear the teacher say:

"Johnny, into what two great classes is the human head divided?" and Johnny answered promptly:

"Monody and pediatrics."

"That's what I call progress. After awhile there won't be any pediatrics."

Widow-Burning Holy City

In all the wonderful Holy City of Boxes, on the Ganges, there is no more interesting relic than the curved shadow of a shrine of "Suttee" where the widows of dead men were for 2200 years burned alive on the bodies of their dead and masters. Strange to say, the horrible practice had the passing days of a rich Hindu brought some news of the death to his country in or before.

Announcing the CITY COAL CO.

*Twin Falls Newest Business Institution Opens Today--
Is Now Ready for Business*

The City Coal company, a new organization has taken over the yard formerly operated by the Western Coal company. The new management will operate the yard along progressive business lines, soliciting your patronage solely on its merits to serve you efficiently.

Quality, Full Weight, Courtesy, Fair Dealing will be our motto through all our dealings with you. We appreciate your business and to show our appreciation we will leave nothing undone to satisfy you in every respect. Our patrons will be shown every consideration.

KEMMERER COAL

Will Be Featured at This Yard

To the many Twin Falls people who have used this good coal in the past mere mention of this fact should be sufficient, but there are some who have never heard of this high grade coal, so we refer them to the following U. S. Government test:

The U. S. Government Equivalents show that to equal the amount of heat produced by burning one cord of oak wood, it requires

PLAN FIGHT ON "BIG BUSINESS"

Organization of "British Trade Unionists Will Be Gigantic Combination."

POWER IN INDUSTRIAL FIELD

Estimated That Close to Seven Million Adult Members Will Be in the New—Advisory Council Now Drawing Up Plan of Campaign for the Organization.

By RALPH COURTNEY.

The great trade union movement in Britain, with its 5,000,000 members, has decided to join with the Union of British Co-operative Societies, with a membership of about 4,000,000, in order to form a production, consumption and distribution in Britain.

This amalgamation will represent the greatest business combination in history. It will draw in power if not in funds, the gigantic Federation of British Industries, with its capital of $2,000,000,000.

The new combination is organized to fight such organizations as the B. I. F. I. In its international scope the combined trade union and co-operative movements will be the greatest enemy of the "big business" interests throughout the world.

In Britain those combined unions would include nearly three-quarters of the population. If co-operators have their way it will be available in the industrial field.

It is estimated that after allowing for overlapping of membership the combined movements could have 7,000,000 adult members. Close on 7,000,000 families would supply the need and each of these families would include on an average two adults and three children.

A joint advisory council of co-operators and trade unions has been constituted to draw up a plan of campaign for the new organization.

Trade unions are to have their funds in the co-operative society, thus supplying it with capital for business expansion. As the result of recent meetings, over 200 unions have limited their funds, amounting to $100,000,000, to the co-operative.

ONLY "FAIR DEAL" NECESSARY

No Reason for Politics to Figure in Matter of Getting Workers' Reasonable Demands.

The biggest question in the world today is the labor problem. How to give a fair deal to and get a fair deal from labor; how to satisfy the reasonable demands of them and the owner and do the world's immense work and get them in such a state of mind that they will be glad to cooperate with you in how to keep labor under continuous application to production at maximum efficiency. That, fair or not, is the issue.

It is not a political question at all, need not be. Comparatively little political action of any sort is necessary to solve it. We can get it solved and solve it ourselves if we want to. Every employer and every workman can do his own thinking for himself and better than companies, big business or politics can solve for him. It is the man who is doing his own thinking will first start organizing. He will give a fair deal to his own humanlike relationships, the labor-management will solve it. Political intervention is simply adding bad feeling and wants to settle a question. It is not the man who is doing his own thinking who will settle themselves if they would be fair, reasonable, and honest.

Don't wait for politics. Start solving your own problems. Saturday Evening Post.

General Working Co. Casting.

Samuel Tompkins, president of the American Federation of Labor, will represent the American Federation of Labor at an international conference of the trade unions of Asia, Africa, and Europe.

Mr. Tompkins said that his principal object in going to Europe was to confer with European labor leaders in regard to the organization of the proposed an International Labor Legislation, which will meet in Washington next October under the presidency of the president of the United States. He expressed the belief that during his trip a coalition of European, American, and American labor organizations would be effected which would be greater than anything dreamed of in the past.

Strikes Take Place in Japan.

Labor troubles are taking place in Japan. A general strike in Wharfedale province, 100 miners went on strike recently and, armed with pickaxes and shovels, railed the residences of the mine officials and destroyed or damaged the buildings and furniture. The legal police force suppressed the rioters. The cause of the trouble is the strike for higher wages.

Similar occurrences are reported from various parts of the empire, the highest wages in the world being paid in some cases to the miners. The cause of the trouble is the strike for higher wages.

FOREIGNERS STORING UP WITH AMERICAN CATTLE

PULLMAN, Wash., Aug. 18. Brazilian, Portuguese, Italian and French livestock buyers are making in replenish the dairy and beef herds of their respective nations by purchases of American stock principally of the Holstein, Jersey, Hereford, Friesian Angus and Shorthorn breeds of cattle, Merion horses and Romney and Marsh sheep, according to statistics from Washington, D. C.

A French commission instructed to buy 2,000 purebred dairy cattle is already in this country. The American total in Brazil says that South American country now has approximately 8,000,000 cattle, but there is room there for 32,000,000 more.
