ORGANIZED LABOR FOLLOWS MODERATE COURSE

League Seals Doom of Free Institutions, Says Cochran

GREAT CONCERN IS UNREST AMONG MEMBERS

Executive Council of Federation Adjourns After Three-Day Session in Which Nation's Great Problems Were Considered.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—The course of organized labor in meeting the economic industrial situation in the country is to be one of moderation. This was indicated in every step of the extraordinary meeting of the legislative council of the American Federation of Labor, which adjourned here today after a three-day session.

Decision as to final action in the meeting on the position of the federation with regard to the Plumb plan for nationalization of railways was deferred pending an investigation.

Without action by the council the committee representing the railroad shippers recommended that their strike movement be held in abeyance for ninety days, the light on the high cost of living may be carried out in accordance with the president's request.

Debate of Judge Gary of the United States Steel corporation to meet a committee representing union employees, the request of the American Federation of Labor to meet the committee.

The executive council endorsed the strikers' strike, plucking the moral and financial support. In addition, President Gompers announced the council will appeal to all labor to aid the strikers financially, and morally.

As to the future, President Gompers explained that a new charter was issued to the Equity secretary and the old time White Labor association under the name of the Actors and Artists' Association of America, and the pledge was given for the full support of the federation with its membership.

Disposition of the alteration created by the shippers, which would have tied up the railroads of the country with respect to all Great Industries.

Plumb's plan league officials tonight, complete satisfaction was expressed with the action of the council. Gompers in honorary presidency of the Plumb plan but it was pointed out that none of the members of the council is a railroad man, and they have not studied the Shippers' plan.

The greatest concern to labor leaders at the present time is the unrest in the rank and file, and with respect to it it is passed without serious consideration, the immediate danger will not be averted.

The report of the American delegation, conference of International Trade Unions will be made public shortly, President Gompers said. It shows clearly that the wave of socialism has receded.

SMITH HELD FOR MURDER

Shot Howard Bolmore in Melon Patch Remanded to Jail After Hearing

BOISE, Aug. 29.—Charles C. Smith, a rancher near King Hill, was held in the district court on a charge of first degree murder after preliminary examination at Murphy, Smith was taken to Silver Friday evening where he will be held in jail until court meets September 16.

Smith shot and killed Howard Bolmore two weeks ago when he found Bolmore in his melon patch. No witness were called in behalf of Smith at the hearing and after three witnesses had testified for the state, the case was submitted following arraignment. The court found Smith over for trial without bond.

STORAGE BILL IS AGREED UPON

Proposed Legislation Requires Marking of Storage Products as Such and Showing Exact Time Goods Remain in Storage.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—A storage bill along the lines suggested by the national association of warehousemen was agreed upon today by the house agricultural committee. Under the proposed legislation, food cannot be stored for more than one year and must be plainly marked with a cold storage product, with the exact time that it lay remained in storage.

The provisions already agreed upon will be part of one of the most far-reaching bills to bring down the cost of living congress has ever introduced. The whole bill will be framed to protect a farmer in commodities, or use of cold storage delectably to enhance public health.

The entire bill will not be completed until late next week and will be considered in the house soon after.

Any cold storage longer than a year or not properly marked may be seized by United States officials under the law and held out on the market of the country.

The reinforcement of the new law will be lodged with the secretary of agriculture who is given power to require reports from all plants.

It will also have power to prevent destruction of food in storage and to link efforts to allow it to deteriorate to enhance prices. If some products cannot be kept a year, the secretary is given power to order their distribution at any time their food value is found to be deteriorated.

Drastic action by the department in closing the market of several retailers, who were given heavy fines because they had discouraged all attempts to charge inflated prices except a few down to the far west located on branch railroads.

Justice department agents in every section of the country now are giving special attention to retail prices, forcing big drops of wholesale prices.

CONSIDERS SALE OF WOODEN SHIPS

Congressional Committee Inspects Hulls of Fortysix Boats in Which Government Has Tied Up Twenty Million Dollars.

SEATTLE, Aug. 29.—Congressional investigation into wartime shipbuilding activities covered today around the disposition of partially completed wooden ships left on the hands of the emergency fleet corporation.

Fortysix wooden hulls are now assembled in Lake Union in two great fleets. The ship right the water side holds form a bridge of ships a quarter of a mile long. The members of the congressional investigating committee boarded a tug today and were carried out to the wood ship fleet.

Officers have been made by private interests to purchase and complete some of the ships. The price offered, and the advisability of sale by the government is one of the matters under investigation.

When taking of testimony was resumed late in the afternoon, Captain John P. Blain, formerly head of the emergency fleet corporation organization, today was expected to be called.

Back of the testimony taken to date has been the history of administration of fleet corporation affairs. Secret sessions have marked the investigation during the last twenty-four hours.

NASHVILLE, Aug. 29.—The body of Bill Cooper, who was tried here in 1910 in connection with the slaying of Senator Carmack, was found here this morning in Richland creek. Police expressed the belief that Cooper was the victim of foul play.

Cooper at his trial was convicted of murder in the second degree. However, the case was reversed by the supreme court on April 12, 1910.

Cooper was the son of a Tennessee farmer and his mother was related to the Pell family in Tennessee.

A heavy examination of the body revealed a broken bullet and other evidence that Cooper had been shot by a revolver which is now in the hands of the police.

Ford's confession says he met Wunderlich in a park. He says Wunderlich, who was a bartender at the hotel, offered to sell him a bottle of whiskey.

He says he accompanied him to his hotel room and got a bottle, paying for it. He says he had paid for the whiskey when he was in the room.

RAILWAY CAPITAL MAY GO OUT ON STRIKE

Suggestion Is Made That Financial Magnates May Follow Example of Brotherhoods and Quit Unless Relief Is Afforded.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—Railroad capital as well as labor may go on strike unless congress grants the department in planning for the future of the roads, S. Davies Warfield suggested today in a statement supplementary to recent testimony before the house interstate commerce commission.

Warfield is author of the railways plan sponsored by the National Association of Owners of Railroad Securities, representing large numbers of banks, trust companies, insurance companies and individual investors, that own railroad securities.

Warfield says that unless congress makes the railroad investments sufficiently attractive, capital will desert the railroads to more profitable fields and leave the rails without the credit necessary to their operation and development.

Warfield said his statement was in answer of the plans to guarantee a return of 4 per cent on monies they have actually put into the properties. All returns above six per cent will be distributed between the public in the form of lower fares, labor and capital equally.

We have asked, pending the putting into effect of the fundamental of this plan, that the standard return now being paid to the railroads be continued.

Director General Hines was quoted by Warfield as unequivocally endorsing the position taken by the security holders.

The senate intra-rate commerce amendment completed drafting the bill which will be introduced and referred to the full committee.

SUSPICION IS PRINCIPAL THING WRONG WITH PACKING INDUSTRY

One of "Big Five" Proposes Affirmative Program to Stabilize Markets and Bring Down High Prices to Level Where Everybody Can Afford to Live.

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Thomas E. Wilson, president of Wilson & Co., and chairman of the Institute of American Packers, today issued a sensational statement answering questions as to what the packers want, what is wrong with them, and whether they are going to change.

Taking up the challenge of critics who assert that the meat packers have neglected proper regulations without offering any constructive plan in its stead, Mr. Wilson proposed an affirmative program with five distinct features. He stated that the following things are needed:

- 1. An accounting commission, composed of representatives of both the accountants, divorced from politics, to audit the packers' books every year, and make public an understandable report. Any transaction discovered should be punished under the Sherman Act, the Clayton Act and other corrective laws already existing.
2. A non-political investigative body to examine the meat industry from end to end, and report on the facts ascertained, with recommendations for improvements.
3. An advisory conference committee, comprising both packers and producers, with consumers and the government both represented, to try to stabilize somewhat the relation between supply and demand; that is, to try to anticipate the demand for meat.

produce, and influence the production and shipment of live stock accordingly. A definite determination as to what is wanted by the packers is not to be had until the packers have been put on their backs. If such interest is helpful it should be continued. The interest of should be continued.

Some special agents, composed of prominent economists, to report on the causes of the high cost of living. The principal thing wrong with the packing industry is a general suspicion that something is wrong. That suspicion, nurtured at a critical time by unscrupulous agitators, has diverted some part of our energies and some part of our personnel from their proper duties. It has been forced into defense while we were planning construction.

That suspicion, nurtured at a critical time by unscrupulous agitators on the part of the public. A disposition on the part of the public to be fair to the packers and to give them without facts or to condemn them without proof, would be of benefit to the public. It is to be regretted that we have transgressed the law of supply and demand by hoarding, our country would fill up, and our killing and dressing operations would have to cease.

Violent fluctuations in live stock prices constitute another thing wrong with the marketing of live stock and its products. These fluctuations back the farmer angry and thus put out the farmer's ability to produce. These fluctuations are often not proportional to demand. But the packers have to take all live stock shipped. One new lot of live stock in Chicago and then shipping them back again because no buyer can be found.

I believe a proper remedy for fluctuations is a broad conference committee of packers and producers, with consumers and the government both represented. It could do much to stabilize the markets and do it wisely.

Two things must be done: First, farming must be commercialized. If the farmer becomes a business man, the country must realize it no longer can live off its fat but must seek adequate compensation. Secondly, production must have a speaking acquaintance with consumption. It could do much to stabilize the markets and do it wisely.

But when the war ended, the department found itself in the position of the man in Grinnon's tale who had the soap mull. After he got it turned on, he couldn't shut it off. A cure or a brand was his only hope for the law of supply and demand. A conference committee could work in the same order to stabilize the market. It is simply not possible that the price of foodstuffs should be maintained at a level insuring a profit for the farmer and a decent standard of living for the consumer.

An economic committee, made up of representatives of the government, to reduce the sum which consumers of food pay for wheat, sawdust, salaries, long-time credit, frequent delivery

Eyes for Business. The "small son of a physician in Seattle" went to the drug store the other evening by his mother, and told to hurry back. While waiting for the clerk to get to him he heard a gentleman at the soda fountain order a root beer and saw him throw six cents on the counter. After you see two of these for 11 cents?" he asked the clerk. "Yes," was the answer. "Then give me one," the boy said, putting his nickel down carefully by the man's six cents.—Indianapolis News.

TIMES WILL RECEIVE PICTURES OF EVENTS SENT BY TELEGRAPH

Invention Recently Perfected and Never Before Available for Newspaper Use Will Supply The Times Readers With Pictures Sent Over the Wire.

Like another Julia Verne tale across the idea of telegraphing pictures. Many untrusting and skeptical minds declare that it can't be done. But the invention has actually been made. Pictures can now be telegraphed from coast to coast, from continent to continent. The invention has been available for newspaper use, and The Times, anxious to give its readers the most up-to-date news, but also the pictures of things as they happen, has made arrangements to have its pictures telegraphed.

The greatness of this invention will be realized more thoroughly when it is understood that The Times will publish pictures of fire, wars, railroads, auto races, action pictures, aeroplanes, portraits of people of sudden prominence, lambasting ships, murder scenes, court scenes, yacht races, escaped criminals, photographs, parades, riots, prize fights, football games, plays in action, etc. on the day after they happen. Instead of many days after as in the case when pictures came by mail. The Times will be the only paper in Twin Falls to publish telegraphed pictures, and will give them to its subscribers something a week ahead of other papers.

To newspaper men and newspaper subscribers, the chief interest in this wonderful invention lies in the fact that it gives them the world's news in pictures immediately, but a week later when all news value is lost. But this great invention, which The Times readers are to have the benefit of, has many other far-reaching benefits. It supposes a criminal escapes. The picture can be flashed to the far corners of the earth in a few minutes, making it impossible for him to get anywhere without his picture preceding him. Important signatures can be telegraphed. Telegrams can be sent in the handwriting of the sender. American consular agents, especially those in the west, will find great interest in having pictures of what Madame Bonaparte was today in Paris. Important decisions, maps and photographs can be sent by wire.

MISS MARY CUNNINGHAM

Miss Mary Cunningham, aunt of President Woodrow Wilson, whose bravery at Cortez forms one of the most interesting stories of the war. Miss Cunningham fled to her humble lodgings in the town during the German occupation. With her windows riddled and most of her furniture for firewood, she survived the winter on the very verge of starvation and endured a nightmare existence till the happy day of liberation by the British came. Miss Cunningham is an Ulster woman and is nearly eighty years of age.

PERSHING TO VISIT REAL HOME WHERE REAL FRIENDS LIVE AND EVERYBODY CALLS HIM "JOHNNY"

No Pomp, Splendor, Dignity Except That Belonging to Truth and Simplicity Will Mark Hero's Visit to Laclede, Mo.

LACLEDE, Mo. Co., Aug. 30.—General John Joseph Pershing is coming home—home to Laclede, Mo. county, his Missouri home. A cablegram from the general to Mayor Edmund B. Allen promises a visit here shortly after his return to the United States on September 1. Here, where General Pershing is beloved the whole countryside and throngs with joy and anticipation.

"Pershing is coming!" Small boys, whether it is tones of age; young folks blush at the thought of meeting him, and the ladies of these times and schoolmates look forward to the joy of basking in the reflection of the general's distinction.

"Great plans are in the making. Citizens of Laclede never worked harder to welcome the return of victorious 'Czar'." And the ladies of these times are in a labor of love. He is their General Pershing and they are planning to give him a reception that will add a chapter to the history of Missouri and to the world, as Mayor Allen expressed it. "Pomp, dignity, formality and splendid things—that have marked receptions for the general throughout the capitals of Europe—will be omitted when he is received here. The welcome will be a simple old-fashioned Missouri home coming. 'The singing, shouting, handshaking and music, and for a little champagne, much merriment with fried chicken dinner for the general'."

Bank and decorations will be forgotten and the Iron-jawed Missouri will come back to his humble people. The history of Missouri and to the world, as Mayor Allen expressed it. "Pomp, dignity, formality and splendid things—that have marked receptions for the general throughout the capitals of Europe—will be omitted when he is received here. The welcome will be a simple old-fashioned Missouri home coming. 'The singing, shouting, handshaking and music, and for a little champagne, much merriment with fried chicken dinner for the general'."

The tentative program provides for the presentation to the general of two national gifts. First of these is a faded, time-worn photograph of his mother, taken more than fifty years ago. The second gift will be presented by Jordan Parks, a negro. It is an old fashioned revolver which Pershing gave to him for doing chores prior to his departure for West Point. Just to make General Pershing feel a little more at home a military parade will be included on the program. Every soldier in the United States, Mayor Allen says, is to participate. General Pershing is to receive the parade. Decorated heroes of Missouri are to be organized as a guard of honor. Secretary of War Baker, Governor Gardner and the governors of Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Illinois, Oklahoma and Arkansas are to be invited.

United States Senator Spencer and several other senators and congressmen also will be invited.
