THE DAILY TIMES PAGE OF SPORTS

FROM THE PRESS BOX JUG

Our professional buddy, Buzz Berry, hit the well known nail on the head when he remarked to the effect that completion of the present baseball season is a necessary evil to protect the future of baseball in Twin Falls. He was quite right in saying that the managerial team is being subjected by us merely to mop off the slate for a new deal next year. That we appreciate team work from the other newspaper boys goes without saying.

This has been a bad week for catchers. The two worst clubs, have lost their backstops for the rest of the season. LaChance of Twin Falls and Factor of Latta being out without a throwing arm. He played his last game on Labor day and will leave for the coast this week. Patton received a hard luck season yesterday by breaking his right arm while cranking his Ford. Dynamic lost his thumb apart while playing with Twin Falls early this year and was out for a spell. The first time he had been hurt in ten years of steady baseball. Yesterday his wrist was badly shattered by the thrower. "She kicked me clean onto the road" is the way he reports the event.

NOTES of the DIAMOND

Oklahoma City added a new pitcher to its staff in Yonkman, who got away good for a starter.

Pitcher Turkey Bonin is out of the army at last and rejoined the Little Rock Travelers the other day.

Ellis Johnson, former pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics, recently out of the army, joined Baltimore.

Before the Chicago Cubs got Lee McGee from Brooklyn, Manager Mitchell tried to deal for John Rawlings of the Braves.

Memphis announced the release of Catcher Gill Meyers, but changed its mind and the young collegian was told he could stay on.

BECKETT NOT IN DEMPSEY CLASS

Bout With McGoorty Satisfied. Fans British Champion Is No Match for American

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Joe Beckett doesn't cut in the same class with Jack Dempsey, the Salt Lake boxer, boxing fans on this side of the Atlantic are expressing this opinion today, following Beckett's bout with Eddie McGoorty at the Olympia Coliseum in London.

The fact that McGoorty stayed seventeen rounds with the British champion has furnished a number of followers of the fight game with a great fair line on the ability of Beckett, whose class was a point in doubt prior to last night.

Accounts of the battle indicate that Beckett was McGoorty's master, but it would appear that he lacks the aggressiveness and punching power of the world's champion as he would have disposed of the veteran Milwaukee boxer in short order.

McGoorty is thirty years old and has been fighting for fourteen years. He has not been an active boxer in the last four or five years, though he did some campaigning in Australia.

Beckett is admittedly at the top of his form. The fact that McGoorty hit Beckett, flush on the jaw in the third round with one of his erstwhile famous left hooks and failed to drop him indicated "but he has gone back a long way. In the old days McGoorty was one of our best punchers, and the new outfit furnished by the Beckett-McGoorty bout leaves but little in the British fighter's favor except that he came away the winner.

Velvet Always Hits a 3 Bagger: Sight! Smell!! Taste!!!

THEN it's easy to get to the home-plate, right where you snuggle down in an old coat and slippers to enjoy life.

To begin with, Velvet Tobacco, in its jolly red tin, has a wholesome generous look to it. Nothing namby-pamby about it. A red-blooded tin full of red-blooded tobacco, for red-blooded folks.

Open it up—and you get the fragrance that Nature stored in the tobacco during eight changing seasons, while it mellowed in great wooden hogs-heads.

And say! It's great! That good, natural fragrance of Kentucky's wonder tobacco—Burley—King of Pipe-land. No camouflage about it. No dolling up.

Pack a pipeload. Light up and you'll get the fragrance of real tobacco—the incense to solid comfort.

And a mild, pleasant taste, that only our Nature-ageing method can impart. You will never taste a finer cigarette than the one you roll with Velvet.

Fifteen cents a tin—not a cent more.

Batter up!

A friendly pipeful makes even the umpire seem almost human.

Velvet Joe

...for Attitude
 ...the world? I cannot conceive that any intelligent and candid man would assume any such thing as a possibility.
 "It is therefore evident that if such a proposition were submitted to the nations associated with us in this war we would be met by an instant refusal to accept the amendment, and then where would the United States find itself in this international settlement? The answer is simple. We would find ourselves out in the cold, isolated from the rest of the world. The work of ratifying the treaty would proceed without us and within a period of a few weeks after France and Japan had ratified the treaty it would be in working order. It would become an established precedent and operations under it would be commenced. The treaty itself provides that when three nations in addition to Germany have signed it it shall go into effect. The machinery it creates would be set in motion, and the United States would be left high and dry without any settlement with Germany.
 "What, then, will the United States do? What will the American situation propose who stand for this method of killing the treaty? Some of them will say that congress can pass a joint resolution declaring a state of peace with Germany. Others say the United States can negotiate a separate and independent treaty of peace with Germany. Those who talk this way evidently have no conception of the enormous benefits and advantages which the United States derives from this treaty, which was wrung from Germany at the cannon mouth. Neither have they any conception of the difficulties involved in negotiating a new treaty with Germany to establish the terms of peace and settle the controversies of the war.
 "Germany might very well under such conditions say to the United States that she had not desired war with the United States; that she had never declared war on the United States; that it was the United States which forced war upon her; and she might very well claim that the United States and Germany should be re-

...responsible for the damage of the war. As long as we remain a party to this treaty we get the benefit of that acknowledgment which Germany was forced to make under compulsion, but if we decide to be a party to this treaty, as we will if we insist on amending it, we lose the benefit of that acknowledgment and we are forced to discuss with Germany perhaps for fifty years, the question of responsibility for war damages and losses. Under the treaty the United States acquired from Germany more than we lost in the war. Does anyone suppose that Germany will voluntarily agree to make that concession to us if we feel that our rights by renouncing a party to this treaty?

"GIVE YOUR NEIGHBOR DRINK" IS APPEAL MADE TO FARMERS

Although Good Crops Were Produced, NORTH SIDE HAS NO WATER FOR STOCK OR DOMESTIC USES and Faces Serious Situation Unless Canal Waters From South Side System Can Be Borrowed.—Times, Aug. 28th

You can have running water where you want it—when you want it
With a Kewanee on Your Farm

There is a Kewanee Water Supply System within your reach—one that exactly suits your needs—one that will give you a lifetime service as only Kewanee can. Tell us your needs and we will furnish plans and suggestions. Get in touch with us Today!

WHAT THE SYSTEM CONSISTS OF

A Kewanee System Water Supply consists of a Kewanee Pumping Unit, a Kewanee Pneumatic Tank, and pipe connections between the two. The Pumping Unit is combined with motor or gas engine in a unit setting. There is no separate air compressor.

THERE IS A "KEWANEE" FOR YOU

There are more than one hundred types of Kewanee Systems. Pumps ranging in capacity from 100 gallons to 12,000 gallons per hour. Either deep well or suction. Steel Storage Tanks vary in size from 140 gallons to monster tanks nine feet in diameter and forty feet long, holding 10,000 gallons.

PURE FRESH WATER

A Kewanee Tank keeps pure water pure, and helps to purify and freshen impure water. The oxygen in the air helps to destroy the impurities in the water, and by our plan of forcing the air through the water, the water is aerated—bubbles of air pass through the water and oxidize the impurities.

Contrast This—With your separate air pump outfit? It forces the air in on top of the water. Your water in storage is stagnant and smells badly. Be sure of the water supply system you put in and it will be sure to be a Kewanee. Telephone or write us today for free bulletins and further information.

WHEN WILL FEDERAL OR STATE AID BE GRANTED?

The statement of Mr. Chumel to the farmers' committee which waited upon him for an explanation of the delays incident to the beginning of road construction is explicit in declaring that federal aid funds cannot be applied in paying the cost of any construction work done before plans are approved and aid granted. Notwithstanding this explicit declaration, the commission has spent $112,465.62 in furtherance of the construction program, of which $45,816.34 is itemized as road construction and bridge construction, which was necessarily done at the expense of the highway district alone if federal aid has not been granted.

Although the statement shows what must be done before federal aid is available, it is silent as to what moves have been made to get federal or state aid. From anything the report shows, absolutely nothing has been done to take advantage of the federal aid law. And nothing is disclosed which goes to show that state aid has been applied for in the construction of state highways within the highway district.

The commission proceeded to spend $45,000 in road construction and bridge construction; evidently before any aid was granted. There is no suggestion as to when application for state or federal aid will be made. The district did this work on the highways and bridges and then discontinued its activities because the entire cost would have to be borne by the district unless federal aid is granted, and further, because the ground became so dry that good work could not be done.

The expense of the rock crushing plant is a legitimate charge against "road construction," and it may be that the cost will be allowed to enter into the cost which the federal aid will cover. There being nothing to the contrary appearing, it is a fair conclusion that federal aid will apply to the cost of the crusher plant, but not if the expenditures are made before federal aid is granted. Notwithstanding this, construction of the plant presumably is going on at the present time. The report says: "We know of no reason why this plant cannot be completed and in full operation not later than October 1st."

Assuming that no reason shall appear to delay the beginning of the work of crushing stone, and that the plant will fulfill expectations of producing 500 cubic yards or 800 tons a day from then on, and it is the intention of the commission to put the plant into immediate operation, by next May 1 it will have on hand some 87,500 cubic yards or 140,000 tons of crushed rock with which to begin construction. If this rock costs as much as the commission feels "justified in assuming" it can produce crushed rock for, the rock will have cost $111,250. Add to this the cost of the crusher plant, and there is an expense of $26,250.

Federal aid cannot be applied in paying the cost of any construction work done before plans are approved and aid granted.

The federal aid has been applied for? Or will the highway district stand the expense of this rock crushing, certainly a part of "road construction," without receiving federal aid?

A Times dispatch from Boise on August 23 says the biggest road contract in the history of the state had virtually been let for the construction of some thirty miles of the north and south highway. The telegram said:

"The state has bid $800,000 available."

The contract called for $79,738.44, so the mileage will be cut down in order to get the cost within the state's available fund of $800,000.

It is not clear if this fund is the money the state has for road construction until the legislature meets again and appropriates more, but it is explicitly stated that the "available" fund is exhausted.

What effort the Twin Falls highway commission has made to get state aid is not disclosed by the report, but it will be in good strategic position to grasp state aid for the program when the legislature once more essays to render assistance to roads in Idaho.

Meanwhile, the surveys are all complete. At least that is the fair inference from the statement, which says the requirements of the bureau of public roads "we believe sufficiently show the necessity for making the complete surveys that have been made by the district's engineers and deemed necessary before contracts are let for road construction."

A contract for road construction can legitimately be made to cover the cost of material. If it is so made, it seems reasonable to suppose that federal aid will apply to the cost of such material. But if the contract is let for road construction, and the highway district furnishes the material at a cost of $1.50 a cubic yard for crushed rock, or a total cost of $150,000 for that material, and expends $125,000 in the construction of the plant to make that material, it is questionable if federal aid will apply to the total expenditure of $275,000 this made.

Let the commission explain when state and federal aid will be applied for, and whether the expenditures already made can in any way be permitted to come under the heading, and if not, what the expenditures were made up by delaying work a few months until state and federal aid is granted, they might have been included in the cost of construction entitled to such aid.

HOW TO LIVE

What President Wilson has said to the railroad men and the public in his statement regarding the demands of the railroad shop workers applies to every industry and to every form of economic activity in America:

"Any substantial increase of wages in leading lines of industry at this time would utterly crush the general campaign which the government is waging with energy, vigor and substantial hope of success, to reduce the high cost-of-living."

"Only by keeping the cost of production on its present level, by increasing production and by rigid economy and saving on the part of the people can we hope for large decreases in the burdensome cost of living which now weighs us down."

Such a view is naturally disappointing to the men immediately concerned, and to every group of employees which has been hoping for a raise in pay. But there can be no question in the minds of men and women who take a broad view of the situation that this is the way to go about it.

General wage-raises do not solve the problem; they only complicate it, because prices rise in their turn, and there is an ascending spiral of pay and prices, prices and pay, instead of a satisfactory adjustment.

There are undoubtedly injustices here and there in the industrial world that need straightening out immediately. But speaking in general, the way out of present hardships lies along the line indicated by the president and suggested over and over again in recent months by public men and newspapers giving the question serious and dispassionate thought.

It is time that the facts were faced frankly. There must be greater production and greater economy, and producers, distributors and consumers must work together.

Any strike, by diminishing production, sets the nation backward. Any shortening of working hours beyond the daily and weekly period which men can endure without lowering their efficiency sets us backward. Any exorbitant wage-scale or salary-scale sets us backward. Any wastefulness or thriftlessness anywhere, along the line sets us backward.

Give the public authorities a chance to see what they can do toward stopping the profiteering and improving the processes of industry and trade. They may accomplish a good deal. The producers, dealers and consumers may accomplish still more if they will keep cool, play fair and co-operate to the best of their ability.

THE VACCINATION INFAMY

The bold command of the county health officer that all school children must be vaccinated or be excluded from the schools surely smelt of despotism plain. But the good doctor has discovered the presence of smallpox "in many separate and distinct localities" and we are advised to take safeguard measures, etc. At first Doctor Hoffman we saw you doctors to agree among your selves as to the efficacy of vaccination. Now as it stands the best half of the medical profession denounce vaccination, not only as being useless as a specific for the prevention of small pox but it propagates various other diseases such as syphilis, tuberculosis, sprague, pyogenic, and many other loathsome and incurable diseases. The following statements of some of the world's foremost physicians may be of interest:

"Dr. W. S. Phillips, for twenty years practicing physician in Edinburgh and London, writes: 'If I had the desire to describe one-third of the victims killed by vaccination, the blood would stand still in your veins.' Dr. Stowell, with all larger experience, declares vaccination not only an illusion but a downward curse to humanity." Dr. Hitchman of Liverpool says: "I have seen hundreds of children killed by vaccination." Dr. Hecot, a distinguished French physician, admits that syphilis is often transmitted by vaccination." Dr. Edward Pallard, medical inspector of the government board in England, published a pamphlet in which he confessed "that of forty-six children vaccinated by him thirty-nine became afflicted with syphilis." Dr. J. A. Hensel, a German army surgeon in his address at Salt Lake City, said: "I was on duty in Strasbourg when over two thousand cases of smallpox were in the best houses, and every case there successfully vaccinated but three months before. I was laid up for five weeks. I vaccinated the seventh time. In 1891 I witnessed the amputation of three arms and the discharge of four men from the army for general debility, all from vaccination. After this experience, I am convinced that vaccination is not protective."

Other telling testimony from Germany is not lacking. The Vienna "Presidents" note that a schoolmaster near Goltz having asked, "why was Moses hidden by his mother's small boy rejected," because his mother's child was later vaccinated." Alexander Wilder, editor of the New York Medical Times and professor of physiology of the U. S. Medical College of New York, says, "Vaccination is the foundation of a continuing element into the system, and after such contamination you can never hope to regain your former purity of your blood. Thus infants, who are made liable to a host of ailments, all cases of consumption may be unenviably traced to vaccination as effects follow cause."

Does vaccination afford any protection at all? Dr. Creighton, "In my opinion it affords none at all. Dr. Gleason: "The small pox epidemic in Marsfield commenced with a young man who had been vaccinated years on both arms." What does vaccination do? Dr. Pigeon: "Vaccination is liable to produce smallpox; it predisposes to this disease and renders it more severe." Vaccination predisposes to typhoid fever, diphtheria, meningitis, etc., and is a powerful factor in the debility and degeneration of the human race."

Public Forum

Why should vaccination be opposed? Dr. J. W. Hodge, Niagara Falls, N. Y.: "Because smaller whatever, present best performed the implantation of disease elements into the healthy to fraternal and infectious. It is subversive of the fundamental principles of sanitary science."

(Smallpox—Smallpox Virus, The Late Foot and Mouth Disease Traced to Vaccination Serum)

The outbreak of the foot and mouth disease among cattle in New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Maryland has been investigated by the agricultural department at Washington and its cause has been traced to a serum that had been used for vaccine purposes by Parke Davis & Co., of Detroit, and by H. K. Ajlford Co. of Glenview, Pa. And due to the fact that the medical tract craters want to contaminate the school children with, not being satisfied to work on the sick they now want to operate on the well because of the financial exigency that there is small pox in "distinct" localities in the county. I would like to ask the health officer how conditions are in the district localities?

And now for the legal status of compulsory vaccination. The American Eagle of Havana, Fla., refers the vaccine inoculation to the works of Blackstone, the founder of all modern legal thought. His statement is so completely against these vaccine poisoners as to leave them not one legal leg to stand on.

"No laws are binding," says Blackstone "which assault the body or violate the conscience. Both the life and limbs of a human being are of such value in the estimation of the law, that it pardons even homicide if committed in their defense."

And now a word to parents of the school children. Do you fear that your children will be excluded from school if you choose not to have them vaccinated. It is only a bluff and you know a bluff works until it is called. Doctor Hoffman will first have to amend the constitution of the United States before he will make his name stick.

The supreme court of Illinois has ruled that "a healthy child is not immune in any community or school," therefore no school board or board of education can deny your children an education even if you do not subscribe to the biggest fraud ever perpetrated in the name of science. A. M. WILTON, Butte, Idaho, Sept. 1, 1919.

Ben Franklin's Razor

was like his brain

FRANKLIN'S BRAIN—like his razor—was a thing of exquisite balance. And by stropping his brain on other men's minds, he kept it always fresh-edged. So when, at seventy, his country pitted him against Europe's foremost diplomats, his keen intellect and old-fashioned honesty won their victory.

In like manner, his fine old razor was a thing of time-tested virtue—good held in the hand, right shaving angle on the cheek, practical working length. All that Franklin's razor lacked to make it a perfect shaving tool was the double-edged, guarded blade of the

Two Kinds of Everything —the Good and the Bad

By DR. PARKER

Founder and Executive Head of the E. R. Parker System

There are only two kinds of dentists—the good and the others, and it is the easiest thing in the world to separate them.

The distinguishing mark of the unworthy dentist is his fire-safe methods of getting you into his office, for when a man can not establish a business by doing good work, he claims that he does it cheap.

Dentists using the E. R. Parker System do not quote prices off-hand in the newspapers, because it is utter nonsense to tell in advance what any dental work will cost until an examination is made to see what needs to be done.

Under the Parker System, a Registered Dentist thoroughly examines your teeth without cost, sometimes including the X-Ray, and when it is determined what dental work your teeth require, you are told in advance as plainly as the English language permits how little the price will be to have that work done.

The price is often less than you expect, for the dentists using the System effect savings in many ways and this saving is shared with you.

If this seems fair and reasonable to you, why not learn the price for putting your teeth in a condition so that when you laugh you will take a pride in having your teeth show?

Prisoner Is Held For Officers Here

Deputy Sheriff E. R. Sherman of Hight left this morning for Blackfoot to take charge of a prisoner held by Blackfoot officers, who notified Sheriff Sprague last night of the arrest. The man is wanted at Hight for passing bad checks and stealing auto-tombing accessories. It is understood that George S. Hoffman, who is on parole in the local probate court, was taken into custody at Idaho Falls yesterday. Her father left this morning to take her in charge.

Hollow Concrete.
According to the Bruckman, the production of hollow concrete bodies completely hollow, which has hitherto only been possible within certain limits, is made easier by the new patent system of Stefan Rohm of Munich, who proposes to fashion a block of concrete of the required shape in concrete. Of course, small openings or channels would be left, by means of which the concrete would be hollow. In this way it is possible to produce not only small concrete bodies with hollow centers but large ones as well. The process can be applied to artificial stone.

A Bachelor's Complaint.
I cannot say that the quarrels of men and their wives ever made any great impression upon me, or had much tendency to strengthen me in those anti-social resolutions which I took up long ago upon more substantial considerations. What foremost offends me at the house of married persons where I visit, is an error of quite a different description—it is that they are too loving. Not too loving, that, but that does not explain my meaning. Besides, why should that offend me? The very act of separating themselves from the rest of the world, to have the fuller enjoyment of each other's society, implies that they prefer one another to all the world. But what I complain of is, that they carry this preference so unbridledly, they perk it up in the faces of us single people so shamelessly, you cannot be in their company a moment without being made to feel, by some indirect hint or open avowal that you are not the object of his preference.—Charles Lamb.

The costs of bringing tea from the tea-plant to your kitchen are almost as much for poor tea as for fine tea; and, in both cases, these costs are more than twice the tea-garden cost of the teas themselves.

So why pay all that good money to bring over tea that isn't half so good?

Schilling Tea is your fine economical practical tea, full of the real tea-flavor.

There are four flavors of Schilling Tea—Japan, Ceylon, India, Ceylon English breakfast. All are quality. In tarchymy-lined moisture-proof packages. At grocers everywhere.

worked out so that a good part of the time of the president will be spent in territory represented by senators who are opposed to ratification of the peace treaty.

Before leaving here tonight the president planned a conference with Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, majority leader of the senate foreign relations committee. It is expected that the treaty will be reported from the senate committee within two or three days next week. Hitchcock is to lead the fight to defeat these amendments, and the president planned to outline to him the objections to be raised on the floor of the senate.

The president today asked that the bill conferring upon General Pershing permanent rank in the regular army which passed the senate yesterday be rushed to him for signature before he left tonight. It was arranged that Vice President Marshall and Speaker Gillett would sign the engraved copy at noon and that it would then be sent to the president, whose signature will make it a law before midnight. This will insure Pershing's landing in New York as one of the ranking officers of the United States, giving him a position he can retain as long as he desires.

The law will waive compulsory age retirement. The president was said to be delighted with this particular piece of legislation considering it a partial reward for the work the American commander has done during the war. It is expected that in his speech on the present tour the president will outline his views regarding the labor problem. It was learned that the president considers the conference which he will call to meet here next month to be participated in by organized labor's leaders, capitalists' representatives, and advocates of the people at large the most important yet suggested. The men invited will be the guests of the president here. It is hoped the first session will be held in the east room of the White House. If indeed all of them are not held there.

While no one can assume to speak for the president, it was learned from men with whom he has discussed his meeting that he hopes that a general plan will be adopted that will protect equally the rights of the public, the rights of capital and the rights of the workers themselves. The president is hopeful that the war labor board, as constituted to prevent disorganization of industry during the war by strikes and lockouts, can be amplified into a reorganization which will maintain the industrial equilibrium of the nation at all times and under all circumstances, and the conference will have before it all of this secured in creating that board. In effect what is wanted by many of the men who have studied the great problem is something like a supreme court of industry, which would have agents throughout the country and which would have the power to adjust wage and working condition grievances in an equitable manner.
