BUHL AND TWIN FALLS WILL MIX ON LOCAL GROUNDS TODAY WHILE PAUL MEETS INVASION BY BURLEY

Signing of Dick Davis to pitch for Home Club and Appeal for Better Support to Finish Season Indicates Beat Attendance Local Games Have Drawn for Weeks—Buhl Is Coming Strong

Buhl	5th	2	2	.500
Home	6th	0	8	.000

This game will be played at Paul and if Paul wins there will be a three-cornered tie between the two teams. Buhl is expected to pitch for the first time. Naturally Bill Larson is going to obtain a fair amount of assistance to cap the contest.

Putting the hole in the pitcher's box is expected to work a transformation on the Twin Falls club as it has in the past. The entire team has favorably reflected the kind of pitching it has received, playing fact but without good pitching.

Buhl will have a worthy opponent in Paul, the undefeated leader, whose peculiar shenanigans have puzzled the fans around the circuit. Paul held the lead in three hits in eleven innings at Buhl two weeks ago.

The hitting of the home club, which showed marked improvement in its last game, is expected to show even better today with Buhl back in the line up. Assistance will also be in the game, playing an excellent position. His hitting will help materially.

Walsh Tells Conference Experiences

things. It distresses me, but I believe as you gentlemen do, in divine providence, and I am in his hands and I don't care what happens to me individually. I believe that I am and I know that countless millions of other people believe this.

"My words have raised hope in the hearts of millions of people."

"It is my wish that they have that, but could you imagine that you could revolutionize the world at once? When I attend these world affairs, I do so without the knowledge that nationalities existed that are coming to us day after day."

The president suggested that the first way for the conference to get a hearing at the peace conference was to interview personally the sitting members of the world conference according to Walsh's statement.

World Need for Settled Peace Desperate who were determined to give the president and get close to him. The oval on the streets kept Wilson on his feet most of the way from the train to the hall. It was one of the noisiest and most excited crowds ever seen on the strip. Near the depot and approaching the Coliseum, police and soldiers were powerless to keep the people back.

There was an overflow meeting outside the Coliseum. The speaker that met Wilson when he arrived applied the audience to the streets, clearing began even before he entered. When he entered all other sounds were obliterated in the din that broke loose. The crowd heeded no strength and slowly flickered out.

As the president's speech proceeded at the Col. at dusk a squadron of airplanes met it, swooping close to the roofs of the cars, the aviators dropping flowers as they flew. He distributed to the chief executives. The sky escort kept with the speaking train as it swept into the cavernous of the city.

Irish opponents of the league of nations have been publishing anti-league advertisements in the newspapers of this place. This gave rise to a belief this evening that the president may have had the case of Ireland in mind when in his Kansas City speech he declared that under the league constitution it should not be regarded as an anti-Irish people. It is the opinion of the Irish of one nation to call attention to something being done within the confines of another empire which was disturbing the peace of the world and a good understanding between nations.

He also said: "If I were the advocate of any oppressed or oppressed people, I surely could not ask any better forum than to stand up before the world and challenge the other party to make good its excuses for not acting in that case."

This might be construed as being an invitation to Irishmen to support the league.

RUMANIANS EVACUATE BUDAPEST

LONDON, Sept. 6.—The Rumanian forces have begun to evacuate Budapest, a dispatch to the Daily Mail says.

FROM THE PRESS BOX JUG

At the present writing the local baseball situation seems to have resolved itself into a question of team work, not only on the ball field but between the diamond and the press-box stands.

It will undoubtedly take teamwork to pull the team through to a finish. The story we mean includes everybody connected with a ball game, both players and spectators.

Recently the teamwork has been confined to the players and to the newspapers and possibly these haven't shown all of the teamwork that might have been shown. They realize that completion of the schedule means the players are having grinds on and the press has come to their rescue. If the fans will only catch the spirit and join the cheering army the fans can be pulled successfully out of the line. Two good crowds at the two remaining games ought to do it.

As mentioned, the players are entitled to a good bit of credit for the way they are sticking to it. The team is doing its best under adverse circumstances. No ball player enjoys making an error in front of a crowd, but any ball player is more likely to pull these mistakes when performing in front of a home crowd that is cheering instead of booing. The fact that they are sticking to their job amidst without joy and swallowing the pain, simply to save the face of the club and the town, ought to give some good food for reflection.

With the players doing their best to save the situation and the press uniting to help the thing along, it therefore remains only for the patrons of the game to switch from the booing attitude and to come in droves. Not the present but the future, is the ultimate object in view. But the present must be protected to insure the future. It is merely a business proposition on which we believe that most of the fans will agree.

HERRMANN SURE NINE GAMES IN WORLD SERIES

Thinks Cry of Commercialism Will Be Downed by Giving 75 Per cent.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 6.—August Herrmann, chairman of the national baseball commission, was confident today National and American league club owners will vote for a nine game series.

The cry of commercialism, raised in connection with the proposed plan, to change the series from seven to nine games, is not held in high esteem by Herrmann.

"I believe that the cry of commercialism was one of the first to cry against the proposed change," Herrmann declared after his return from a national commission session held in St. Louis, Mo., last night. "I do not believe we will not be called a money grab."

"The commission has held its own sessions, conferring clubs will turn over to the fans 75 per cent of the net profit of the groups for the eighth and ninth games if they are played."

"That ought to still any cry of commercialism on the part of the sporting public."

Queer Coincidence. One of a party whereof Charles Darwin was a member was speaking of the ethnology of the mountainous northern Chile, in which occasion the father had lost all his property and the narrator himself had barely escaped with his life. Then, writes Darwin, there ensued a curious coincidence. A German, one of the party, who was sitting at the table in a room in those countries with the door shut, as, owing to his having done so, he was nearly lost his life at Santiago. Accordingly, he opened the door. No sooner had he done so than he cried out, "Here it comes again!" and another knock ensued. The whole party escaped.

FARM ANIMALS FEED SHEEP IN CORNFIELDS

Practice Has Proved Satisfactory in Saving Considerable Labor in Many States. (Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Ordinarily the management of the farm flock of sheep calls for comparatively small amounts of labor. The labor cost per dollar's worth of wool and hair is lower than for any other farm animal product.

Some labor can be saved on the farm by a more economical method of the practice of feeding sheep in cornfields. This practice has proved very satisfactory in many states.

When the corn is in the field, the sheep are allowed to graze on it. This practice has proved very satisfactory in many states. It is not only economical and desirable, but it is also practical and protects the sheep.

NOT

In the COAL TRUST

The City Coal Company is not in any combination to keep prices inflated.

We believe that competition is the only way in which the public can get a square deal.

Any means employed to stifle this competition, such as a combination to maintain prices, is not only unlawful but works a hardship on the people.

We have been invited to join the coal combination in this city, but have flatly refused.

We believe that our refusal to join will be the means of breaking up the coal trust in Twin Falls.

It will bring relief from the oppressive prices which the public for a long time has been forced to pay for coal in Twin Falls.

That the public is with us in this fight is indicated by the response our announcement has received.

From citizens in all parts of the city have come not only words of commendation, but orders for coal.

If you, too, are with us in this fight you can help by placing your order now so that we can anticipate the wants of this community for coal at "fair" prices long before the snow flies.

City Coal Company's Fair Prices

	YARD PRICE TON LOTS	PRICE FROM CAR
Lump	$9.75	$9.50
Egg	9.35	9.00
Nut	8.35	8.00

We will make a further reduction in price of 50c per ton where coal is purchased in five ton lots.

COAL MINERS TO FRAME DEMANDS

If Refused Tie-Up of Entire Coal Production of Nation Is Threatened

CLEVELAND, Sept. 5.—The veterans of the army of 2,000 delegates who will represent 40,000 miners of the United States in two weeks' convention here starting September 9, are moving up today and setting up headquarters.

The assembly of the National convention of the largest labor union in the United States are of unusual amount this year. A huge scale and platform of working conditions will be handed for presentation to the coal operators late this month, which, if not accepted, will mean a complete tie-up of all coal fields in the country.

For the first time in the history of the industry such a possibility looms up. Hitherto agreements were made by strike and a strike in one field did not affect other fields operating under different contracts.

SAYS U.S. COAL EXPORTS WILL NOT STUNT US

Washington (Special)—An American coal producer, seeking to relieve the world-wide shortage, and not sending coal abroad in sufficient volume to deplete the American consumer, in the opinion of H. W. Sabin, head of the shipping board's export department, a witness before the senate subcommittee considering an inquiry into the coal situation, testified before the Senate, Washington, D. C., Sept. 5.

Mr. Sabin testified to the committee the shipping board's official estimate of the extent of the world-wide coal shortage, totaling 20,000,000 tons, most of which, if made up, he said, "necessarily must be made up by the United States." Exclusive of shipments to Canada, the United States is exporting coal, he said, at the rate of about 7,000,000 tons a year. This is a little more than one per cent of the total amount of bituminous coal produced in the country for year.

According to Mr. Sabin's figures Canada will need about 10,000,000 tons; France, 15,000,000 tons; Belgium 10,000,000 tons; the Netherlands, 10,000,000 tons; the United Kingdom, 10,000,000 tons; other countries, many millions tons. To help supply the needs of these and other countries, he said, the shipping board had allocated to the coal trade 101 American ships of 122,681 deadweight tons as follows:

In the United States, 5,000 tons; in Switzerland and the Netherlands, 25,000 tons; in Denmark, 2,000 tons; Italy, 10,000 tons; France, 15,000 tons; Belgium, 10,000 tons; the Netherlands, 10,000 tons; the United Kingdom, 10,000 tons; other countries, many millions tons. To help supply the needs of these and other countries, he said, the shipping board had allocated to the coal trade 101 American ships of 122,681 deadweight tons as follows:

These figures represented only shipping board vessels, he said, or about thirty per cent of the total.

"The export trade so far this year," Mr. Sabin said, "is running a little behind the export trade of last year, owing to the shipping board's policy of the Canadian trade. For the former trade has increased over last year. By the time this year is up we will have exported, I think, about 7,000,000 tons." So great was the dearth of coal abroad, Mr. Sabin asserted, that demand had come from practically every European country, including the British Isles, before the chief coal exporting nation of the world. England's inability to produce coal in present quantities, he thought, was primarily responsible for the increased demand on the bituminous coal producers of the United States.

"Her exports have dropped from 27,000,000 tons of coal a year," he said, "to 22,000,000 tons. It is the manufacturing and shipping nations that are in the greatest straits. I believe that condition was reached in Paris during the economic conference there. But England has really failed to take care of the European situation. Italian imports of coal before the war were 10,000,000 tons annually. Last year sent Italy 4,000,000 tons and this year, up to date, she is doing very little better. This leaves some 6,000,000 tons to be supplied Italy by other nations and we are practically the only nation that can supply her that coal."

"Are we relying on England at all?" Senator Freethought asked. "If so, my main question in the sense of taking coal that should go to our own people," Mr. Sabin said, "is not to believe that sufficient coal is going abroad to particularly injure our own interests. If you look at our foreign shipments as a development of a legitimate foreign trade which will mean a very great deal to this country in the future, what do you care what we are sending now, and can't send any more abroad at this time?"

Mr. Sabin said that "we are trying to substitute our tonnage, especially among the countries that need coal."

The arrival marks an achievement for the army in establishing a military road connection across the continent.

First Century Christianity

TEXT—To shall be witness unto me that I shall be the first of the earth.—Act 1:15

Christian experience, or the human side of salvation, has been the chief of our attention in this publication in the faith, emotion, and activities of the Christian church. The true model of Christian living is seen in connection with the outpouring of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost. The faith, the joy, and testimony which characterized the lives of believers then should be a permanent feature of the Christian living.

Early believers were vividly conscious of the crucified, risen and exalted Christ. Their lives were devoted to a study of His life and His teachings. The story of His life and His teachings was the chief of their interest. The story of His life and His teachings was the chief of their interest. The story of His life and His teachings was the chief of their interest.
