TROOPS CALLED OUT IN BOSTON AFTER NIGHT OF RIOTING AND LOOTING FOLLOWING POLICE STRIKE

Steel Workers Threaten to Strike Unless Genuine Relief Is Vouchsafed

LODGE IRONICAL AND CRITICAL IN TREATY REPORT TO SENATE

Says Clamator About Delay In Work of Administration and Organization From That Brought Back by President—Hitchcock Will Present Minority Report Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Instead of the United States being left out of the league of nations if the senate refuses to accept the treaty of Versailles without reservations or amendments, "the other nations will take us on our own terms, for without us their league is a weak one, and all their nations from victorious peace and imperiled." Senator Lodge, Republican of Massachusetts, asserted in the majority report on the treaty submitted this afternoon by him to the senate as chairman of the senate foreign relations committee.

Lodge's report bristled with ironical and critical references to arguments advanced by President Wilson in his present speech making tour to support his contention that unless the senate ratified the treaty without material change the United States would be deprived of immediate membership in the league, and would face the alternative of being out of it altogether, or entering it with Germany.

Clamator about delay in the league, in considering the treaty. Lodge declared in "The New York Times" the administration and its newspaper organs, and was so far wholly artificial.

The treaty was a much altered document from the one that President Wilson brought back from Versailles and submitted to the senate on July 14.

Textual amendments had been made, reservations adopted and there will form the background between opponents and proponents of ratification by the senate of the document as it was signed at Versailles.

Senator Lodge announced that he proposed to keep the treaty continuously before the senate until it was finally disposed of. This means that he will take precedence over the House of Representatives, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee, previously stated that he would make no effort to bring the pending railroad bill until the treaty was gotten out of the way.

A minority report was prepared by Senator Hitchcock of New York, and its leader of the administration forces in the committee and on the floor will be presented by him to the senate tomorrow. It will be in line with Senator Lodge's report, as well as a presentation of arguments in favor of ratification of the treaty without textual amendments or material reservations.

BANK EXAMINER UNDER ARREST
CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Owen T. Evans, national bank examiner, was held by the police yesterday morning because a member of the "six hole gang" of swindlers, which, by manipulation of stock in a $400 "ore mine" in Michigan, raised $100,000 in the city of Chicago out of the country of over $1,000,000.

UNION HEADS MAKE DEMANDS OF PRESIDENT

Tell Wilson Definite Statement Necessary Regarding Conference With E. H. Gary

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Representatives of the steel industry today were not deterred to put the recent strike vote of the men into effect at that time was made by the heads of twenty-four international unions in which the workers are enrolled, following the receipt of a telegram from President Wilson in which the conference was characterized as "unsatisfactory."

Earlier in the day, the committee had made public the text of a telegram to the president, which, unless he could give assurance that a meeting between the men and the heads of the United States Steel corporation was possible, the strike would be held within 48 hours.

VILLA IS UP TO HIS OLD TRICKS

Has Gained New Force of 2000 Men and Price of $50,000 on His Precious Head

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Sept. 10.—With a price of $50,000 on his head, Pancho Villa has appeared in the northern country leading a new force of two thousand men. He is up to his old tricks again, terrorizing the district and harassing the Carranza forces with quick attacks and quick retreats.

Reports of Villa's new activities reached the Mexican consulate and American army headquarters here today. Domingo Arista, governor of Durango, has gone to Mexico City to persuade Carranza to open up a local campaign against the bandit chief.

Villa all but captured the city of Durango in one of his lightning like attacks. He led his men through the Cerca del Mercado and Cerro de los Hornos mountains, approaching the city through the municipal center. He captured the suburbs, but in a stiff fight he was prevented from reaching the main part of the city, and retreated. After his retreat he was being pursued by Carranza's forces. Governor Ortiz of the state of Chihuahua has been ordered to follow up on Villa's capture.

Denounces Movement for One Big Union

IRVINGLAND, Sept. 9.—Denunciation of the "one big union" movement and recommendation that the war was agreement be terminated November 1, regardless of whether the peace treaty is being negotiated, was the subject of a resolution adopted by the United Mine Workers of America, made to the biennial convention here this afternoon.

Wants Laws for 1920 Model Trust

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Alleging that the "one big union" movement was a trust, which he said is being developed all over the country, Senator Evans introduced a bill today to create a "model trust" which he said is being developed all over the country. The bill is a combination of anti-trust and anti-trust legislation, and is intended to be introduced in the next session.

MORE THAN 100 STORES LOOTED

Windows Smashed by Mobs and High Cost Goods Dumped Into Gutters by Angry Dobs

BOSTON, Sept. 10.—Boston broke out in riotous mobbing today. A mob of several thousand persons attacked three volunteer policemen and looted the disorder could be quickly put down. Officers were severely beaten.

The riot was caused after Mayor Devine and taken action that put the city of Boston in a state of military rule tonight. The mayor said that the riot was not a general strike in the steel industry. The announcement that they had determined to put the recent strike vote of the men into effect at that time was made by the heads of twenty-four international unions in which the workers are enrolled, following the receipt of a telegram from President Wilson in which the conference was characterized as "unsatisfactory."

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 10.—Governor Davis will not go to Seattle this week to attend the review by western governors and officials of the new military bill. He is left today for Coeur d'Alene.

Corner J. A. Graham today pronounced a verdict on the military bill. He said that the bill was a "good thing" and that it would be made of the strikers' charge that the men were "brought down to cold blood" and that they were "being charged by the police."

A National Problem Solved

Pure, Wholesome Food + Nujol = Health.

PURE, wholesome food is necessary, but it is not enough. The purest, most wholesome food will hinder rather than help health if allowed to clog the colon—the large intestine. And doctors agree that about 90% of our ailments are caused or intensified by constipation.

Some part of even the purest and most wholesome food is waste. If this waste is not kept moving out of the body, it stagnates and breeds poisons which clog the system and cause or nourish disease. The old, wrong way to attack such stagnation was to force a passage through the impacted mass.

The new, right way to overcome it is to let Nujol induce easy self-elimination.

And since health is as much a matter of how we eliminate waste as how we assimilate food, it is most fortunate to every thinking person that the use of a natural, drugless lubricant is as sensible and necessary as the eating of pure, wholesome food.

The three vital processes upon which health is based are Assimilation, Assimilation, Elimination. Therefore, the perfect recipe for health is through Medication: Pure, wholesome Food, and Nujol.

Try Nujol today! Get a bottle of Nujol from your druggist today.

For valuable health booklet—"Thirty Feet of Danger"—free, write Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) 50 B'way, N. Y.

Warning: Nujol is not a medicine. It is a natural, drugless lubricant. It does not cure disease, but it keeps the system clean and healthy.

THE TIMES PLATFORM FOR A GREATER TWIN FALLS CITY AND COUNTY

- 1—Democracy in home. 2—More light, heat and power in city and county. 3—Efficiency in public schools. 4—Encourage manufacturing. 5—Effort to connect with northern Pacific to the south. 6—Conserve water supply by pumping waste water back into irrigation canals whenever possible during shortage. 7—Swimming pool in center and skating rink in winter. 8—Improved street lighting system. 9—Good roads throughout all tributary territory to city. 10—Electric railroads of Idaho.

ONE EXPLANATION COMES AFTER MANY MOONS

The city administration at last has moved fast enough to quiet criticism temporarily regarding the abominable clock holes which mar the beauty of Twin Falls paved streets and rob citizens and visitors of the joy of palpitating in the festive atmosphere which is usually so sufficient to throw their owners out of joint even if their aesthetic framework is kept properly shaken up to maintain its proper functioning. During the war the holes had to be endured because the nation was busy making Twin Falls safe for democracy. Since the armistice the work has been trying to find out who self-determination for small nations and small towns means, and the holes had to be left for self-determination.

Monday night the city fathers gathered together in the home of the waterworks and allowed James W. Rose $40 for an automobile he broke when he bumped into an extra large hole up near the park. Further, the council opened a love letter from the Warren Construction company which contained a proposition for repairing the streets. The company wanted somewhere between $10,000 and $50,000 for the job, and the city fathers, with an intelligence that is almost unbelievable, decided not to accept the proposition.

It is altogether likely, however, that when the magnificent new crumbler of rock is completed for the highway commission, the city council will be enabled to get some kind of material to put into the deepest of the holes at a price within the power of the city to pay.

Meantime, the city administration is to be commended for having found a good reason for not repairing the streets—and that is all anybody's wanted if the streets were not to be repaired.

THE PEAK OF PESSIMISM

The American people are not yet out of the woods, but conditions certainly are improving. Even while habitual pessimists still croak, events move forward in an optimistic fashion that tends to discredit all dark prophecies. The railroads, after a record of deficits that seemed destined to be endless, actually made a little profit in July, and are thought to have made more in August. Prices have really started downward. There is no mistaking the fact. Whether you explain it by the crops coming to market, or by the government's drive against profiteering, or by the increase of production, or the growth of thrift, or the lessening of exports, or all of these together, the fact is incontrovertible. Prices are going down, and many experts, including one of the big bankers, say they are going to keep on going down.

Meanwhile stocks are going up. The stock market is surely at ways a good barometer of business conditions. This means national confidence.

Building, so long delayed, is going ahead, all over the country, at a rapid and novel rate. This, too, means widespread confidence. Labor organizations, on the whole, are acting with admirable patience and patriotism.

Nearly everybody who wants a job has one. The peak of prices and the peak of pessimism have been passed.

PLAY AND MIGHT

The nation which plays strongly, which is given to athletic sports, is the nation of general vitality, according to an article recently published in a leading magazine. According to this article one reason why England rose so swiftly to the demands of war was that her people were never really soft, because they are a nation of sportsmen. Similarly it took less time to whip the American forces into shape because we are an athletic, baseball-playing nation. Germany went down to defeat because she had neither the physical nor moral resilience which clean sport gives. Ancient Rome and Greece and some of the eastern nations are cited as examples of peoples once strong whose decline, moral and political, was coincident with their abandonment of interest in gymnastic and athletic sports.

The proposition is sane and reasonable, and it carries its own logic. Any nation which hopes to keep itself strong for its work, be that work upon the battlefield or be it the lesser struggle of civic life, must keep itself strong by play, by sport, by gymnastic games and athletic contests. Play is itself by necessity should appeal to any people.

REAL ESTATE MAN OUGHT TO ENTER POLITICS

To be a successful politician a man (or woman) must be resourceful; and the same qualification seems to apply to the real estate dealer. A boy with a few chickens needed some grass to feed them, so he invaded the yard next to his own, those premises being unimproved and the grass offering a better supply than that in his own yard.

Next day a real estate dealer showed the premises to a prospective live buyer. The buyer inquired as to the size of the lot, and the real estate dealer, seeing the line made by the boy's lawn mower, pointed it out as the lot line.

"That's it, there, he cut the grass there to show the line." Happily indeed was the prospective purchaser. The real estate dealer's resourcefulness is to be commended. The reasons for many of our things are as perfectly clear.

PROBLEMS IN NOMENCLATURE WHICH WAR RISK BUREAU HAS TO TACKLE

Difficulties the Bureau Experiences in Answering Letters and Maintaining the Correct Addresses of Demobilized Men—Many Become Transients and Others Give Only Fragmentary Information.

Washington.—Here comes! Behold the man! "Get me this man's name so that I can return definitely on the status of his insurance."

That, together with a slip bearing the name, "James Hall, (4721563) McCall, South Crofting, Hoodland; Mrs. J. Stalks, (wife), Mrs. Anna Stalks (mother)," was handed to the searcher in the bureau of war risk insurance.

The man's name was given as Hall, while that of his wife and his mother were given as Stalks. Naturally, something was wrong somewhere. Just what was wrong, however, was not so evident. To that end what and where the error was, was the job.

Following the error somebody else made it always the job of the war risk bureau to search, and it's a tough job if they fail to get at the bottom of it.

COMMENTS

BY A TAXPAYER

Special comment has been made on the worthy 171 way the police handle the case of the man who was arrested another town on earth that sells parole privileges and then "cuts in."

An ordinary taxpayer observed that the gutters along one street in the city were not cleaned out for a week. Let's see, isn't this the town that pays each one of its "welfare" $100 a year?

It is stated without equivocation or reason by one in position to know that when the big pipe is put in and the city filter plant cleaned out, the city will be supplied with filtered water; that the plant is not too high and the filter is not too low. In fact, nothing is the matter with it, except that Mr. Filinger got scared when the experimental run was made and started the story that the filter was leaking to high he couldn't get the filter through it. If Mr. Filinger really started the story he needs disciplining by the city fathers. But the incident

Profits are Small Says Combine

When confronted with criticism for "boosting" price they rush into print with a nice little alibi. This clipping is from a recent issue of the Twin Falls News:

"If we were actually making such large profits in our business as some people seem to think we are, why they think about us and our business might not concern us so much," said a local coal dealer today, discussing popular acceptance of the announcement of a raise of 50 cents a ton in the price of coal the first of this month with the prospect for further increases in the cost of the commodity.

"As a matter of fact," he continued, "I will venture the assertion that there is no commodity sold in Twin Falls today on a smaller margin of profit than coal."

Coal is High
No quoted figures showing that the cost of coal to the dealer here five years ago was $6.50 a ton. It was sold then at $8 a ton, leaving a dealer's profit of $1.50 a ton. The cost of coal to the local dealer now is $2.25 and the price to the consumer is $10.25 a ton. Although the dealer's margin has increased from $1.50 to $2, this dealer points out, the cost of handling has more than doubled, and the actual profit is considerably less than it was five years ago.

Draymen Want Raise

The draymen told us that after the first of last month the city had a pound of coal for less than $1.00 a ton. This deal was slated. The present charge for delivery is $1 a ton. "If that purpose is carried out," the coal man added, "it is safe to say that the draymen will be making more on the handling of a ton of coal than will the local coal dealer."—From Twin Falls News.

NOW LET US SEE

Last winter the United States Fuel Administration allowed the dealer a clear profit of $4.15, and none of them went out of business. There are just as many yards in Twin Falls today, as there were a year or two ago.

They Say Cost of Handling Has More Than Doubled

But what do they mean by handling? Surely it cannot be the delivery. For there is an extra charge for this service, and by the way, this has been increased from $1.00 to $1.50. They must mean, then, unloading. This costs from 30c to 45c per ton, and even if they got it done for nothing before the war they cannot blame the unloading cost for all of the extra 90c profit they are making over last year, when the government was at the price.

It Is a Clear Case of Profiteering

The desire for profits, and more profits was the sole reason back of the high prices. A plain case of hold-up. With competition eliminated, with prices fixed, it was an easy matter to charge what they cared to, and the public paid the bill.

"We Have Our Meetings"

They said to the manager of this yard, "and we'll call you up when we have our next one. Since we've had our meetings and all charge the same price we are all making nice money than ever before. You want to get in. You'll make a lot more money by it."

With Such a Combination in Existence What Price Will You Have Been Forced to Pay for Coal Next Winter?

Although the coal combine had been in existence for only a short time, the price of coal took several jumps, and it was on the road for a good many more when the City Coal company "showed them up." At first they were in a tight bind, and only advanced the price 25c. With every dealer in a combination, all charging the same price, it was so easy to get the extra two bits that the next time they set the price up 50c.

LEAVES MANY PROBLEMS

Both Poland and Ukraine are claiming. The most serious trouble, resulting from the treaty, however, is Humana's intransigent attitude and Jugoslavica's hesitation regarding the great powers determination to force them to sign special covenants providing for international supervision of their treatment of ethnic and religious minorities in former Austro-Hungarian territories. They have also adopted a protesting attitude toward measures providing for international supervision of their economic policies so as to insure fair trading and transportation with other countries.

Herath's case is largely a Jewish one. She insists the powers' intention that she cannot be trusted to treat the Jews fairly and in the spirit of the Humanian Jewish association has just issued an appeal to the powers insisting upon international protection for the Jewish Jews in the region. It is declared in some quarters that there is no doubt that, unless Premier Brankovic's "Terrorism" approach is adopted, the powers will not permit the great territories to which she is heir, and entrust them to the league's nations for administration. The same treatment will be meted out to Jugoslavica if she continues refractory. It is believed, however, that Jugoslavica will yield within a week, fearing the loss of her Balkan Balkan backing for her Adriatic claims.

Troops Called Out

and rioting such as Boston never before experienced, as the result of the withdrawal of the policemen yesterday evening. Two men were shot, one probably fatally. The rioting broke out early in the night and early morning through the streets of the downtown business section, in the north and west ends and in blocks between existing windows, pilfering stores, holding up and robbing people and attacking women. The prominent small bands of inspectors were rushed to places where rioting was in progress.

Labor leaders admit that the city is threatened with a general strike if the police situation is not settled quickly. Sympathetic action is being threatened by the telephone workers, Boston elevated employees, both of whom were recently on strike; stationary firemen and building trades workers, who could result in paralyzing all the activities of the city. A special meeting of the Central Labor Union has been called for Thursday to discuss the general strike. Mayor Peters, who had been practically told by Police Commissioner Curtis to "mind his own business" when he sought to intervene in the situation, called a conference of leading business men today to formulate plans for ending the strikes.

The night began with the ringing of false alarms and the breaking of store windows by gangs of snipers. It rapidly developed into a general hoodlumism which resulted in a score of near-riots, numerous assaults and criminal attacks on women. The most serious riot in the city proper took place in the west end where the mob, constantly swelling until it numbered over 5,000 hoodlums and men, refused to disperse when charged by the inspectors. Finally a big squad of metropolitan park police clubs on hand, appeared and waded into the fray, breaking up the mob, which meantime had looted a dozen small stores, turned and fled. The looting they had grabbed through the broken plate glass windows was dropped in their flight and littered Slocum Square. In two minutes the metropolitan park police had cleared the square, but a few minutes later the park policemen vanished as suddenly as they had appeared and the hoodlums again formed into a gang. They rapidly developed into a general case to quarrelsome ends, in the streets and on the sidewalks.

One such gang was in progress on Trenton Row, while a score of three of police headquarters when Superintendent Crowley saw it. There was a scattering of several hundred, others engaged in the same or watching it. Superintendent Crowley allowed his way through the throng and seized one of the players. The mob closed in on the official. As the superintendent lodged his prisoner towards Paul Bertson Square, Inspector Michael Burke went to his assistance. The two officers stood in the mob until the mob reached the brow of the hill where the mob seemed about to recede to the prisoner. Crowley and Burke whipped out their guns and covered the eyes of the mob, which turned and plunged down the hill.

Even the striking officers' thousands were not immune from attacks. In several cases men who had ulcers against the officers lay in wait for them and beat them up, after the police had turned in their clubs and revolvers. Some stores seemed to be the special prey of the mob. Early today also were valued at $3 and a pair hit the gutters. Some forethoughtful storekeepers remained on guard at their stores all night and fired at the rioters who attempted to loot their windows.

FIGHTING FIRST GOES ON PARADE

General Pershing Heads Column as It Swings Down Fifth Avenue, New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—General John J. Pershing made his first appearance in America at the head of the victorious overseas troops here today when he led the famous fighting first division and his own capable regiment "Pershing's" down Broadway avenue between packed masses of humanity that shattered all cheering records.

The weather was gray and heavy and snarled with a threat of rain in the heavy wet breeze. But from the enormous vanguard which began lifting the streets and crowd of cheering windows and grandstands it was early evident that the police department and the army had made adequate preparations to handle a jam of probably 2,000,000 persons.

Six thousand policemen held the main line of the parade. The tumult and shouting which greeted General Pershing on his arrival on Monday was again enacted today in a longer and more varied parade. Not only more people got a chance to see the world famous soldier at close range because the sight of the long, shielded column that followed him made every fifth stride ring up and down the sides of the spectators and brought tears of excitement to the eye and made people want to yell whether they wanted to or not.

The troops began forming an hour before the vanguard of the procession swung south with General Pershing, a stern, martial figure proud to erect on his shoulder "Captains" in the lead. There was a crash of brass band music, a long rolling cheer and then the column of snarled army shoes and the magnificent incense was under way. The 25,000 men in the as well as guns.

Five avenues was one mass of flags and banners, and to each. The men made off the picture of a grim and relentless fighting machine a silver guard around the reviewing stand at Eighth-street where Governor Smith, Secretary of War Baker, Mayor Hyman and other notable men were gathered. The marching of the regiment who had marched before royally in Paris and London swung straight ahead, looking neither to the right nor left. It was "old stuff" to them.

The soldiers marched in full accoutrements and their helmets and service khaki showed even duller than usual in the gray fog. As the cheering ran up and down the line of spectators General Pershing was kept busy acknowledging the ovation, saluting to the right and left. The column was five miles long and the frequency had to be kept to traffic flow through the side streets it took it six hours to make the long march.

GOOD CROWDS GREET WILSON

Has Restful Day, With Only One Address—Makes One Change in Schedule for Idaho

BISMARCK, N. D., Sept. 10.—President Wilson enjoyed a very restful day today, his only stop of moment being two hours here in North Dakota's capital. The rest of his day was welcome after Tuesday's strenuous in the Twin Cities. It allowed the president to rest up his vocal and preparation for his speech which will be placed on the voice when he reaches the Pacific coast country on Friday.

The first stop of the day along the route was at Jamestown, N. D., where there was a crowd of more than a thousand gathered to catch a glimpse of the president. At every little town he had to wait for a crowd and crowd waiting to see the special pass along the route and they were very generous with their cheers.

The chief executive was about today to devote some time to official business that had been sent forward to him. He was working out plans for the conference of the representatives of labor, the farmers and capital which is to be held in Washington room after he returns to the capital.

The president was warmly welcomed in Bismarck. A good crowd was at the depot and the hall, where he was met by the mayor. At the end of the week it is the plan of the president to amplify the points that he has made in his recent speeches. He is not the plan to discuss possible new features of the treaty before he reaches the Pacific coast country. The president's audience which included a number of Indians in native costumes cheered the president as he was introduced by Governor Franke. At the outset of the conference it was declared that the treaty was the business of every citizen of the United States. "It seems very strange that I should have to discuss the problem of peace now," he began. "All other countries have stopped debating peace except the United States which fight now is still debating the process of peace or war. "Now no one nation can bring about peace. All nations must go this."

kind of a world in waiting for the verdict whether we shall have in the future the same distraction while we are for or whether we shall have peace through deliberations. "While victory has been won it has been won over the force of the opposing nations not over their passions. This treaty will bring about peace. It is the only way."

The president then reviewed at some length the causes of the war. He criticized those who would keep the United States aloof from the rest of the world. "If Europe remains disorganized these two continents will be the president. "Until world-credits are restored there can be no assumption of peace. Do not misunderstand that. The United States is the only self-sustaining country. It must also furnish food and raw materials for the other nations. Italy for instance has no raw materials, she depends on us. The president then repeated his experience in Paris to show that the treaty finally accepted represented the combined opinion of the people of the world. He explained how discussion would prevent war following closely the points made in his St. Louis address winding up by declaring: "You cannot kill young men for a dishonest purpose." Leaving Bismarck at one o'clock this afternoon the president's special train was due to pass through the "bad lands" between two and four o'clock. Melora, where the late Colonel Roosevelt was a young boy, was to be reached at five o'clock. The presidential special passed into the "mountain time" soon shortly after passing Bismarck and the party turned back when they watches another hour. The president has been on the road for a week
