A. A. U. CHAMPIONSHIP TRACK AND FIELD MEET OPEN TODAY

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 12.—The annual national track and field championships, under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Union, opened here today at Franklin Field with teams from all parts of the country competing.

Practically every large city in the United States will be represented on track and field in this track meet. Entries from San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, Spokane, Los Angeles, Salt Lake City, Kansas City, St. Louis, New Orleans, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Boston, Baltimore, New York, Buffalo, Philadelphia and many other cities brought the annual games back to a great war base and competition is expected to be keener than ever, especially the international team battles that have attracted so much attention in other years.

The regulation championships list of sixteen junior and the same number of senior events will be contested, starting with today's games. The junior schedule will be the feature today, with the senior competition on Saturday. The junior events are open to any athlete who has not won an Olympic, national or international championship, while the senior events are open to the amateur athletes of the world.

In addition to the sixteen individual events tomorrow five relay championships will be conducted as an added feature instead of holding them on the third day as in the past. In connection with the all-around championship, the races are for four-men teams and will be staged at the following distances:

Four hundred and forty yards, one mile, two miles and four miles. This makes tomorrow's program one of the largest athletic events ever offered to the followers of athletics sports in this city.

The battle for the inter-sectional championship, with the local competition against the west, promises to be one of the most interesting in the history of the A. A. U. The Olympic Club, San Francisco; the Mathamatic Club, Portland; Los Angeles A. C., Chicago A. A., Illinois A. C. and the Ohio Division athletes will strive to wrest the honors from the best athletes representing the New York A. C., Massachusetts Club, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh A. A.

NOTES of the DIAMOND

Hals' base has started hitting.

Sticking shortstop for the Phillies, in some base stealing.

Joe Jackson, in spite of his age, remains a fast fielder.

Arthur Spinks continues to be the team's best pitching ball.

Leas, the young catcher obtained from the White Sox, looks and acts like Roy Schalk.

Mantle is still outdoing his field in the "pocket glove" style, with hands pressed to his belt.

Josh Devore, veteran major league player, has been unconditionally released by Indianapolis.

Ray Collins is back in the lineup of the San Francisco Seals after a lay-off due to an injury.

The wonder is how Scott Perry can keep up his courage pitching for a team of middle class 'A's.

Commander Cravath threatens to do all in his power to degrade the Phillies of their amateur standing.

Glavin is a handy gent to have around. He plays first, the outfield behind the bat, and does it all well.

Paul Hahn knocked out the winning run for the Yanks.

Williams held the Senators in two hits to defeat the Dodgers by demonstrating a "babe Ruth" in the ninth inning.

Heavy hitting by the whole Philadelphia team.

FROM THE PRESS BOX JUG

The closing game of the 1919 baseball season, played in this city next Sunday, will without doubt develop into a contest more spirited than any that has been played here this season. Both clubs are preparing to extend themselves and it looks as if finally, both teams instead of only one would have to extend themselves to win.

The main reason for the expected keen edge to the fray is the important bearing it has on deciding in the long run for leadership and must win to keep in the running. Burley is expected almost certain victory over Bull on their home grounds while Ripert has no chance to be winning by forfeit over Filer. Paul's chances to slip appear the most likely, since it has been proven time and again that with good pitching the Twin Falls club is dangerous.

So the Paul team will be here in a desperate mood. For their part, the local team, realizing the responsibility hanging on them, are fully determined to lead the visitors out of the top berth if possible. There is sure to be a hotly argued argument to fore either team is whipped.

The Paul club seems as perhaps, the strongest in the league just now. In spite of the marvelous showing the Burley team has made, not only in this league but in some of the strongest clubs in other leagues, the fact remains that they have failed to win from Paul during the last half of the season. Paul taking both games from Burley. The last one was no later than last Sunday, showing that Paul is right now at the top of her game.

But it looks as if Paul would be required to hustle if they win from Twin Falls next Sunday. Either Davis or Frambach on the mound for the locals will be a big asset and if the pitching holds up, the defensive combination of the club is due to hold with it. Going further, while Twin Falls has not been a hard hitting club in recent weeks, it has seemed to thrive on the fast pitchers where other teams could not.

This time the stage appears set for a whirlwind battle. Incidentally, the time for starting the game has been set about 7:30 to enable the Paul team to catch the afternoon train home. The hour, while earlier than usual, should prove acceptable enough to the fans, in many ways being preferable to the later hour. A final appeal for support from the fans is made for this closing game, but that is probably unnecessary since the prospects of excitement held forth should prove sufficient to bring out a crowd.

Washington won half of the team game Pittsburgh two victories, double hit when the Shaw gave up for the Phillies.

The Giants and farrowed to Chicago "Hippo" Gray, right field leader for the season by driving Alexander scored by the McGeehan from Atlanta to cover in five innings.

The Red Sox, with Fenwick and Russell in form, administered a using and a muff of a throw to first. Russell in form, administered in the fifth, enabling Detroit to win. Double dose of whitewash to the Pacific Schupp enabled the Cardiff Braves.

CHIEF BENDER ON RED BENCH DURING SERIES

Veteran Chippewa Pitcher Will Coach Pat Moran's Gang Against White Sox

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Chief Bender will don his world's senior war paint for the sixth time next month.

The veteran Chippewa, who served twelve seasons and went through five major series with the once great Athletics, is wearing the regalia of the Cincinnati Reds today, and will be Pat Moran's sidekick in the opening clash with the White Sox.

Bender joined the Reds a few days ago to become a member of the board of strategy. He can't back to the major leagues from his band of the Virginia state league, where he managed the team and served as their pitcher this season. Out of the minor league circuit in which he worked for the Cincinnati team, Bender's veteran finger was turned to the White Sox when they were picked for the 1919 season.

Although he may not be eligible to pitch in the big league, Bender will watch every move made by the Sox and endeavor to solve their dilemma. His unique ability to read the game is his forte. As a member of the old Athletics he was a constant source of worry to opposing clubs, and rival managers were warned to change signals every day to baffie the keen-eyed strategist.

Pat Moran is well aware of Bender's ability. He does not have the right to query the old "Chief" can't pitch. So Glendon and

Better than Ventura County anywhere land is worth more than an acre

THAT'S WHAT HE SAYS ABOUT SANTA CRUZ VALLEY FARMS

Edwin R. Post Co., Tucson, Arizona, Gentlemen:

Arrived at Tucson last Friday and went immediately to Mr. Post's Ranch House on the Santa Cruz Valley Farms. I want to thank you for being responsible for my coming to look over this project. I spent two days listening to the farmers on the rolling hills and saw some of the happy bunch. They are all making money, and while I talked to each and every farmer in the Phoenix Station district, which covers land in exactly the same character of soil, I did not see a dissatisfied man.

This is the best country I have ever seen that I have ever seen. I never saw richer, deeper soil, and owing to the very long growing season, all of these farmers are growing two crops, one of wheat or other small grains, and one of orange each year, or six to seven cuttings of alfalfa.

I talked with one man, Mr. Bernard, who told me he owned alfalfa in the best country I have ever seen. He purchased this land for $250 an acre. Another man, Mr. Bernard, was just talking his first cutting this year. He says he has tons per acre, and he said he would get at least five more good cuttings.

One of the benefits of this country is the demand is so much greater than the supply and the freight rates into here are so high, that the farmers here tell me they are getting for their produce the outside market and the freight rates. This sure makes a fine situation for the farmer here.

Your climate is sure fine and you have an abundance of the water for irrigation; you could not ask for anything more.

I have seen some fine land in Ventura County, Calif., where land is worth up to $1000 per acre, before coming here. I thought that was the best country going, but this is better and your price and so many terms that I am clearly to get a firm hold. I will return in a few days to my home near Phoenix to my affairs there, and will return here within thirty days and prepare my land for a crop of corn and make this summer.

Yours very truly,
IRVING S. CROCKER.

The uncertainties of farming—no good crop this year and a failure the next—long months, damaging frosts, cholera, typhoid, hot scorching winds, early frosts—of many kinds, shallow, worn out soil, intense heat, bitter cold, and a short growing season—these things have discouraged a large number of farmers throughout the United States.

One of the things of farming is to know where none of these disadvantages—and never will—can be controlled by your own "rainfall" through a most successful irrigation system. Many of our growers are now irrigating their crops, and the result is that they are able to produce a crop that is not only abundant but also of high quality. This is the only way to insure a steady income under a cloudy sky, or in your own soil, every month in the year. Why settle for a few crops a year, when you can have thousands come to repay their health, when the climate will add years to your life? Arizona climate is just the best for the famous "SWEET CLOVER SEED" well known and held at $500 to $1000 an acre. Why not live where health, happiness and a growing bank account are absolute certainties? Write us. This is the best time to order.

That Idaho will undoubtedly soon be added to the list of oil-bearing states is the opinion of W. A. Barrett, experienced oil man and geologist, of Cheyenne, Wyoming, who is registered at the Lapwai Inn.

"I have during the last year been over a large amount of territory all the way from Ashcroft to Ontario and have seen many indications of oil, especially in the production of oil in this state," said Mr. Barrett when interviewed by the Times reporter. "After going through the oil-bearing districts of Oklahoma, Texas and some in California, where I made a careful examination of the conditions which produce oil, I am pleased to say that I find signs of the same conditions existing in Idaho. On my previous visits to this state I gathered specimens of oil sands, shales, corals, etc., and had them passed on by some of the most eminent geologists of Wyoming, who are keenly interested in my research work here."

"Being held over in Gooding for several days for automobile repairs, I found that many Gooding residents are very interested in the oil development of this state, and of certain lands which they have located in the Oakley tract river district. I made use of my stop over there by visiting the tract river district in company with John Langbehn and other residents of Gooding. During a flyback trip over this field, we examined the outcroppings of sandstones, shales, etc., and at all points where they indicate that this field has very good indications for oil. This district has been carefully examined by other oil men and geologists, and the result is that most of the land here has been leased under contracts for immediate drilling by Salt Lake and Eastern interests, as well as by the Twin Falls company, and it is reasonable to believe that these people have found sufficient indications of oil to justify a large expenditure of money. Nothing develops a country faster than the discovery of oil, and it is to be hoped that Idaho will soon be the million-dollar state which have flowed into the newly discovered oil fields of Texas, Oklahoma and Wyoming."

The Davis Oil company has erected an 84 foot derrick, which is one of the best construction derricks I have seen, and the construction work they are doing is of the best kind that they are preparing to give this field a thorough test.

ADVERTISING OF DENTISTRY

There used to be two reasons why dentistry was not widely advertised. One reason was that the ethics of the profession forbade it. Another reason was that an individual dentist could not pay for newspaper advertising and have sufficient money left to live on. Now, however, the situation has changed. The ethics of the profession are no longer a barrier, and the cost of advertising has been reduced to such an extent that it is now possible for a dentist to advertise and still have sufficient money left to live on. The result is that dentistry is now being advertised widely, and this is a good thing for the public, as it allows them to choose the best dentist for their needs.

Governor Olmstead Polioctom As Deputies and Will Not Re-appoint Any of Them

Boise, Sept. 18.—There will be no compromise, no arbitration in the police strike and no reinstatement of men who have "deserted their posts," said Governor Olmstead today when he learned that union officials had pleaded to confer with him and that some of the strikers had asked to be taken back.

The Governor, now in full charge of the situation, said he would rely on the state guard to maintain law and order until such time as it should be possible to call on federal troops if necessary. He refused to consider the policemen as on strike but classed them as deserters.

When the Governor, now in full charge of the situation, said he would rely on the state guard to maintain law and order until such time as it should be possible to call on federal troops if necessary. He refused to consider the policemen as on strike but classed them as deserters.

Official union figures show that there are 1,114 Idaho policemen, of which 600 remained on duty of a total of 1,500 members of the department.

The God the blood guilt for these murders during the riots does not lie at the door of the policemen's union.

It was the statement made today by President John F. McInnes of the union when he called at the office of the city treasurer for his pay.

With the police strike postponed, at least, and the 6,000 state guard troops seeming to have the situation well in hand, Boston breathed a sigh of relief today that it had since the strike of police marred a reign of terror Tuesday night.

Last night was comparatively quiet in the city. The police strike was postponed, at least, and the 6,000 state guard troops seeming to have the situation well in hand, Boston breathed a sigh of relief today that it had since the strike of police marred a reign of terror Tuesday night.

Members of the Boston fire department, city firemen's union, and the telephone operators' union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, will poll referendum on Sept. 22 to decide whether they will support their members' demands for participation in the threatened general strike.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The attitude of the authorities at Boston in the police strike is encouraging, according to leading authority in the opinion of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who received his sentiments from a report of the International News Service on the situation.

"THE CHURCH AND THE SOCIAL QUESTION"

A day of unparalleled opportunity is confronting the Church of Jesus Christ. Fifty years ago the world's thought centered in the realm of religion to science. Today it centers in the relation of religion to society. If religion is to give direction to modern life, it must add to the redemption of the individual soul, a ministry to the social world.

This message is the first of a series of Sunday evening addresses, presenting some of the basic principles which underlie the relation of the church to the conditions of society at the present time.

Y. M. C. A. PLANS NOT ABANDONED

Announcement in Morning Paper Denied By Secretary Rhodes—Building Merely Postponed to More Favorable Time

Behind that plan for a Y. M. C. A. building in Twin Falls was announced, as announced in a morning paper, was made today by I. B. Rhodes, interstate secretary of the Y. M. C. A. for Idaho and Oregon, working with the local executive committee last evening in the offices of A. J. Peavey, executive of job committee are L. L. Breckenridge, chairman; C. E. Munson, vice chairman; J. Maxwell, treasurer; E. L. Ashton, local secretary.

"The plans have not been abandoned, as the morning paper stated," said Mr. Rhodes. "They are merely postponed to a time when building material and other conditions will make the situation more favorable. Meanwhile the committee will continue to hold its meetings from time to time to keep in touch with the project."

The committee last evening voted to raise $500 as the Twin Falls share of the Y. M. C. A. budget.

Mr. Rhodes reported splendid success in the campaign at Pocatello to raise funds for the addition built to the Y. M. C. A. there during the war at a cost of $20,000. By noon of the second day of the drive two thirds of the fund had been raised, one subscription for $3,600, another for $2,600 and fifteen of $1,000 each, being included.

The last chapter in the pathetic story of a wrecked family will be finished tomorrow morning when the four little children of A. J. Godsey, their mother dead and their father disappeared, will be sent to an orphanage.

Probation Officer John R. Ash went to Habi this afternoon to take charge of the children and place them in the children's home. It is by no means the first time he has been called to their aid. More than once before the father has been called in court for failure to provide for his family, varying this occasionally with some such episode as his cutting face for another in a drunken frolic which he was tried recently.

A short time ago the mother died and near the same time the father abandoned the children. The final breaking up comes with the departure of the children for the orphanage.

Vitagraph brings to the screen another famous Charles Klein stage success in "The Third Degree," which, starring Alice Joyce, will be seen in the town theater today. "The Son and the Mower," recently released by Vitagraph, was conceded one of the greatest dramatic films ever shown in the year, and it is conceded that "The Third Degree" exceeds even that drama in finish and compelling force.

Alice Joyce never has appeared in better advantage than in the role of Annie Sands, waitress bride of a college youth who craves the power of her millionaire father-in-law, swears to destroy her, and of an all-powerful police inspector to save her young husband from death for a murder he did not commit, but of which he was tortured to confess.

Tom Terriss has given the picture a splendid direction, and in the capable supporting cast are Gladden James, Anders Ramoff, Miss Helga Hooper, Herbert Ryan, George Backus, J. T. Wade, L. Rogers Lytton and Edward McGuire.

Said a Member of the Coal Trust to the Manager of This Yard--

"We have our meetings, and we'll call you up when we have our next one. Since we've had our meetings, and all charge the same price we are all making more money than ever before. You want to get in. You'll make a lot more money by it."

No one who has watched the price of coal climb during the past few months will deny that "since they have had their meetings they are making more money than ever before."

It is a simple matter to make money when competition is eliminated by dealers holding meetings, setting the price--their price--all the same, it was useless for a person to go to another dealer, because he was confronted with the same quotations. It was a case of pay the price or go without.

A child could run a business under those conditions, and make money.

Everyone will recall that a short time ago the County called for bids on coal. Eight bids were received, and each quoted exactly the same figure. The County rejected these bids because they were too high.

At the time these bids were received The Times stated that it was a strange coincidence that every bid was the same and the price was high. A bid went up from the coal trust, and some of them wanted the editor to retract what he had said.

But they know now that we know they are guilty and they dare not say anything. They have made a few threats of what they are going to do to us but they haven't amounted to anything, and we are still selling, and will continue to sell coal at a fair margin of profit.
