WHIRL WINDS OF FLAME ROLL UP FROM SEVEN ACRES OF BURNING OIL WORKS

500 FIREMEN, 10 FIREBOATS BATTLE SPECTACULAR BLAZE

Damage, Estimated at Five Millions and No Hope of Controlling Conflagration Tonight

EXPLOSION OF OIL TANKS CONTINUOUS

Thirteen Persons Injured Up to 9:30, Some Seriously—Enormous Streams of Water Pumped on Adjoining Tanks

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(Special)—The fire which broke out at five million dollar fire of the Brooklyn Standard Oil plant and had spread to a point of desperate efforts of fire fighters to three other big factories across New York creek.

Burning oil, thrown like fireworks into the air by explosion, set fire to the factories of the American Cattle company, The Columbia Distilling company, the Van Derkist factory and the Industrial Alcohol works.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(Special)—The fire at the Standard Oil plant in New York, tonight, is the most spectacular fire ever seen in New York, tonight, to the Standard Oil plant, in a subsidiary of the Standard Oil company. Damage was estimated at one to five million dollars.

Up to 9:30 thirteen persons had been injured, some of them seriously. Five hundred firemen and 100 fireboats were engaged in the battle with hoses, pumping enormous streams of water on adjoining tanks and buildings.

The fire started about 3 o'clock, when a quantity of steam apparatus failed to respond to the explosion which occurred daily at the plant.

Several dozen tanks, which contain from fifty to seventy thousand gallons each of crude oil, benzene, gasoline and naphtha and the wreckage of a large oil tank, are burning and spreading the fire.

LYNCHING BEE HELD IN PUEBLO

Two Mexicans Who Killed Policeman Taken From Jail and Hanged From Bridge

PUEBLO, Sept. 13.—The bodies of Jose Gonzalez, 26, and Santos Orozco, 22, were found tonight hanging on the Fourth street bridge, by a small number of men who drove off with the two Mexicans after forcing them from the city jail.

A patrol wagon was sent after the corpse and they were taken to a private mortuary.

It was a most unusual lynching party. It was formed in secret all through the night throughout the day. Police officials had no pretensions to increase the jail guard.

SPELLS END OF LABOR UNIONS

Chief of Engineers Says Cummins Railroad Bill Means Birth of Revolution

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(Special)—The chief of engineers today will spell the birth of revolution in America.

President W. G. Lee of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and president of twenty other railway unions, in a statement which was issued through the Plumb Plan league.

The Cummins bill, introduced to make the problem of returning the railroads to private ownership in January, would deny to railway unions any share in the management.

Attacking the Cummins bill, in return, the Stone statement declares "It would spell the end of labor organization in America."

South Idaho 1919 Baseball Season Comes to Close Today

Paul and Twin Falls Clubs Clash in This City; Buhl and Burley Meet at Burley

Three Corned Fight for Pennant Grows Hot and Games Today Will Be Hard Fought—Both Buhl and Twin Falls Are Loaded for Leaders—Local Game Starts at 1:30 o'Clock.

Where the Pauls... Paul at Twin Falls... Buhl at Burley... Rupert idle... With Paul and Twin Falls... South Idaho baseball season of 1919...

FROM THE PRESS BOX JUG

Today looms big in the history of the baseball season. Staying for many a weary week, he finds at last the ingredients of what we call a good story line by the teams of Twin Falls and Paul.

It may not be exactly clubby for the usually ductile Paul and club on behaviors the home team threatens to do this afternoon. They have the best of feeling for the visitors but friendship will never prevail at 1:30 o'clock. Such is baseball. The tail ender takes in joy of fight in bringing over his friend up at the top of the column just at the wrong moment.

Paul, it is rumored, has conceived much similar ideas. on the person of the Burley club and has spilled up it is said, with all the talent it could lay hands on. Ordinarily Buhl would have little business in the same ball park with the present Burley team. To use one of the choice expressions of Dynamite Patton they would look like old Hank on that point.

At first glance this might seem to represent a cannibalized warship entering the "danger zone" during war times, but it is really a photograph, snapped from the flying top of the U. S. S. It will be necessary to start the game at 1:30 p. m. to allow the visiting team time to catch the afternoon train home. The drawback of cold supper is that estimated for the wild eyed fan who usually jazes down to the ball orchard around 10 o'clock and falls to jazz home afterwards in time to secure either warm food or warm jackets from the misers. So everything is benefited by the new arrangement.

SERIOUS READING

September brings relief from summer heat, and with it a taste for something more than light summer reading. Anyone who feels this urge may do well to investigate the merits of a certain recent publication entitled "Treaty of Peace With Germany," and known more specifically as Senate Document No. 49 of the First Session of the Sixty-sixth Congress. It is published by the government printing office at Washington, and is distributed free to all citizens sufficiently interested to ask for it. Just drop a line to Senator Newcomb, and he will cheerfully send you a copy.

When it comes, don't be disappointed if the work seems lacking in thrills. Magazine editors might condemn it because, in their jargon, it is not "gripping." It does not move lightly and trippingly. There is no conversation in it, and no great quantity of "human interest" as that commodity is ordinarily reckoned. There are 197 pages of pretty solid reading matter. Nevertheless it is a book very much worth reading, and anyone really applying himself to it will not only derive much benefit from it but will find it interesting and appealing in many unexpected ways. It is well written, being much more literary in style, and less "legal" than treaties usually are. If some boundary descriptions and other technical parts are dry reading, there are plenty of passages likely to prove of rare interest to any man, woman, boy or girl who knows a little history, and is alert enough to want to get at the inside facts of contemporary events.

Here, in fact, is history in the making. The little book deals with the causes and effects of the biggest war there ever was on this old earth, and with the attempted creation of a new world. It represents the end of one epoch, and the beginning of another. Whether done well or ill, wisely or foolishly, this treaty is the very inside of things. Get it and read it. Aside from the educational opportunity it offers, it is every good citizen's duty to understand this treaty, to form an opinion about it, and to make that opinion known. If you haven't read it, you are not entitled to have an opinion about it. Let alone criticizing others for favoring or opposing its ratification.

THE MATTER WITH LABOR

"What's the matter with labor?" was the question put by an assemblage of business men at Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. The early hours of the council meeting was devoted to an informal discussion of something, presumably the bill on the work which was before the council. The members sat around the table and talked in low tones, so that the informal discussion was for the members of the council alone.

IS IT WORTH WHILE?

An exchange relates the following story of a retiring editor presumably of some other country than the United States: "An editor retiring from journalism and his 'goodby' was chronicled in the following language: The undisciplined retires from this paper with the conviction that all is vanity. From the hour his paper was started to the present time he has been solicited to file on every given subject, and can't remember having told a wholesome truth without diminishing his satisfaction in making an enemy. Under these circumstances he tried, and having a thorough contempt for himself, he retires in order to recruit his normal constitution."

The Monroe doctrine gets all summer of labor. Now it's the dreammaking authorities, who declare that since the war started the American woman has learned to create and wear her own fashions and that never again will Paris dictate American styles. Even the corn has its profit edicts.

KEEPS GUARDS ON HANSEN BRIDGE

Fire Insurance Will Be Dropped as Soon as Coat of Asphaltum Can Be Applied, Is Decision of Bridge and County Commission.

Insurance and guards for the Hansen suspension bridge were the subject of a meeting between the bridge commission and the county commissioners Friday evening. It was decided to continue the bridge guards until the bridge will be turned over to the care of the Twin Falls and the Hilldale Highway districts, after the litigation in which the bridge was involved is settled. The litigation concerns retained by Wink doka to pay a share of the cost of the bridge.

Twin Falls county will shortly apply a coat of asphaltum to the bridge and when that is done the fire insurance will be dropped, the asphaltum being regarded as a sufficient protection. Work insurance will still be carried however.

Said a Member of the Coal Trust to the Manager of This Yard---

"We have our meetings, and we'll call you up when we have our next one. Since we've had our meetings, and all charge the same price we are all making more money than ever before. You want to get in. You'll make a lot more money by it."

No one who has watched the price of coal climb during the past few months will deny that "since they have had their meetings they are making more money than ever before."

It is a simple matter to make money when competition is eliminated by dealers holding meetings, setting the price—their price—all the same. It was useless for anyone to go to some other dealer, because he was confronted with the same quotations. It was a case of pay the price or go without.

A child could run a business under those conditions, and make money.

Everyone will recall that a short time ago the County called for bids on coal. Eight bids were received, and each quoted exactly the same figure. The county rejected these bids because they were too high.

At the time these bids were received The Times stated that it was a strange coincidence that every bid was the same and the price was so high. A boy went up from the coal trust, and some of them wanted the editor to retract what he had said.

But they know now that we know they are guilty and they dare not say anything. They have made a few threats of what they are going to do to us but they haven't amounted to anything, and we are still selling and will continue to sell coal at a fair margin of profit.

Will Not Move Cars With Steel Shipments

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Sept. 10.—J. E. McCadden, in charge of the Youngstown office of the American Federation of Labor, declared today that after discussion on Sept. 22 date for the nation-wide steel strike, railroad men will refuse to move cars containing steel shipments or to load with raw materials as long as the strike continues. McCadden said efforts will be ordered to avoid violence and the absence of liquor will intensify the situation. He declared since this strike act, receipts to the union ranks are being secured in larger number than at any time since the campaign commenced.

EMPLOYE RETIRES MORE PAY THAN HIS WIFE'S

LAWRENCE, Mass., Sept. 10.—John C. Hickey, the highest paid city employee, an engineer at the local pumping station, receives more money than his "hook," Alderman John F. Finnegan, whose annual salary of $2000 is outdone by Hickey by $1,000. Hickey receives $37 for forty-eight hour week, but gets Sunday overtime which increases the difference. Hickey has the better of Finnegan in another regard. He gets his house rent free and a week's vacation in the summer with pay. Another fact about Mr. Hickey's pay is that it is the lowest paid by any municipality in Lawrence, just as a water department employee engineer.

The committee in charge of the building of the I. O. O. F. hospital in Idaho Falls has returned to the state with the authority to construct a $300,000 hospital instead of a $150,000 institution, as it had contemplated.

The city clerk has a communication with General Idaho police officers a sufficient number of registrars cars for the removal of their cars to market, and the city will be notified by the public utility commission.

Women of Central Cove, in Canyon county, will publish leaflets containing the names of the women who are the registration of typically Idaho girls. They will be distributed to serve primarily as advertising for the granular fertilizers and apples.

Dr. Charles C. Smith must stand trial in the Owelein county district court on the charge of murder as the result of shooting and killing Howard Helmore, a youth of 21 years, on the night of August 18, the boy was entering his mule pen.

That bootleggers are gradually becoming extinct is evidenced by a report of the Idaho county judge, who says that he has received information that only a few bootleggers are left in the state.

Some idea of the effort which the government is making to preserve Idaho's water sheds may be learned from the fact that there has been spent $87,000 in cash with outstanding bills of $30,000 to fight fires on the public domain in the southern part of the state.

WOMEN WANT TO KNOW ABOUT CAR

That automobile owners who can afford chauffeurs are nevertheless interested in their own cars, is being proved by the fact that they are learning how to drive economically, and that ladies who enjoy driving their own cars are not inferior to their husbands or press a button without knowing what takes place under the hood, are congratulations which have prompted the Lind Automobile company. Dodge Brothers dealer in New York City, to open a "School for Drivers" in their sales building.

WIDOWS OF CONFEDERATE VETS APPLY FOR PENSIONS

MADISON, Ga., Sept. 10.—Fifty Confederate veterans' widows were applied for pensions in Bibb county under the new pension law, which allows widows of Confederate veterans married prior to 1890 and active veterans, irrespective of what they are worth, to obtain pensions. Most of them pressed his suit on the accelerator. The machine sprang forward, knocking the hold-up men into the ditch.

SEEK TO PREVENT WARS

By EX-PRESIDENT WM. H. TAFT.

It is not claimed that the League of Nations will do away with war altogether. Every possible provision that human intelligence can devise will be made to stifle international dispute presently. But should all these measures fail and nations go to war, this is what will happen:

Four years after the dispute have been observed the rules of the League, or other nations will stand back and let them fight it out. War under such circumstances is difficult to imagine, however, because before the any nations will be allowed to fight in accordance with the rules of the League.

AMERICA WILL KEEP PLEDGES

President Points Out Reasons for Ratifying Treaty in Address at Seattle

ARENA, SEATTLE, Sept. 13.—President Wilson tonight explained the peace treaty in detail in his speech here, and predicted it would be accepted by America when the people realized what it contained.

He repeated many of the arguments in favor of ratification which he has made in other speeches.

During his speech there was a continual uproar in the streets, and shouting "We want Wilson."

The president walked to the hall through a tunnel of canvas which had been built between the arena and the auditorium, where he stood at a public feast in which 1400 participated.

Among the people in the arena were number bearing a banner with the words, "Release political prisoners."

Immediately after the president came to the crowd sang "America," the president joining.

"It is becoming more and more evident that those who were partisans of Germany in this war are interested in certain phases of the treaty debate," the president said.

America will not draw from the peace, he predicted. "No pledge would be fulfilled," he asserted to comment on the "appliance outside."

"There were several 'Yes' votes," Wilson said in the streets, evidently led by a cheer leader.

The president resumed his speech after a short hesitation. The clamor outside continued. He said the idea of mediation to settle internal disputes had first been suggested by Republicans; that he took off his hat to them. He declared he had no desire to lead in this matter; that he would be content to follow.

Every nation that joins must submit internal disputes to arbitration. Wilson pointed out, and added the following points:

There must be nine months delay before starting war; covenant breaking nations will not be invited, and warred upon; member nations, under article ten, must respect and preserve each other's rights. "This," he called the heart of the treaty.

The council of the league can only advise what is to be done. It cannot force a country to accept or to declare war. All nations agree to join in a plan for universal disarmament.

All nations agree to register and make public all treaties, thus abolishing secret treaties.

The nations agree to a system of trusteeship over the territories of helpless and dependent peoples, thus ending colonialism.

All nations agree to maintain fair conditions of labor.

The nations agree to take steps for prevention of disease, and to set up Red Cross organizations.

He said he had no objection to amendments of treaty in separate statements, but that such amendments which would send it back to peace council.

Picturing conditions in Russia where he said military rules, Wilson declared he would devote all his influence from this time on to see that the constitution does not command the United States.

Just before going aboard the Oregon, for the review, the president received a welcome from the people of Seattle which was really the most enthusiastic reception he has had in any city in his campaign for ratification of the peace treaty.

The minute the president was seen, was a sentiment of the yell of a football crowd let loose when a touchdown was scored.

Wilson stood up in his automobile gloriously his high hat, which came off as he stepped out, and in the first time since a president entered the west.

At one time the crowd broke police lines and hundreds of men and boys, with an occasional woman running among them, tried to follow Wilson's automobile. The secret service men had worn work several instances keeping them back.

The presidential party was driven directly to the "A" where he boarded a motor launch from the New Mexico for the ride to the Oregon, which lay a short distance off the wharf.

As the president went by the gangway to the Oregon's deck his flag was broken out at the masthead and the crew assistants waved the stars and stripes on the warship. The president and his party went forward and entered the little reviewing stand, built within the hull of the Oregon, which had been erected on top of the forward turret.

As they took their place the first shot of 16-gun salute for the president of the navy rang out. The Oregon swung out under way and came abreast of the New Mexico flagship of Admiral Rodman.

Thus the president reviewed the fleet. It was said to be one of the greatest presidential naval reviews in American history. Wilson came ashore in Admiral Rodman's launch after having tea on the Oregon.

WILSON REVIEWS PACIFIC FLEET

Gets Unpopular Welcome in Seattle—Goes Aboard Old Oregon for Review

SEATTLE, Sept. 14.—From a stand on the forward turret of the historic old Oregon, here ship of the Spanish war, President Wilson this afternoon reviewed five dreadnaughts and 25 destroyers of the Pacific fleet, on the waters of Puget sound.

With the treaty was Secretary Daniels, who accompanied the fleet to the Hawaiian islands, and met Wilson today for the first time since he left Washington on that journey.

The impressive spectacle was viewed by thousands who crowded to points along the coast, and massed the decks of excursion boats to see the grim floating force which the United States has placed on guard in the Pacific.

Wilson stood up in his automobile gloriously his high hat, which came off as he stepped out, and in the first time since a president entered the west.

At one time the crowd broke police lines and hundreds of men and boys, with an occasional woman running among them, tried to follow Wilson's automobile. The secret service men had worn work several instances keeping them back.

WHOLE FAMILY SICK

All of my six brothers and sister, as well as myself, have suffered since childhood from stomach and liver trouble and bloating. I thought it ran in the family and that I could never be cured, but, thanks to Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, since taking it nearly a year ago, I have been enjoying the best of health and feel like a new person. I have no trouble from anything I eat. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the central mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince, or money refunded.

LANDS HEAVILY ON ARMY BILL

Chamberlain Charges 'Militarism Run Mad' in Denunciation of Reorganization

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—"Militarism run mad" was the charge made tonight by Senator Chamberlain, Oregon, against the war department's proposed plan for reorganizing the army on a permanent peace time basis. He is the ranking Democrat member of the senate military affairs committee. The plan now embodied in a bill pending in conference, "gives" one him denunciations—staff despotism, and militarism to a degree never surpassed in the political days of the great general staff of the German army," Chamberlain declared.

Chamberlain's diatribe of the measure created a sensation almost as great as the one that was when he charged that the war department had "ceased to function."

Chamberlain charged the measure backed by the war department would create an all-powerful general staff virtually out of bands of congress-run congress of its control over army appropriations, and said the bill proposed for "more or less universal military training" was a "step to the right" and scarcely deserving consideration.

The war department bill recently introduced by Senator Wadsworth of New York, provides for an army of 275,000, universal military training, and outlines a new system of organization.

Chamberlain characterized various provisions of the bill as "impudent," "illogical," "unintentional," "revolutionary," and "constituting a step toward the right."

He asserted "many agencies" are "concealed and camouflaged" throughout the bill, and indicated the general staff has intimidated "officers called to testify before congress."

"However," he said, "congress is still permitted to foot the bill."

Control of Necessities Charge Against Packers

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—The common necessities of life in the United States are controlled by the five big packers—Armour, Swift, Morris, Wilson and Cudahy—leader J. Krasak, special assistant attorney general, charged tonight. Krasak in a report of the government's legal staff, which will prosecute the packers.

"I have conclusive evidence that the five big packers control practically all of the necessities of life and are in a position to dictate prices."

Jury Frees Trio Tried for Murder

OLATH, Kansas, Sept. 13.—After deliberating for six and a half hours, the jury of the Johnson county court in the murder trial of Emmett J. Thomas, Mrs. Blanche Brown and Harry E. Johnson, returned a verdict at 11:20 o'clock today exonerating the trio of the murder of Harlan Thomas, son of the partner of Harlan and companion of the "Hug" "ride" on the night of July 27, 1918.

A dramatic scene ensued. Mrs. Thomas, who had been sitting at the front of the courtroom, caught her two-year-old baby, which she was holding on her lap, waving it from a hard fall. Charles Brown, husband of the slain woman, stepped up to the wife and clasped her eagerly to himself. Mrs. Emmett Thomas also stepped forward and threw her arms about her husband's neck.

The jury also returned a verdict of acquittal for the three men.

Packer Regulation Hearings Near End

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Efforts were being made today to bring to a close the "control of necessities" and Kendrick bills for the regulation of the packers. The agriculture committee of the senate which has been conducting the hearings on the bills, presumes, plans to take a recess for a few weeks.

Hearings will be reopened after the committee has received reports from the special regulation of the packers.

MEXICAN KILL POLICEMAN

PUEBLO, Sept. 13.—Two Mexican running amuck here this morning, shot and instantly killed Policeman Jefferson Evans. According to reports, the Mexicans were attempting to start a race riot in Pueblo's "black belt" when Evans came upon the pair.

In the scuffle that followed the officer was shot. The Mexicans are under arrest.
