WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—The Bolshevik government has approved 250,000,000 rubles for the dissemination of Bolshevik propaganda in Siberia by a special committee, which has been directed to distribute the "territory" occupied by the Bolsheviks, the anti-Bolshevik leader and head of the all-Russian government in Siberia, according to unverified cables reaching the state department from Washington.

Johnson Will Write Reply to President

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20—Mild reservationists in the senate today, the Johnson amendment to the peace treaty and to support as a substitute the McCumber reservation on the same subject. The McCumber reservation provides that the vote of the United States in the league shall equal that of any other nation, and that the league shall be subject to a "veto" by any one of its members.

THE world will be in despair if America deserts it, the president said. "The voice of conscience that the people of America really favored the treaty, and 'the job is to get that into the minds of the gentleman who do not understand the situation.'"

WILLSON, THE TAILOR

Better Death Than This

Your Car Would Sometimes Say If It Could

After your car has come from the hands of a quack mechanic if it could talk it would tell you better death than to try to pull you over the road in a patched up condition.

When you are sick you consult a physician—a specialist—one who knows—who can diagnose your condition—tell you the trouble in a jiffy—and prescribe the proper treatment.

When your car is sick why not consult a specialist, also, one who can tell you what the trouble is without tearing your car to pieces.

A specialist's time may cost a little more per hour, but per job it's lots cheaper.

The ignition system is the heart of the car. It requires special knowledge to repair it. That's where we shine like the sunshine. Magnets recharged on Fords without removing magneto from car.

We also recharge magnetos on stationary engines, or any motor where a magneto is used.

COLE WALTERS TO ATTENTION AT BIG SALE IN DENVER

Local Man Wins Recognition of Ability at National Western Livestock Sale

Selection of a Twin Falls county man, Col. E. Q. Walters, to act as auctioneer at the National Western Livestock Show in Denver, September 20 and 21, was made known yesterday in a telegram summoning him to that city.

The Western National Livestock Show is one of the big annual events in the stock world, being a considerable sale of registered sheep. All of the prominent breeders in the east and middle west as well as the west itself, are making contributions of choice stock for the sale.

Solution for service as auctioneer at this sale is a signal distinction for the local man. Col. Walters, with this sale, will have conducted six of the best stock sales in different states. He is a member of the firm of Walters and Blearer of Piler.

"The league of nations must and will become the nucleus of a war-weary world for all time.

"It is my privilege, and I deem it the greatest honor of my life, to present to you the preamble of the United States, the Honorable Woodrow Wilson."

At the dinner speech Wilson said and will become the nucleus of a war-weary world for all time.

The league he called a "great international idea" and asserted that in the present condition of world affairs, no man has a right to oppose a constructive plan, unless he has a better one.

Objections made by long opponents have so belittled the issue that many people do not know what is in the treaty, Wilson asserted.

"This was a people's war and this treaty establishes a people's peace," he declared. "The statement at the time of the peace conference was the spoken word of the people and it was the wish of the American people, without regard to peace, that they should have the treaty. Wilson referred to as the "Bolshevik doctrine" applied to the world."

Woman Slain for Insurance

Monday night, posed as John Green, husband of the murdered woman, it being held in the county jail pending the filing of a charge of murder.

Borch, after identifying the woman's body as that of his wife, it was found in a recently mutilated condition lying in the road, admitted.

When confronted with damning evidence, that he had taken the woman to the jail, he admitted that he had followed the intention of killing her. He was found in a recently mutilated condition lying in the road, admitted.

On reaching Toolee from Salt Lake about 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night, Borch and Mrs. Atkins walked directly across the main street of Toolee, and then to a room at the corner of the town, where he choked her to death and then is alleged to have mutilated her body and hid it so as to make it resemble the victim of an automobile accident.

The authorities are puzzled whether or not Borch is a second man connected with the murder. Borch is a statement to Sheriff John B. Corliss and Sheriff Adamson, said that he first met Mrs. Atkins when she was with a man named John Green. Acting as a guide, he accompanied her to Toolee, he said between the two while Green was out of town, and answered them.

"Mrs. Atkins lived in Twin Falls, Idaho, with her husband, Fred Atkin, who Borch's statement, wanted to come to Salt Lake. Letters in Borch's possession from Mrs. Atkins will be used in Twin Falls as evidence of his guilt."

Several days ago, she came to Salt Lake on her second visit in six weeks, when she met Borch, he said. It was then that he met her with a John Green. The two planned the murder and were to split the insurance half ways. Borch said.

Green said Borch, went with them to Toolee and when they stopped from the train told him to go ahead with the car. Borch then pulled forth a large bottle, giving him a drink. After taking the drink, Borch said in his statement, he did not remember what he did.

The authorities are at a loss to understand whether Borch took the name of John Green and is now attempting to shift part of the blame as an accomplice, or to a nonexistent party.

aria occasion. Many appeared to be out to have a good time.

The throng which cleared the downtown district this afternoon was estimated by members of the party to be one of the greatest he has encountered. Certainly it was one of the most demonstrative. For many blocks—the line of march was over three miles long—spectators were massed on the sidewalks completely blocking them. In some places they were packed just to the curb. In addition hundreds looked down from windows and the roofs. The joll which went up at the president emerged from a station house and followed the whole route. At times it almost a bit, but for the most part it was a full-lunged shout, and the noise of handclapping was unceasing.

Mrs. C. P. Parson was hostess to the bridge club Thursday evening at a costume party at the home of Mrs. Lena Chapin. The house was decorated with flags, and the evening was spent with games and music. Light refreshments were served.

Paint Now--- Paint Right

How sun and rain and wind can raise havoc with poor paint or varnish on exposed surfaces. So does constant wear on the surfaces of things indoors. But the right paints and varnishes do withstand these ravages if properly applied—paints that will keep the surface just under all conditions. A master painter knows good paint and varnish and how to apply them. It is a business in itself, like everything else. May we estimate on your work?

THE LOST CAUSE

Whether the proposed strike of the steel workers occurs or not, as scheduled, a warning given by the Nebraska State Journal is true and timely. Speaking of the immediate preparation for the strike, the refusal of the Steel Corporation to deal with its organized employees, the State Journal says:

"The city of it is that however this particular strike may result, there can be but one ultimate result. The steel operators are nearly all that is left of a lost cause. They are fighting a fight which their anthracite neighbors lost fifty years ago. If they win they will win as the railroads won twenty-five years ago, only to have their victory turned to defeat by the quiet advance of the inevitable thing. The struggle for collective bargaining by labor has been won in America. The steel industry is the only industry of first magnitude which still stands out. It is to be a worse than useless strike, for the most the companies can do is to gain a little time. Unless the clock, turns back, Judge Gary's successor, if not Judge Gary, will deal decisively with his laborers."

This is simple common sense, a frank recognition of a fact which ought to be heeded by every intelligent American.

Labor must be admitted to have arrived at the age of discretion and self-determination. Nowhere in the world, certainly not in the United States, can industry be carried on much longer, on the old-fashioned principle that capital is supreme, and that labor must accept whatever capital chooses to give. Labor will no longer tolerate dictation, even when masked with philanthropy. Labor wants equal recognition with capital. The men who work with their hands want to deal on self-respecting terms with the men who own and manage the industries.

Industrial autocracy, like political autocracy, is a lost cause.

LABOR AND THE STEEL TRUST

That the employees of the United States Steel Corporation should go on strike, as they threaten to do, is unthinkable and intolerable. It is a critical time. Such action by them might precipitate an avalanche of strikes, cutting down production of all sorts of commodities just when the nation needs them most, increasing the cost of living just when there is hope of lowering it, and forming bad relations between capital and labor just when those relations have begun to show improvement. At the least, it would cripple the basic manufacturing industry in this country, and thus cripple many dependent industries.

It is equally unthinkable and intolerable that the United States Steel corporation should refuse to deal with its employees through their unions on the principle of collective bargaining which is the business basis of organized labor.

It is too late in the day and too much at variance with the modern verdict of mankind for any employees to refuse to recognize labor unions. Unions of labor have come to stay, just as have unions of capital. A labor organization has exactly as much right to exist and do business as a business corporation. One is an aggregation of workmen and the other is an aggregation of capital. Both are necessary to industry as at present carried on.

It is unwarranted presumption and arrogance for either to set itself up as the master of the other. But if it ever came to a real test, a final showdown, who can doubt that the verdict would be in favor of the mastery of labor rather than of capital? If some labor unions have, and is human, flesh and blood stuff—not a material, unfeeling commodity.

The obvious solution is for the Steel Trust to reverse its position, its policy and recognize and deal with its organized employees, as nearly all the other big American employers of labor have done, and as they will all do before they get through.

THE LICENSED GOAT

Keeping the pig in the parlor, so long celebrated in song, has fallen into disrepute in these days of sanitary life. During the late influenza epidemic it came under local ban, as conducive to the propagation of germs.

But what is harm without its pot? When pigs were denied their place beside the hearth, a lot of dwellers in an eastern city took to keeping goats. Goats are so much cleaner than pigs.

And now here! A heartless official, finding goats living on the first floor front and the third floor back, and taking the stairs at a single bound, has de-licensed goats, too, and undesirable as human pests, and a menace to the public health. A sorrowfully he has suggested that their owners be compelled to obtain licenses as do the owners of dogs, and that the municipality may be able to check up on the goats and down on keeping them in the same rooms with the family.

It is a harsh world, and goats are not the only ones who hurt in it. In the family circle. First thing we know they will be regulating the goat's spot and depriving tomato cans because tomatoes contain no nourishment! Who is the goat in these days, anyhow?

Business is business; still, a demand that the bodies of fallen American soldiers be brought home from France would come with better grace from some other organization than the National Funeral Directors' association.

THEY ARE TRUE ROOSEVELTS

These three grand-children of the late Theodore Roosevelt and children of Leonard C. Theodore Roosevelt live in a beautiful apartment house which they have inherited from their illustrious grandfather. They are full of "zip" and they bear a marked resemblance to him.

Public Forum

The City Council of Twin Falls has at last been heard from on the proposed question. At last we are given the reasons why we cannot have a public forum. It seems it is more economical to pay interest on our paving bonds and have the money in our hands than to spend the money for the purpose of a public forum. Any one of us who is interested in the question of paving is a poor devil. If we were all in to follow this advice we would all quit before we had started on another year's paving. It is cheaper, we would quit building, maybe they are cheaper another year's factor of it may be better. Following this line of argument leads to some realizations. The question is not so much paving. It is not so much as to have a public forum. It is not so much as to have a public forum. It is not so much as to have a public forum. It is not so much as to have a public forum.

Chicago Prepares for Steel Strike

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—About a kale of foreign accent and the clank of cranes, the Chicago steel district are preparing for the inevitable battle. The long lines of Chicago's cranes emitted their usual wailing tonight and the glare of flood lights on the surrounding spotlights on the building clouds, but everywhere there was preparation for the lost that comes Monday.

The police of Gary, East Chicago, Indiana Harbor and a portion of South Chicago depend entirely upon the steel business for support. The population of 20,000 in these places makes a living directly or indirectly from the salaries paid to steel workers.

File Complaint Charging Assault

Complaint was filed in police court Saturday by S. J. Hunt, city sprinkler contractor, against Elmer White, charging him with an attack on the driver of a sprinkling wagon.

The charge grows out of a personal quarrel between White and Elmer O'Connor, driver of the wagon, which occurred Saturday. O'Connor, who is charged with assault, was charged with assault on White in the city.

Dist. Court

Anger and room complaint was filed in district court Saturday by Walter Roberts vs. Elmer Roberts. The plaintiff's charges of adultery are denied and counter charges made, pending against the plaintiff in adjoining cases.

T. F. ELKS BACK OF SALVATION
ARMY'S DRIVE

Drive Which Starts Monday Will Have $6,000 Goal in the County—on a Week

Twin Falls Elks have lined up behind the Salvation Army drive in this county, undertaking a $6,000 quota which was allotted to this county in the state campaign.

The local organization is now legally formed and the Elks will be ready for a vigorous effort when the drive starts tomorrow. "Department work" is the designation applied to the campaign which will be a nationwide drive between September 22 and October 1.

Now that the returned soldier is apparently installed again in the routine of civilian endeavor, the campaign cry of "give him a job" which was heard so insistently a few months ago is evidently forgotten. The public is probably accepting the belief that the former service men are all employed up by localities, and that "everything" is going along quite satisfactorily.

Such a condition would be remarkable if true, but a glance into headquarters of the Salvation Army with its line of applicants seeking employment shatters the generally accepted belief that the troubles of the soldier are all over. Not a day passes without several returning youths confiding their troubles to Salvation Army officers. Sometimes they are in trouble, more often they are out of work, and still more often they are hungry and penniless.

And in each case the Salvation Army man, with a cheery "God bless you," extends the assistance needed.

Delving back into the past, the revolution is made that the Salvation Army during several years past has found employment, shelter and assistance for those who drift into our city without money, without food, without even the price of a bed, and in addition to the 300,000 million men and women, there was provided 45, 000,000 men for this unfortunate class of people.

All these humanitarian activities are only incidental to the Salvation Army officer's main job, which is to get out into the streets and into saloons, to suggest for Christian citizenship to the unchurched Christian citizenry to the unchurched masses. Here on the streets he brings the message for Christian citizenship to 50,000,000 of our working people who float back and forth, the hottens and outens of the sea of the people who can only be seen and stopped and appealed to, on our city streets.

bers of the committee here by telegraph, he said. He could not act on his own initiative, he said, and the men would not accept the strike except on the most positive orders.

"Yes, this is the showdown," Pittsburgh business men and workers remarked, as they passed, and their inner hopes of a postponement slipped away.

As the union leaders go into the fight it is not higher wages they demand, but the right of the steel workers to organize.

"There is no thought in Pittsburgh that Gary will give in, there is no thought among the union men of giving in until their conference is granted."

Sheriff Cries Riot Act

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 20. In anticipation of serious consequences growing out of the steel strike, Wm. S. Huggins, of Allegheny county tonight issued a proclamation citing the riot act of Pennsylvania statute and prohibiting gatherings of three or more persons in populous sections. "All officers throughout Allegheny county, until the present emergency is passed, are commanded to disperse and prevent upon the highways or vacant property of populous sections, the holding or gathering of three or more persons, and whenever such gatherings occur, to immediately direct and command such persons to proceed about their lawful business or avocation or return to their homes and habitations, the proclamation declares.

Bealls Slaughter of Ludlow

PUEBLO, Sept. 20.—Old scenes—the scene of Ludlow—were opened anew tonight. In a hall of former residence echoing through "the grove," the old, old story of "the night war of '14," was told and retold while faithful colony of steel workers set themselves for the most gigantic industrial battle in the history of the west—the "showdown" between the Rockefeller and labor.

At the check-out gates of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company's plants as each shift came off duty, hundreds of men carried home their tools—the strike is already on.

Six thousand men are employed in the plant; five thousand of them are unemployed.

The division superintendents have relinquished the ranks of the strikers—relatives who will "stick" to the union.

Wages, conditions and hours have been forgotten since the meeting between company officials and the representatives of the union on Friday. The "showdown" may hinge on but one point, abolition of the Rockefeller industrial plan, in favor of the union.

At the company's offices it was announced the plant would keep open regardless of how many men walked out.

Both sides are prepared for city event.

LAND DRAWING

8000 Acres of Carey Act Land Adjoining Twin Falls Tract Will Be Opened Tuesday, October 14, 1919

Level and Free from Rock

The land on this tract lies on the northeast slope. It is smooth, the contour is regular. It is free from rock, the soil is deep, there are no broken, irregular couleets cutting the surface, and but little leveling will be found necessary.

The slope is ideal for irrigation, barely enough to carry the water, thus avoiding the inclination to wash the soil. The soil is a deep lava ash, which has been deposited by the winds of the ages, the land sloping northeast. There are no lava crusts or hog-backs.

Scene on Roseworth Ranch, Center of Project

Marketing Conditions

The tract lies just west of and adjoining the well-known Twin Falls project. The character of the soil is identical and the yield of products will be of the same general character and grade. Twin Falls marketing conditions will prevail, with this difference: This tract adjoins thousands of acres of open range, which gives unsurpassed market for hay and stock feed of all kinds right on the ranch. Not only will the ranchman who raises feed here be able to find range for his own stock, but he will have market for surplus at price not surpassed anywhere in the state.

WATER READY FOR CROPPING NEXT SPRING

Ditches are in on the entire tract, roads are graded on each section line, the great dam is nearing completion, and even as this is being written, water is being accumulated for irrigation next year. No other Carey Act tract was ever thrown open in Idaho so completely ready for the farmer as this.

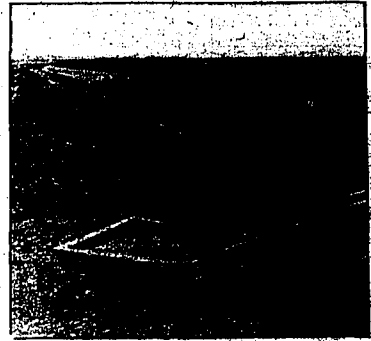

ROAD CONDITIONS

The project lies seven miles west of Castleford. A rock-surfaced road connects Castleford and Buhl with the project.

Roads on the tract have been laid out, graded to the center, all canals and laterals bridged, so that the home builder will settle on a tract with all roads built. This road construction has been thoroughly and systematically done under direction of skilled engineers. Each section line has been taken for a road, the grading has been thorough, some brush has been cleared, dirt dragged to the center and drainage provided at the sides. The approach to all bridges and culverts across canal and laterals has been made to prevent humping, and the roads are really in splendid condition.

Concrete Setting for Steel Headgates

Concrete Outlet From Main Canal

THE WATER SUPPLY

The water supply for this project is derived from four streams which meander down from the mountains which mark the rugged border between Idaho and Nevada. A great dam across Cedar creek canyon will store the flood waters of winter, which will be available in addition to the flow of the four streams and their thousands of springs for the irrigation seasons. This dam is an earthen structure, with a series of concrete cores running through it. It is massive, substantial and designed to prevent any leakage of water stored, the concrete cores running far out into the lava walls of the canyon. A further safeguard is obtained in the method of taking water from the dam. Water is let out of the dam into Cedar creek, and is diverted into the distribution canal at a point about 5 miles below the dam.

Thus if there should be any leakage, it will not be lost but will be caught up in the stream before reaching the point of diversion. Water is carried in steel conduit set in concrete along the rugged lands bordering the stream until level land for canal construction is reached.

The canals are in, the ditches dug, the dam will be completed very shortly, water will be available for the coming spring. Inspection of the entire project is invited, particularly regarding construction of the system which will store and deliver the water. The streams which will be diverted into Cedar creek are House creek, Devil creek and Deadwood creek.

The headgates are of Burnham type, are constructed of steel and concrete, with patented measuring device, so that each water user may see for himself as often as he desires the flow of water he is receiving, without asking a water master.

PRICES AND TERMS

The land will be sold under Carey Act Drawing. That means an equal opportunity for each person entitled to acquire Carey Act land. The drawing will be conducted by state authorities.

PRICE: $125.00 per acre.

TERMS: $25 down; no further payments on principal for 3 years; then $10 per year until balance has been paid.—Interest Rate: Six per cent interest is charged on deferred payments.

IDA
