Wholesale Prices Drop, but Retail Prices Show Advance - Two Years in Jail Hands Over Violators of Law.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—Prosecution by the federal government of profiteers in all parts of the country was being planned here tonight as the result of an action by congress today in finally approving additional authority needed.

Evidence, it is known, has been collected by the department of justice in many communities in justification of the passage of the legislation which consists of amendments to the federal food control act, and it is the plan of Attorney General Palmer to institute proceedings against profiteering simultaneously in all parts of the country upon the signing of the legislation by the president.

Palmer has stated that he intends to make "conspicuous examples" of the worst profiteers in each locality, beginning with those dealers, feeling that the government's business means, will stop exacting exorbitant profits.

The food amendments sent to the president today give the department to prosecute all profiteers hereafter, whereas under the food control act, dealers with an annual business of less than $10,000 were immune.

Another amendment gives government authority to regulate combining prices, which has shown a large advance since last spring.

PROFITTEERING BILL PASSED

Amendment to Food Control Act Gives Government Control Over Clothing Prices

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The house today voted by a vote of 207 to 81 against a provision in the amendment to the food control act.

The amendment gives the department of justice power to prosecute profiteers by combining prices, clothing and several minor articles under government regulation.

AUTHORITIES RESPONSIBLE

Strikers Tell Senate Committee How State Constabulary Misbehaved

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 11.—Charging that the authorities in the various communities in this district were responsible for disorders during the strike and complaining bitterly of the tactics of the state constabulary, witnesses for the strikers were the first to be heard by the senate committee today.

William Penney, of Charleot, former member of the state legislature, and an organizer of the steel workers union, was the first witness.

"Do you work in the mill?" asked Senator Phelps.

The witness then gave a history of the strike in this district in the approval of Monaghan's walkout here today.

FOOTBALL GAMES PROVE THE DOPE

Only One Exception to Progressions in Mid-western College Performances

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—Midwest football, with one exception, was disappointing today by Old Man Haggard. The one exception was the team of Minnesota by Nebraska a non-conference team six to six. The Cornhuskers came out from behind an 18 to 0 defeat by Iowa a week ago and earned a tie with the fighters. The achievement was taken less as an indication of Nebraska's weakness than proof that Nebraska was not in top form a week ago. The Cornhuskers expected to cling to a top record in the big ten.

In other games the results were as expected. Illinois won from Purdue, 14 to 7, after a slightly harder game than had been anticipated. Chicago ran the end, but the middle passed over the Great Lakes gaps for a 123 to 0 score. It was a romp for Maroon second stringers.

Ohio State captured by the redoubtable Chick Carter, triumphed easily in a practice affair with Cincinnati, 46 to 0. Wisconsin, without calling out its reserve strength, was able through Marquette to win with a 20 to 0 score.

Two 20 to 0 scores were recorded in events which are being held at the Stadium.

FROM THE PRESS BOX JUG

Old Father Time and his leading lady, Dame Fortune, have made an awful mess of the passing show, to one way of thinking.

For instance, pipe the late and in some quarters lamented world series. In spite of the fact that we laid off our job and devoted our entire attention to making world championships out of the White Sox, they left us flat, with both figurative and literal variations. Here was a sample of atrocious, start-ramp argument on the part of the esteemed couple mentioned at the head of the column, for the hero was chased out of the theatre by the villain, who didn't even wait decently until the "act was over."

Another slice of the fates was slipped over while we had our lack-train watching the series. With its guard lines down, so to speak, Coach Naylor's football team received a couple of pops on the nose. The last punch was almost enough to jam that orner up where it would get rained in.

VERNON BEATS ST. PAUL CLUB

Hang Up 12 to 2 Score, Making Series Stand Three to One in Tiger's Favor

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 11.—Vernon won the fourth game of the series with St. Paul for the world championship of minor leagues today by the top heavy score of 12 to 2. The series must stand, Vernon 3, St. Paul 1.

The Tigers walked three. Slight errors. They scored four runs in the first inning and six successive runs. Moritt, trade, coming with two on, drove Williams from the box. Belt rechecked Williams but Vernon continued to strike scoring in the fifth and forced Belt to give way to Merritt.

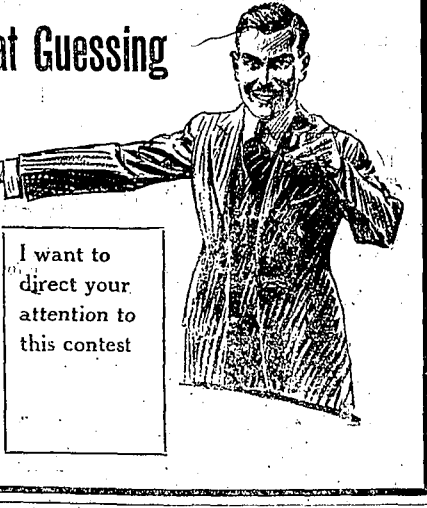

Merritt worked well until the ninth when the Tigers scored four. Beckham's fielding was a factor. The Sam's record batters made one of the most sensational plays of the season and started a double play in the fifth when he fouled a grounder far behind second base. Berghammer threw to Shortstop Marston while lying down. The runner was out at second and Marston completed the double play by throwing to Merritt. This ended a wild inning.

The score: Vernon 12, St. Paul 2. H. R. 1. Errors: 1. St. Paul 1. Batters: Bell and Deveraux; Williams, Hill, Merritt and Liverpool.

arranged as readily as possible so that they can, by the vote, throw out those "who trample laws under foot" Brown declared.

"If you think the way to improve conditions in this country is to let foreigners naturalized as quickly as possible, your vote," asked Senator Brown, "isn't it?"

"It is justifiable in this part of the country where the laws are trampled," Brown replied. "People give me up and send their families away. I do not mean that it is the fault of the country generally, but only targeted here."

Senator McMillan, Democrat, asked if largely many of these efficients are immigrants.

"I see all for the steel trade," Brown answered. "The majority of these are again labor. There are some who try to be fair. Labor is up against a heavy game in the Pittsburgh district. The mayor of Pittsburgh said Jesus Christ couldn't hold a meeting there, and I think he was right."

Senator Sterling questioned Brown's statement that those whose forefathers created it is reactionary was striking.

"It is a fact that bolshevism, I believe, is not only in the hands of American factories that are promulgated and increased and development greatly through the help of them that they have been made against them and that public officials don't give them a square deal," Senator White, Massachusetts, asked.

"I am not answering," Brown answered. "And that applies to Americans, as well as foreigners. There is a popular feeling among men in this district that the long arm of the district heads them off when they start to improve conditions."

"The small court room was packed with strikers and labor leaders. They stood many deep around the committee table listening to every word. Senator McKellar asked whether the strike was not delayed at the request of the president. 'We didn't insist on the strike,' Brown replied. 'It was the men who wanted it.'"

"I talked to many of the strikers myself and I am convinced that they are exceedingly reasonable but that when we can't get a public hearing," McKellar said. "You could have gone to them and explained that the president had asked you that the strike be delayed and they would have unanimously approved it."

"I agree that could have been done but we were so packed a lot time that when we can't get a public hearing," McKellar said. "You could have gone to them and explained that the president had asked you that the strike be delayed and they would have unanimously approved it."

Discourages Use of Wax on Auto Surface

It is not wax on your car that is the answer to H. E. Patterson, local expert for wax is nothing but a grease and will ruin the finish of any car, he says. When wax is used, and you decide to repaint the car, the painter cannot remove the wax until all of the grease and wax has been removed. Nothing will not flow over grease. Nothing is better for the finish of a car than cold water, a good sponge and a soft cloth, he says. By keeping your car out of the sun and not in the sun and keeping it washed with cold water, you will keep it in better shape than you can by waxing it. When you then take it to a painter for repainting, you will find that the job costs less than if you had waxed it. Also take your car to a first class paint job for repainting as you will be better satisfied than if you let one who is not an experienced painter do the work for you.

Restores Youthful Vigor by Operation
PARIS, Oct. 11.—The vigor of youth can be restored to aged men by a very simple operation and already there have been two successful cases of it, according to Dr. Sergie Voronoff, famous French surgeon who has amazed the medical world by his discovery.
"One man was operated on seven months ago. He was 70 years old and promised to be as young as a boy," said Dr. Voronoff.
"At the present time there are two old men who have been operated on by grafting into them, from young ages, the simple and only a local operation is possible in the skin and the operation is necessary. You cut open the skin and introduce the tissue, the inclusion and nature do the process of assimilation."

PALACE of the POPE at AVIGNON

Western Facade of the Palace.

It is more than 20 years since I first saw that mighty fabric of the Palace at Avignon which Frobenius called "the finest and strongest house in the world" and the most important occurrence in that period, from the point of view of the architect and the historian, is that in 1209 a huge building was at last selected from the dangerous task of sheltering soldiers, who cared so little for its beauty as for its association with the pope. Andrea Ceka in Country Life. It was, perhaps, better to be the barracks of a regiment than to be a prison like the Tower or a headquarters like the Bastille. But some of these glorious relics of Provincial history deserved no ignominious fate, and the department of historic monuments earned the thanks of every soldier by its change of policy toward these splendid castles of the sacred Home.

One inevitable result of clearing the Palace of Avignon has been that for the first time it is possible to compare the actual construction of this extraordinary building with the records recovered in the Vatican and investigated by Eugene Muntz, Auguste Perret, and E. Ehrlic. This comparison was carried on by Felix Idagmont, the learned guardian of the museum at Avignon, and when again the countenance is free ground for the cautious traveler I hope that visitors will be able not only to see the building, but to understand the original intention of its builders and to realize the skill and care with which all the important details were planned and reproduced after the century of disfavor and neglect which followed the most deliberate vandalism of the Revolution.

Color and Massiveness.
The vast and deserted expanse in front of this giant block of masonry is a fitting framework to massiveness of monumental dead majesty, and the whole atmosphere of the scene is as different as possible from anything you have passed on your way through the modern town from the railway station of the republic. The exquisite detail of the pointed arches—their uniform de feuilloe—said Henri Leyrie—is one of the loveliest attributes of the buildings of Provence, as it is of our own Breckle houses; but it is the titanic strength and elemental pride of this enormous building which first impress themselves on the beholder who stands before its rusted western entrance gate. The huge and long expanse of some creature of the primeval forest in the very area of the world, and couchant still within its ancient hulk, seems brooding like some immense monarch over the Valley of the Rhone. Bulged and mutilated, as it is, of all its former splendor, this cliff of cut stone stands stupendous above the petty highways of our smaller life.

The octagonal turret jutting from the tower immediately on your left of the main entrance preserve, in its name of "The White Cardinal," the memory of that humbly born Clement VIII, who was elected pope in 1523, and assumed the title of Benedict XII, and really began the foundation of the palace as we see it. Two-thirds of the tower, at any rate, he planned and it is the portion that is the simplest and strongest of it all.

No curlicue was used anywhere in the palace, which was the result of French workmanship and Provincial design, with the square towers which mainly differentiate the architecture from the round-towered style of the French kings which is so masterly exhibited in the contemporary Fort St. Andre.

There are the signs of the hand of the carved masons, still to be seen here and there and originally placed on every corner and edge of the building introduced by the end of the fourteenth century. Those on the great facade are the largest in the world, which was the result of being 15 inches deep, sufficient to hurt down timbers that could sweep at the top of the tower and to create a wide canopy of rafters.

The only luxury observable in the palace was to be found in its interior furniture, which has wholly disappeared. Nothing is left of the solidity and imposing strength of its exterior walls remain to hint at what Frobenius so much admired in the tower.

The old pontifical chapel of John XXIII, enlarged by Benedict XII, and since restored, is now the repository of the arms of the province, and forms the extreme southern line

Maynard's remarkable feat of flying the airplane from Twin Falls to San Francisco on October 11, 1913, is being celebrated in the city. The pilot, who was accompanied by his wife and two children, landed at the city's airport at 10:30 a. m. The flight was the first of its kind in the history of aviation.

Maynard's home town is Kerr, N. C. His wife and two little daughters now live at 2100 S. Y. The flyers were taken to the hotel where a luncheon in his honor was given by the Pacific Aero club. Maynard made good the promise of early to-day that he would eat luncheon in San Francisco. This club will entertain all the aviators as they arrive.

Maynard was accompanied by the Rev. Dr. J. H. C. Jones, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Twin Falls, Idaho. The Rev. Dr. Jones, who is a member of the board of trustees of the Pacific Aero club, accompanied Maynard on his trip.

"We went south of our figure in crossing the bay but after reaching the peninsula we picked up the city. Except for being unusually tired and slightly deaf neither of us is a bit the worse for the trip of early to-day."

Western Facade of the Palace. It is more than 20 years since I first saw that mighty fabric of the Palace at Avignon which Frobenius called "the finest and strongest house in the world" and the most important occurrence in that period, from the point of view of the architect and the historian, is that in 1209 a huge building was at last selected from the dangerous task of sheltering soldiers, who cared so little for its beauty as for its association with the pope.

South Des Anjos. Returning to the courtyard we find in the Tour des Anjos, at the middle of the eastern wall, one of the best preserved of all Benedictine buildings. It was originally entered from the interior of the palace and the steps of the rock outside enabled the architect to build two narrow staircases that are visible from the courtyard. It forms a building 403 meters high on the plan of a perfect square, with a strong buttress pillar at each corner and nearly 90 feet long. Its colors contained the pope's private stock of wine. Above the wine cellar was the lower treasury, with its four pulpits vaulted resting on a central pillar without base or capital, all immediately guarded by huge locks and iron-bound doors.

Immediately above this was Benedict XII's bedroom, which was used by Clement VII in 1527, and called the Chamber of the Flying Sling. From one of the many fresco still discoverable beneath multitudinous layers of military whitewash, two figures, standing with stone seats in their embrasures look out over the entrance court, and by a third you see across the valley of the Rhone to the distant Alps. Several of the distant Alps. Several of the distant Alps. Several of the distant Alps.

On the left of the spectator, and continuing the east wing of the courtyard, is the tower and the other private apartments of the Pope, designed by Bernard Canello of Narbonne. The appalling reconstruction executed by the last pope, Sixtus V., had entirely destroyed the original conception, but the minute details of the Pope's private kitchen and wardrobe, his dining room, his study and his bath, above the chamberlain's council room.

Making Profit Compulsory. In the police courts of New York state it is getting to be a common practice to sentence minor offenders to a term of paying their bills. Street last year $3,000 was levied in this way in War Savings stamps, all interest returned to the state. The state's David Dierbeck was placed on probation six months ago and ordered to give the probation officer $100 in War Savings stamps, he completed bitterly. At the end of six months he received a letter from the state's David Dierbeck, promising to sell $10 a week to continue his savings investment.

TEACHER

Nearly every grown man in America looks back to the time when he was a boy and fell in love with his teacher in school. If he doesn't, there is something wrong with the man.

No great monuments have been erected to the teachers of the schools, no extravagant appreciations have been written for them and virtues and thousand winning ways.

And the teachers of today doubtless are as sure and steady as the old days. So when they enter in Twin Falls this week let us all pay our own great reverence for a living and fame, and pay a tribute—silent but none the less sincere—to the noble body of young women who have devoted their lives to the teaching profession.

MOTION PICTURES TO COMBAT SOCIAL UNREST

A film producing company has set itself the task of combating the evils of industrialism in America by means of the motion picture. To accomplish this object, it is proposed to visualize the Holy Bible, and hold its lessons up before the people.

The philosophy of Jesus applied honestly to the problems of industrialism and labor unrest would work a transformation in the economic conditions of the world.

What the world needs is not a cure for industrial and social ills, unintentionally referred to as bolshevism, as it appears on the surface in wild disorders, but the application of the principles of brotherhood between the man with the hoe and the man with the millstone.

ENFORCEMENT THE TEST

According to reports from St. Paul, Minn., prohibition has, on the whole, failed to bring about any real improvement in the situation.

Minnesota may be having a better chance to try out prohibition than some of the other states. The 1919 legislature passed a rigid enforcement law covering all sections of the federal law.

If, as a few persons and publications still wildly assert, prohibition is all a horrible mistake which must be rectified as soon as possible, it is in better way to find out the facts than by rigid enforcement.

THE COVENANT OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Complete Text of This Important Document As It Was Signed at Paris and Which is Now Causing Discussion in This Country.

EVERYONE SHOULD READ IT

The people of the United States have been asked, by both the proponents and the opponents of the peace treaty and League of Nations covenant, to signify their approval or disapproval by the ratification of the covenant.

THE COVENANT OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

The high contracting parties, in order to promote international cooperation and to achieve international peace and security, have agreed to conclude a covenant which shall be known as the Covenant of the League of Nations.

Article 1: The original members of the League of Nations shall be the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan, Belgium, Greece, Spain, Portugal, Siam, and the Kingdom of the Netherlands.

Article 2: The members of the League undertake to respect and preserve the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all states.

Article 3: Any war or threat of war, whether immediately threatening international peace, shall be referred to the Council for its consideration and for its recommendation.

Article 4: Any war or threat of war, whether immediately threatening international peace, shall be referred to the Council for its consideration and for its recommendation.

The secretaries and staff of the secretariat shall be appointed by the secretary general with the approval of the Council.

The secretaries general shall act in that capacity at all meetings of the assembly of the League of Nations. The expenses of the secretariat shall be borne by the League of Nations.

Article 13: The seat of the League of Nations shall be at Geneva. The Council may at any time decide to transfer the seat of the League to such other place as it may determine.

Article 14: The members of the League undertake to respect and preserve the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all states.

Article 15: Any war or threat of war, whether immediately threatening international peace, shall be referred to the Council for its consideration and for its recommendation.

World Is Forced Into New Activity for the Protection of All Children

By JULIA LATHROP, Children's Bureau

It is not too much to say that the world is being forced very nifty into a new activity for the protection of all children—not a few, not favored children, but all children. War losses of population and of wealth force Europe, A recent self-respect would force the United States even if it were not plain that the nations which are to maintain leadership will be those whose most wisely and generously equip the children of today and tomorrow.

As well as to literacy, the United States is perhaps ninth among civilized nations that in Australia, the United Kingdom, New Zealand, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Denmark, Sweden, Germany all have a larger proportion of the population who can read and write than has the United States.

Second, as to maternal mortality, the United States is fourteenth in the list of civilized nations, judged by the proportion of deaths of mothers from causes incident to childbearing. That is, in thirteen countries the mother's life is safer than it is in the United States.

Third, the United States is eleventh among civilized countries, tested by its infant mortality rate, a rate whose declining value as a sign of social wellbeing is axiomatic.

Considering the exemption this country enjoys from the poverty and hunger and devastation of Europe, it is not less than our reasonable service to make the United States stand first in every phase of child welfare in any list of countries. The war has left us no neutral questions. We have only the issue of a nation's welfare.

War Promoting Hasty Marriages, Has Increased Domestic Tragedies

By JUDGE JACOB H. HOPKINS, Chicago

The term just closed—1918 and 1919—will go down in the records of the courts as the biggest year in the divorce history of Chicago and Cook county, Illinois. It was not so much the increase by every one of 12,170 divorces as that the number of broken homes. A total of 6,220 decrees was granted during the year.

The war, liquor and a seemingly increasing belief in free love are to be blamed for the unusual number of ruined marriages.

The war, which prompted hasty marriages, has greatly increased the number of domestic tragedies. War weddings in seven cases out of ten proved failures. The young brides were afraid of those strange men they married two years ago.

Then, with the newspapers constantly telling of men being fought with "other women," people have come to believe that it is almost legitimate. An extremely high percentage of broken homes is shattered by free love.

Here It Is and This Is It--

SWAT THE GERM, PLAN OF CITY'S HEALTH OFFICER

Will Canvas Homes for Data Leading to Detection of Bad Health Conditions

To track the germ to its lair in the purpose of a campaign by Ross Murray of the city health department with the ultimate object of stamping out unsanitary conditions wherever they may be found within the city. The campaign mentioned is nothing less than a scheme to find the conditions, the stamping process to follow.

A little cooperation from the general public is all that is needed to enable Ross Murray to plant his net further assurance than a look over his past activities in behalf of the sanitary regulations.

Mr. Murray's plan, in brief, is to canvass the city, obtaining the name and residence of each family, the names of their milk dealer, butcher, or other tradesman, and, incidentally, to take a record of the various businesses in each family, including the number and character. He will then study the result, taking note of the cases of illness. If the name of a tradesman appears too often in the list of sick cases, the sanitary of the health department may reasonably be directed to the establishment for delinquency in the matter of sanitation.

The city will be divided into four zones for the proposed canvass, which will start very shortly. The cooperation of the public is asked in the interest of public health and welfare.

FREIGHT COSTS ARE IN DISPUTE

Who Shall Pay the Freight, Forms Basis of Suit Brought by Local Concern—Suit is Dismissed— Denunciations are Filed.

Freight charges claimed to have been paid to the Oregon Short Line railroad by the Twin Falls Vinegar and Cider company at the request of the Goddard Field company, in the subject of a suit brought by the latter concern in probate court. After the freight had been paid, together with cost of labor for unloading the materials on which the freight charges were levied, the defendant is alleged to have refused to reimburse the plaintiff. Judgment for $145.78 is sought.

Suit Dismissed

Suit of the First National Bank of Twin Falls to recover on a $125 note from A. T. Black and Chas. D. Albright has been dismissed on motion of the plaintiff.

CARS INDULGE IN GAME OF TAG

Busick Six Driven by J. A. Tucker Plugs Into Three Machines in Line Along Curb on Main Avenue East—No One Injured.

A busick six driven by J. A. Tucker played tag with three other cars last evening, and nearly made a strike. The multiple collision occurred on Main avenue east of the city from his farm, a mile west of the siphon on Rock creek.

Traveling at what is said to have been a rather rapid rate, Tucker approached, in the wake of a truck which turned suddenly in front of him, going down an unlighted alley. To avoid a rear end collision Tucker swerved to the right in order to give the truck a wider berth. He smashed into the rear end of a Dodge touring car belonging to E. D. Turner of Harrison avenue. The Dodge being one of three cars that were lined up along the curb.

The Dodge passed the blow along to an Overland touring car in front of it. The Overland, which belongs to Peter Hof, residing northeast of the Washington school, followed and rammed another Overland ahead of it. Having no one to retaliate upon, the last Overland merely limped along a few feet and tried to start a bicycle but barely missed.

There was a crashing of glass in Tucker's car but that of broken wind shield and lamps. Its radiator was stove in, and the front end generally smashed up. Although loaded with passengers, there were no one injured. Mixed with the water from the busick's radiator was a tank of high-priced gasoline from the tank on the rear end of Turner's Dodge, this tank being smashed. The Dodge had ignited the gas tank on Hof's Overland, which also sustained a broken tire and wrecked its front lamps on the rear fender of the Overland which was leading the procession. The rear fender in question was badly crumpled.

Tucker admitted to a Times reporter that his car was not under his control when the accident occurred but refused to give his name. The police inquiry declined it.

Expressing Individuality in Clothes

Coats and Suits as shown here permit every woman to select garments suiting her individual taste.

The Suit or Coat that is your type—that has that "particular something" that is yours—will be easy to find here among the many new garments that have arrived during the past few days. If you would show a bit of suit to express your individuality, there will be no better time than now to choose.

Suits Are Many Modish Coats

Many are the little touches and dashes of style that will appeal to you on the various models shown. The low hanging pocket-suit, the double-breasted "cashmere" belt, the high "bad" collar, the trim cuffs, the new sleeves in collars, all are among the new features. The new styles in blouses, Galandine, Toping, Heather Mixtures, Velour Cheeks, Studs Cloth and Serges, in the most wanted shades all make their appeal to you in this collection.
