150,000 NON-UNION MINERS STICK TO THEIR JOBS

Reports to Mine Operators Show Many Important Fields Closed Down

FUEL FAMINE STARES NATION IN FACE WITH COAL PRODUCTION CUT TO LESS THAN HALF OF NORMAL

First Day of Tie-Up Passes Without Violence Reported From Any Camp—Virtually No Coal Mined in Many Fields—Troops With Machine Guns Ready to Quell Disturbances.

Approximately 335,000 union miners and others had brought about a situation, admittedly serious tonight as they idle in their homes—on strike.

With less than half forces working, largely non-union, production was cut down as to threaten a fuel famine. The first day of the big tie-up passed without violence.

The strike also set a precedent as being virtually leaderless. John L. Lewis president of the United Mine Workers, and other officials of the union having been enjoined by a court order from taking part in the strike.

The government part in conducting the strike was led by Attorney General Palmer, who in a statement to United States marshals gave instructions to break up any gatherings of two or more persons which appeared to frame a conspiracy.

Commanding of soft coal in Texas was ordered today by H. A. Hinson, regional director of railroads for the Northwestern division, and by Hale Hilden, regional director of southwestern railroads.

Simultaneously coal distribution companies under authority of the United States fuel administration which were created to control stocks of coal during the strike. General seizures began during the day in Illinois and Michigan.

The Utah practically completed in every coal state. In the Pennsylvania field, where more men are employed than in any other in the country, 100,000 strikers were reported. Forty thousand non-union miners reported still on duty in that state, however.

Both sides admitted the real showdown will occur on Monday when the Pennsylvania field, where more men are employed than in any other in the country, 100,000 strikers were reported. Forty thousand non-union miners reported still on duty in that state, however.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE OF MARY GRAHAM BONNER

THE DALMATIAN DOG.

"How-wow, how-wow, bow-wow, bow-wow!" Thus spoke the Dalmatian dog.

"Oh, I am so happy," he said. "At last folks will know about me. I've been hearing everyone speak of it lately."

"What have you heard from them about me?" asked the Welsh terrier.

"I have heard of something to make me happy," said the Dalmatian dog.

"Are you going to tell it to me?" asked the Welsh terrier.

"I'd like to be made happy too," said the Welsh terrier.

"But I'm not so sure that you would be made happy about my story," said the Dalmatian dog.

"Wouldn't you be glad to hear about me?" asked the Welsh terrier.

"To be sure," said the Welsh terrier, "how-wow, to be sure, I just didn't use the right word. Pray forgive me."

"I will, how-wow, how-wow, I'll forgive you," said the Dalmatian dog.

"And tell me what you've heard about me," said the Welsh terrier.

"You speak as though you thought my story was an odious one of almost an entire race," said the Dalmatian dog.

"I don't know how long it is to be," said the Welsh terrier.

"I said, 'I'd love to hear it if it wouldn't take more than a few hours to tell it to me.'"

"Of course, but you're patient," said the Dalmatian dog.

"It won't take me as long," said the Welsh terrier.

"In that place I am always flattered by being brought to a dog show. I see your dog show because then it means in worth showing."

"But this dog show has made me so happy because it seems that people have been talking about me and telling quite true things about me."

"That for example?" asked the Welsh terrier.

"Well," said the Dalmatian dog, "they're saying that I came, or rather my family came, from Dalmatia, on the Adriatic coast."

"I've heard that," said the Welsh terrier.

"I am so especially happy that they do know I come from a good old family of dogs and that I'm a really sensible fellow who is greatly and justly proud of his parents and grandparents and great grandparents."

"It's a good thing that you know your fine points," agreed the Welsh terrier.

"A fair warning," said the Welsh terrier.

"Edward, a sixteen-year-old urchin, accidentally cut out his shoe with his knife and his father proceeded to scold him at great length for his carelessness."

"If you don't stop talking so much about it you'll get me mad," said the Welsh terrier.

"Mrs. Wyatt and Sherry, the leading Chiropodist, are now practicing at 151 1/2 St."

The American commander in reply to a cable from the mayor of this city asking the general if he would visit his home town. WASTE COUNTRY MADE RICH

Enormous Rubber Plantation in Cummata Developed by American Industry in Ten Years.

Perhaps the most surprising thing about the enormous rubber plantation that covers nearly 100,000 acres in Sumatra, recently described by a writer in Commerce and Finance, is that less than ten years ago one could have traveled these areas without seeing a rubber tree. The land was acquired by an American company and the rubber trees followed. Today they are up to something like 5,000,000, tended by an army of about 100,000 laborers, most of whom come from the neighboring island of Java. The land rises to a slight eminence overlooking the sea of rubber trees which stretch for miles in every direction, with here and there glimpses of the fine roads over which motor cars travel the plantation on business or carry passengers between the banglows of the estate managers. Sixty-five miles of narrow-gauge railway run through this remarkable rubber forest, with every tree raised in response to the twentieth century commercial demand for rubber.

Newspaper Man "Struck" Probably the first "strike" ever called as a convention of the American Federation of Labor, and against that body, was called by the newspaperists assigned to cover the session. During the course of the convention one of the delegates made criticism of the way in which the convention was handled. The newspaper man immediately fled out of the hall and went toward the convention that had been going on. While certain delegates were including the newspaperists "abolished" others insisted that they form a committee and proceed to the convention.

PIGS CAUSED THE WAR Pigs, just the ordinary barnyard variety, brought on the great war. This is the latest contribution from the royal houses of the Central Empires submitted for historic reference as the cause of the big conflict. It is put forth seriously by no less a personage than Count Carl Seibler, late confidential counselor to Emperor Charles in Vienna, in a statement to Lieutenant-Friedrich H. Mead, of Troy, N. Y., a member of the American embassy taking relief supplies to Budapest.

When five years before the war Serbia was shipping great numbers of pigs into Hungary, successfully competing with the Hungarian farmer and cutting into his income," said Count Seibler. "The Hungarians protested but the border was left open. Finally leading the pleas of its people, the Austro-Hungarian government acted and on the pretext that all Serbian pigs were diseased, placed an embargo on them.

Up to that time the two governments had more or less of a friendly understanding. After this both sides became irritated and practiced every method of hampering each other in international trade. Political leaders in Serbia seized upon the pig incident, Austro-Hungarian diplomats took up the question. Misunderstandings arose over it. The embargo was maintained until the pig incident was played many other big political questions. When it grew too old for political propaganda, other questions were built out of it, and thus the world war was brought on.

Yes, there is no doubt, pigs of one kind or another caused the war. How much does it cost to feed a man? That is a question which concerns most of us. Swift & Co., meat packers, have opened a cafeteria on the sixth floor of their new 43 war-house, Chicago, where the company will serve its employees at "cost price," "best quality foods, well cooked, and served under conditions of absolute cleanliness," according to the announcement. The announcement further says "there will be no profit for the company."

The plate lunch, at 20c, according to the menu of the opening day, consists of lamb steak with dumplings or pot roast, scalloped potatoes, buttered beef, rolls or bread, Premium olive-margarine. Those who do not want the plate lunch can select from the following: Lamb steak with dumplings, or pot roast, the scalloped potatoes, buttered beefs, potato soup, Italian rice, apple pie, raisin pie, sales practicing slaw, slaw or cream, each 8c, Jonathan apples, 12c; milk, 5c; glass, 4c; coffee, 6c; bread, 5c; diet, 10c; olive-margarine, per piece, 1c.

These prices are presumed to represent the cost of the food and the service cafeteria style, to Swift & Co. What is the size of the portions served for these prices is of course a matter of guesswork to anybody so far from Chicago who have not yet. But presumably a lousy worker in the packing plant can get enough to satisfy his appetite for 20c, or 25c for the plate lunch with coffee and pie. Any price more than that necessary to pay anywhere in America must represent the freight, extra service and profits of landlords and dealers in food products who live between the packers and the consumers.

CONGRESS SHOULD SET EXAMPLE Call for a showdown on the inactivity of congress during the five month period since May has been made in the House by Representative Awood of Louisiana. In the form of nine resolutions Congress man Awood asks congress for information on the amount of money spent for witnesses, traveling, printing and otherwise by the "war investigating" committees, the amount of clerical hire indulged by these committees and the number of days each member of congress on these committees has spent in the business of investigating.

The committees, of course, are purely political in character and instituted for the purpose of securing 1920 "political thunder." It is in effect his resolutions ask these committees to make some report on what they have found out that "was not already known."

Editorial Squibs

Ure State is making it wiser for the cold storage. Don't be the first one of living out into the collection plate! Lots of hunger, lots of stiff-necked and nobody on a lunch strike. Japan announces that it is to get out of Shanghai—not now but soon. Press will not come down so long as careless lighting keeps them up. The proliferator may be on the run, but they haven't caught up with him yet. The newest food product is canned shark. But what a large can it must take!

Much has martial law about as often as a lot of us have a touch of rheumatism. The thieves, honesty, might have in now with a light and relieve the shortage of words. Median culture is sweeping the world. Cafeterias are being opened even in Europe. America ought to produce a grand deal more of everything except diamonds and discolored.

Then arises the question as to who is rich enough to buy food to speculate at present prices. As was to be expected, the coffee merchants are finding plenty of grounds for lowering prices. While the dollar can purchase only half as much as formerly, it manages to make twice as much noise. What commiserated over navigation chiefly means at present is plenty of new soft places on which to land.

The fellow with coal in his cellar will not feel nearly so uneasy about the contrabanded coal mines' strike. A community is not in dire straits when it is having about a shortage of sugar instead of one of bread and meat. Under the search and seizure law the usual hardship, necessary laws, make becomes burning evidence.

What the world wants is immediate peace in the present industry. It will attend to the perfecting process itself. For another thing, the cost of living tends to discourage early rising. Breakfast nowadays doesn't amount to much. Young America daily broods over the war's effect of increasing the amount of misery and geography to be learned.

There are lots of plans to reduce the cost of living, but somehow none of them seem to work so well as the producer's plans. Shark's meat is pronounced very palatable. Here is a chance for surprising abundance to help reduce the high cost of living.

A woman's magazine says hardly, to be fashionable, most now have fur coats. It is not the fur that will sell, it is Catrux's disposition. There would not be such a kick about the advanced price for laundry work if the slaters did not come back with the saw-edge collars.

The firm which states that diamonds are now worth $1000 per carat doesn't distribute a bit of people half as much as the price of potatoes per potato.

Sovets continue to be promoted in spite of the fact that there are no technical difficulties in the satisfaction of the part of those who have used them. One hundred American soldiers have taken Czech brides and nobody would be so rude as to deny that they are excited Czechs and worth their face value.

A year's food storage for certain articles of food seems long enough, considering that the food is such that it will naturally expect to pay the bill. A South African mob has been putting home rate leaders with eggs. The first thought which will strike pigeon fliers is the terrific weight of eggs. A French scientist has discovered a new way of exterminating coolies. It is a pity his discovery did not connect better with the psychological museum. The shark of Perla is taking eight chaplains with him on his European tour, which serves to confirm the suspicion that he may need a lot of watching. The farmers and mechanics are expected to follow all the regulations carefully, not to let them interfere with the duty of first purpose production. It is interesting to know in these strange times that dancing is to be taught. The times themselves have taken care that it is a well known

NEW HOURS AT COURT HOUSE ARE ADOPTED

Daylight Saving Idea Favored and Most Offices Will Try the Plan

A change of hours to fit the advantages of the daylight saving plan was adopted by most of the county offices at the courthouse yesterday. Other offices are considering the move and will probably follow suit Monday.

The combined offices of county clerk, auditor and recorder, will remain open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. as at present, but the office here will adopt the new 8 to 4 schedule. This is for the purpose of avoiding artificial light as far as possible, thus reducing the risk of electrical errors in accounting, recording, etc. The county treasurer, tax collector, assessor, county superintendent of schools, probate court and county commissioners either adopted the new hours yesterday or are contemplating their adoption Monday. District Attorney Stephan is out of the city and his attitude toward the plan was not learned. In the sheriff's office there are no such conveniences as "bonus" so they are not interested in the daylight saving idea.

Did you rent it yet? We mean that spare room that these young people have been looking through our "For Rent" column for. Was your room mentioned there?

The new high school building, costing $17,525, was chiefly responsible for the October record. St. Edward's Catholic parish contributed $2,500 in the form of a new church office. Twenty new dwelling houses with a scattering of garage and barn permits completed the list, which is as follows:

Ind. School Dist., No. 1.....	$17,525
St. Edward's church.....	2,500
Geo. W. Hammond.....	8,000
P. R. Thompson.....	6,000

Presidential Suppling From Washington Says Miners Wages Are 'Amply Liberal'

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—"We are appealling a state of civil war," declared United States Senator Miles Poindexter, Republican of Washington, addressing a political rally here today. "Anarchy, epidemics, 'I. W. W.' and various forms of socialism and communism are seeking to confiscate property, to nationalize industry and to have what is called the 'proletariat' control the government." Senator Poindexter said: "It is part of a world-wide movement to be added, and sold the coal strike was 'part of the program of communism.'" "The coal strike," he added, "is not a good faith campaign for better wages, shorter hours or better working conditions. These are already amply liberal."
