President's Industrial Conference Will Be Called Soon in Washington

ALLEGED SOCIAL FABRIC ROTTEN

Leaders With Advanced Ideas Promise Rejection of Big Game War to Bring More Beautiful System—Say Judge Gary Is Nice Old Man, but Has No Right to Control Lives of Millions.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—War—equal war—by women upon men, for equal control, a political, economic and social nature, is to be waged with bitter resentments beginning in the presidential campaign for 1920.

Mrs. G. H. P. Belmont, Mrs. John Rogers and Miss Doris Stevens, social leaders and officials of the party, are the trio with the "advanced" ideas upon women's recognition, which will lead the fight for the recognition of woman's equality.

SANTEL AND HOWARD FAIL TO OBTAIN DECISION

Ad Gets Hard-Line Decision After Two Hours—Lewis Topples Jack Goldsberry

TWIN FALLS, Nov. 6.—In what was considered the best match ever held in this town, SanTEL and Mike Howard battled two hours last night without either being able to secure a final decision in favor of SanTEL. The fight was given by the judges, J. W. Turner and E. C. Swanner, at the end of that time, SanTEL earned the shaft by his aggressiveness in the last half hour up to that time hours being even. Five hundred and seven fans were at the ring, following encouragement to their favorites. The state wrestling commission was represented by A. J. Hayward of Pocatello. In the preliminaries Ray Capen, barger of Bluff, whipped Condie Sullivan of Piler in three rounds. Cliff Lewis, the Twin Falls wrestler, downed Jack Goldsberry of Bluff in the first and second rounds. Lewis shows up a fast man and a finished wrestler.

RESTORES POWER TO FIX PRICES

Eviction Notices Served on Men in Company Houses in Colorado Coal Fields.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—President Wilson late this afternoon issued an executive order authorizing the federal administration to restore fixed prices on all coal and coke as he sees fit. The order is for the purpose of fixing prices on anthracite coal and coke in the event that Dr. Garfield finds that the coal strike situation warrants such action.

The executive order of president Wilson is as follows: "The United States federal administration, acting under the authority of an executive order issued by me, dated August 27, 1917, and published in the United States federal administrator, and all subsequent executive orders, and in furtherance of the purpose of said order, and of the acts of congress therein referred to, and approved August 10, 1917, did on January 31, 1919, and on February 29, 1919, execute and issue orders suspending all further order by the president certain rules, regulations, orders and proclamations thereto formulated, relative to the fixing of prices, the production, sale, shipment, distribution, transportation, storage and use of coal and coke; and whereas, by an executive order, dated the 20th day of February, 1919, and approved August 10, 1917, and on February 29, 1919, were revoked and annulled to the extent set forth in the said executive order of October 30, 1919, and whereas it appears that it may be deemed necessary to reissue, orders and proclamations, fixing the prices and regulating the production, sale, shipment, distribution, transportation, storage and use of all coal or coke, in his judgment may be necessary."

"The president's executive order restores the federal administration to its full war-time powers and leaves the matter of price fixing regulation and distribution entirely to the discretion of the federal administrator. He Garfield

I Have Sold My Twin Falls Store

I am retiring from the retail mercantile business in Twin Falls. My entire stock of merchandise has been sold to the W. H. Wright & Sons Company of Ogden, Utah.

I take this opportunity of thanking the good people of Twin Falls for the generous patronage with which they have favored me during the six years that my store has been in operation. THE WRIGHT COMPANY will reopen the store within the next few days, it having been closed now for the purpose of taking an inventory of the merchandise on hand. The store which will now become known as "WRIGHTS" will continue in business here indefinitely.

Representatives of the WRIGHT COMPANY who are here now will sell off most of my stocks, so as to re-stock the store with their new line of MERCHANDISE. As most of my stocks were bought before the recent advances in price, and as I have sold it to the Wright Company at a very low price, the people of this community may rest assured that there will be some worth while bargains when the Wright Company start the selling of these stocks.

I shall be in the store a short time after the new opening, hoping to meet all of my good friends and acquaintances. (Signed) SAMUEL HART.

PHOTOGRAPHS USED IN COURT WIN FREEDOM

FT. WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 6.—Photographs, used for the first time in the history of the court, obtained the freedom of S. F. Houser, wealthy truck manufacturer, who was on trial on a charge of assault and battery on Mrs. Mary Lyman during a strike at his plant. The woman charged that when she shook hands with Houser and "merely touched the brim of his hat" in making him to salute a group of women, he deliberately struck her. The photographs showed that the woman had grabbed for the hat so vigorously that the manufacturer lost his balance and accidentally struck her in an effort to regain his poise and acquittal was obtained.

COAL STRIKE WILL NOT LAST LONG.

There are about 400,000 coal miners on strike to enforce their demands for a living wage. These demands were formulated at a convention in Cleveland, and include a thirty-hour week and an increase of 60 per cent over present pay.

The mere statement of the demands leads the mindling to condemn the miners without hearing. Yet the miners have offered to arbitrate the question of hours and wages upon either of two bases.—That of the cost of living or that of the operators' profits in coal. According to the department of labor's bureau statistics if a dollar was worth a dollar in 1914, in other words if a dollar at that time bought a dollar's worth of goods, then in June, 1919, the dollar was worth only 57 cents.

As to the operators' profits in coal there are no statistics available, but the fact that the war-time prices have been put into effect carries with it the certainty that the strike will not be long-lived. There is less profit in coal under war-time prices than under the cut-throat competition, so that condition will not be permitted to last long.

PSYCHOLOGICAL PRICES.

Many people have said that high prices were "largely psychological" and have been laughed at for their suggestion. Now comes a big, practical, clear-headed observer whose opinion commands respect, and says the same thing. Herbert Hoover told a congressional investigating committee the other day that, whatever excess there might have been some time ago for high retail prices, their continuance is largely due to the "appalling psychology of the public" as shown in its disposition to buy expensive things. This may not be living on the edge of the industry conditions, but it is a certain law of the things closed by luxuries. Many a merchant will testify that the easiest way to sell an article nowadays is to put a high price on it. Merchants would hardly be lunatic if they did not respond to this invitation.

The worst thing about it is the fact that when prices are hoisted on luxuries they tend to raise the price-level generally, and so make plain necessities cost more.

SOLDIER WORK STILL HEAVY

The obligations of the American Red Cross respecting the care and comfort of the country's defenders is not completed. The paramount duty of the organization is to maintain the service for fighting men at 100 per cent efficiency until there is no longer any call for it.

There has been a great volume of work in certain lines during the last few months that there was before demobilization began. Great increases are shown in the volume of personal service rendered. There still keeps up also the distinctive work in the camps and hospitals. It is work that must continue until virtually the last man has been mustered out and the last of the hospitals is closed.

Everybody who responds to the third Red Cross roll call, November 2-11, therefore, will have a part in carrying to completion the tasks which were assumed when the United States engaged in the war. And nobody ought to miss the chance of enrolling through one of the million volunteer workers who will attend to the signing up for the year 1920.

NOVEMBER HOLIDAYS.

Five days in November are not holidays. The other twenty-five are holidays, according to a calendar published by the General Trust company of New York. They are not all holidays everywhere, of course, but in some country or some portion of some country the month is pretty much given over to celebrations.

The dates set aside for special observation are the 12th, 14th, 20th, 22nd and 24th. Surely somebody somewhere ought to find something to commemorate on those strictly business days.

There was something picturesque about the old-time stage robber, but his activities did not compel the robbed to mortgage the future. If the passengers got out alive the stage was wiped clean, and they had a chance to start new the next day. Nowadays the robber takes what is in sight and insists upon a mortgage on tomorrow's labor.

The longer congress remains in session without doing anything, the sorer the country gets that it is a sort of useless appendage. In the industrial world an institution must live on the goods it delivers. But let that requirement be placed on congress, and what has it done since the president convoked the body in extraordinary session to justify its existence?

The proprietor of a New England cider mill that has been operating for a century says he expects to shut down the mill after this year. And the country goes dry, and cider just coming into its own, with no alcohol left!

The Italians are howling about a "forced loan." Americans are accustomed to it. Some of our best friends practice it all the time.

That industrial conference at Washington acted like the United States senate.

LABOR BLAMES CHAMBER FOR WILD RUMORS

Central Body Issues Statement Advising Against Use of Such "Poor Methods"

Disregarding by malicious insinuations a completely legitimate demonstration of realists, which ran darkly blued were coming from organized labor, the Central Labor Union tonight issued a statement laying the rumors at the door of the Chamber of Commerce and advising that organization not to use such "poor methods" to secure its own membership.

"Organized labor has come under the 'let of the rumor monger,'" says the labor public relations committee. "Labor has always been accused of everything that could be hung upon it. In the past week the committee men of the publicity department of the Central Labor Union have been told of rumors of some radical course that organized labor was going to follow in the next day or six, but when the rumor peddler was asked what actively the rumor carried, it was exactly told that 'something' was going to be done, with the mysterious raising of the eyebrows and other expressions of mystery to make their point stronger. Thursday arrives and again gives the lie to the rumor monger. Interviews with some twenty of the thirty members of the committee revealed the contents of opinion in regard to the rumors was that the Chamber of Commerce was working to get rid of some of the best elements of oil by stabilizing labor in the back to get recruits for that body." The committee also made public a letter from J. McQuillan, secretary of the Building Trades Council, in which at rest any doubt regarding the falsity of the rumors. McQuillan's letter follows:

Twin Falls, Ida., Nov. 6, 1919.
To the Publicity Committee of the Central Labor Union:
Dear Brother:

Will you kindly publish the following to set the public's mind at rest. Several of the merchants have come to me in the past few days with rumors of approval in regard to organized labor's unapproved activities.

Saturday and Sunday there was a rumor going around that the carpenters were being asked to strike on the following Monday. I attended the carpenters' meet at every meeting in the past and no such action was ever discussed and no such action by the executive boards, which you know are the power agencies between the executive sessions of locals, of which I am a member. No such action as the above has been discussed by any of them.

Yesterday and today excited merchants have asked me if I had heard anything about what "labor was going to do on Thursday." This seems to have a very apprehensive meaning attached to something which I don't want to tell the public that nothing in this line is contemplated by me. As far as labor doing anything, I am not at all sure that such progress day by doing something, but we are not doing anything more Thursday than we did all the rest of the week and there is nothing on the program excepting the same kind of activity.

Respectfully,
J. A. McQUILLAN,
Business Agent for the Twin Falls Building Trades Council.

"Organized labor of Twin Falls is a law-abiding body," says J. McQuillan, secretary of the Building Trades Union, president of the Central Labor Union today in an interview. "I have attended the meetings of every local in the city and find them to be conservative but progressive. It is my belief that it will continue this way. We have no fight with any one excepting in the case of the controversy between the machinists and their employers and we are behind them in this. It is just one of those rumors that you lay the cause of these rumors to the drive now on for membership in the chamber of commerce," he was asked.

"Some of the labor men seem to think so," he replied. "That kind of propaganda might obtain members for the Chamber of Commerce, but I believe it is a poor method." If they were members would furnish them, a thousand or more, but up to the present time organizers of the chamber have been rebuffed. Therefore it does not seem to be a poor man's organization when one takes into consideration the time and money expended by the chamber and the fact that it has been so completely demagogued by the laborers.

"If the merchants are apprehensive of the rumors they should instead of resorting to these rumors investigate the matter and put with labor to trace down the perpetrators of such behavior."

Your Last Chance to Make Millions in Oil Leases is Here

The subscriptions for oil leases near where J. A. Noggle is drilling for oil, have been coming in so fast that we will soon have to withdraw our lease propositions from the market. We have been flooded for leases and at the rate that they have been coming in we will soon have everything taken up around where oil is being drilled.

Do Not Delay but Sign This Application Today and Join the Ranks of the Independently Rich

Remember the conditions of this leasing are:—

- That your lease will be within one mile of the well that J. A. Noggle is now drilling.
- That you get your money back should you not get the lease before November 20th, 1919.
- That the lease carries with it an abstract showing the title to be good in the grantor.

For those of you who may not know about Mr. J. O. Noggle this information is given: Mr. Noggle has had years of active experience in oil fields and knows good oil land better than most farmers know good stock. He was sent by this syndicate to California and Wyoming to pass on propositions and each time turned them down because he thought they were no good. His judgment saved these men many thousands of dollars and proved his honesty. Today they are drilling in a field in Oklahoma that eventually will be the richest oil field in the world. So you see that by buying one of these leases you are bound to jump right into the millionaire class and can retire.

Read What This Experienced Oil Man Says on Buying Leases. Money Made Easy in Oil Fields

Says a Drug Store Clerk, If a Person Has Some Money, a Little Nerve and a Chance to Buy a Lease Near a Well Actually Drilling

"Only one way of investing in the development of oil, that will insure a chance," says the Oklahoma Investor, in an interview with Oscar Howard, a man who has stepped from a drug store in a drug store to a millionaire, asking him how he did it. He said: "It did not take me long to find out that Oklahoma had the oil, but how could I get a part of it was the problem I wished to solve. I had a very limited amount of money, and a fair job. I knew if I bought some land that was supposed to have oil under it, I could not drill a well as it took several thousand dollars to drill. In fact many thousands to buy even the casing after the well had been drilled, so I decided that my life was passing on and I must act or lose. Feeling that if I did not attempt to better my condition by buying leases, Oklahoma is as much as I could do. I decided to buy 40 acres of oil lease near to where some responsible fellows were going to drill, so I purchased 40 acres at $200 per acre. The lease was a five-year lease. The well was drilled to the depth of 2500 feet and oil was found. My lease was worth $2000 per acre. I sold half of it and retained the other part. Then I bought some more leases where wells were being drilled, and it was not long until I was very independent. When asked if he bought stock in any of the oil companies, he said yes, he did until experience taught him that the sure way to win was to own what you own, and play the game as safe as possible. You will find people in the oil fields buy leases and they must be reasonably close to the well that is drilling. "What do you mean by 'reasonably close'?" "I mean within two miles." "Then the main thing is to know that the concern that you are near will drill." "Yes, that is it, exactly. You will notice in Oklahoma, shoe shiners, barbers and bankers alike make millions when they play the game consistently by buying leases. Oklahoma is as much as I could do. I decided to buy 40 acres of oil lease near to where some responsible fellows were going to drill, so I purchased 40 acres at $200 per acre. The lease was a five-year lease. The well was drilled to the depth of 2500 feet and oil was found. My lease was worth $2000 per acre. I took the lease amount of chance possible in farming, and the men who win in Oklahoma do the same on oil, so buy leases. "Why if it had some people in Oklahoma have lost money by playing the oil game," was asked. "Well, tell me this, why has Oklahoma passed a blue sky law," was the answer. "Because so many companies were operating that had no capital, I suppose," was the answer. "Yes, you guessed about right, and if the company did not have the money what became of the stock holder? He just had the pleasure of believing that he had something for a short time. That's all, and if the investor had owned a lease he yet would have had something, because the well will be completed by some other people. Oil investments are the best if you own, and the best chance to win is by buying oil leases, in an oil country, and Oklahoma is sure an oil country."

KOTO TO PUT UP BUILDING. Purchase of Main Avenue Property Shows Advance of Local Real Estate Values. Announcement that a new building will be erected on Main avenue north on vacant property between the Barber Shoe store and the Kato Flour company building was made yesterday by Tom Koto, proprietor of the Twin Falls Hotel, who completed the purchase of the property from Thomas Grottel. A city will occupy the lower floor of the two-story building proposed, the upper floor being occupied by office matter. Sale of the property reveals the remarkable advance of Twin Falls real estate values. Mr. Grottel paid $500 for the property in 1914 and turned it over yesterday for $2000.

THE unwavering self-respect that made Henry Clay say he would rather be right than be President, was reflected in his insistence on a cleanly shaven face.

In one hard fought campaign when political differences were making life-long enemies, Clay's barber, Jerry Murphy of Lexington, stoutly refused to vote for him, yet Clay would not withdraw his patronage, rightly deeming a shave under Jerry's well-balanced blade worth something more than a vote.
