FACTORIES CLOSING FOR LACK OF FUEL

PUBLIC MUST BE PROTECTED IS ULTIMATUM OF GARFIELD

Fuel Administrator Tells Miners and Operators They Must Get Together and Dig Coal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—The public must be protected "was the ultimatum laid down today by the coal miners and the operators by Dr. Harry A. Garfield, federal fuel administrator.

Dr. Garfield declared that the negotiators between the operators and the miners have virtually resolved into an effort to determine how much the public will stand for in the way of increased prices of coal.

He gave warning that this must stop and that both parties must come to a speedy agreement.

Dr. Garfield pointed out that whether the miners are granted an increase or not, he is in a position to say whether the federal income tax could be counted in as one of the cost of coal mining.

"The public, which you are concerned with, is not a party to the coal industry. It is used to be thought that the public interest could be cared of itself if left alone. We have come to believe now that the public is paramount and the coal operators and miners are a small minority.

"I have no disposition to express a threat, but I call your attention to the fact that the people of the United States will not consent to any increase that is excessive. They will not consent to be deprived of this necessary commodity. They will have coal and will be prevented from having it by anything the operators and miners may do."

The miners' representatives in the hall made it apparent that they have not receded from the original position on which the strike was called on November 1.

The operators made it clear that they do not intend to raise the price of coal thousands of dollars.

Chairman Browder summed the keynote of this point when commenting upon the remarks of Dr. Garfield. He said:

"I hope that the miners are now satisfied after Dr. Garfield's statement that the fabulous margins of profit of the operators have not had to our pockets. It is our hope that the miners' large profits are being made by the operators and President Lewis is the firm determination of the miners to get a larger scale.

"The price of coal in 1919 are from 100 to 120 per cent over those of 1917, while the miners have received but 15 per cent increase in wages," Lewis said. He pointed out that living costs have gone up over 100.

"That's the story in a nutshell," added Lewis.

PRESIDENT SAYS LODGE RESOLUTION NULLIFIES

Urges Senate to Vote Against It—Says Way Will Be Open Later for Actual Ratification—Lodge Says Senate Will Not Obey Wilsonian Mandate

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—President Wilson today, in a letter to Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, urged the senate to vote against the Lodge resolution of ratification. The president declared the Lodge resolution was a nullification of the treaty.

The date for the opening of formal ratification will be deferred after the defeat of the Lodge resolution, the president's letter declared.

Senator Hitchcock read the letter from the president to a conference of Republican senators.

The Democratic senators, after hearing the president's letter remained in secret session to plan their course according to the will of the chief executive. It is understood that president Hitchcock will follow his own course of obtaining a substitute resolution of ratification immediately after the defeat of the Lodge resolution, if it is defeated, and that if the resolution is passed, the president will introduce until a compromise can be reached. Should all efforts to get a Republican ratification fail, then the president will "pocket" the treaty until such a time as he believes the treaty can get through.

The White House statement stated that the administration has taken a stand against the Lodge resolution because it would mean delay in peace. It is stated that the administration has information that the allied nations would refuse to accept the United States ratification unless a league of nations under the Lodge resolution.

Without the reservations adopted by a majority of the senate treaty will not be ratified. The president, who undertakes to command the senate, to ratify the treaty unless the reservations adopted by a large majority of the senate which Americans it and make it safe for the United States.

When the senate met at noon Senator Lodge asked unanimous consent to present his resolution of ratification.

Hitchcock thanked Lodge for his suggestion but said, "It is the consensus of opinion that the minority that would not vote when senators are bound by pledges to re-consider to bring up any substitute now."

He answered that all "races had been free and undictated" and that "nothing now would change them."

Expect No Embargo On Nation's Freight

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—No embargo on the nation's freight is contemplated by the railroad administration, said Director Walker Hines announced today in a conference with regional directors of the railroad administration.

Before any freight embargo is ordered, Hines said, most of the freight trains on the railroads will be taken off.

The country, Hines said, is a reservoir, supply on hand sufficient for 100 days of the normal production of coal. He said, has increased 10 per cent since November 1 and is now 30 per cent of normal.

Industrial management and freight embargo is contemplated in direct contradiction of previous reports that the conference of regional directors had decided to effect a partial curtailment of freight shipments throughout the nation.

DISTRIBUTION IS FACTOR IN SHORTAGE UP TO RAILROADS

Director Hines Says Available Coal Must Be Handled Properly to Avoid Shortage

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Rescuers of the federal railroad administration will be concentrated on distribution of the available coal supply so as to avoid shortage that would compel the curtailment of train service, it was announced today by Director Walker D. Hines at the conclusion of his conference with regional directors of the railroad administration.

"For the time being," said a prepared statement issued by Hines, "the problem is really one of distributing available coal so as to avoid shortage. To do this requires a carefully planned and a considerable tonnage of coal and this is presenting new transportation problems."

"The proper method will be determined by the railroad administration in cooperation with the authority residing with the coal owners."

Hines' statement was issued after a conference with the seven regional directors that lasted throughout the afternoon. Each regional director outlined the fuel needs of his territory and as a result the decision is announced in the opinion of the railroad administration that the necessary steps are not necessary.

Political Tension High in Germany

BERLIN, Nov. 18.—The war guilt commission of the national assembly has not given up hope of taking testimony from Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff despite the Pan-German demonstration that halted the appearance of the former on the 14th.

In view of the stimulus that the demonstrations gave to the monarchists it is probable that he will be ten days or two weeks before he can appear in view of the army chiefs are put up on the witness stand. Nationalist feeling is running high. The "left" in the national assembly has threatened a general strike "attendant with bloodshed" if the socialist government is overthrown and political tension is rapidly nearing the breaking point.

Discrimination May Bring New Strike

DENVER, Nov. 18.—With coal production gradually reaching normal in Colorado, a new strike of the miners is threatened, it was learned today according to an announcement today by George O. Johnson, president of district of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

Johnson charges that the operators are discriminating against union men and declares the Colorado miners are ready to go on strike.

He said that the operators are forcing union men to sign pledges of allegiance to the Rockefeller industrial plan before being permitted to continue work. President Wilborn of the company denies the charge. The Colorado miners are seeking to adjust the differences.

Wrong Soldier Body Enclosed in Casket

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 18.—One of the after-war tragedies was revealed today when the flag-draped coffin which was supposed to contain the body of John T. Westcott, Grand Rapids soldier of the first world war, was found in northern Illinois, was opened Monday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Westcott.

The coffin was found to contain the body of some soldier other than Westcott, the identification cards disclosed that the wrong body had been placed in the casket marked for Grand Rapids. The parents have appealed to the war department to locate the body and for disposition of the one here.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 18.—On next Monday 600 general chairmen of the four big railroad brotherhoods will meet here to discuss the proposed changes of the latest proposals of the Railroad Director Hines on overtime and working conditions.

It is believed that the brotherhoods in all-day session decided upon this method of obtaining an expression from the membership of the four unions.

It was made known by the union leaders that the meeting was held in secret and that it was understood that demands were being considered.

PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN SIX WEEKS FROM TODAY

Candidates Must Announce Intention to Get on Primary Ballot in South Dakota—Twenty-One States Have Primaries, New Hampshire First, March 6

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Six weeks from today the presidential race will be on.

Candidates for the White House must come out into the open by that date and announce their intentions if they desire to compete for the ten delegates from South Dakota.

Primary ballots will be filed in South Dakota within six weeks or lose their right to participate in the primaries in that state.

The first state presidential primary is in New Hampshire on March 6 and Wisconsin. In New York delegates will be selected but no preference is indicated in the ballot.

The race will be well out in the open when the Florida primary is held on June 8, the last primary with a state-wide franchise.

In many states the state committees of the various parties are authorized to fix the date when the delegates are to be chosen.

A general presidential primary throughout the country had been proposed by 1920 by some political leaders, but this was prohibited by constitutional provision. It being necessary for the forty-eight states to approve such legislation. Thus far 21 states have made provisions for the primary system.

Twenty-five states are still to fix a date when the primaries will be held by the voters.

The first selection of convention delegates at the state level by the Republican and Democratic national committees is but a few weeks ago and the presidential campaign is beginning in the center of national interest.

When peace treaty is disposed and congress returns next month it is expected that the political pot will be boiling to hot merrily.

DEFENDS STAND OF TEAMSTERS

Labor Off. in Shoshone Plea for Scabs, "I've Done It for You"

It required something less than a minute this morning for Frank H. Scramon of the Central Labor union to pull the whisks off and extract the teeth from a discolored attack upon organized labor in Twin Falls. This effort took the form of a sob story in a local newspaper which asked alligator tears and loud lament upon the morning air in a scab's grief at the cruelty of striking teamsters.

The scab's sorrow of the paper in question was called forth by the spectacle of a poor woman being ground down by the strike of Crozier Transfer company teamsters. Mrs. Crozier and her children were pictured as verging upon starvation while struggling to support themselves and maintain the roof over their heads in a squalid tenement. One could almost see the cruel, tearing faces of the teamsters as they danced in devilish glee to the command of ferocious agitators.

Yes, the agitator, gray veteran of all the spectacles marinated by union men of labor, but still the choice spook of their entire store—the agitator—was jammed into the picture too. He fairly cluttered up the place. But the story eventually got down to the meat of the matter, which was no invitation for all men to step up and eat on the teamsters' table. It was a fine story and well worth the pay—it least it would have been had Mr. Scramon not put forth his statement that several salient facts had for some reason or other been omitted so he decided to supply them. His statement, while much more quiet than the other, is rather illuminating. It shows:

That there is fairly good understanding and good feeling between Mrs. Crozier and her former employer, the difficulty being between the teamsters and another employer, Jack White, who had charge of the business.

That Mrs. Crozier did not ask for public sympathy and aid unless done for her by the appeal.

That Mr. Crozier is in a Modern Woodman sanitarium and is supported there at the expense of Twin Falls Camp No. 10899, Modern Woodmen, of which Mr. Scramon is a past commander.

That organized labor of Twin Falls has offered and will offer to support Mrs. Crozier and her children during the progress of their stand in defense of labor principles.

That no one else has made such an offer.

Scramon's Statement
The teamsters and myself, as president of the Central Labor union, had a conference with Mrs. Crozier last evening," said Mr. Scramon today. "We talked the situation over and came away with a better understanding of each other and the knowledge that good feeling existed between the teamsters and Mrs. Crozier herself."

Jack White, employed to manage the business and not having anything invested in it, is the one with whom the teamsters are at issue. Advised and influenced by a few narrow-minded enemies of labor this move forced us into defense of organized labor's principles. We mean to stand for these principles, but at the same time we are ready to make good our offer to support Mrs. Crozier and her family if necessary. We feel that this is more substantial aid than she is receiving from some who pretend to have her interests at heart.

"If might be as well to mention at this time that Mr. Crozier is supported in the Modern Woodman sanitarium by the Twin Falls lodge, so that the newspaper story extended on his behalf is quite unnecessary. We had no desire to point this matter out, but feel impelled to do so in common justice to our own cause."

"So far as the cry of agitator is concerned, it is certainly evident that the agitators are all on the other side of the fence. There has been a continual agitation against the organization of labor here, wholly unwarranted by any other than a selfish purpose. I have made my home in Twin Falls for some time and I have not recently well known to most of the people. I am willing to leave it to any of the fair-minded business men, whether or not I am an agitator, who wish to say further that as long as I am president of the Central Labor union agitators will not be countenanced."

"I have known Mrs. Crozier personally for about seven years. Her employees, now on strike, have been in her service for periods ranging up to ten years. In our interview with her last evening initial expressions of sympathy for the financial world, and her positive results when she chooses to be the only bit of pleasure in the life of her poor father who desires his prosperous grandfather's power."

OLDFIELD TIRE AGENCIES ARE BEING PLACED

Rapid Growth of Demand for Product Makes Expansion Necessary

With the co-operation of F. E. O'Brien, factory representative, of the Twin Falls Victrola Works in establishing branch agencies for the Oldfield tire in various cities of South Idaho. The local firm is distributor for this section of the state. Agencies are being opened in Buhl, Pler, Hansen, Kimberly, Jerome and Durley. Another agency is being established in Twin Falls also. Rapid growth of the Oldfield tire consumption and its steady rise in popularity with motorists is responsible for the expansion of agencies. Although it has been on the market a comparatively short time the tire has built up a following that quickly went beyond the capacity of the local distributing point and made branch agencies a necessity.

Land Around Berger Changing Ownership

Land is exchanging very rapidly around Berger, according to a resident of that locality who was interviewed by a Times representative recently. Between 400 and 500 acres have changed hands within the past two weeks. The average price is $100 an acre outside of the water payment.

Not long ago Frank Holloway sold 160 acres of his land to residents of the Berger community. The parcel is about half a mile from Berger. Oshorn Gates sold a large amount of choice-lying land not long ago to a neighbor. The fact that the land is being sold to neighbors would indicate that they have faith in the country and intend to remain there. Joe Nicholson sold 50 acres not long ago for $10,000 outside of the water payment.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Harrell and family spent Saturday in Twin Falls.

Mrs. T. E. Hahn of Buhl motored to Twin Falls yesterday for a short time.

H. J. Weaver of Castleford was in Twin Falls yesterday for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Bennett, of Gooding, motored to Twin Falls yesterday.

Haircutting to Stop Until After Game With Buhl

If any of the citizens of Twin Falls find any lice scabs or golden locks of hair lying prominently about on the sidewalk or in the gutter they should remember that the hair-cutting contest has been in progress and that probably there has been a slight dispute at that very spot as to which member of the enemy's forces was forced to part with his hair regardless of the fact that he might have been reluctant to do so.

To sum the matter up or hold it down as you choose the fact remains that the Juniors and Freshmen of the local high school have become impatient at the allied forces of the Sophomores and Seniors with the result that a hasty arrangement has been in progress for the past few weeks. Often the Freshman and Juniors have been in the lead in the number of shaven heads and quite as frequently the other combination has claimed supremacy. The president of each class has been clipped and other members have paid the penalty inflicted upon those who have been claimed supremacy. The president of each class has been clipped and other members have paid the penalty inflicted upon those who have been claimed supremacy.

The trouble started after the Berger social when a number of Juniors becoming impressed with their own importance, decided to rub the noses of the other boys in the lead of the game. It was reported around the village for some time that the third year men were in the lead and now it is said to be an even thing.

It has been decided to stop the hair-cutting until after the Buhl football game, as Coach Dunham desires the best of the boys in the lead to do so. So when the battle smoke of the great contest has vanished very quiet a continuance of the territorial fray.

Elk Meat to Be Served at Elk's Banquet Thursday

An elk shot in the Jackson Hole country recently by C. A. Griswold of Hansen, decided to rub the noses of the big boys in the lead of the game. It was reported around the village for some time that the third year men were in the lead and now it is said to be an even thing.

Mr. Griswold's elk is said to be the largest ever shot in the Jackson Hole district and that is going some for this country is noted for its big game. Several hunters who have spent a part of their time in this country have reported that they have never seen a larger animal than the one shot by Griswold. The animal is reported to be a magnificent specimen of the species and is being taken to the city for a show.

HOW I WON THE PRIZE FOR CORN

Carl Siver, Who Won County Corn Championship Tells How He Did It

Carl Siver, winner of first prize in the corn class of the Farm Bureau Junior club work, tells how he won the free trip to Española which is given each winner in the work. Carl has proven that Iowa is not the only state in which first class corn can be raised, for he has raised some corn that is equal to much of that raised in that far-famed eastern corn state.

Carl started hard all summer to take the prize and in securing of it, he tells the story: I got my Silver King corn from a Twin Falls farmer and my yellow sweet corn came from Nebraska. I first fertilized it and plowed it in the fall. It was planted in June. I cultivated it the first time when it was about a foot high, then I watered it and then I cultivated it twice. After the harvest I had the time, I made about 50 bushels. I would irrigate it three times next time and cultivate it five times.

Next year I am going to fertilize my ground, plow it in the fall, harrow it about three times and plant it about the middle of May. I will plant from ten to fifteen bushels to the acre and will plant an acre.

Machinist Picket Charges Assault

Melvin Lille, picket for the striking machinists, filed complaint in police court this morning against Ole Nelson, employee of the Lind garage, charging assault.

The complaint is the outgrowth of an encounter between the two men in the fall. It was planted in June. I cultivated it the first time when it was about a foot high, then I watered it and then I cultivated it twice. After the harvest I had the time, I made about 50 bushels. I would irrigate it three times next time and cultivate it five times.

Cooks and Waiters Dance Is Thursday

The Cooks and Waiters union of Twin Falls are putting the finishing touches on their plans for a dance Thursday evening at the Lavering pavilion. The dance committee has been busy all week with the ticket committee has been even more busy as a result of a large amount of tickets. It seems as though everyone wants to go. This is considered most natural since earlier affairs of the Cooks and Waiters have proven very pleasant occasions. A record attendance is due.

Mary Pickford Is Coming in "The Hoodlum"

Mary Pickford or Amy Durke in "The Hoodlum," her second production from her own studios, which will be seen beginning Wednesday at the Queen theatre, plays the part of a girl whose education is having a desperate time trying to affect.

All of the millions of Alexander Grayfer, her translator, fail to do justice for Amy's schooling other than provide her with a specially constructed desk which gives her a superior four corners, three shades of powder puff, a fauce for cold bacterium, one pair of shell rim glasses, one bag of mints, two novels by George Elliott and one pen without a holder. Amy's training however, takes a deeper turn, her translator, a sociological writer into the tenement districts where he decided to write a book on citizenship. While her father sends to the task of writing a book that will make him famous, Amy escapes herself on a quiet-chasing and the entrapment of the tenements which makes her a "hoodlum" much to the amusement of the audience.

Hope for Rescue of Miners Is Abandoned

WALLACE, Ida., Nov. 10.—Hope for the rescue of the miners of Mt. Graft, caught in a cave-in in the Junior mine at Wallace, is practically abandoned, according to reports brought here today. The cave-in occurred on Saturday and a large force of men were immediately set at work tunneling at the 27th level where the men were caged. Twenty-four hours later it was believed that the miners will live, as it was thought they were not giving up signals of the rescuers. Today, however, all is still and it is not thought that the unfortunate are still alive. Charles Herrington, manager of the mine, says the tunneling towards the imprisoned men is proceeding slowly, though rapidly as possible under the circumstances. Six years ago miners were entrapped near the spot where the present cave-in took place and were rescued after forty-nine days imprisonment.

An Organized Store With A Backbone

Is where every thing in the business tends one way, if the employes are intent upon their duties and faithful to the details as they are instructed to be.

Nothing here is done by pattern of the more or less popular "Drives" to gather peoples money by the big sale days or "hurry ups" or anything to urge patrons to buy other than with discretion.

The aim and purpose of each day's work is to be prepared—

1. With full, proper and worthy assortments of sterling merchandise of true merit and honest value.
2. By barring out counterfeits and imitations, however cheap and attractive they may seem.
3. By placing orders ahead with reliable makers months in advance to preserve constant supplies.
4. Visitors welcome and no selfish solicitations permitted. The same courteous and impartial treatment to all.

Such is our platform, and upon it our growth has been extraordinary—our many customers satisfied.

The United Stores extends to you a hearty invitation to visit their various departments and become a beneficiary of the many opportunities offered to save you money.

Rogerson May Add 2 Stories to Hotel

There is a story around town that the Rogerson hotel will build two more stories to the three story building now located at the corner of Main and Second street east. Whether the story is only a wild rumor or a fact remains to be learned but several times in the past this step has been contemplated on account of the shortage of rooming houses in Twin Falls. If this is done the Rogerson will be one of the finest hotels in Southern Idaho.

INDIANS ADAPT THEMSELVES TO WAYS OF WHITE FOLKS

LEWISTON, Ida., Nov. 10.—In the district court here Nancy Allen sued Mark Allen for a divorce alleging infidelity. Mark Allen has filed a cross-complaint, making the same charge against his wife. The only interesting point in the transaction is that both are full-blooded Indians, old timers and well known in the community. "Want a job? Try a 'Situation Wanted' ad in our want columns."

DIAMONDS.

One of the ways to save money nowadays is not to buy diamonds. These stones have gone up several hundred per cent. Diamonds that sold at $100 a karat before the war are selling now at $600, dealers say. And at this price they are really selling—selling like hot cakes. Everywhere there is a big demand for them.

It is not only the rich who are buying them, either. The boom demand in this country is said to be due mainly to the heavy purchases made by two classes of people that heretofore have not had much influence on the diamond market—workmen and farmers. High wages and high prices for crops furnish the wherewithal, and the peculiar qualities of the diamond furnish the incentive.

These qualities are twofold—artistic and economic. That is to say, diamonds are beautiful and therefore desirable, artistically; and they are considered the most stable medium of value there is, a medium circulating freely among all nations. As a means of exchange, among those who know jewels, they have real advantages over gold.

There are facts in this connection, however, that hardly need to be indicated to a thoughtful investor.

Diamonds draw no interest or dividends, when placed in safe-keeping. Kept in use, the enjoyment of the money compensates for their unproductiveness; but they are easily lost or stolen. Added to these considerations, which are always true, is the present objection that diamonds are hardly worth six times what they were before the war, and that the purchase of them at that price is a great extravagance, which is pretty sure to result in a loss if the purchasers want to sell them later.

It is an time to spend money for expensive luxuries or to encourage abundant trade in luxuries. It is a time to devote all human energies to the production and distribution of necessary commodities.

DEPORTATION.

"Deport the Reds!" is the cry everywhere. "Send them back to the lands they came from!" And as an expedient, of temporary efficiency, doubtless deportation is the solution of a vexing problem.

But does deportation solve anything permanently? Suppose, for instance, we deport a shipload of Russian Reds to Russia. And suppose Russia, waking up, has obeyed the alarm clock and now rages and has got to her feet and gives the visitors a really avenging gaze: Will she want them? She will not. They are the same breed as those who gave her the night of horror. Now that it is morning—away with them!

So Russia—still supposing, of course—packs them up and sends them off to England. And England sends them to Horrio-Bhoala-Gha. And Horrio-Bhoala-Gha thinks Peru would be a far more desirable climate. And Peru packs them off to New Zealand. And does New Zealand want them? No one needs three guesses to answer that.

So here we have a shipload of men without a country, taking good shipping space and coal and oil and things—

Suppose we took to deporting rats. That puts another aspect on the matter.

It isn't really the answer, is it? In the case of rats or disease-germs or anything like that, the real remedy is found in cleaning out the places where they breed, making everything vermin-proof and wholesome.

One writer recently said that the L. W. W. was merely putting salt into industrial sores. Isn't it true? Salt does not hurt the sound areas of the industrial body.

Why not experiment a little with the Golden Rule as a healing force for economic sores? It is about the only thing that has not yet been tried.

BURIED TREASURE.

More "Captain Kidd" nonsense! It develops that a preacher, with two helpers, dug up a whole sixty-acre farm in New Jersey in quest of pirate gold. He didn't find any gold.

And yet there was buried treasure on that farm. There is on every farm. All that is necessary to get it is to do the digging systematically, in proper season, accompanying the process by putting seed into the ground, and then reaping the crop when it is ready. The driving pastor, if he had practiced this method assiduously for the same period, he spent in futile spade-work, might have had by this time a bigger chest of gold than any private ever buried on the Jersey coast.

As a matter of fact the gold business, legitimate and illegitimate, has been tremendously over-played. All the gold ever ferried from the New World across the Spanish Main was worth less than the fish swimming in that same Main, and worth a great deal less than the useful native products that might have been carried home to the Spanish people from Mexico and Peru. All the gold ever dug in California is trivial compared with the wealth produced there when men turned from placer-mining to plowing. Mountain streams run into irrigation ditches have made more money than they ever made when their sole use was washing yellow dust out of sand.

Every man who owns a farm owns a gold mine. Every man who owns his home has buried treasure in his back yard.

CUMMINS BACK FROM LEGION CONVENTION

Local Delegate to Big Service Men's Conclave Tells of Work Done

Taylor Cummins is back from the American Legion convocation at Minneapolis which he attended the past week as a delegate from the local post. He declared it was a most interesting convention and that the things done there were of great interest to the entire United States.

The labor chaos throughout the country was discussed at the Minneapolis gathering as was the murder of the four soldiers in the Central Hotel on November 11. The latter incident was condemned as the ugliest as one of the most distasteful acts to human history.

Mr. Cummins was chosen alternate member of the national executive committee, of which George Edgington of Idaho Falls was elected chairman. Mr. Cummins is also a member of the committee on beneficial legislation which has drafted a measure to be soon introduced in congress, providing for homes for service men. This bill will be of great interest to all men formerly with the colors and its passage is expected within a reasonably short time.

Takes Impressions of Bandit Finger Prints

Cummins will give a detailed report of the happenings at the big gathering in Minneapolis.

RANDOLPH, Mass., Nov. 18—Finger print experts today took several impressions at the Randolph Savings Bank, with the hope that the perpetrators of the daring hold-up in which automobile bandits escaped with more than $15,000 in Liberty bonds and $5,000 in cash may be apprehended.

The auto in which the bandits escaped was found not far from Forest Hills.

The vaults of the bank were looted by four armed men who bound and gagged the treasurer, his night assistant and a customer.

Several Intelligent Young Ladies Wanted

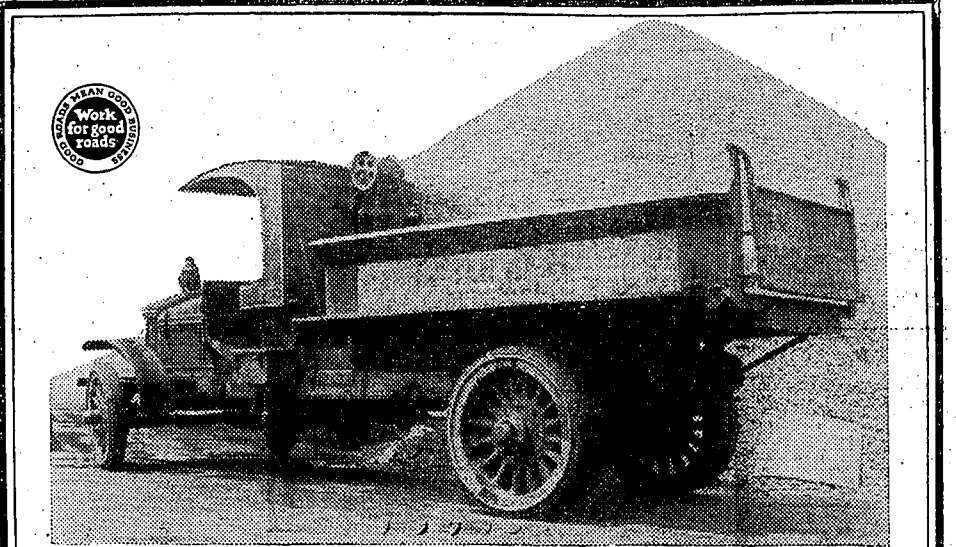

LADIES—Be independent. The big salaries nowadays are not paid to those who work with their hands, but to those who use their head. If you are making less than $35.00 per week working your hands use your head, get into the selling game. There are many ladies in this vicinity who have the ability to sell, but do not know it. Ability to talk intelligently, and present your proposition are the only requirements. If you have that ability we have an unusual opportunity awaiting you now.

Methods By Which We Reduce Truck Costs

WE start at the bottom by analyzing your cartage conditions in order to decide accurately what type and size of tire will serve you best.

We can decide this matter disinterestedly because Goodyear has pioneered the manufacture of types to cover all classes of truck service. We supply Goodyear Solid Tires, Goodyear Cushion Tires and Goodyear Pneumatic Cord Truck Tires because we firmly believe they are of very high quality.

Then we attach tires according to a carefully worked-out system, which safeguards trucks and their parts and which injects speed into

We have splendid facilities—lots of parking space, a big hydraulic press and complete workshop. We handle tire jobs at night or on Sunday by appointment.

After the tires start out on the road we suggest our Free Inspection Service at regular intervals, to detect injuries before they develop sufficiently to cause appreciable reduction of tire mileage.

Without obligation to you we will explain in detail the many truck-cost-reducing features of our tire service.

PREDICT VOTE THURSDAY ON RATIFICATION

Lodge and Hitchcock Confer in Committee Room, Latter Says Things Are Satisfactory

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—A vote on the Lodge majority resolution of ratification of the peace treaty on Thursday was the prediction made by senate leaders this afternoon.

The last of the remaining resolutions proposed by the Republican and Democratic senators before cloture became effective Saturday were eliminated before the end of today's session. The finishing touches to the majority resolution were to be applied to it under the senate rules it would have passed a day which would bring it up on Thursday.

Senator McNary of Oregon and other leaders of the "mild reservationists" on the Republican side predicted that the treaty would be ratified before the week end with reservations acceptable to two-thirds of the senate.

With Senator Lodge, majority leader, insisting that no compromise would be made by Republicans with the Democratic forces. He admitted that one suggested by the "mild reservationists" with regard to the preamble was not "impossible of acceptance."

Lodge and other opponents of ratification declared there were 27 or 28 senators prepared to vote to kill the treaty if the majority program "did not go through unchanged." They said they had served notice in that effect on the "mild reservationists."

Lodge said that the only other reservation the administration forces will not refuse to accept was that embracing article 10 of the league covenant. In this Hitchcock desires a minor amendment in his phraseology. Lodge admitted that the reservation might be changed "somewhat."

"The situation appears to be working satisfactorily," Senator Hitchcock said after the conference. Hitchcock reiterated the statement that the president would pocket or veto the treaty if the Lodge program on the "preamble" to which the president was unalterably opposed in its present form and the reservation article it went through. The text he added, were not so bad as they might be."

Senator Thomas, Democrat of Colorado, attacked the latest provisions as the worst feature of the treaty.
