BILIOUSNESS Caused by Acid Stomach

If people who are bilious are treated according to the method here explained they will get very much better. Whatever relief is obtained is temporary. A permanent cure can be secured and removed the cause and the stomach will be in the best of health.

Doctors say that more than 70 per cent of all biliousness is due to acid indigestion. It is not the acid itself but the indigestion that causes the trouble. The stomach is a factory and it must be kept in good order. If it is not, the food will not be properly digested and the result will be biliousness. This is the opinion of Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, expressed to the International News Service today.

FROM THE PRESS BOX JUG

The Thanksgiving Day athletic calendar is more than generous to the bugs hereabouts. Mainly sports, both indoors and out, will tempt the roving eye of holiday pleasure-seekers.
Down the line at Bulld they will have a fine display of bonfires as an evening show. Sarge Clark, bowing to Stan Smiley's verdict, admits that they are a bit out of the wrestling game so a change of diet will be offered the cash customers. There will be no football at the Stone arena this time. Two featherweights, Sallis and Solomon—who they aren't partners—will put on the headliner for 15 rounds, if they are lucky. In addition there is a whirlwind scheduled between O'Connell, the Bulld batter, and Frank Harley of Boise, who have an eight round draw to settle. A curtain raiser will be supplied by Hymfilded boxers. Old Jack Brennan will drop his hat sharply at 8:30.

A big turkey day football skirmish will be played at Lincoln field in the afternoon between Twin Falls High and the American Legion. The high school's advantage in team play will be offset to some extent by the individual work of some star returnees among the legioners. The francs may be a bit rugged in spots but it is sure to be a tough engagement.

So much for the major engagements. It is the minor skirmishes however that will get the laughter on public interest. The big applause will come when father tackles the family turkey. In football terms the old bird is sure to get thrown for a loss.

View of Aleppo and its Citadel.

ALEPPO, the epitome of which by General Allenby on October 20, 1918, was the culmination of the conquest of Syria. It is like Damascus and Kadesh, one of the ancient cities of the world. It may, indeed, be older than either, certainly it appears in history as early as Damascus and before Kadesh. It was one of the Syrian towns captured by the Egyptian conqueror, Thutmose III, about 1450 B. C., and thereafter by frequent occurrence in the ancient annals of those early times, says it in the Spoken by Yalder Roman rule it enjoyed a long period of prosperity. Its ancient Syrian name of Halab, or Khilab, was corrupted into the Greek name of Halab, and it was also known as Beron. When, after seven centuries of Roman rule, it fell into the hands of the Arabs, it was called by them Haleb, a name approximation to its ancient name that the Greek Chalcidion, Xenophon and other Italian visitors, of whom there were many in the middle ages, believed Haleb into Aleppo—Hal, he says, is the Greek word for Haleb, and often do, sounded the final "h" as "p," and added in the arbitrary fashion the word "Aleppo," Greek and Italian termination of "Haleb."

The secret of Aleppo's long prosperity which endured through Turkish rule, in its splendid commercial position at the junction of at least four great trade routes. This was perhaps the chief reason for its long prosperity (Tadmor) by Antioch, which which the bulk of the trade which still flows into the city. Aleppo, and Zenobia now diverted itself by a more northerly route through Aleppo. By caravan it traded with Persia and India through Mesopotamia, with Egypt by way of Damascus, with Arab Minor and Constantinople by the Red Sea, and through Persia, in Roman-Byzantine times the caravan passed by Ctesiphon, but after the Saracenic conquest the halfway station on the way to Persia.

Byzantine Versus Hamadanite.

During the middle ages Aleppo's existence was a life of struggle and contention. During the earlier wars of the Saracens with the eastern Roman empires it was more than once taken and retaken. In the tenth century it became the seat of a brilliant local dynasty from Hamadan in Persia. The most noted ruler of this family was Sayf-Din, while the Byzantine historians call "Khiladonax," i. e., the Hamadanite. Sayf-Din, who ruled at Aleppo, and probably the chief portion of the present fortifications of the city, built the Sultan's Mosque. It is quite possible that he is older. He was a patron of art and literature, and also a mighty warrior, who led many expeditions against the eastern Roman empire with alternate success and defeat.

After much success he sustained a terrible defeat in 961 in the Taurus passes, and himself escaped only by a breakneck scramble up a precipitous cliff. Next year his fate was upon him, for the great Byzantine marshal, Nicephorus Phocas, soon to be emperor, routed him and against Aleppo with all the available forces of the East. Sayf-Din made desperate efforts; he levied a tax on the citizens of Aleppo and intrenched himself to guard the approaches to his capital, while in Mesopotamia a holy war was proclaimed, and the troops of Mosul, Edessa, Antioch and many other places marched to the relief of Aleppo. Could all this force unite the Byzantine general must have defeated him, but he was so prompt that he reached his goal before the Mesopotamians could arrive. By one of those masterly turning movements which in those days only Byzantine generals and Byzantine troops could make, Phocas flanked Sayf-Din and his intrenchments and forced him to fight in the open before the city gates. He was slain and his head, and as his headless troops poured back into Aleppo suddenly broke out. The citizen soldiers laid the blame of the rout upon the Arab leaders, who were mercenary; they turned their swords against one another, and amid this confusion the Mesopotamians entered the city and stormed the walls and came pouring into the streets, sweeping the last remnants of the "holy war" before them and ruin. For three days the victorious army wrought "its will upon the hapless Aleppo, while upon the sack and loot of the city, the Emperor's lieutenant of his army looked down from the walls of the impregnable citadel, perhaps the most famous of the world, a city which crowns the fortress hill.

"FAMILY HOTEL" CAUGHT ON

Ridiculed When First Established in London, Idea Has Met With Energetic Success.

The first "family" or "temperance" hotel in London, the forerunner of tens of thousands of such hostels in all parts of the world, was opened in Covent Garden about 1850 years ago. An inn for the most part a permanent accommodation of families, and misanthrope, was an unbroken thing, and other hotels were in the same line, but it is to be seen. Despite their derision, the scheme was successful, and made a name for itself. Its founder, David Low, London now has hundreds of family and temperance hotels, and the United States has thousands of them. The "family" hotel in London is still in existence, and is still standing. The building was erected early in the seventeenth century, and was originally the home of the Rev. John Dyer, a Unitarian minister. The Rev. Dyer's family council held sessions in the building, it is said, and it was the scene of many other noteworthy gatherings before it was converted into a hostelry.

FRENCHMAN AND BRITON TO MIX

Carpenter and Beckett Will Go Twenty Rounds for European Heavyweight Title

LONDON, Nov. 26.—When Joe Beckett and Georges Carpenter are the best for their twenty round fight for the European heavyweight championship at Holborn stadium on December 4, the Briton will be favored in the betting.

Beckett's admirers and they are legion—are backing him at odds of 10 to 5 in a fight the French contender. These odds are based on today and unless something unforeseen happens to either fighter, it may be expected that the odds will be the same at the ring side.

Carpenter, however, has many admirers. The Frenchman is training for Beckett on his every round before. He has been working with sparring partners who are, nearly as possible, physical doubles of the Englishman. M. De La Roche, manager of Carpenter, has spent training time which is an exact duplicate of the one in Holborn stadium.

Carpenter, it is reported, is treating his sparring mates unmercifully and a story to the effect that Eddie McGoorty quit his camp in France because of his terrible beating, is given him by the Frenchman has caused much speculation. McGoorty, it is reported, got his fill after two minutes with Carpenter, who he said to possess all of his previous class.

MUST CUT DOWN USE OF PAPER

Southern Publishers Awake to Need of Conservation of the Print Paper Supply

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 25.—A resolution of at least ten per cent in the use of print paper during the remainder of 1919 and through 1920 was urged upon all newspaper publishers at the south in resolutions passed at the special meeting of the Southern News Paper Publishers' association here today. The reduction is to be based on the average consumption for the months of July, August, and September and October, 1918. Increase in advertising rates and subscription rates was also embodied in the resolutions. The plan adopted provides for each publisher to make a weekly report to the secretary of the Southern News Paper Publishers' association setting forth in detail how much print paper has been used and how much has been ordered. A reduction in the amount of paper given to each copy and more careful editing of copy is intended rather than the elimination of any news matter entirely. Details are also worked out at the meeting regarding the proportion of news space to advertising in each issue, the percentage varying according to the size of the city in which the newspaper is published and the proportion of news matter decreasing as the volume of advertising increases.

NEW YORK SPORTS PLAN WAR ON BOLSHEVISTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—If there is such a thing as a Scotch bulldog in the United States, and in New York in particular, he had better keep clear of the New York Scottish. So bitter a hatred has this famous organization for people and things representing principles other than law and order that a campaign of membership in which the roster is to be increased from the present 250 to 1,000 will begin soon, the big idea being to form a powerful body of 100 men from American Scots, who will all in all be active in the battle against bolshevism.

HUNS HAVE CONTRASTING VIEWS ON FUTURE PEACE OF WORLD

BERLIN, Nov. 25.—Contrasting views on future peace were expressed by President Ebert and General Ludendorff at meetings of former soldiers on Saturday. President Ebert "appealed to the conscience of the world," expressing the hope that there would be "international reconciliation that would leave no room for another world war." General Ludendorff, in a speech at a memorial meeting, hoped that "the fallen spirit of merit would revive in the people."

Prohibition Matter of Law Observance

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—"The battle for prohibition is not won, and the fight must be continued," declared John P. Kramer, federal prohibition commissioner, advising the board of temperance of the Methodist Episcopal church here. Kramer declared that his organization, established under the Volstead act, will not be ready to do much for the enforcement of war time prohibition and this must rest with the old law enforcing agencies. The line of demarcation is no longer between those who favor prohibition and those who do not, Kramer said, but between those who are in favor of obeying the law and those who are not ready and anxious to violate the law.

SOVIETS WILL PAY ALL DEBTS

Russian "Ambassador" to United States So Tells Legislative Committee of Congress.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The Russian soviet regime at Moscow is negotiating for the payment of all Russian foreign debts, including the $100,000,000 loan granted by the United States, Ludwig Martens, self-styled soviet ambassador to the United States, declared before the United States legislative committee investigating soviet activities in New York. "Do you realize that your statement may accelerate the purchase of Russian bonds by this country?" asked Senator J. H. Waters of Syracuse. "I didn't have that in mind, nevertheless I made the statement to the American public," replied Martens. Martens declared that his assertion covered all loans contracted by the former czarist government and the Kerenski regime in Russia. The witness did not say how far the negotiations had proceeded, but declared he had been appointed by several persons connected with a prominent New York bank. He refused to say how he kept in communication with the soviet regime in Moscow.
