HOUSING IN GREAT BRITAIN
Problem Dies Fair to Be Successfully Worked Out Through Fair and United Effort.

In connection with the problem of reconstruction in the United Kingdom various housing schemes are contemplated. Various in the United States which have been erected has been encouraged by the enterprise of the London Daily Mail, which offered prizes amounting to $10,000 for "brightest and most suitable in the lives and most nearly in line with the architect's traditions of the several districts."

The country was divided into four areas—the northern, midland and Welsh industrial areas, the southern and midland counties rural areas with a prize of $2,500 in each section. Over 2,500 designs were submitted. The winning design proved for economy in all cases was apparent.

In addition to these new model houses a contest is being for furniture especially suitable for them, the construction of which would be of the simplest, combined with the required beauty and strength. A successful attempt to meet this need has been made by the Shoreditch Technical Institute (London), at which courses furniture designed in the country shops of the institute and executed by the boys at the school, has been an exhibition.

CLINIC HAS PROVED WORTH

Organization Established by Boston Firm Well Worthy of Imitation by Other Employers.

A pioneer medical clinic, established 15 years ago to protect the health of 1000 employees, and gradually enlarged and expanded until it now cares for a total of 2,700, is the result of a policy held today by a well-known Boston firm. At the time of its organization the medical director was in charge of the clinic in the capacity of director and visiting nurse. Now the clinic is in charge of a practicing physician and surgeon, assisted by three talented graduate nurses.

During the influenza epidemic of last winter, over 800 employees in a charge of the clinic, with only six deaths during the entire course of the dreaded disease. All cases were given careful individual attention and, in instances where no family doctor was in attendance, immediate arrangements were made for the policy of the clinic to advise all employees with whom they come in contact to be included in the clinic which the first health handies through an employees' organization. The purpose of such advice is to secure immunities in a charge of the clinic in order that they may receive its benefits after one week's illness. This arrangement does not place a premium upon the employees' being ill at the same time the clinic cooperates in the matter of insurance.

A general clinic in a charge of the clinic has no doubt, will be established in a short time. The plan and method of administration and organization is simply the best existing, but it is safe to say that the dental clinic will be as efficient as the medical clinic.

The Modern Hospital in describing the clinic, says that it has fully proved its value in protecting the health of the employees of this particular company. It is the only clinic of the kind in the United States, and the only one of its kind in the world.

SENATOR SPENCER SENDS MESSAGE TO MISSOURIANS HERE

Senator Sheldon P. Spencer of Missouri, chairman of the Senate Committee on claims and a letter of greeting to former Missourians, who are now living in Idaho, to be read at the Missouri meeting to be held at the Christian church Sunday night, in part the letter reads:

Those of us who have ever had the opportunity of living in the state of Missouri can never lose that feeling of pride and affection which such a residence always creates. We may take up new duties and form new attachments and be utterly loyal to the new communities in which we live, but there is always a feeling of debt and sincere interest in the old community.

One will be a better citizen of Idaho loyal and true to every cell of his new allegiance because of the fact that he once lived in Missouri, and after all, "he big things of life, those that have to do with our relation to God through Jesus Christ and that concern us as Americans are not bound by any geographical lines. They are true things that are common property of Idaho and to the people of Missouri, as well as to the people of every other state, mind us neither perspective of the locality in which for a time we may happen to be.

With all my heart I greet those who came from Missouri and who are now in Twin Falls.

ANNIS HURLS CHARGES AT HIS ACCUSER

Claims Money Offered Him for Keeping Quiet Concerning Moral Indiscretion

The defense provided the recollection of yesterday's proceedings in the trial of J. H. Annis, charged with highway robbery by W. S. Starr, who young Annis dropped a figurative bomb shell from the witness chair, declaring that the money he received from Starr, attorney at the post of a gun, was in reality reedy of a moral indiscretion of Starr.

Annis took the stand this afternoon after the state had completed its evidence and rested its case. He spoke of his call at the Starr ranch near Kimberly on August 21, 1918, the most important thing but the touch of honor are inserted and there to find the attention of the audience.

HUNS GIVE UP WORKS OF ART

World-Famous Paintings Stolen From Daigium Returned as Stipulation of Peace Treaty.

By the terms of the peace treaty Belgium and Ghent will respectively recover priceless works of art, one of which was supposed to have been destroyed after the Germans entered Louvain, while the other has long been incomplete because of important parts of it were in the Kaiser Friedrich museum, Berlin. The Louvain painting is the work of Dielck Bouts, a "Last Supper" which has been described as "certainly one of the finest examples of Flemish fifteenth century art" and was painted for the cathedral church of St. Pierre. The painting had come down the centuries as the chief adornment of the church, and disappeared after the German occupation. It was believed to have been destroyed, and is now known to have been removed and preserved by the painter, and its return is one of the stipulations of the peace treaty. The other famous painting, "The Adoration of the Kings," has been called the first and greatest masterpiece of fifteenth century painting produced in Flanders. It was begun by Hubert van Eyck, but continued and finished by Jan van Eyck. Time had separated the parts of the painting and at present the central panel remains in the chapel of St. Ilvator in Ghent, another part is in Brussels, and yet another in Berlin. Brussels will presently return her part of the composition, and Germany is to give back the portions that have been in her possession, so that the painting as a whole will once more be assembled in the chapel for which it was painted.

Beat Huns at Their Own Game. The most illustrious chapter of the work of science in war was the introduction of chemical warfare. The first gas attack, on April 22, 1915, and the five others that followed within little more than a month, found the allies unprepared, and it was not until September that they were able in any way to retaliate. But the immediate reply was one that did honor to science. Due to the splendid work of the late Colonel Hurston a system of defense by gas masks was established, in which the allies were for the greater part of the year far ahead of their adversaries, who only succeeded in coming up to them by learning and copying our methods. It was impossible to estimate what would have been the destruction caused by toxic gases but for these defensive measures.

D. W. Griffith Screen Drama Is Excellent

"Broken Blossoms" the D. W. Griffith photoplay appearing at the Lavington the past three nights, has drawn full houses. The story is a very interesting one and holds the audience spellbound throughout.

There are times in the play when the audience is moved almost to tears. Then a happy or even humorous scene will follow, completely halting the action temporarily, although the story is never less than start to finish the plot of the story.

MAJOR LEAGUES HOLD POWOWS

American Meeting May Be Stormy - National Quiet as Summer Afternoon Dream

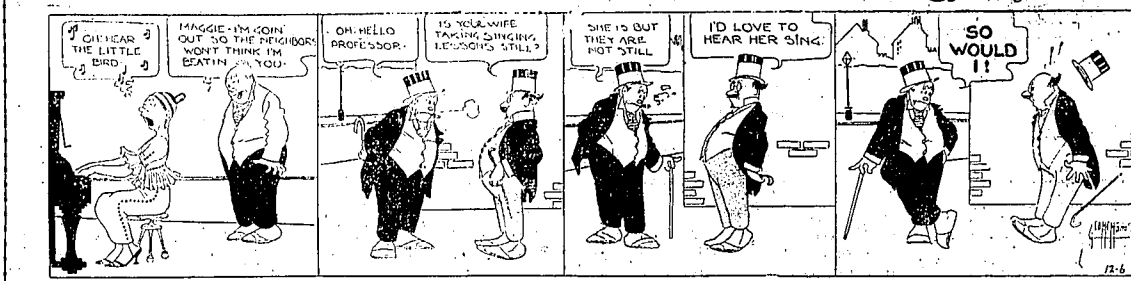

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Next week will be a busy one for the managers of the major leagues.

The annual meetings of both big leagues are scheduled to convene, and the club owners will take initial steps toward preparing for the 1931 season.

President John Heydler and the National League managers will convene at the Waldorf Astoria on Tuesday, the American League meeting, called for both New York and Chicago, probably will convene on Wednesday.

The meeting of the Junior major league promises to be interesting. The principal question is the league's plan to show down and there is every likelihood that the two leagues will be asked who was the pioneer of this

GIVE VARDON CREDIT FOR PECULIAR GRIP

Supposition Is Incorrect, According to Harold Hilton.

John Ernest Laidley Held All His Clubs by Aid of Overlapping Hands Long Before Vardon.

While a majority of the star golfers in this country who are well known as the originators of the "left hand" grip also know the origin of this method.

Harry Vardon.

Many years before Vardon was taking part in championship golf a certain amateur, John Ernest Laidley, was playing better than any other in Scotland and at the same time much more on a par with the best professional talent in either Scotland or England, says Hilton.

Next to catch the overlapping grip among the better players was J. H. Taylor. He is a slightly younger man than Vardon, and while it would not be fair to assume that he had the method of grip before Vardon, he appeared in first class golf before the Jersey man and made a success of it before the latter did.

THEN SICKING QUIT

Trying to earn the "one over the top" in a verbal fight is one form of wasting one's time, as Eddie Stoeck, former State senator, told Jimmy White, the British flyweight champion, in a ten round bout.

"You, do still here," countered Arthur, "but I haven't noticed your name in the box scores lately."

"Well," offered Stoeck, after a moment, "you're getting pretty thin, Fred and Harold have you worried, I guess."

"Maybe they have," was the reply, "but I don't do any work when you were on our club."

There was no reply.

Mexicans Dislike Truth. TNT Is Harmless. Waste in Wartime.

By ARTHUR HISHANE

The Mexicans have shot one of their officials by mistake. They are rebelling against the Mexican government. He deserves to be punished.

Mr. McAdoo has broken the first rule of "big business." He has let the people know what profit big business makes.

Mr. McAdoo runs for president in 1932, along with the rest of the herd, and needs campaign contributions. He will have to get them from men that have come to get their money to sell it.

The secretary of the treasury has been elected and gentlemen were making it tell in the way of profits for tax. At least they had to tell you that they were making a high as ten thousand per cent profit.

Everybody knows about the game. Everybody knows that the game is "I know it, but I don't like to tell you."

The Pittsburgh district, as named the other day, stole workmen more than twenty-six million dollars in wages in a few weeks.

The Iron Age shows that the steel companies have lost in reduced production one hundred and twenty million dollars in the same time. Their unpleasant reading at a time when the world needs about all things constructive, and production of iron.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Goulet and Madden, the American team, won the six-day bicycle race here, and they were second and McKenara was third.
