CONFERENCE ANSWERS HUN CONTENTIONS

Declaratory Germany Cannot Assume Responsible for Sinking of Warships

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—The note of the supreme council sent to Germany as a result of objections by that nation to compliance with the conditions imposed by the conference dealt with the sinking of the German ships at Scapa Flow and declares that "the German government cannot repudiate forth the responsibility concerning the sinking of the ships, but it is the responsibility of which belongs to said (allied and associated) powers."

"This note further declares that 'allied and associated powers can only issue to the German memorandum (concerning the destruction of the German fleet at Scapa Flow) an attempt difficult to explain, voluntarily to delay the coming into force of the treaty and the definite re-establishment of peace."

"The first note declares an 'without prejudice' declaration by Germany, regarding an alleged right of Germany to request—'in compensation for the absence of American delegates on the committee which is to negotiate the treaty by the United States—a modification of the clauses of the treaty under the terms of which the classes of the treaty, if it pointed out that the treaty enters into force as a result of the German agreement, and the allied and associated powers had signed it."

"The supreme council agreed to consider the objection presented by Germany to compensation for the allies for the ships sunk at Scapa Flow and declared that if it is found that the German government is guilty of the sinking of the ships, it will be ready to consider them in a spirit of equity."

"The supreme council further declared that 'the German government is to be held responsible for the sinking of the ships, and that the allied and associated powers will be ready to consider them in a spirit of equity.'"

German Call Note
Sugar-Coated Pill

General Manager J. C. Wheeler of the Twin Falls Canal company was made the tool of confounding faces in the annual meeting of canal stockholders yesterday afternoon. The worthy official was tossed back and forth upon a sea of complaints, in the language between administration and insurgent forces he was buffeted here and there until W. P. Alworth one of the administration's pillars, tucked him under a chair and rushed across the insurgent goal for a touchdown.

Colmer is Lone Reform Selection

General Manager J. C. Wheeler of the Twin Falls Canal company was made the tool of confounding faces in the annual meeting of canal stockholders yesterday afternoon. The worthy official was tossed back and forth upon a sea of complaints, in the language between administration and insurgent forces he was buffeted here and there until W. P. Alworth one of the administration's pillars, tucked him under a chair and rushed across the insurgent goal for a touchdown.

Mr. Alworth's coup came after the general manager, in the delivery of his annual report, had answered various questions regarding administration and then had received complaints from a number of farmers with grievances, who waded warm in the language between administration and insurgent forces he was buffeted here and there until W. P. Alworth one of the administration's pillars, tucked him under a chair and rushed across the insurgent goal for a touchdown.

With the full power of the controlling section over the meeting, Dettweiler, his defeat was pronounced finally by a break in the reform ranks. Deflection of Fred Wegner to the opposing side after Dettweiler had declined to risk his own candidacy by dividing proxies with Wegner, it is said to have occurred, giving the opposition votes to carry election. Colmer, the reform candidate backed by the east end farmers, edged in ahead of his rival.

As stated, Dettweiler's candidacy was the target of a fight that was practically county wide in scope. The reform coalition, having drawn the combined fire of the administration supporters, under the circumstances, was showing remarkable. In his closing remarks, Dettweiler stated that he was not a candidate for reelection, but that he would continue to serve the canal.

COAL STRIKE IS NOT SETTLED AT THREE O'CLOCK

Nothing to Indicate What Result of Conference on President's Proposal Will Be

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 10.—At 3 o'clock there was nothing to indicate just how the strike of the 350,000 bituminous coal miners which has the country in its grasp will be called off.

For eight hours the miners' representatives have been considering the proposition made by the president's committee to urge party senators to ratify the peace treaty. A 25 per cent increase and the assurance of a thorough investigation of the coal industry, including operators' profits, were the main points of contention.

Lafollette Declines False Charge of Railroads Due to Public Control

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Charles E. Lafollette, one of the country's leading "railroad" opponents, has today declared he will not take part in the "breakdown condition" before the government which would place the railroads under government control, and he would "have no voice if the government had not taken place, and the government had not taken their part."

"I would not consent to a public test of the government's operation of the railroads under normal conditions with the public's normal control upon a very limited scale, and especially Senator Lafollette said."

"When relief was afforded by the supreme court in 1917, giving the government the right to operate interstate commerce a new era began," Senator Lafollette said.

"There was a stock tie-up in the interstate commerce committee of the senate when I first came here."

"He referred to the rate decision of 1917 when the supreme court decreed against the railroads."

"False accounting has been resorted to to cover the activities of roads capitalized at twice the amount of the increased capital."

Seek Motive Behind Smoot
Senator Smoot by Secretary Garrison as a referee from the counter attack, Senator Smoot sought to shield himself behind the fact that his plan would save money in other ways and that the clerks now in the war risk bureau were anxious to get out into the business world where they had better opportunities. It was pointed out to him that his proposal was late as the bureau staff will be automatically reduced from 10,000 to 10,000 on January 1, and other reductions will follow as quickly as the plan will allow.

I will be honest and say I do not know what the power is. All I know is that I have obeyed God's law. I learned to pray at my mother's knee. Certainly it is not evil, and I think any one who thinks it the duty of the devil should have a treatment for the head. I do not think there is anything supernatural about this power, even if there is a divine power. Like "Electric Shock."

A white-haired man who had gone to the "mirage man's" home, was asked what he had experienced. "Well, this man put his hands on me and it was like an electric shock that almost took the life out of me. When he took my hand I felt a warm glow about my face. It seemed to warm me through and I didn't have a pain when I felt it."

Members of some of the most prominent families in Indiana have been treated for the "mirage" by the members of the Studebaker family and the others of the family and one of the first to be cured was W. L. Conroy, being 75, who was cured at New Castle. Afflicted with rheumatism and other ailments, he was cured in a few days.

GRIM FAMINE RIDES VIENNA

Political Fight Between City and Rural Districts Brings Starvation to Gay Capital

(Editor's Note: Here is the real story of the city of Vienna, which promises to become the "graveyard of Europe" unless aid and relief is given for the municipality is without food and fuel. Frank Mason, the Berlin correspondent of the International News Service, was sent to Vienna to investigate the terrible conditions and his findings follow.)

(By Frank Mason, 1, N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

VIENNA, Dec. 7, via Berlin and London, Dec. 9.—From one of the greatest pleasure resorts of Europe, Vienna has become a city of doom.

A great political fight has developed in Austria and the country is deliberately starving the capital to death.

From the pre-war population of 1,700,000, fewer than 1,000,000 survive in this grim famine ridden city today, and men, women and children are dying by the thousands.

The city is without fuel and thousands more will perish from cold and lack of food.

From the outside sources immediately. Whole families are being wiped out.

Of refugees who fled into Vienna hoping for aid have been caught in the whirlwind of death.

Children here are without milk and women and children are dying by the thousands.

The factories are idle and the gaunt skeletons stalk the streets eagerly seeking a handful of food to take home to their starving families.

The cemeteries were long ago overcrowded with their growing population of coffins.

And always all these terrible horrors, the magnificent building which once made Vienna rank as one of the foremost cities of the continent in architecture, stand like grim and foreboding monuments.

The country districts of Austria are conservative and reactionary in political thought and refuse to concede to the capital city which they regard as radical.

Although the farmers and the rest of the small towns are not suffering in plenty, they have quantities of food which it is believed they could spare for the population of this city.

If you ask a resident of the rural district why the country people are not helping the starving city the inevitable answer is:

"Why should we send food to strengthen the bolshevik government?"

Whether or not Lenin and Trotsky are to be the victors, the government by President Stelz and Premier Renner does not alter the situation that living conditions here are desperate and are becoming more critical hour by hour.

In spite of this state of affairs a large part of the people controlling the food supply regard Vienna as bolshevik and are either indifferent or else refuse to send any foodstuffs here at all.

The government complains bitterly of this lack of sympathy and cooperation on the part of the country districts. Vienna has been practically deserted by what remains of the Austrian "royal" districts. They are even refusing to send representatives to the parliament in this city.

There is a feeling among many classes that the country should either be annexed to Germany or else the allies should be allowed to occupy and govern Austria.

There should be a strong hand at the helm of the ship of state at once.

It is far better to see Austria become a colony than a cemetery, said one foreigner in discussing the alarming situation.

From among some of the residents of Vienna, the opinion prevails that, if the members of the government would come out into the open and declare themselves as bolsheviks, the long hard political struggle in Austria would reach an end and there would be quick relief resulting in an adequate government.

The anti-government propaganda was asked to explain in what way the present regime showed bolshevik tendencies. He replied:

"In this desperate state of Vienna the people are starving and freezing and there is no work to be had. They have been driven from their homes, to the desperation of starvation, and you do not hear of radical riots and demonstrations, Berlin, Budapest and Paris, where living conditions are so horrible and conditions have them. It is because the Vienna government is so under the influence of the radicals that the communists get everything they want except the privilege of plundering."

Whether or not the government is bolshevik, this writer will not attempt to say. But there is a difference between the country and city is costing high in casualties daily in the lives of men, women and children.

It is a heart wrenching sight to witness the long funeral processions daily, the most of the coffins, if the families have enough to afford coffins, containing the bodies of innocents.

"What do you mean, Mr. Henry Woodpecker? Are you going to give the tea? And what in the world do I have to do with it?"

"It's like sap I might enjoy it," said Mr. Spupper.

"Well, it's something like sap," said Mr. Henry Woodpecker, "only it is different."

"How can it be different and the same?" snapped Mr. Spupper.

"Calm yourself, calm yourself," said Mr. Henry Woodpecker. "I didn't say it was the same. I said it was different. There's quite a difference. You shouldn't be so impatient, you shouldn't jump to conclusions so quickly."

"I didn't jump to anything," said Mr. Spupper. "And I am perfectly sure I didn't jump to a conclusion for I don't know what kind of a tree."

"Trees?" said Mr. Henry Woodpecker. "A conclusion is not a tree. When we speak of jumping to conclusions one means to jump to a conclusion so that you have not heard the first part or even the middle of it."

"When do you speak of 'jumping to conclusions'?" asked Mr. Spupper. "I don't know," said Mr. Henry Woodpecker. "I don't know what you mean."

"I don't want to waste time over such things as using several words when one will do all the work. It's an utter waste of the poor words and the poor people's time."

WHITE PLAGUE IN BALKANS

Tuberculosis Death Rate There the Highest in the World, Says Red Cross.

Duchrest.—The tuberculosis death rate in the Balkans is the highest in the world, asserts the medical staff of the American Red Cross headquarters here. This is based on reports from Red Cross workers in Rumania, Serbia, Albania, and Montenegro.

The distressing factor is that the countries are almost wholly without sanitariums for the treatment of tuberculosis. Tuberculosis is a temporary, and it is considered beyond its province to found sanitariums on the scale that would be needed.

Miss Viola L. Nohr of Hiram, Wis., a nurse, who for many months has been treating patients in all parts of Albania, reports that she found tuberculosis in almost every Albanian family. The percentage has been placed at about 80 per cent.

Dr. Gerald E. Watson of Brooklyn, N. Y., reports:

"Thousands of children are dying of consumption in Montenegro. The percentage of tuberculosis in children is fearfully high. The probable source of infection is the milk of tubercular cattle, with which the country is overrun."

Dr. Margaret W. Johnston, formerly the superintendent of the Cilician hospital writes:

"Tuberculosis in its many forms is most prevalent throughout Serbia. The people are not educated so that trying to instruct them through interpreters is slow work. Only a negligible campaign with posters showing cause and effect has any value here, where ignorance of sanitation, diet, and even household remedies is universal."

REPORT ON RED CROSS WORK

Cash Contributions to France $95,000, 000--Millions of People Are Cared For.

Washington.—Cash aggregating about $95,000,000 was contributed by the American Red Cross for relief work in France alone, and about $75,000,000 more contributed for similar work in 20 other countries, during the war period of 20 months, ending last February 23, according to a report of the board of directors of the organization made public today.

In France the Red Cross furnished about $750,000,000 of supplies, and cared for millions of refugees, aided with money and supplies, French soldiers' families, cared for destitute babies and handicapped children, against tuberculosis and other epidemics.

Practically similar service was rendered in the other countries.

RED CROSS GIVES TO RUSS

Turns Over $2,225,000 in Supplies for Use of the "Antired" in Northern Russia.

Archangel.—American Red Cross supplies valued at 4,500,000 rubles ($2,225,000) have been turned over to the Russian Red Cross for use and distribution in northern Russia. The goods consist principally of food, clothing and hospital supplies.

This stock was on hand at the time of the withdrawal of the American mission, following the departure of the American forces from the Archangel area. In making this gift, Maj. O. G. Lively of San Francisco, Red Cross commissioner for north Russia, directed that the Russians follow the same regulations of distribution as observed by the Americans who spent one year in this district.

Phthisic Skull

The Bureau of American ethnology has made public the discovery of a human skull "in concrete," filled with hard bones, which was found on the coast of Florida.

The skull, collected by Samuel L. King of Detroit, from the Demerara Key, off Fort Myers, is believed to be of prehistoric origin, because the other human bones discovered by scientists, it is so placed in a stratum of earth and pebbles that the age of the bones can be ascertained geologically.

Other bones mineralized by age and believed to be from 20,000 to 40,000 years old have been discovered in Florida. It is so placed in a stratum of earth and pebbles that the age of the bones can be ascertained geologically.

Students of these fossil remains believe that some of them were men who died during the glacial period, and that since then the shifting of the strata has been such that they are now 200 to 250 feet of gravel which water partly eroded, which makes it possible to estimate that at least thousands of years have elapsed since the man died.

Gold Electric Light.

William L. Barnard, comes forward that is to the patent office with a new electric light bulb.

The inventor proposes turning off the light before it has had time to develop any great heat. This he provides an incandescent electric lamp with numerous filaments, instead of the usual single filament. These filaments are connected with a rotary switch which turns each filament on and off at intervals, but the periods of luminosity of the filaments are so spaced that a continuous illumination results. In other words, when one is switched off there is another switched on, so that there is no discontinuity.

A LETTER TO THE LADY OF THE HOUSE

To Everywoman, Twin Falls, Idaho

Dear Madam.—It is just as important for you to SAVE MONEY as it is for your husband to MAKE MONEY. THE WOMANLY woman—the woman worth while—is the housewife who makes her husband's pay check exercise its full purchasing power by buying cheapest. A husband just naturally feels proud of that kind of wife. More comforts for the home, more furniture, more and better clothing, more and better food, are the results obtained by the woman who reads the advertisements in The Times and takes advantage of the opportunities offered to obtain bargains. The advertised bargains save the woman reader many dollars every month. The woman who reads the advertisements and profits thereby, practices true domestic economy. The amount saved from the purchase of one little article of food bought at the grocery store that advertises pays the cost of the paper that furnishes the family with its daily news. Yours truly,

ABOLISHING THE SENATE

Some conservative people are excited because the new United party organized at Chicago is demanding the abolition of the United States senate.

There is nothing necessarily alarming in this. To abolish the senate would indeed be a revolutionary proceeding; but if such a change ever takes place in our federal system, it will come not by violence, but by the orderly process of the ballot, and will represent a deliberate choice of the nation, in harmony with the constitution.

The tendency in recent years has been admittedly in this direction. The two-chamber legislative system is not looked upon as favorably here as it is in the rest of the country, and especially in favor of the "popular" chamber as against the "upper" or "idle" or "conservative" chamber. Great Britain has practically abolished its house of Lords as a legislative power, and may complete its work one of these years.

It is extremely doubtful, though, whether the senate is doomed to such a fate. After all the abuse it has been subjected to, that body still has a vast amount of vitality. We shall hardly see it vanish in this generation, at least.

If our national legislature ever should be reduced to a single branch, it might be more sensible to abolish the house of representatives. The house has become so large and unwieldy that it is a molar rather than a well organized, properly functioning legislative machine. The senate, being smaller in personnel and of greater average ability, would probably give the country better service than the "popular" branch—and might be popular enough, too, with the members elected by popular vote instead of by the old method.

BARROOMS AT SEA

A ship at sea is supposed to be, constructively, a part of the country whose flag it flies. Thus, an American ship is, for most purposes, a bit of American territory and under the jurisdiction of American laws. It might be supposed, therefore, that when the United States goes "dry" its ships would do the same.

But not so. The shipping board has decided that prohibition does not affect ships of American registry beyond the three-mile limit, and that alcoholic liquors may be sold on them. More than that, the United States itself is going to sell the liquor. The shipping board plans to operate bars on all the liners under its control, in order to enable them to compete with foreign ships having such equipment.

There may be a certain fitness in being "dry" on dry land and "wet" at sea. Still, it looks rather inconsistent for a prohibition country to take advantage of its three-mile limit to enable its citizens to do as well as they can at home.

Undoubtedly, if this decision stands, it will popularize quick trips to Europe and back may become far more common than before. It is quite possible, however, that life on those floating barrooms will have less appeal to temperate folk. If the privilege is abused, sober passengers will soon have something to say at Washington about this matter.

TRUTH FOR MEXICANS

Many Mexicans have been told the truth about the United States, and ought to be all the more thoroughly impressed with it because it came from the lips of the ablest mouth of them all, speaking from the vantage of the grave. Gen. Felipe Angeles, in the court martial that sentenced him to death, declared:

"Our great neighboring nation has only the kindest feeling for us and for our welfare. It is often said in Mexico that the American army is a munificence. Though its former army was of little importance, the present army is one of the greatest in existence, and General Pershing, whom most Mexicans regard as a trespasser on their soil, is one of the foremost generals of the day.

"We have shown to the world that while the American is clean in mind, body and environment, we are absolutely and unequivocally the opposite."

The United States in its dealings with revolutionary Mexico has erred from very excess of kindness. It is well that General Angeles coupled that fact with the realization of this country's present military strength. The good will felt by Americans toward Mexico has been waning rapidly, as a result of the persistent refusal of the Mexican government and people to reciprocate. Mexican offenses have steadily become more intolerable. The American army is fortunately prepared, as Angeles intimated, to clean up Mexico, and must soon be obliged to assume that unenviable duty, for the sake of national self-respect and the maintenance of order and decency on this continent.

THROUGH THE CANAL.

The passage of the Panama canal by an American fleet of six dreadnoughts with an average tonnage for each ship of ten thousand tons, does not mean that we have already in Pacific waters a fleet that is capable of taking care of all possible comers from that direction. There are dreadnoughts and formidable cruisers in Pacific waters besides ours, says Boston Transcript. We cannot manage the whole future by so simple a pounce as this. But the American fleet that is to pass through the canal has at last put its troubles with "slides" and altitudes behind it, and that, thanks to the care, vigilance and patriotic devotion of our engineers and planners, it is the wait and profitable workmanship that it was destined to be. It marks the canal's definite entrance upon its function as a part of the American coast line. It is there, and it is adequate to its purpose. There is even some leeway for still larger fighting craft. The gate is already open, and the hand that built the gate shall forever build the key."

The epithet of Germans of high rank would be amusing if it were not that it has been used to describe the royal princes. The royal princes are said to have plundered the wardrobe of Queen Elizabeth of Belgium in the palace of Laeken, and have been arrested on the guests of the king and queen; and when the Kaiser himself learned that a Prussian regiment had stolen from the American coast line, it is there, and it is adequate to its purpose. There is even some leeway for still larger fighting craft. The gate is already open, and the hand that built the gate shall forever build the key."

Now that nearly all the transport work is finished, the nation has reason to congratulate itself on the magnificent work of the navy, which took an immense army to Europe and brought it back again without losing ships or men, and the thus were so sure of their superiority disposing of these ships that they steered at the head of our fleet, and were not offensively to France. They did not know that the American navy was equal to any demand upon it, and that the navy had been completely equipped in an unequal and unexpedient manner.

Secretary Farm Women's National Congress Talks About Immodesty in Dress

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Attention please—the farm woman rises to the subject of modesty and immodesty in dress.

Now take this Dr. Copeland person, health commissioner of New York City—what does he know about farm women's stockings?

"Not," says Mrs. Kalb right into the doctor's ear. She challenges him to produce statistics showing that stocking any higher among city women than among farm women.

The farm woman is no back number, Mrs. Kalb insists. She wears, she asserts, she decollete, she "Robert Chambers," she does everything New York women do—well, maybe not everything.

What to know Mrs. Kalb's idea of a sensible costume for women? Middie blouse, bloomers and sandals with or without stockings.

"The race will not be particularly tight," it fears to wear less clothes," says Mrs. Kalb. "The sensible woman wears a sensible stocking."

Following Dr. Copeland's own line of argument, more farm women must wear silk stockings than city women.

"What city people seem to forget is that there are classes," Mrs. Kalb says. "There are the rich and the poor."

Many noticed signs that he was sliding in the games with the Reds. Certainly he wasn't the Collins of old in the post season battles. And as service goes he is one of the real veterans in the big leagues. He has been playing professional baseball since 1904. He has won 14 seasons come and go in the national pastime.

AMERICAN MAN BEAT HUSBAND

Elinor Glynn Comments on Relative Attractiveness of English and U. S. Women

LONDON, Dec. 10.—The American man is picked as the best husband in the world by Elinor Glynn, famous British novelist, in an article in the "Daily Field" today.

"Nearly all of those wonderful people who spring into social fame with their own success as a result of their own force and efforts are Americans," says the writer.

"Especially the American women who are so vivacious and friendly and known to the women of any other country in the world. Unlike the English women they do not have to be afraid of being taken for granted. There are plenty of men to be found in the United States. American women do not have to make any effort whatever to get a husband. They have to do it to exercise their choice. That is what makes them so successful when they come to Europe. They are the integrated sort of superiority. Their assurance is not assumed; it is natural and instinctive. It is due to the fact that they are always and invariably young."

"From the beginning the American woman had to be protected from the male and wild beasts. Later she had to be protected from the force of her own sex."

"The English it is the men who have always mattered most in the development of the world. The British men have evolved a race of superb creatures who have the same charm in a way that the American man possesses."

"Consequently when an American woman feels that she wants to get her position in England, and if she has much money, there is nothing to prevent her from obtaining it. She has been queen in her own country so why not queen in another country."

"English women are beginning to emerge from their difference though it may take some generations before they attain their balance again. The American assurance they never can attain unless there comes a plague to reduce their numbers. The continued subtraction must hunt could then go to sleep."

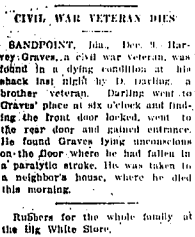

"It can be accepted from an elderly woman who has seen men from most of the countries of Europe, that no other nation can compare in absolute all round attraction to the really nice average English gentleman."

"If I wanted money, I would consider and absence of alluring thrills I would choose the American before a man of any other nation in the world."

Curwood Story Is Thrilling

Realism dominates the pictured version of James Oliver Curwood's story of Canada and the Yukon gold region, which has been taken to the "Grand in Advance." University's new Jewel playhouse starring Dorothy Phillips. Curwood is widely known as a writer of stark and dramatic stories depicting those regions, and he is also the only man ever selected by the British government to do exploratory descriptive writing for the Canadian government.

The numbers and castings of the "Grand in Advance" and "Jewel" mixed breeds in the fur districts of Canada, and the life of the miners during the gold rush in the Yukon are faithfully portrayed in "Grand in Advance," the new Universal Jewel production. Dorothy Phillips, star of "The Heart of Humanity," is the leading woman.

MAYNARD IN BAD OVER CHARGE ACCIDENT CAUSED BY DRINK

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—The statement of Lieutenant Edwin Maynard that he "flying drunk," that many fatal flying accidents are caused by pilots while flying while under the influence of liquor aroused a storm of protest in flying circles here today. Maynard's statement was given wide circulation by the anti-liquor league of America.

G. Douglas Wardrop, editor of the "Flight" magazine, and president of the Aero Club of America, characterized the statement as "pure rot and an insult to the hundreds who made the country famous in the air service during the war."

COMMUNISM ATTACKED BY FOUNDEES' HEAD

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Attacking the principle of labor unionism and urging "Intense Americanization" methods toward the 11,800,000 unassimilated aliens now in the United States, William H. Barr, president of the National Founders' Association, addressed that organization at its twenty-third annual convention in the Hotel Astor here. Several hundred prominent foundrymen from all sections of the country were present.

Mr. Barr, who is president of the Larned Bearing company, at Buffalo, N. Y., urged that as an essential step in the Americanization campaign the pay of teachers and clergymen should be materially increased.

VETERAN ASKS GRAND PIANO

Federal Board for Vocational Education Lacks Funds to Furnish Men's Wishes

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10. Many of the disabled veterans who applied to the federal board for vocational education for retraining express a desire to be given a musical education.

If the applicant has had any previous experience, either instrumental or vocal, and has sufficient education to continue, an expert is called in who gives his opinion. If the expert's report is favorable the veteran gets his opportunity.

Some of the men who have already been granted this training have made some request of the board which, if coupled with, would mean being furnished with a grand piano costing twelve hundred dollars, a future Mozart wanted the board to furnish him with a two hundred and fifty dollar violin.

According to an act of congress the federal board is permitted to furnish necessary instruments to complete a musical education but they find it impossible to meet demands for the grand piano, thousand dollar harp and two hundred and fifty dollar violins.

FINANCIO-TARIFF SCANDAL IN ROME; DUELL MAY FOLLOW

ROME, Dec. 10.—Great interest has been aroused in Roman society circles by an incident which occurred the other day at the Hotel Excelsior when the young marquis, Count Hal Astora, publicly slapped a French officer, Captain Loiseau, in the face. It appears that the latter had been spending defamatory remarks concerning the Count's financial conservatism when attached to a military mission abroad. Captain Loiseau was referred to the hotel's second-son, Prince Bismarck and Marquis Spinola. Immediately walked on the Count demanding satisfaction and was referred to the hotel's second-son, Prince Bismarck and Marquis Spinola. In all probability a jury of honor will be held to decide if the Count can take place.

Scientific Service On Truck Tires

Our business is to make your cartage cost less. As a Goodyear Truck Tire Service Station we strive to make sharp and obvious reductions in the sums our customers spend for their cartage. And we succeed.

In the first place, we see to it that our customers get the right kind, type and size of tire. We have studied carefully all the conditions under which trucks are operated here—and we know exactly what tire to recommend to fit each set of conditions—truck, load, road and service.

Then we apply the tire right, knowing that this has a lot to do with its success or failure. And we apply tires quickly, at night or on Sunday if necessary, to save the cost of laying up trucks.

Then at regular intervals, we inspect the tires we have sold—exactly as if they were still our tires, offering valuable tire-care suggestions.

When next you consider buying truck tires call us up. We'll be glad to send one of our representatives—an expert—to look over your trucks; recommend the proper tires and explain our service.
