BAG MANY WILD ANIMALS IN WEST

Government Inspectors Kill Coyotes, Wolves, Lynxes and Mountain Lions.

HUNTERS ELIMINATE PESTS

Stockmen Are Delighted With Production Made in Wild Animal Plague in the Last Three Years—Cause of Heavy Losses.

Washington, D. C.—Wild, predatory animals in the West have had a bad time this summer. Government inspectors reported a heavy crop of biological survey toll of great slaughter of the animals and some incited where it almost all of large animals were killed. Snake, bear, of coyotes, wolves, mountain lions and lynxes cannot be counted yet, but enough data has come to hand to show that it will be a big one.

One of the most interesting narratives of this exciting business comes from E. F. Fisher, a member of the service stationed in New Mexico. The tire encouragement and assistance to the hunters was such that their work is not needed here. Mr. Fisher has traveled two thousand miles in that state.

Stockmen Are Pleased.

"Almost everywhere," he writes, "I found stockmen delighted with results. In many of the last three years they suffered from an economic standpoint it is one of the most for reaction and sensible undertakings the government has ever attempted. Among the stockmen are the fullerton brothers, who have extensive sheep ranches in the Argentine plains, west of Magdalena. Ever since they started they have suffered heavy animal losses from depredations of coyotes and wolves, especially during the lambing season.

"Last winter one of our hunters was assigned to these ranges. He was handicapped by a heavy snow and weather, but he got so many of the brutes that he virtually eliminated the pest. Mr. Fisher, a member of the service was assigned to the range of Edward Eder. I set for him. While waiting for him I set a line of twelve traps and killed five wild animals. My cat was with me and I shot a coyote, one of which was killed with six shots. The other was killed after my arrival. The young hunter got two more coyotes and a brace of wild cats in the vicinity. For some time he has been out there with his traps and had been lost every night. In ten days the hunter could find no more of the animals and moved to a neighboring ranch.

Old Ones Are Wary.

"There are many instances where the younger and less experienced hunters have been taken during the winter by fur hunters leaving the older and more wary animals alive. These are the killing and keep the market paying toll to their kind. I have noted in my field diary describing the work of the old cubs which were killed and allowed as having been killed with a rifle. This fellow bore evidence of having been previously caught in a trap from three to six months. He tried to escape again he made the effort resulting in his death. It often requires more time and effort to destroy the old cubs than it does to destroy the younger ones, but the value of the results obtained is very much greater."

Mr. Pope says that he has been able to build up large herds of foxes under the constant onslaughts of these pests. The elimination of the pests is a saving to the stockman and in increasing their sheep and cattle. Game animals with the passing of their enemies are getting scarce in many places. "We have records," says Mr. Pope, "of antelope being routinely seen in timbered sections from which wolves have been exterminated."

Apparently the dog did not understand that Jones desired to remove the writ which in order to get better play for his clypeus.

Jones decided to get treatment for his injury at a hospital. Instead, he went home and called a private physician.

"The Differences Are Superficial and the Resemblance Is Profound"

By H. A. L. FISHER, British Minister for Education

Great Britain and the United States are now linked together, and I for one believe that the union between the great English-speaking races is to be an enduring union. It will not require any written or formal text to cement it, as it is founded upon the possession not only of common language and a common civilization but also an outlook upon life which is common, in such as may be tempted at times to insist upon trivial and superficial differences. I have traveled in America myself, and the more I saw of the great republic the more I was convinced that the differences were superficial and the resemblance profound. But I feel that it is of the greatest importance that from time to time learned men from America should come here to show us how we look in the mirror of American public opinion, what errors we have committed and how we may retrieve them, because it is only by such a process of instruction that we shall really arrive at that complete popular and mutual understanding which is the true basis of political life.

LEGION WILL START DRIVE FOR MEMBERS

Returned Machinists Union Asks for Meeting of Machinists and Garage Men

It was decided last evening at a meeting of the local post, American Legion, to start an intensive membership campaign. The present members of the legion were divided into teams, to be assigned to call on the legion, being close contacts.

The team nearest the post members is known as post and January 1 will be commenced by the legion. The legion has been a local on Cotton Hill.

Robert M. Nelson, representing the legion, will address the meeting with reference to the legion arranging a speaking program with a view to utilizing the legion.

In reference to this matter, many members of the machinists union, formerly a report of 200 members, published by a morning paper, state that a majority of individuals in the union, including the legion, were here through the union effort.

W. P. French, one of the officers of the union had been out by the legion, were doing so without foundation, and unjustly accredited to Nelson.

The returned machinists characterized the legion's report as merely another instance of its exploiting manufacturing industry for its own purposes.

Regarding the casting off of officers, they stamped the report as false. The union, they said, has elected in January, under its own constitution, and that is all that is being done, they say.

Many R. C. Seals Have Been Sold

The Red Cross Christmas seal campaign is being conducted in Twin Falls, according to County Chairman Julia Taylor. The school children have been taught to sell a large number of seals. There are a number of contests between the various grades and groups. These contests urge the students to do their best.

A great many people have the idea that the Christmas seal sale is directly connected with the third Red Cross ball, but this idea is entirely erroneous as the present drive is entirely separate from it. The money raised from the seal sale will go to combat the tuberculosis plague.

Christmas Trees? Why, Certainly

We have heard of all sorts of Christmas trees in the matter of Christmas trees. It would seem that the local studio is exceptionally well supplied. Right Christmas trees—right the children have counted them over and over—over twinkling with Christmas cheer at Hulse's.

Two of the trees have the distinction of being the largest of the first shipment which came to town and they are the finest that could be found. And besides the great, big tree, and the wee, little trees, there are four that are just plain, pretty, middle-sized trees.

There are stars and bells, and wreaths and festoons but one of the most interesting things of all to the local studio is exceptionally well supplied. Right Christmas trees—right the children have counted them over and over—over twinkling with Christmas cheer at Hulse's.

Do You Know?

That not far from here there's a land where farmers are getting rich? They are diversified farmers. They raise from 30 to 60 bushels of No. 1 hard wheat per acre. They raise from 5 to 15 bushels Red Clover and about 100 to 200 bushels of Alfalfa. They raise anywhere from 8 to 20 bushels Alfalfa Seed, Alfalfa hay, Sugar Beets, Spuds in fact everything grows wonderfully there. This land is now selling rapidly at a ridiculously low price—$50.00 per acre—$20.00 per acre—50 cent interest for 2 years, then 6 per cent; 4 years before second payment and 20 years to pay. This price includes an abundance of pure water for irrigation. It's at Brooker, Alberta, Canada. Do yourself a favor—See about it at once.

KILBANE TO PRESENT TITLE TO JOE LYNCH

Featherweight Champion Intends to Retire From Ring.

Championship, However, Must Be Contended for Before Any Fighter Will Be Recognized by Fight Fans.

The latest information concerning Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion of America, is to the effect that he intends to retire at Christmas (and make a present of the title to Joe Lynch). It would be a nice Christmas gift for Lynch, but unfortunately for Kilbane he will no more be permitted to be a pugilist. Kilbane has had a dozen other champions who have attempted to put championship belts in the stockings of personal friends. If Kilbane ever does retire, and there is strong doubt on that point, the title will go up to competition, and the featherweight who defeats a majority of the contenders will be recognized as the champion.

FRENCH BAR RED TROUSERS

Cap Will Be Only Part of 1914 Army Uniform to Román—Was Suppressed by Cincinnatus.

Paris—French soldiers will not revert to the former uniform, the dainty red breeches of the infantry, being doomed. Nothing will remain of the 1914 uniform except the cap. "Definitely suppressed," reads the order of the Minister of War Government, referring to the uniform of many colors. The red breeches will not be adopted, but a darker shade of blue which the French call "steel blue."

The origin of the red trousers in the French army dates from the ill-fated venture of Maximilian, once the throne of Mexico. Before departing for America the emperor ordered a very large quantity of the cloth from French manufacturers, as he desired his army to wear the French trousers which were then in vogue in some regions of the Austro-Hungarian empire. When the order was filled both emperor and his American equipper had ceased to exist, and the French decided to adopt red trousers so that the huge quantity of material would not be lost.

It costs just as much to pick, cure, pack, and transport common tea as fine tea; and those costs are the biggest part of the price you pay. So what's the use of paying those high costs and getting only common tea. Why not have the real tea—Schilling Tea—that cheers, invigorates and rests, and that actually costs less per cup?

There are four favors of Schilling Tea—Japan, Ceylon, India, Oolong, English Breakfast, Old Gunpowder. In parchment-lined moisture-proof packages. As good as anywhere.

ROGER BRESNAHAN TO AID MILLER HUGGINS

Will Act as Social Representative of Management.

Leader of Yankee Has Failed to Gain Popularity Because of Imitation of the Glam and the Liberating Beer.

From Toledo, where Roger Bresnahan some time ago finished his baseball career with a hopeless club, comes the story that the one-time Giant catcher will return to New York next season—this time to the Yankees, says Detroit Free Press. It is said that Bresnahan will act as general assistant to Miller Huggins on the field and as social representative of the management of the club.

There seems to be a feeling in certain circles that in order to be a success a major league manager must mingle with the crowd and make himself agreeable socially. Whatever merits may be in that argument the fact remains that Huggins has failed to gain general popularity because of his imitation of the glam and the liberating beer. Largely as a result of that condition the owners have decided to turn on Bresnahan.

Should Bresnahan come to New York he will be received with open arms. The Yankees could use some of his virility, if nothing else. When Huggins took Bresnahan's place as manager of the Cardinals there was some hard feeling between them, but that has been dissipated. For several years Huggins sent some of his Yankee friends to Toledo and gave Bresnahan considerable assistance—without that assistance was not enough.

AMERICAN SPORTS IN CHINA

Baseball and Football Are Among Most Popular Games Played at Tang-Hua College.

American football and baseball have been successfully introduced at Tang-Hua college, Peking, China, according to Ming S. Lowe, registrar of the college, who was at Peking recently en route to China after a tour of the United States.

Eight years ago Lowe left for China after having graduated from the University of California, where he was known as an all-around athlete. After his arrival in China he obtained the service of an American coach and physical director, J. R. Bruce, a college graduate in China who obtained teams then organized in a tentative way, in baseball, American football, soccer, tennis, track and swimming.

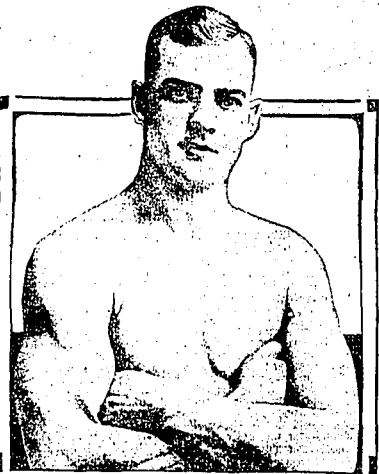

The American football and soccer teams are among the most popular sports at Tang-hua college. A golf course is soon to be laid out near the college.

The Times job printing department is therefore equipped to do first class work—at reasonable prices.

WOULD CUT OUT PUT-OUT

Walter Eckersall is agitating a movement in the West to have the put-out following a foulness eliminated. This change, already favored in the West, would force a team to try at once from a point directly in front of the spot over which the ball was carried for a foulness and would increase the importance of the try.

PLAYING BEST GAME OF GOLF

Collier May Reach His Prime at Age of Fifty, Says Taylor—Willing to Back Opinion.

Comes now a pertinent and positive opinion on the much-polluted question as to the point at which accumulating years begin to detract from the ability to play golf, says New York Sun. And the document is none other than J. M. Taylor, five times winner of the British open championship. Taylor, James Hraid and Harry Ward, failed to qualify in a prominent tournament. Subsequent comment indicated boldly that the three great players have gone back and henceforth must begin to be rated as back numbers. Taylor takes positive exception to any such theories.

According to a cable dispatch, he is quoted as declaring that a man is not too old to play his best game of golf at fifty years of age. Moreover, he is strong in his belief that he says he is willing to wager any reasonable amount that Haid and Vardis will come back strong in the future.

A LETTER TO THE LADY OF THE HOUSE

To Every woman, Twin Falls, Idaho

Dear Madam—It is just as important for you to SAVE MONEY as it is for your husband to MAKE MONEY. The Real WOMANLY woman—the woman worth while—is the housewife who makes her husband's pay check exercise its full purchasing power by buying cheapest. A husband just naturally feels proud of that kind of wife. More comforts for the home, more furniture, more and better clothing, more and better food, are the results obtained by the woman who reads the advertisements in The Times and takes advantage of the opportunities offered to obtain bargains. The advertised bargains save the woman reader many dollars every month. The woman who reads the advertisements and profits thereby, practices true domestic economy.

The amount saved from the purchase of one little article of food bought at the grocery store that advertises pays the cost of the paper that furnishes the family with its daily news.
