JAPANESE WORRY OVER SPHERE OF INFLUENCE

Meanwhile Bolsheviks Maintain Policy of Seeking Peace With All People

LONDON, Jan. 3.—Organized military opposition to the soviet government is on the rapid wane. It is said in dispatches from Russia...

Kolchak's quarters were reported in a state of siege, with Japanese officials reported that further advances by 300 Japanese will threaten Japanese sphere of influence.

Political observers saw in the defeat of anti-bolshevik factions a direct result of the recently announced "hands off" policy of the allies toward Russia.

CHURCHILL POINTS OUT BOLSHIEVISM'S DANGER

On New Year's day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Roberts at 4:30 p. m., occurred the wedding of their daughter, Marie, to Robert Logan, son of Arthur Harris Brand of Chicago. The bride was very beautiful in a suit of blue serge and satin, with bronze shoes and hat. The hat had for trimming a brown veil and orange red. The veil was fastened around the neck with a ribbon forming a wide ruffle, which was very attractive in appearance. She wore a carriage bouquet of violets and cacti. There were no bridesmaids and only the relatives present. At three o'clock a special messenger was sent to the Hotel Perrine. The table was decorated with pink tea roses in a gilt basket, pink baskets and hand painted cards. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Logan, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Logan, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Meritt Harris, Mrs. and Mrs. Asher Brand, Miss Helen Roberts and Miss Logan. Miss Marie Roberts is a graduate of the Twin Falls high school and a member of the Northwestern University at Chicago, where she is a member of the Sigma Alpha Theta Sorority, a musical society. She has a big date for a member of the younger set. Mr. Logan is a prosperous young business man of Twin Falls and with the assistance of his father, a captain of years ago but is again proprietor of the Logan Music store which his father established there in the pioneer days. The bride and groom left on the afternoon train for an extended honeymoon at San Francisco and will be at home at the apartment where they are finished.

INDICTMENT OF EMPEROR BILL TAKING SHAPE

Extradition Will Be Asked for Immediately After Treaty Becomes Effective

LONDON, Jan. 1.—The indictment of William Helmsleben, former German spy, who has been accused of plotting the world war in an effort to restore German domination through the Rhine, is being prepared by the British government. It is expected to be ready by the time the extradition of the former Kaiser is sought from Holland. Helmsleben is being held at the peace treaty commission.

According to present plans the peace treaty protocol is expected to be signed during the week of January 6, and the exchange of ratification will be made at once. The peace treaty will be then in effect.

Sir Frederick Bell, one of the foremost leaders in Great Britain and a member of the privy council, has already prepared a rough draft of the document, but the chief task now is getting the document in proper, detailed form and legal philosophy.

There was some doubt among the British legal lights whether it would be possible to draw a binding treaty indictment of the erstwhile war lord. The trial of the former emperor, a project in the minds of the British government, has now become a practical proposition. It is feared that an effective indictment could not be drawn up. These objections were overruled, however.

The "indictment" is a treaty which William is to be arraigned in London will have the authority of the respective governments represented upon it. Helmsleben is a foreigner, and it is foregone conclusion that the British and French will have the leading part in presenting the Kaiser and in having the treaty signed in London.

This opinion is prevalent that if a verdict of guilty is returned against him, to some remote place would be his sentence.

After the indictment is drawn up and approved by the supreme council the next step will be to levy a demand upon Helmsleben for his presence in London. It is expected that the treaty will be signed in London.

UNWIELDY LEGISLATIVE SYSTEM

A month ago, or a very little longer, Lady Astor was campaigning through the Plymouth district for a seat in the British parliament. Today she is occupying that seat; she has been occupying it for two weeks.

The Astor case offers one phase of a certain peculiarity and directness about British politics that set America a worthy example. Nothing of the kind could happen in the ordinary course of our political machinery. As a matter of fact, the American citizen nominated in June, 1918, the congressman who, in the usual course of events, takes his seat at Washington in December, 1919. Only by grace of an extra session can he get into action earlier, and then not before March 4, 1919. Outside of war times extra sessions are few and far between, most presidents have abided by having a congress on their hands any longer than can be credited. It is, therefore, hardly easily seen that a congressman is often elected on one set of issues and sits in a congress whose chief concern is with quite a different set. The congressman now sitting, for example, were all nominated during war days, the war closing within a week after the day they were elected. But they were nominated at the height of the war, before there was any sign of an armistice. It can hardly be said that they hold any special mandate from the people; certainly they do not in any popular sense of the word. They were chosen under circumstances very different from those under which they serve, by a public of different frame of mind and political outlook.

Let the American system too unwieldy for these swiftly moving times? Could we not, with profit to all concerned and the ultimate betterment of our political conditions, change our cumbersome system and shorten the time between election and action in our national councils?

THE NATIONAL HIGHWAYS

Railways, telegraph and telephone lines have for many years helped to bind the United States together in a sympathetic and understanding whole. But there have been few good highways to supplement these lines of communication.

Slowly and steadily, however, a great, wide-extended network of national roads is being constructed, built and forth, up and down, across the continent. One of those uncompleted highways is the international road which will extend from Toronto, Can., to Miami, Florida. This north-to-south route will open up many interesting but little-known regions in the eastern part of the country. In Maryland it will cross the historic "Old Trails" national highway, surveyed by George Washington. In Pennsylvania it will cross the Lincoln national highway, thus connecting the southwestern part of the country with the great west as well as the north.

Automobile traveling from state to state is becoming a favorite outdoor sport of many Americans. These new highways make it possible to go farther and see more in a given time than ever before. It is no longer necessary to follow the prescribed railroad routes. eager travelers may drive and camp in many lovely and unexplored spots close to the main highways but remote from the iron tracks of the railroads. They will long to know their fellow-countrymen better for this closer, more intimate view gained by exploring each other's territory.

THE AFTERMATH OF THE STRIKE

The evils that strikes do lives after them. Folks' coal bins may not be normally filled before spring. Thus the coal famine is by the means ended with the end of the strike. It will be necessary to continue conservation measures in most sections of the country for some time yet, with their attendant hardship. The six weeks lost out of the miners' working time cannot be made up quickly. It is probable that the current year will see more of a given time than ever before. It is no longer necessary to follow the prescribed railroad routes. eager travelers may drive and camp in many lovely and unexplored spots close to the main highways but remote from the iron tracks of the railroads. They will long to know their fellow-countrymen better for this closer, more intimate view gained by exploring each other's territory.

It will not be altogether bad, however, if from the unpleasant experience the public gains an adequate notion of the costliness and consequences of strikes, and does some hard thinking on the subject of making the necessary policies and machinery to make such

POETS AND EDITORS

Herbert Kaufman, poet and essayist, has bought a big monthly magazine. "Who said poets never have any money? There must be more profit in poetry writing than there used to be. But here arises a dreadful thought. It's editors rather than poets that go broke nowadays. How could it be otherwise, when poets get enough money from editors to buy magazines? But that situation may soon correct itself. As an editor, presumably Kaufman won't have much time for writing poetry. So he will have to buy poetry from some other poets. And then, following his own example, they may get all his money, and he'll have to go back to the old rhyming job again.

A suffrage leader prophesies that all American women will have the ballot by St. Valentine's day. That might be the beautiful thought, that their ballots then may be occasional valentines. Also the horrible afterthought that a lot of them will be "comes" with a knock-out punch in them.

A statistician says the government could save $2,000,000,000 next year by adopting a sound budget system. And all the people who are spending $200 for overcoats and $2000 for diamonds and $20,000 for new houses are clamoring for Congress to do it.

The Germans are said to be looking forward again to "Der Tag." They think it's pleasant looking forward in the next one than back at the last one. But if there is ever another, it won't be spelt in German.

Some of the most up-to-date political reformers are urging "state managers" after the model of "city managers." Now, don't go and say that what some states need is "freemen."

It was easy enough for the government to take the railroads, but it's a mighty job to let go.

Coal Restrictions OFF

The little pastebord card is no longer necessary to get a supply of your favorite brand of coal. All you need is to go to your phone and call 803. Good coals are always scarce in the winter months. We can get plenty of poor coals which are little in demand, but it is against our policy to sell a coal that does not measure up to the highest standard. Because of the great demand for Liberty, King, and Kaiser-Sinclair 5 coal it is impossible to keep a supply on hand at all times. We are doing our level best to take care of our patrons, and have reason to expect that in a few days we shall be able to fill all orders for these good coals on short notice. In the meantime we suggest that you place your order a day or two in advance. We will not order you if we cannot fill your order on the date you name we'll notify you in time. At no time during the coal famine did any of our customers go without fuel. On many occasions we had to go out to some other yard, buy coal for our customers, and pay a higher price than what we received from our customers. We gladly did this because the good will of our patrons is worth more to us than any profit we may make on a single ton of coal.

Note our prices below. We are the only dealers in the city to give you a reduction in price when we take the coal direct from the car. It costs us from 25c to 10c to have coal unloaded from the car into the bin, depending on the kind of coal it is. It costs more to handle and egg than it does the lump and stove sizes. After the coal is unloaded into the bin we still have to shovel it into the trucks and wagons so we are not nothing when we make a special a car-to-you price, and you make a saving that is worth while.

	Car Price	Yard Price
LUMP	$10.00	$10.25
STOVE	10.00	10.25
EGG	9.50	9.75
NUT	8.50	8.85

OUR INTELLIGENCE USED HOW?

I sometimes think we are not as intelligent enough to govern ourselves. In we lack intelligence or principle—the loss of justice and fair dealing? The Smoot-Sinnett land leasing bill has become a law. Our representative-in-congress almost to a man, voted for the bill that takes the public lands from the people and grants or leases land containing thirty billion dollars' worth of oil, coal, phosphate and other valuable deposits, for a lifetime, or thirty years.

This class legislation, giving a few individuals thirty years to plunder, profiteer and exploit the property of one hundred million people, seems very foolish and vicious. How can the great consuming public toward the privileged class when they become intelligent enough to see that their own property, their inheritance from the Lord, has been cunningly legislated out of their hands and turned over to a few exploiters?

What is the real cause of the people's representatives always representing the interests that have in their capital and business associations, already a strange hold on the public?

Does the government—the people—the Smoot-Sinnett legislation? If so, we have a people are to blame. We have the power, if we only use it in an intelligent way, to keep the raw material and natural advantages from the hands of the powerful and privileged class.

LYNN, Mass., Jan. 3.—Thirty-four of the sixty-two persons arrested here as suspected reds, were released today after they had convinced the authorities that they had met to organize a co-operative bakery to reduce the cost of living. The 34 had declared they were forced to stand on their feet from 10 o'clock last night until 11:30 a. m. today with no food except a box of crackers.

MINISTERS SAYS NEW IS MORON

High-grade Imbecile is Oldest of Nation of Belt-Confessed Slayer of Sweetheart
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3.—District Attorney Thomas Woolwine surprised the court room with his lengthy and severe cross-examination of the moron, the first of the thousands of imbeciles in the trial of Harry S. New, charged with the murder of his sweetheart, Freda Lester, on July 3 last.
For more than four hours Woolwine fired questions at Dr. Moore, who characterized New as a "high grade imbecile" and a "moron."
Dr. Moore's diagnosis for the slayer was that he is feeble minded—of the feeblest of a 12-year-old boy. He merely said New's mind has been deteriorating since 1914.
"I think that he is a dangerous man all times," Dr. Moore said, "with ideas under observation sometimes where he will not come under mental stress and not have any explanation as to what he has done." Freda Lester, he is constantly growing worse."
At the time that Dr. Moore testified New's feeble mind was the moron declared that the slayer was insane at the moment of the murder, his feeble mind undergoing a "mental explosion" at that time. Woolwine asked the physician if New suffered what is known as a "furia storm," but Moore said he did not know what the moment and confined himself to the use of the word "explosion."

Beginning with the first Sunday in the new year, the pastor of the First Baptist church will give two series of sermons which will deal with some of the interesting facts in connection with Bible interpretation and Christian philosophy.
The first series, which ought to interest all those who are concerned with holiness or sacred activities, will be given on Sunday mornings. The general subject will be "Baptism and Abandonment of the Christian Life." The first sub-topic, which will be discussed next Sunday morning is, "The Planning and the Mystic Tree of Life." The other series, which will deal with the fulfilled and unfulfilled predictions of the minor prophets of the Old Testament, will be given at the Christian League. These prophecies are full of striking illustrations and incontestable proofs of Divine authority. For the one who has not made a careful study of these prophecies they are full of thrilling surprises. The subject next Sunday evening is "Isaiah's Message."

It is possible to invite in hear both of these series of Bible messages.

OLDFIELD TIRES

"The Most Trustworthy Tires Built"

If Barney Trusts Them
You Can

Barney Oldfield's Message

"Probably I've used more tires than any other living driver, and I've studied tires and experimented with them, to find out what kind of a tire I could absolutely trust. During my twenty years of hard driving, I've discovered certain principles of construction that are now embodied in the Oldfield Tire.

I've given these tires the hardest kind of tests and they always stand up, under any conditions. They're trustworthy to the absolute limit.

So I pass them along to you with my personal recommendation, as—"The most trustworthy tire built."

You know the
BARNEY OLDFIELD

Surely the tire that Barney Oldfield recommends--and uses himself--as the most Trustworthy--merits your unqualified confidence.

OLDFIELD TIRES are the most trustworthy tires built. That sounds like a very broad statement, but consider that these tires are based on the knowledge and experience of Barney Oldfield, the world's Master Driver. They embody the principles of construction that Mr. Oldfield has worked out and tested thoroughly in twenty years of all kinds of driving on race tracks and in cross-country touring.

OLDFIELD TIRES are built with a zinc-tempered, wrapped-tread, and each tire is two-cured. To the average car owner these words may mean little, but ask your tire merchant to explain them and he will tell you that they signify a type of construction which assures dependable miles of service.

OLDFIELD TIRES have made good.

So well have they justified the confidence placed in them that Oldfields are adjusted on 6000 miles for fabrics and 8000 miles for cords. The real basis for adjustment is satisfaction to you. Every Oldfield Tire you buy is an investment--not an experiment.

You never had so many reasons for choosing a particular make of tire as you have for riding on OLDFIELDS.
