SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO LIFT PROHIBITION ON 2.75 BEER

Sustains Lower Court's Refusal to Restrain Federal Officials From Enforcing War-time Acts

Test Case Brought by New York Corporation in Behalf of Brewers of America is Decided Against Them by Majority Opinion of Nation's Highest Tribunal

BILLION DOLLARS OF PROPERTY ARE SAID TO BE INVOLVED IN DECISION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Justice Brandeis today in the supreme court read a decision refusing to lift the prohibition law on 2.75 per cent beer.

Justice Reynolds, Justice Day and Justice Van Devanter dissented from the opinion of the court as rendered by Justice Brandeis. The dissenting opinion was read by Justice Reynolds.

The adverse decision was handed down in the case of Jacob Ruppert, a corporation, New York, versus Francis G. Giffey, United States attorney southern district, New York, and Elicah J. McMillan, deputy collector of the United district of New York.

The case was appealed from the district court for the southern district of New York. The lower court is reversing.

A preliminary injunction was denied by the district court restraining federal officers from enforcing the terms and provisions of the war-time prohibition act and the Volstead enforcement act which fixed the percentage of alcohol in beverages at half of 1919 per cent.

The corporation is a large brewing company said to be engaged in the manufacture of non-intoxicating beer containing more than one half of one per cent of alcohol by volume, but less than 2.75 per cent alcohol by weight, the standard of which has been fixed by President Wilson in his proclamation of December 8, 1917.

Counsel for the brewing company, Ellis Pool and William D. Guthrie, seeking to prevent the enforcement of the Volstead act upon which the suit was predicated are not valid exercises of the war powers of congress and are unconstitutional. The Ruppert case was a test case in behalf of all brewers making "non-intoxicating" beer.

American Woman One-Time Prisoner in Mexico Tells Senate Committee What She Learned There—Says Zapistas Worked With Carranzistas Against Americans—Disagree With Ambassador Fletcher's Report

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Mrs. Corn Sturgis of Washington, testifying this afternoon before the Senate committee investigating relations with Mexico, declared that Zapistas in Mexico have charged that United States Ambassador Fletcher received one million dollars from the Carranza government for "a clean bill of health for Mexico in the United States."

COMBINATION ORDERS UNFAIR COMPETITION

Merchants May Not Sell Little Sugar Cheap If Customer Buys Other Goods

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—It is an unfair method of competition for a grocer to advertise "combination orders" offering to sell three or five pounds of sugar at a low price in combination with certain other articles of groceries.

The combination in a Los Angeles case defined a wholesale grocer as being any body who buys and sells wholesale groceries in wholesale quantities.

OLDFIELD TIRES

"The Most Trustworthy Tires Built"

*If Barney Trusts Them
You Can*

TIRES

Barney Oldfield's Message

Probably I've used more tires than any other living driver, and I've studied tests and experimented with them, to find out what kind of a tire I could absolutely trust.

I've given these tires the hardest kind of tests and they always stand up, under any conditions. They're trustworthy to the absolute limit.

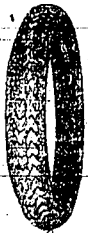

During my twenty years of hard driving, I've discovered certain principles of tire construction that are now embodied in the Oldfield Tire.

So I jabs them along to you with my personal recommendation, as—the most trustworthy tire built.

I'm known as
BARNEY OLDFIELD

Surely the tire that Barney Oldfield recommends--and uses himself--as the most Trustworthy--merits your unqualified confidence.

OLDFIELD TIRES are the most trustworthy tires built. That sounds like a very broad statement, but consider that these tires are based on the knowledge and experience of Barney Oldfield, the world's Master Driver. They embody the principles of tire construction that Mr. Oldfield has worked out and tested thoroughly in twenty years of all kinds of driving on race tracks and in cross-country touring.

OLDFIELD TIRES are built with a zinc-tempered, wrapped-tread, and each tire is two-cured. To the average car owner these words may mean little, but ask your tire merchant to explain them and he will tell you that they signify a type of construction which assures dependable miles of service.

OLDFIELD TIRES have made good.

So well have they justified the confidence placed in them that Oldfields are adjusted on 5000 miles for fabrics and 8000 miles for cords. The real basis for adjustment is satisfaction to you. Every Oldfield Tire you buy is an investment--not an experiment.

You never had so many reasons for choosing a particular make of tire as you have for riding on OLDFIELDS.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION PEOPLE START FARMERS' CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY AT AMERICAN FALLS

Farmers Figure on Gross Profit to be Made Out of Over-run of Butterfat—Plan Has Proved Successful in Other States and Will Here

Organization of a farmers' co-operative creamery at American Falls is headed by the University of Idaho extension division as providing a model form for organization of successful enterprises of this sort throughout the state. It includes features that are the first of the kind to be adopted in Idaho, and which might be adapted to the organization of co-operative associations in other parts of the state for the furtherance of the co-operative creamery idea.

Guarantee of an adequate volume of business is the principal feature of the American Falls organization. This guarantee is effected by a contract between the farmer and the creamery which provides for the purchase of the cream from a specified number of cows. The contract is enforced by non-interference by the creamery with the farmer's other business. The creamery is to be operated in addition to guaranteeing the delivery of cream, provide collateral for financing the creamery. Payment for the borrowed notes will be provided by the over-run of butterfat. The fact that 100 pounds of butterfat will make approximately 150 pounds of butter.

Interest of the extension division in such enterprises is keen because they are a means for making small farming a financially efficient industry. The financial success of the extension division depends upon the extent of its ability to sell his produce on equal terms with the large grower. For this reason the extension division, through its specialists, through county agents and otherwise, is offering all assistance possible to farmers who plan the organization of co-operative creameries or elevators, the formation of wool and sheep pools, the co-operative shipment of beef, the purchase of fuel from wool breeders and the like. From similar motives, assistance also is given in the organization of associations for purchase of improved bred bulls, for the testing of cows, for the buying of seed, or for other co-operative movements, to improve farm conditions.

Organization of the Power county enterprise was made possible through the activity of S. L. Wilson, executive of the University of Idaho extension bureau on dairymen, for the Power county and Bruce Lounsbury, executive of the extension bureau in the Power county. The extension division of the University of Idaho, manufacturing money should be kept in a home industry. The farm bureau men working on this organization are constantly reminding such business as this. One dryland farmer stated that last year he owed a $180 grocery bill. This year he checked paid his grocery bill and the bill was $360. The pasture and feed consumed by these cows was mostly that which he had to buy. "Think what it would mean to the dryland farmers of Power county and also to the business men of the county if the monthly cream checks would pay the grocery bill! Four to six cows of each farm will do this."

Stories of Executions Declared Fairy Tales

BUDAPEST, Jan. 5.—The stories spread abroad that 10,000 communists had been executed in Hungary since the overthrow of Bela Kun's soviet government are false, says a statement declared in an interview with the United Press today. So far as the persons sentenced to death in action during the soviet regime, the high sheriff, Harsanyi, said: "The stories of 10,000 deaths are entirely untrue. The only persons executed were those who had murdered and robbed communists."

It is true that after collapse of the Hungarian soviet government a number of red leaders were hanged by anti-soviet crowds. These persons, however, had been sentenced to death by the soviet government.

NO LUMBER EXPORTS FROM GERMANY

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 6.—Among articles whose exportation from Germany will be strictly prohibited is lumber, especially building lumber, sawed wood, lumber, mining timbers, ties and pulp wood and all products thereof. Advice has been recently received from the American Mission in Berlin by the National Forest and Construction industries that a proclamation to this effect of the Minister of commerce in Germany was published in the Reich's official gazette. The articles were listed of which the lumber group was one, all being designated as "contraband" necessarily, and therefore non-exportable.

HANGINGS HAVE MORAL LESSONS FOR CRIMINALS

Chicago Sheriff Declares Hanged Criminals Need to See Where Crime Leads Them

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Hanged crooks who hang in the Cook county jail can count on a job that may straighten them out, Sheriff C. W. Peters declared today.

"The law of capital punishment was intended solely as punishment for the most heinous crimes," the sheriff said. "It was intended as a solemn warning for others. 'I don't approve of hangings as executioners never allow the method to witness them. Further, I will not permit first offenders and petty crooks to avoid cells overlooking the scaffold. Neither will I let those held for murder into these cells during a hanging. But the men I do want to see the hanging are those hardened crooks who have not become murderers but who may use a solution of 'blood' to keep them from that offense."

The sheriff announced he will hang another official person at the first, especially the burglar and the gangster. Friday week, Arthur Haddock, convicted wife murderer, is expected to hang. Peters said there is no official protest against his hanging by Governor or other high officials.

CONSTANTINOPE TO GREECE?

The old question of Constantinople is up again. Who is to have that historic city, the gateway to the Black Sea and the Russian interior, the meeting place of East and West?

Until lately it was taken for granted that the Turks would be driven out of Europe, and so out of Constantinople. Their centuries of oppressive rule over Christian populations, their lack of progress, their inability to make full use of that wonderful seaport, ennobled by their treacherous war against the Allies, all seemed to invite such a fate.

Yet there is no longer unanimous agreement among the Allies to drive out the Turks. France, supported by some of the lesser nations, is said to favor letting them remain. France makes the plea that such a step would alienate her Mohammedan subjects in Africa. Great Britain some time ago made the same point as to her own Mohammedan subjects in India, but has since come out unreservedly for the driving out of the Turks. American sentiment agrees with Britain, but it is a question whether the United States, while the peace treaty remains unratified, can do anything about it.

If the Turks are expelled, who then shall rule Constantinople? The British idea is to have the city "internationalized," and ruled by one of the allied powers under a mandate from the League of Nations. The United States was wanted for this role. It seems, however, that the United States desires no such responsibility. Other nations regard it as a privilege. Which of them shall have it?

Great Britain already controls enough of the world. "With Constantinople, in addition to Gibraltar and the Suez Canal, she would be in position to dominate the Mediterranean and the cross-roads of three great continents. France has no special claim to it, neither Italy; and both have plenty to do elsewhere." The logical heir of the city seems to be Greece.

Constantinople was the capital of Greek civilization for more than 1,000 years. It is today the natural capital of the modern Greek world. Except for Turke, Greeks are still a majority of the city's population. The Greek nation, led by its great statesman Venizelos, has played a manly and honorable part in the war, and deserves this reward, if any nation does, and could probably be trusted to discharge faithfully the duties going with it.

A GOOD TIME TO STOP.

Authorities on costs of manufactured articles are putting the blame for their high prices right on the shoulders of the buyers. They say that purchasers will have only the choicest and finest fabrics, that they will not take a sensible and substantial garment at a medium price when they can get a handsome or showier article for more.

There are stories told in the garment trades of storekeepers who found no market for suits at $25 or $30 and who marked the suits not down, but up, and sold them readily at $40 or $50.

William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Co., contributes this to the general fund of information: "I recently made up a sample of cloth in which coarse wool was used in the warp only. The appearance of this sample was but slightly different from that made of finer wools. It had in a marked degree the smooth, soft texture of fine wool. Its cost was considerably less than the fabric made of the finer grades. Our selling agents told us there was no demand for it; people would not buy it; that customers insisted on fine, smooth, soft fabrics, and that, accordingly, the manufacturers of clothing would not buy this cloth if we made it up in quantity, because they could not sell clothes made from it. To our suggestion that when people were complaining so of high prices, this cloth, that would make a difference of $5 or more in the cost of a suit, ought to sell readily, the reply was that $5 in the cost of cloth for a suit of clothes did not count at all these days; that the people demanded the best and would put up with no other."

The same story in different words is told all over the country. People are luxury-minded. Part of it may be due to restraint in buying during the war, but whatever the cause, the fact remains—they have killed the market for luxuries and extravaganzas.

If this be true, now is a good time to stop buying the luxuries. Christmas is over. People are pretty well equipped for the winter by now. If every buyer would hold himself and herself to rigid standards of economy and good sense in purchasing for about three months, the name of clothing prices would be Humpty-Dumpty.

Work has been captured again. That townsky must be done

PROHIBITION AND HOSPITALS.

The decrease in cases reported by hospitals in many different cities since national prohibition began to operate is not simply a negative proof. In some instances it may result in the closing of a special department, but usually it will mean more efficient work in other branches of the hospital's service.

Hospitals, like schools, have had hard work keeping up with growing needs. Now, Cook County Hospital in Chicago reports that "it looks as though our present facilities, as far as general hospital work is concerned, will be sufficient for eight or ten years to come."

The editor of Hospital Management believes that certain funds which have hitherto proved inadequate for certain needs will from now on be more than enough. Money which up to now has been devoted to supplementary provision for the general hospital care of patients unable to pay for their own treatment will be released for the special work of convalescent homes, children's hospitals, tuberculosis sanatoriums and other important branches of "public health work."

In other words, the same amount of money put into hospital work is going to go farther and accomplishing more satisfactorily now than it has been allowed to do in the past. The whole picture is going to be benefited by this change.

KILLING THEM OFF.

A police court judge in Asheville, N. C., is optimistic about the liquor situation—a way. It is a pretty pessimistic way, at that. He says he foresees "an era of complete sobriety" after a while, if prohibition continues in force, and that it will come about in the following manner:

The chronic inebriates will all be dead before long from drinking the poisonous compounds they sold as substitutes for old-fashioned liquor.

The way things have been going lately, it does look as if he may be right.

—The most mournful thing about it, however, is the fact that many of the people now being poisoned by wood alcohol, denatured alcohol and miscellaneous distilled abominations are not "chronic inebriates" at all. The victims are often men or women who never cared anything about alcoholic liquor in the old days, and do not really care about it now, but are tempted to drink the deadly stuff merely by a spirit of curiosity or adventure.

For the old tapers there may be little hope. Like the dope fiend, they may seek their destruction in spite of everything. For the other class, the remedy is education; and it must be said that the alcoholic death lists since Christmas have been very instructive.

THE CHILDREN AT HOME.

Herbert Hoover, who, in the midst of activities comparable to those of scarcely any other man, never seems to lose his sense of proportion, addressed a child-welfare luncheon in San Francisco the other day and said:

"I feel sometimes that we are perhaps more concerned over the lot of our own. The appeal of mobs of starving children draws our sympathy to faster action than the scattered, minority at home."

Mr. Hoover said that the real problem of Americanization would be made 20 years ago if the nation could systematically grapple with the child problem and insure proper conditions of birth, education and nutrition.

This sort of thing must be "developed out of the conscience of every separate community," he said. Moreover, "the feature of organization in these matters is outstanding—the responsibility of organization is rested almost entirely upon the woman."

That is to say, if the problem of Americanization is to be solved, the women in "every separate community," no matter how large or how small, must be organized to see that each child has proper conditions of birth, education and nutrition.

THE STARS.

The Paris lady astrologer who claims to succeed Mme. Thebes, who claimed to be an expert at interpretational influences upon this mundane sphere, has given out a momentous prophecy for the coming year.

She says 1920 will see the disintegration and end of the soviet government in Russia.

A London astrologer, "foretells for the Prince of Wales extraordinary benefits due to his successful tour of this country. He is soon to be called to supreme tasks."

An American prophet says extravagant buying will decrease greatly in the month of January, and that increase of motor accidents will lead to stringent laws.

Considered, seriously in all its bearings, is not our scientific wonderful?

Both of the parties in the senate are said to be facing a split on the peace treaty. And both of them ought to be split, if they won't get together in a national compromise. The biggest party in America today is the peace treaty.

Public Forum

To the Editor of the Times:

A pure, clean mind gives out clean thoughts which in turn produce clean deeds, harmony and happiness. Evil minds give out unclean thoughts and therefore produce unclean, filthy deeds. If one will not let unclean thoughts come into his mentality, but think only of good, then, following God's demands as such as it is possible for material man or woman to do, he will create a happiness which gold, riches, family ties or will power cannot gain. Anyone endowed with the blessing of clean thoughts is endowed with riches far greater than that which unclean thoughts can bring. Man, woman or child, crowned with this greatest of riches, is free from selfishness, which is the root of all unhappiness, traceable to self-thought by individual or party, said also, crime will be easily traceable to self-thought.

The IL party or person thought out of good to his neighbor there could not have arisen the evil thought of harming.

by a bridge over Snake river, which is supposed to be a treacherous stream. This man's thoughts, as I happen to know, were half on the baby and half on the beauty of the day, but entirely away from himself. Also the bridge just try to forty feet from water and the man had for many years been afraid to dive from high places. He heard the baby scream, noticed his little dress going out of sight. Mental thought said: "Save her. He jumped on the rail and overboard, good and all and by reason of beating weight hit the water at almost the same time as the baby did, close enough to grab her and bring her up immediately to his side. The little girl could understand and did as she was told, held on to his neck, lay on his back and was able to breathe with her. The man did not think of self but only of another, consequently only good could be done. This man had been told by others and his wife a good many times that he had no feeling, no heart, and his own probing into his actions, deeds and thoughts on many other occasions made him think, as he did, but the little girl's embrace and sweet loving spirit in thankfulness and the mother's gratitude showed him the truth or the words were true. He had never had such a feeling before.

and love of the mother and child for it. WAGERS THIS GIRL that does was done selfishness has brought him nothing but inharmonious and trouble, proving to him that selfishness is the root of all evil and that trouble is mental, only brought about by either personal self-thought or universal self-thought, selfish thoughts by the majority. A little girl in France, between 7 and 8 years of age was at a reception given by her parents who were in the diplomatic service, and among the guests was one man of pleasing appearance, rated among the best, nothing of ill repute was known of him, but when he tried to make friends with the little girl, she covered her face with her hands and screamed: "Don't let him touch me." All present must have thought she was seeing things—she was mentally for a short time after this same man was executed after having confessed to a woman or so of murders. You guess, suppose she read about him in a police gazette and recognized him by recollection of the man? She was between 7 and 8 years of age you know. Let us not worry about the end of the world or try to insult her (another mental condition) of others, but first try to eliminate our own selfish thoughts and that of others and we'll find heaven closer than we expect, just if we let selfishness go and treat the world we will have plenty of hell on this earth—enough to satisfy, I think, without trying to find out or think of what we are going to get on the next sphere. A problem in mathematics proves itself if right; so does every thing if true.

NOTED SCREEN STAR APPEARS IN "DESTINY"

Dorothy Phillips To Be Seen in History of Famed Story of American Life

A gripping story of life as it will be shown at the Orpheum Theatre today, Dorothy Phillips' latest picture, "Destiny."

Miss Phillips' first effort since her memorable appearance in "The Heart of Humanity" is assured of a cordial reception. It is described as an intensely dramatic offering, dealing with modern American life, characterized by a tremendous climax.

This Jewel scene was directed by the Sturgeon, who produced "Gods Country and the Woman" is based on a novel by Charles Neville Buck, the famous author, and the scenario was written by Elliott J. Clawson.

"Destiny" presents a memorable cast, including William Stillwell, who was also Miss Phillips' leading man in "The Heart of Humanity." Harry Hilliard, formerly Theda Bara's leading man, Annie Short, the boy actor featured in "The Yellow Dog," Walt Whitman, the celebrated character actor, Gertrude Astor, Stanhope Wheatcroft, Tom Ashton, Nanine Right, Alma Sears and Edgar Sherrod.

The theme of the story deals with the struggle of a young woman in a world of men, after the fashion of such plays as "Road of Destiny" and "The Eyes of Youth," in which the heroines, of action are followed out to widely different conclusions.

SALMON PROJECT ACCEPTED BY STATE AS NOW COMPLETE

Order Issued by Swendsen, Reclamation Commissioner, Details History and Progress of Local Tract, Now Reduced

The Twin Falls-Salmon River Land and Water Company's project was accepted by the state, Saturday, as completed, the average having been reduced to 6000 acres, and a final inspection conducted by a state representative last month to determine the proper operation of the system and the ability to water the land under contract. Thus, the "Salmon" tract passes from the hands of the development company into those of the state.

Investigation of some seven miles of adjoining and litigation over water rights. Judgment from the state court, the tract now appears in the shape of a large area, unimpaired by the necessity of atone to a water supply beyond its limits of efficiency.

The order accepting the tract was issued by W. W. Swendsen, state reclamation commissioner, under whose supervision the project in Twin Falls county, Idaho.

Second, that pursuant to the provisions of such contract, the Twin Falls-Salmon River Land & Water company, a corporation, to be organized with capital, interests and other legal arrangements, and approved by the further provisions of said state contract, the state land of land contained by the said contract and assigned the Carey act lands embraced in the said project to enter, and as the result of such opening, a considerable portion of the area was first opened to a Carey act entry, and according to the provisions of said state contract, the said land was to be put under the Carey act.

Third, that during the course of a number of years past, with the irrigation system has been in operation, it has developed that the water supply for all lands in the project is insufficient and that the said water supply was not even sufficient to irrigate the lands in the project.

Fourth, that on account of the present water shortage, the state board of land commissioners did on or about March 13, 1918, resolve and order that the said project should be reduced to approximately 25,000 net irrigable acres, and that such reduction should be made by the distribution from said project of certain lands lying under and intended to be irrigated from certain canals and laterals thereto, and that the said project should be reduced to the extent of the said project, and that the said board would further select lands to be irrigated from the said irrigation system and to be embraced within the said area of 25,000 acres, and apply to the department of the interior of the United States for permits for the said lands to be included in the said project, and it appears that the honorable commissioners of the general land office of the United States, after careful examination conducted in the field, and in the state board of land commissioners as to the water supply, and as to the area that could be successfully irrigated under the provisions of the Carey act, from the available water supply, and such application for permit was pending before the department of the interior of the United States.

An Achievement ATTAINED THROUGH SERVICE

Like a young man on the threshold of life, a young business must decide upon his career, and fix his ideals. Less than five months ago the City Coal Company faced the business world—a new concern.

Few concerns have started with less capital. None have started with greater faith in ideal. None have clung more faithfully to that ideal—the ideal of service.

The few short months have been crowded with achievement and progress, giving us greater faith in the knowledge that the wisdom of choice in that ideal has been justified. It has gained for us the good will of thousands and as each new day brings a larger circle of friends within that ideal we will not be forgetful of duty to those who had faith in us from the start.

It is understood that George Sutton, the veteran balk-line billiard player, will accept a position as a traveling tutor in billiards for the Y. M. C. A.

George Sutton.

He will spend a certain amount of time in the city, and will be expected to give instruction in balk-line billiards.

She Knew Him.

As an architect met a lady of his acquaintance on the street he remarked that he had just been to see the name of the new church of which they were both members. "I know the man whose name," said the lady, with an appreciative glance, "I know the man to whom you refer"—Selected.

YOUR HARNESS MUST BE MADE OF GOOD LEATHER

but it takes more than good leather to make a good harness. They must be correctly designed and the workmanship without a fault.

Mr. Wetenkamp has no superior in cutting and designing harness and at present he has a force of five expert harness makers under his direct supervision.

Remember we make every harness, every strap from the FAMOUS HERMANN OAK leather. The genuine OAK BARK TANN. Every harness is made in this shop.

OLD ABSOLUTE CLEANLINESS—is some protection. Get our prices and buy a harness with a guarantee.

LEAKY RADIATORS ARE INJURIOUS TO MOTOR CARS

When you run your car with a leaky radiator as the water recedes the motor heats causing injury to the cylinders.

A few dollars more at first amount of oil which is quite expensive. The time to have your radiator fixed is when the first small leak appears.

We can repair your radiator, do a neat looking job, and the cost will be quite reasonable.
