MAY PROPOSE RATIFICATION AS BIG ISSUE

Sumner Persists President's Important Message Will Bear on Campaign Subject

WIDE SPREAD CREDENCE IS GIVEN TO REPORT

Immediate Effect Is To Cause Senators to Drop Efforts Looking to Compromise

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—The rumor persisted today that President Wilson would send to the Democratic party to make ratification of the peace treaty without the crossing of a "T" or the dotting of an "I," its chief campaign issue.

Widespread credence was given to the report that the president, while in San Francisco, had decided to make ratification of the peace treaty without the crossing of a "T" or the dotting of an "I," its chief campaign issue.

The instance of the warrant followed sensational developments in the case today. Grosbeck declared he had established in his mind that the 25th building, which was used by Dr. Prevost's attorney, was built for Dr. Prevost's attorney, and that Dr. Prevost was killed and that Prevost was in Dr. Prevost's company that night. The dead man's money belt, in which he was reported to have carried large sums, was found underneath a pile of bedding in the Brown home.

REMAINING INDICTMENTS AGAINST THOMAS J. MUNNEY ARE DISMISSED

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—All remaining indictments against Dr. Munney, his wife, Mrs. Munney, and former Webber, defendants in the preparations day parole home, outcome here, were dismissed late today by Superior Court Judge Roche.

The clinical, brilliant recommendation by Assistant District Attorney Edward F. Murphy, that Dr. Munney be granted a new trial, was adopted.

Flicker had prosecuted Munney in the original bomb trials, obtaining his conviction.

LOOT BANK VAULT OF $15,000 LIBERTY BONDS

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Jan. 6.—A bandit who gained entrance by smashing a lock on a back door last night looted the vault of the Citizens state bank of Wijephurst, near here, of Liberty bonds, valued at approximately $4,600.

The robbery was not discovered until opening of the bank today.

At the headquarters of the Democratic national committee it was said that action in the future of the president's message had been received there.

Democratic leaders in and out of the senate professed to be equally in the dark.

The effect of the White House announcement that the president was preparing an important message was to bring about a general alarm and a stampede of thus far trifling efforts of certain Democratic and Republican senators to bring about an adjustment of the treaty situation.

Both Republican and Democratic senators assumed the attitude that it would be advisable to await the president's message before proceeding any further with a movement to bring about a ratification with reservations.

A canvas of Republican senators disclosed that a majority of them were determined that there should be no ratification except in the case of the Senate's adoption of a resolution to be called a "declaration of principles" beyond which most Republican senators were unwilling to go.

Brown's Murder Is Charged to Prevost

AGNEW, CLERMONT, Mich., Jan. 6.—A warrant charging Dr. Edward F. Murphy with the murder of J. Stanley Brown, a young man, Mr. Clemens' son, was sworn out here today at the direction of Attorney General Grosbeck. Prevost was an intimate friend of Brown and cousin of Brown's wife. He had been born in connection with the case when Dr. Brown's bullet-riddled body was found.

The issuance of the warrant followed sensational developments in the case today. Grosbeck declared he had established in his mind that the 25th building, which was used by Dr. Prevost's attorney, was built for Dr. Prevost and that Dr. Prevost was killed and that Prevost was in Dr. Prevost's company that night. The dead man's money belt, in which he was reported to have carried large sums, was found underneath a pile of bedding in the Brown home.

The contract for paving the city's streets was finally let to the Warren construction company of Portland, Oregon, for $1,250,000. The contract was signed on Dec. 21, 1919. The paving company contracted with the Warren company some time ago but a number of intentional ordinances had to be repassed, necessitating the submission of new bids and the awarding of the contract to the paving company.

VOLUME OF BUSINESS

There is a general misconception of the actual business situation in this country. People have been misled by false evidences of prosperity. Even many business men and some supposed experts seem to have gone wrong by mistaking money for real wealth, considering the amount of money in circulation rather than the volume of goods in circulation.

There are many big merchants who will admit, rather reluctantly, if pressed for information, that while they have been doing more business than ever before on the basis of dollars, they have not been selling so large a quantity of merchandise as they did two or three years ago. Wide inquiry would probably develop the fact that this situation prevails very generally throughout the country.

It means that, in spite of appearances, people are not buying so much as they used to buy. They are not buying, altogether, when the population was several millions less than it is now.

If this is so, there is less business being done, than there ought to be. If this is so, the apparent "boom" on which some superficial observers have prided themselves is as false as a counterfeited coin.

The situation is natural. You cannot take 4,000,000 men out of their power for a couple of years without loss of production. Normal production was further curtailed by the remaining workers buying necessities so largely with war stuff instead of ordinary commodities.

The close of the war found the nation with a big deficit of general merchandise, and with a cheapened currency. Scarcity of goods and superfluity of money combined to raise prices. But prices are merely book-keeping. It is the goods themselves that went.

The facts, therefore, seem to be as stated above, and business, while appearing better than usual, is really poorer than usual.

It can only be made better by increasing production, thereby providing a larger volume of goods for distribution.

HOME RULE FOR INDIA

The British plan for Indian home rule, announced by King George in his recent proclamation, is one of the notable signs of the times.

It is not clear just how far this plan is to go. Obviously it falls short of real democracy as understood in western Europe and America. The vast majority of natives are still unrepresented. That is probably inevitable at their present stage; those ignorant millions may require generations of political development yet before they are ready to participate intelligently in their government. It is much easier, though, that the better educated classes are admitted to the franchise, and that India as a whole is given some substitute of constitutional government, and admitted, in form at least, to the sisterhood of dominions which, grouped around the United Kingdom, make up the British Empire of today.

It is a practical recognition of the fact that neither Great Britain nor any other country can still govern "possessions" or "colonies" in the old manner, if the natives are anything but barbarians or half-civilized incompetents. People everywhere seem to have taken all that talk about democracy and self-determination at somewhere near its face value. The Indian demands, and obtains, a share in his own government, which will surely grow, as that of our own Philippines has grown. It need surprise nobody if some such plan is extended even to Egypt before long.

The British government realizes that the British Empire now and henceforth is sentimental rather than political, a state of mind rather than a permanent governmental system, and can be held together only by the mutual good will of its various parts. The Indian constitution is a concession to this fact. There is probably no important part of the whole big empire that cannot get a greater measure of self rule if it takes the trouble to demand it. Ireland is no exception. The main trouble with Ireland is that it seems unable to agree on what it wants.

THE COOKED FOOD SERVICE

The community kitchen idea continues to gain favor. It is worked out differently in the different cities or neighborhoods that have tried it. But in all, the essential aim is the same—to reduce the cost of living and at the same time to reduce household expenses.

Patrons call for their cooked food and carry it home to eat it. In other places, as in Evanson, Ill., the freshly cooked food is delivered at the doors of subscribers in containers which preserve its heat. This community kitchen even washes the dishes afterwards.

Statistics worked out by the Department of Labor indicate that nearly $250 can be saved per year by every family if this one process of feeding the family is turned over to an efficient community kitchen organization. The food can be bought more cheaply when bought in wholesale amounts. Its preparation, too, is less expensive and wasteful when done by experts trained in larger quantities than an individual family requires. The worst of the kitchen drudgery is eliminated, and the worst of kitchen waste.

It is no surprise, when the many advantages are considered, that women's city clubs and other organizations are eagerly taking up the idea and adapting it to their local needs.

HOW TO SAVE TWO BILLIONS

"Imagine, if you can, a tremendous business with 475 heads all buying and borrowing individually, and each spending without being held responsible for the expenditures, and floating individual loans with the bank on the general credit of the business as a whole."

Anyone with a rudimentary knowledge of business methods can probably grasp this picture presented by Roger W. Baldwin, the statistical expert. The trouble is that it is not confined to the realm of imagination.

This is as Mr. Baldwin says, "precisely the plan being followed in the financial management of the United States government—the biggest business in America." The secretary of the treasury, to be sure, furnishes an "estimate," but it is that and nothing more. Neither he nor anyone else has power to adjust the expenditures to fit the merits of each case, and to harmonize as a whole with the capacity of the national purse. So every one of these 475 executives asks for all he can possibly use, and spends all he can get, or more—and the House and Senate are helpless, and Uncle Sam pays the bill.

Mr. Baldwin says that with a proper budget system, the government could save the country $2,000,000,000 out of an estimated expenditure of $6,265,000,000 next year. If it will save 10 percent of that, or 1 per cent of it, it is worth while.

REVERIES

Let us live by the light of bold Herodotus' star, and come after him in brightness and come from afar. Let us live in His light, in the valley of love, and rejoice in its brilliance above. Let it be as a danger, the spirit of truth! That leaving the false from the true, that is thinning the ranks of hell's helpers.

And in fighting the devil intact, let it be as the scroll from the heavens above.

That was given for children of sin, that was given for the mystery from God, who is in heaven.

And who died, as the Savior of men, And it be as a signal, that stands near the edge of our earth with its sin-addicted multitude.

To whom those who lean over hell's own edge, that death is a reward of the same. Let it be as it finds, in every man's mind, that will turn all the sin of our world—the here and the hereafter—will establish a line of justice.

That destroys the devil's long start.—SAGE TICK.

USE MILITARY CAMPS AS FORA FOR AGITATORS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Major General S. L. It is expected that Camp Mills will be used for the overflow from Ellis Island when the deportees begin to be concentrated.

ESTIMATED RED ARRESTS IS GREATLY EXAGGERATED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—Total arrests in the raids on the communist party and the communists-labor party last night were 1,200, according to Frank Burke, assistant chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice. The raids are still going on, he stated. The estimate of 3,100 arrests represents arrests of persons against whom the government has "perfect cases," Burke said. He declared that there

"Destiny" Starring
Dorothy Phillips
Is Fine Drama

Dorothy Phillips' first Jewel picture since the memorable "Heart of Humanity" will be seen today at the Orpheum Theatre. It is called "Destiny," and is based on a widely-read novel by Miles Nevill Buck, the noted author.

"Destiny" presents several novelties. In the first place, the leading man, William Stowell, is Miss Phillips' brother instead of the customary actress. The latter, readers will recall, once played the rôle of Freda Kara, the leading man.

In the second place, the picture presents parallel lines of action starting from the same point and arriving at widely separated conclusions as in the stage technique of dual presentation, playwriting as Max Marcin, Samuel Shipman and Compton Pollock.

"Destiny" in its main line of progress, shows the trials of Stowell's overbearing law for power and determination to conquer the world.
This and the other line of action are peculiarly dramatic—especially the former, which evokes strong feelings which wreck the lives of those dearest to him, and his own. Then the alternative development—the theme is shown.

The picture is presented with a splendid cast, including beauties already named—Gertrude Astor,
Stanhope Wheatcroft, Walt Whitman,
Antim Shiro, Tom Ashton, Nana
Wright, Allan Bears and Edward Fisher.

It is directed by Rollie Stur-
ron from a scenario by Elliott J.
Chewett.

The Times job printing department is thoroughly equipped to do first-class work—at reasonable prices.

OPEN STORE SO EMPLOYEES CAN BEAT HIGH COST

American Woolen Head Says Merchants Raise Prices Every Time Wages Go Up

SAYS CO-OPERATION WILL BEAT VICTIOUS PRACTICE

Plans Store in Lawrence. Where Every Need of Mill Workers' Can Be Supplied

LAWRENCE, Mass., Jan. 5.—A meeting in the relations of employer and employee is drawing here as the plans of William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen company, change from a big business man's dream in realities.

On Jan. 1, Wood took tangible form in the growth of Shawheen Village, a town of model homes now in process of building. Here, employees of the American Woolen company will have houses unparasped in convenience and architecture by name-city standards.

Shawheen Village, the name given the spot by the Indians who lived there in the colonial days—lives here in this city and Andover, a short mile's ride from the great textile mills which "Wool" is.

With added quality of life come the effects when completed, will have a modern post office, stores, schools, a hospital and an ice plant.

The latest plan of Wood is to erect a ten-story building more in the spirit of Lawrence, where everything "from soup to nuts" and clothing will be sold to his employes at cost. Wood plans such a store with the object of lowering the cost of living for the workers in his mills. He recently told the members of the Lawrence Industrial Association, "We are not afraid to increase our prices; every time the textile workers are granted a wage increase, and warned that he would take steps to stop such a 'vicious practice.'

Wood rose from the lowly position of a "clerk" in a "team" mill of a textile organization in the world, by perseverance and hard work. He was born in Edgar town, Mass., in 1881, and after attending the public school there, went out into the world to learn his trade.

After working as a clerk and "boss" and "boss" about textile-mills, Wood became paymaster of the Washington mill here, now one of the greatest textile organization in the world, by perseverance and hard work. He was born in Edgar town, Mass., in 1881, and after attending the public school there, went out into the world to learn his trade.

Wood is a short, heavily built man with a shock of black hair and eyes that always appear to be watching for something new! A look from Mr. Wood's eyes is a mental analysis. Wood is the type of business-man, able to hold his own in a group of affairs. He acts quickly and with a purpose that sweeps aside opposition. He is democratic, kind-hearted, and a student of human nature, who is leading the way that points to industrial control—cheap, legal workers—by taxable, just intelligent interests in their welfare.

NEW CLOTHES ARE NOW
TAKED IN, PORTLAND

(PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 5)—The High Cost of Living has won a knockout over Vanity among students of the Jefferson high school here. An edict which was adopted by the school board last year has gradually spread to the rest of the school, with the result new suits and dresses white collars, screaming neckties, etc., have disappeared.

In their places are now seen old clothes with patches—faded shirts and the like.

A vigilance committee is on the job to see to it that neither future nor past appears on the scene with a new pair of $20.00 shoes when the old ones could have been kept in service with some hand work.

OLDFIELD IS MASTER DRIVER

Booklet For Distribution Now Gives Details of Barney's Eventful Life

Habie drivers may come and go, succession succeeding, generation, but there will never be another Barney Oldfield.

For years the "Master Driver" has been making steel history before the public, first as a professional bicycle rider, next as a pioneer on racing motorcycles, and beginning in 1902, as the personification of motorcar speed.

He reached his retirement from the race-track in 1912 to become president of The Oldfield Tire Company, Inc., Oldfield has compiled the records of his successive gambles with death. These records have been compressed into a brief, illustrated booklet entitled "I Trusted My Tire."

There is also an interesting chapter on the development of the pneumatic tire, to the perfection of which the veteran pilot so nobly contributed. In the final chapter, Mr. Oldfield himself discusses the engineering and tells the reader the valuable marks by which an expert judges racing tires.

The booklet is designed for general distribution. A copy may be obtained by the asking from the official representatives here or by a postal card request addressed to The Oldfield Tire Company, 11 Cleveland Street, Boston.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

At Syracuse—Marty Cross was eliminated in the eighth round by his bout with young Prechee by referee Lewis for failing to show lighting in the ring.

At Philadelphia—Jack Shackley beat the boxer of "Patsy" Wallace in six round bout.

At Buffalo—Bill Christianson of Buffalo beat Willie Ames of Akron in ten rounds. White Deacon of Akron stopped Peter Scanlon of Pittsburgh in ten rounds.

COMBINATION

Due to an error on our part the price of butterfat in the advertisement of the Sterling Creamery was quoted at 7¢ when it should have been 6¢. The Times takes this means of correcting the error.

GOLD MEDAL BAILEY'S MUSTEROLE

The world's standard remedy for kidney, liver, bladder and uterine troubles. National Remedy of Holland since 1866. Three sizes, all dried. Quinine-free. Look for the blue bottle of the champion home-remedy of the Holland American Club. Ruth has a verbal agreement whereby he will sign no soon as certain phases of the deal are adjusted to Ruth's satisfaction, which is being made, and is about out of the hotel's hands.

This was Ruth's personal statement to the International News Service here early today.

"I saw Huggins yesterday and he outlined the proposition to me and I outlined mine to him," said Ruth.

"I am glad to say the greater star even agreed to the terms of the deal, which Ruth is visiting said that Manager Miller Higgins of the Yankees had actually signed the big slugger.

The anger of Boston baseball fans know no bounds. The greatest star ever to play in Boston, where baseball reigns supreme, has been sold to the Yankees.

Many stars and heroes and kings have had their careers ruined.

Ruth, drew capacity crowds. Some went so far as to predict that the sale of Ruth foreshadowed the sale of the Red Sox club itself.

Miller Higgins of the Yankees was entitled to part of the sale price, which I understand was $120,000. After considerable conversation we entered into a verbal agreement on certain things. What these are I cannot say.

"I am well satisfied with the sale. I can play just as good baseball for the Yankees as I ever did for the Boston club, and of course that is what I will do. However, the deal has upset my plans. I may be forced to make a trip east.

"What is the sale price will you ask?" Ruth was asked.

"That I cannot say," he replied. "But I am entitled to a share, don't you think so?"

DON'T SUFFER WITH NEURALGIA

Use Soothing Musterole

When these sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skin seems as if it would split, scrub a little Musterole on your temples and neck, and you will be rid of the pain in a moment, using only quick relief.

Musterole is a clear white ointment, made with oil of musk. Between doses, rub it on the sore place.

Many doctors and nurses readily recommend Musterole for ear, throat, nose, eye, tooth, ear, shoulder, elbow, neuralgia, conjunctivitis, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back, or any condition of the body. It relieves toothache, and relieves the pain of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). It is always ready to use.

For a small sum you can buy a jar of Musterole.

James W. Coffroth Put Up Purse for Foreigners to Match to Get Dempsey in Ring

JAMES W. COFFROTH PUT UP PURSE FOR FOREIGNERS TO MATCH TO GET DEMPSEY IN RING

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 6.—Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, today received a number of wires from representatives of foreign promoters requesting that he keep from closing any deals with James W. Coffroth until they have a chance to arrive here and talk over the possibilities for Dempsey's return for the world's heavyweight championship.

At a conference last night Kearns practically agreed to allow Dempsey to appear in a bout to be held at the Plaza, under Coffroth's management, on Feb. 1, at a purse of $400,000, plus a $10,000 bonus for a 45-round bout.

Kearns is an ardent, leaning towards Coffroth's proposition and the other promoters will have to go in line with their bids if they hope to land the big battle he said.

Coffroth returned to San Diego today confident that he will be very much in the running when the bids are sorted out.

When you take a little chew of this real quality tobacco, and the good tobacco taste begins to come.

You'll find it keeps coming, too. The rich tobacco taste lasts and lasts. You don't have to take a fresh chew so often. Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Crew will tell you that.
