You can learn a lot from ADVERTISING

The main thing an advertiser wants to do is to tell you plainly just how and why his goods are worthy of your consideration. You can learn a great deal from that alone, because many things you buy and use in your regular daily life. By reading the advertisements, you can learn the names and read descriptions of the things that are best and most satisfactory. But advertising teaches even more than that. All advertisers try to make their advertisements themselves valuable to you. A good many people have learned a whole lot about good music, good books, good food, good clothes, ways to keep healthy, ways to live comfortably, ways to keep the house and grounds looking well—they've learned all these things and many other things, just by reading the advertisements. Read the advertisements right along and you will learn a great deal that will be helpful and interesting to you as you go through life.

KEEP COOL, UNCLE SAM!

There is danger right now of the nation losing its head regarding the red menace. Higher indignation against bolshevistic activity in this country has been rising lately to the point of hysteria. The outcries against treason and sedition grow into shrieks. Condemnation is applied more indiscriminately: There is an animus developed against things which normally would be tolerated. There is frenzy over what normally would be laughed at. Worst of all, basic American freedom is threatened—and threatened in the very name of freedom. And it is coming to a pass where any level-headed patriot hesitates ever to protest against the excess; lest his own patriotism be questioned.

There need be little sympathy expressed for the alien Reds. In most cases, whatever punishment they get will be less than they deserve. But even in the case of these alien vermin, it will not do to kick at them indiscriminately—they must be considered individually, so that justice may be done; any blanket banishment of aliens would wrong many, and worse still, would set a precedent for the undermining of American liberty.

Bills more care and restraint must be exercised in the handling of so-called "spare cars" and other American citizens suspected of plotting violent revolution. For all Americans who are really betraying their country in this fashion there can be nothing but scorn, followed by fitting punishment. But effort to apprehend or subdue them must be made with the most careful discrimination. We want no wholesale proscription in this country; and it is to be feared that if the utterances of some of our public servants were carried to their logical conclusion, in laws enacted by congress and enforced in the mood of this present hysteria, it might result in nothing less than a reign of persecution that would be remembered hereafter with as deep abasement as we now regard the persecution of persons accused of witheraft.

Free speech, free press, free assembly, these foundation-stones of American liberty are certainly endangered today in the application of old laws and in the quest for new laws. And strangely enough, a careful review of the situation shows no great crisis on hand. The war is over, and won. Our government is not going to be overturned—obviously, good, old-fashioned American citizenship is in too big a majority for that.

This bolshevist pest has merely got on our nerves. We must be careful lest, in this state of tension, we go to such extremes of repression and punishment as will make the false bolshevistic charges of "American tyranny" seem true.

THE BLIGHT OF GOVERNMENT CONTROL.

The experience of many years has demonstrated that when sugar gets into politics or when politics get into sugar it is the sugar industry that suffers. This reflection is brought to mind by the interesting game which has been carried on recently between the President and Congress, in which each has endeavored to place on the other responsibility for the temporary scarcity and advancing price of sugar.

The net result of the repeated attempts at "passing the buck" is that we have a sugar shortage, for which the chief merit claimed is that it probably will be allowed to remain dormant.

In the sugar producing countries of Europe the governments apparently have become convinced that the only remedy for the distressing shortage of production is to restore complete freedom of prices and they are moving toward the accomplishment of that desirable result as rapidly as their circumstances will permit. Unless report that complete freedom of prices was to be established in France with the beginning of the next crop season, also carried information that this would result in a great increase of beet sugar acreage and, granted normal growing conditions, in a possible doubling of production. The German sugar industry, reduced to little more than a quarter of its former dimensions, is also petitioning for relief from government regulation.

The truth that a government controlled industry is an unprogressive industry does not require argument, says Fact About Sugar. Under government control American sugar production has not progressed, but it is to be hoped that the announcement of a policy of non-interference by the government during the coming year will be made sufficiently definite and authoritative to remove, in part at least, the stifling influence of continued power to control.

The government federal agents may be said to be red-ding up the

In some factories, after working eight hours a day for themselves, German workmen put in three hours extra time for the sole benefit of the Fatherland, says the foreign correspondent of the New York Evening Post. The German government has drilled into the minds of the working men of that country that it is only by their work that Germany can again take her place in the world and every effort is being made to increase production. "With other nations spending money in international trade—a money that is falling in value—the Germans feel that Germany will shortly begin to rehabilitate herself. She does not intend to buy a single luxury from the outside world; she does not intend, indeed, to buy anything for which she cannot pay in some finished product. She intends to produce something for everything that she uses. She is thus giving her workmen employment and is even securing raw materials without spending her gold or her credit."

Is there not a lesson here that might be applied in America to our advantage?

WHY WAIT?

Service Men! Why wait to reinstate your War Risk Insurance? Writing may spell danger or disaster to health. No time is quite so good as now, especially in view of the fact that you may secure insurance reinstatement without reference to your present state of health provided your application for reinstatement is made within three calendar months following the month of your discharge from the service. If discharged longer than three months and less than eighteen months, it is necessary to state in your application that your health is as good as at date of discharge.

A prominent newspaper says: "Congressional sessions from now on will be saturated with politics. It is a fundamental state of mind." This is most encouraging to the impotent onlooker, who never dreamed that congress had a state of mind as often as that.

The Editor of The Twin Falls Times:
I am very pleased to see a few lines in your issue of the 7th inst. in the morning paper stating very definitely and positively that the residents of Boise are unanimously delighted with the open Sunday picture placed in the hands of the public and that "they are of the opinion that the only interest which has been benefited by the Sunday operation of the moving pictures in the financial interest of the moving picture man; and it is a question whether this class has received any adequate gain, since by its attitude it has protected the confidence of the Christian churches of the city."
4. We are convinced that any city would make a great mistake if it were to follow the example of Boise in opening the moving picture booths on Sunday.

And so Mr. Editor, you will be kind enough to give this article the publicity it deserves through the columns of your paper?

Good Will is a Valuable Asset

- good will is that indefinable thing that induces people to trade at a certain place. It is a valuable asset. Unfortunately few business men appreciate its value.
- a good name cannot be established in a short time. It takes months and sometimes years.
- no business man can forget the future. It is a grave mistake to "clean up" today in a way that bars the door to trade tomorrow. It is too much like getting ready money today by putting a mortgage on one's home. The money may last but a day; while the mortgage sticks like a porous plaster. The extra profit repaid from a few questionable transactions soon vanishes, and the lost reputation can never be regained.
- a cornerstone does not make a building, but the displacement of one may wreck it. An honest transaction does not necessarily establish a good reputation, but leave the honesty out of a single deal and it may destroy the good name that it required years to build. We place a high value on the good will of our customers that greatly over-shows any profit that we may make from a single transaction.

Proposes Sewer Assessment Plan For Filer People

FILER, Jan. 15.—That everyone of the 600 lots in the incorporation be assessed $100 to create a fund of approximately $60,000 to provide a part of the cost necessary for the construction of an adequate sewer system for Filer, was the plan adopted at the meeting of the Filer Commercial club, January 15, by E. R. Ripley, member of the village board, mention of which was inadvertently omitted in the account of the meeting in last week's paper.

Mr. Ripley's plan is receiving the interested attention of local property owners, who declare it suggests a basis for procedure in a problem that must be met this year.

It is estimated that a sewer system will cost in the neighborhood of $75,000. The sewer line would share proportionately in the benefits of the system. It is claimed that the proposed plan of assessment constitutes the most equitable method yet devised.

Owners of several lots would necessarily bear their proportion of the expense. E. R. Ripley, who sponsors the plan is himself the owner of a dozen lots, so his proposed assessment plan would affect him materially.

L. D. Allen, street commissioner, has made an inspection of the septic tank system at Rupert, but has not submitted his findings. The village is troubled with the problem not only of building a sewer system but of the sewage disposal, which must be either by the tank or through a drainage line to Cedar Run on the west.

Mr. Ripley also has conceived a plan for financing the proposed sewer system to be constructed in Filer. He advocates creation of an improvement district on those streets which are to be paved. The district would have to pay the lot owners a part of the cost of the paving abutting their property. The plan would be similar to the present system of installing sidewalks.

For those not financially able to pay the cost of such improvements Mr. Ripley suggests that local banks be called upon to loan the property owners money at 8 per cent interest with the property as security. It is pointed out that such improvements would be well repaid, not alone from the benefits of the paved streets but from increased valuation.

As a member of the street and alley commission of the village, of which E. R. Ripley is the chairman, Ripley is advocating these measures with the hope of creating interest in a sewer system, paving, and other needed improvements.

Just Yellow Mustard for Backache, Lumbago

Grandmother's old remedy mustard plaster or poultice generally brought relief of a sort even in the most stubborn cases, but it burned and blistered like hell.

"Becky's Mustard" is a great external remedy—just rub it on wherever aches, aches, inflammation, congestion or swelling exists and in a very few minutes the relief you have longed for surely arrives because "Heat cures pain." 30 and 60 cents.

General files will be performed for the late John Harteyron at the M. E. church basement Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The service will be in charge of the Epworth League and the Right Reverend Chas. A. LaFoy will pronounce the obituary.

It is fitting that the compassionate death of our erstwhile county should be commemorated at this time. All young people are invited to the singing. There will be appropriate music and also readings of the scriptures for the faithful and other mourners.

The Knights of Pythias will on Friday night, Jan. 16, conduct into the mysteries of the Rank of Page some 60 new applicants. About a dozen in the Rank of Knights. All Knights are requested to be present. Visitors always welcome.

DON LYMAN The Bargain Man

We have at last gotten into our new quarters at 143 Main Ave., East. Just across the street from the Booth Merc. Co. and next door to Murphys.

You will find us here with the best bargains in city property and farm lands. We have many good bargains that no other real estate firm could show you, as we have the exclusive listing on them.

We have buyers and want good listings. If you have a bargain give us your listing and we can sell it.

We do not recommend any property to our buyers unless we believe them to be bargains.

The houses that are for sale in Twin Falls are scarce but we have a few good bargains.

- 5 Room House. Small but new, modern and cozy. Close in. Price $2500. $700 cash payment.

Since I have been in the Real Estate business so far as I know there is not a better fed buyer. Why? Because we know values in real estate and never sell to my buyers anything that I don't see a good bargain.
