FIFTY ACRE SITE FOR BEET SUGAR FACTORY PURCHASED

Engineers are now Surveying for Trackage—W. W. Wolf Assumes Management of Idaho Co-Operative Factory This Year

TWIN FALLS, Jan. 16.—With the purchase from A. E. Hansen and Gilbert DeKlotz of 51 acres of land one mile west of Filer at the intersection of the O. & N. R. right-of-way was started today by the Idaho Beet Sugar Company and the arrival here yesterday of W. W. Brown, C. G. Hobbs and E. J. Sawyer, engineers for the O. & N. railroad company, who have already started surveying for construction of the necessary spurs and trackage, the location here of a mill and the best sugar factory in an assured proposition.

Machinery Purchased

As announced last week, the steel and machinery for the plant has been purchased, and the sugar beet seed is in storage in New York. W. W. Wolf, a veteran sugar beet expert of Janesville, Wisconsin, has assumed the day-to-day management and general management of the company and is here to superintend the work.

Wilson Return

Mr. Wolf and Oswald Wilson, president of the company, arrived Saturday from the east, where Mr. Wilson has been for some time in the interest of his company. Mr. Wilson's trip that Mr. Wilson negotiated for the machinery and also to be used in the two factories which this company proposes to build on the tract this season.

Successful Trip

Conferences were held with eastern beet manufacturers, contractors and beet sugar men, who returned with the results of his trip and confident of his undertaking. Sugar is a scarce commodity in the east and is selling at high or 25 cents a pound in New York.

Demand is Great

Idaho and Utah are the best sugar states in the world, as regards the quality of the sugar, which is indicative of the shortage. The cause of this, he asserted, is the location of European sugar, hence the great demand being made upon the Hawaiian crop, which the government has not yet purchased. Aside from the factories to be erected by him, there is only one other factory now being built in the United States.

There are factories successfully operating in Wisconsin where the sugar content of beets average only 12 per cent, while the percentage here is from 15 to 18 per cent.

Investment Interests

It is expected that many of the Idaho beet sugar factories to be built in the near future, providing the company can show sufficient credit to carry the investment, said Mr. Wilson. Mr. Wolf, who now becomes our general manager, has had a score of years' experience in the sugar business, having been connected with the Idaho Beet Sugar company at Janesville, Wisconsin, in a similar capacity, a fact associated here.

A. W. Black, a prominent attorney, local Twin Falls, and brother of the O. & N. R. provides important financial help to the Idaho Beet Sugar company.

THE successful farmer raises bigger crops and cuts down costs by investment in labor-saving machinery.

Good prices for the farmer's crops encourage new investment, more production and greater prosperity.

But the success of agriculture depends on the growth of railroads—the modern beasts of burden that haul the crops to the world's markets.

The railroads—like farms—increase their output and cut down unit costs by the constant investment of new capital.

With fair prices for the work they do, the railroads are able to attract new capital for expanding their facilities.

Rates high enough to yield a fair return will insure railroad growth, and prevent costly traffic congestion which invariably results in poorer service at higher cost.

National wealth can increase only as our railroads grow.

Poor railroad service is dear at any price. No growing country can long pay the price of inadequate transportation facilities.

This advertisement is published by the Association of Railway Executives.

Out of accumulated capital have arisen all the successes of industry and applied science, all the comforts and ameliorations of the common lot. Upon it the world must depend for the progress of civilization, in which all have to share.

A GREAT EXPERIMENT.

Hopes of having the cost of living lowered for them by government action or natural economic processes, the railroad brotherhoods are undertaking to lower it for themselves.

They are certainly deserving of praise for going about the matter in a positive instead of a negative way—with a constructive policy, and a program intended to increase production and economize distribution instead of a strike program that would defeat its own purpose. They seek, wisely, not to level prices up with increasing prices, but to level prices down to their level.

The only criticism they have concerns the method by which they aim to do this. Even that criticism is friendly. It is recognized that, whether they succeed or fail, the results of their experiment will make a useful and valuable lesson.

There is nothing new in organizing consumers—that is, forming co-operative associations to buy commodities at a lower price. It has been done widely in England, and to some extent in this country. It should work pretty well in the matter of food, if the railroad men were able to enlist the co-operation of the organized farmers, as they appear to be doing. The profits of the middlemen and speculators will be squeezed out.

The brotherhoods, however, plan also to do considerable producing and selling themselves. That is a new business for them, and a large undertaking. One branch of their organization has already got hold of some knitting and underwear plants, a glove factory and a tubing concern, and the proposal to extend this sort of enterprise until most of the characteristic articles needed by railroad men can be produced within their own organization and sold to them at cost. Eventually the promoters want to sell factory products also to the farmers, in exchange for farm products.

This plan has great possibilities—but can they put it over? The financial end of the enterprise will be facilitated by the use of the brotherhoods' reserve fund, already many millions. They may have a big success, or a big failure—which, no one can foretell. The Federation of Labor. Thus, if its early efforts promise success, the unions may soon go into it on a big scale. Then they may have a big success, or a big failure—which, no one can foretell. Certainly they should have the good wishes of every fair minded citizen.

TODAY IS FRANKLIN'S BIRTHDAY

Today is Benjamin Franklin's birthday. In hundreds of school rooms throughout the West his life and deeds and teachings should be reviewed and the lessons and philosophy which he expounded should be impressed on the minds of the children of the twentieth century—a century whose greatest need, perhaps, is to follow the way marked out by this "First American" nearly two hundred years ago. For the nation which Benjamin Franklin helped build is saddled with the greatest debt in its history—$26,000,000,000.

Benjamin Franklin was born January 17, 1706. He lived to be 84 years old, and in that span of years he helped write the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States and rendered perhaps as valuable a service to his young country as any man of his time save Washington.

Franklin epitomized America—so much so that the Encyclopedia Britannica characterizes him as the "First American." He rose from a poor apprentice printer boy to a position in which the world had to recognize his name. He was artisan, scholar, diplomat, statesman, scientist, author, American.

Despite all of his accomplishments, however, his popular fame today rests on his personal thrift and his thrift philosophy. Today, 214 years after Franklin's birth, America is turning more and more to his way of life, recognizing that the truths he taught are the nation's salvation.

The United States of America, in its Thrift and War Savings program, is really using "Poor Richard's Almanac" as a textbook. Great financial minds of the country have made it plain that "Poor Richard's" philosophy is the only way out of our present day difficulties, such as high prices, for one thing, and social unrest for another. It is the only way to pay for the war. In that conflict we destroyed billions of dollars worth of wealth, and until we restore what we destroyed the world will be short that much. Saving—just the old-fashioned personal thrift and saving taught by Benjamin Franklin is the way out.

That is the philosophy of the United States Thrift and War Savings Stamps and that is why every American citizen should set aside a part of his income to buy them.

A UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE

Every now and then someone begins to urge the establishment of a universal language for facilitating diplomatic and commercial intercourse among nations. There have been ardent advocates of certain artificial languages such as Esperanto, Ido, and Volapuk, but these have not gained a very wide following nor the serious interest of any influential group of people.

Recently a questionnaire was sent from an interested organization in Stockholm to the professors of languages at the universities of a number of different countries, to learn their views on this subject. As reported in an item from Stockholm, 19 answers have been received so far. Twelve of these oppose Esperanto and other artificial languages, but give their strong approval to the adoption of English. One professor is in favor of French as a universal language. Another favors German. Only one prefers Esperanto, and two, Ido.

A professor of Sanskrit is among those who express the belief that English would be the most suitable tongue for such a purpose. The world which great Britain and America seem destined to play in the world's affairs, their wide commercial and leading political role, all seem to indicate that the language they speak would develop a greater importance than other languages.

However, this seems to be something which no board of group of professors can settle. If there is to be a universal world language it will develop naturally to fit world needs. It is already true that foreign people pay more attention to our language than we do to theirs. English is already used very widely, and it seems very likely to become in time the universal language.

With the taking of the federal census, new impetus is given to the natural tendency of 10,000 American towns to lie about their population.

MINES MENACE SHIPS

Germany Have Not Finished Sweeping Their Area

American Field Swept as Completely as Possible, Says Admiral Knapp

London.—Until the Germans complete the sweeping of mine fields they laid in the North Sea, there will be considerable danger to shipping in waters adjacent to the British Isles, say British and American naval authorities. Even after that work has ended, which will not be before next summer, there will be some danger which, they predict, will gradually diminish. An American barrage is swept as completely as is humanly possible. Admiral Harry S. Knapp, of the American navy, told the Associated Press correspondent. "After our area had been pronounced one hundred per cent clear we swept 800 miles of it and found only 12 mines left there. These were at a buoyed spot where the sweepers believed they had missed some."

"The greatest menace now," said Lieutenant Commander Benson, of the International mine clearing commission, "is the uncharted German area. Until that field has been cleared there will be many drifting mines about. Afterward there will be some danger, but it will rapidly diminish as the elements destroy the effectiveness of the mines."

He said the committee accepted for mines on the basis that five per cent remains when laid, five per cent are defective, ten per cent soon become useless through leakage and fifty per cent of the total number laid are destroyed by the different systems of sweeping employed by the British and Americans.

Committee members believe that a great many of the other fifty per cent will be carried by the natural northward currents of the North Sea into Arctic ice packs and destroyed; others will go ashore on the Norwegian coast, as have many already; a great number will become harmless through re-entraining in the water and a certain number will be destroyed by patrols which the British navy still is maintaining.

Also the British navy has just received all our messages except those coming in Irish ports, with high velocity rifles with which to destroy any mines sighted.

CHAMPAGNE THING OF PAST

Soil of District Where Produce Said to Be Permanently Destroyed

Paris.—Champagne soon will be a thing of the past. The original soil top soil of the Champagne district is reported to be permanently destroyed by the ravages of war and the fertilization is deemed impracticable because of the chalky character of the subsoil.

No attempt is to be made to rebuild the Cathedral of Reims, which is virtually ruined as a war monument. The greatest heritage of the city are mostly speculators who are investing millions in buying destroyed property at a big discount, hoping to recover from the government the original cost plus war inflation. The city is still without light, water or heat, and is a mass of ruins, with operators or speculators or ransoming huge profits. The sanitary conditions are appalling, the drainage system being unoperated.

Content Digest China Egg

Smith Center, Kan.—Two months ago, while Mrs. Ellen Chittwood was gathering eggs for hand cases in contact with a big bulwark in one of the nests, Mrs. Chittwood took what eggs were left, and in their stead left one made of china. To her surprise next day this one also was gone. She thought no more of the matter until a day or so ago, when she met her snake again. This time she mustered courage to kill it with a club. No harm or abatement in the middle of the snake's body, she performed a post-mortem examination and found the missing china egg.

Women Dog Catchers

Denver, Colo.—The only woman dog catcher in the world is the title applied to Mrs. Laura Dietrich, dog pounder at the dog pound here. Mrs. Dietrich is highly efficient in the unusual role, according to William C. Fox, superintendent, who declares that he had indignities at first as to the advisability of securing a woman for the position, as he thought it would be too difficult. "However, I soon discovered that dogs react to a woman much less than a man," he said. "They are handled by Mrs. Dietrich with much less trouble than a man."

Bad Physical Sign

The sudden cessation of pain is often a bad sign as its beginning is appendicitis or acute obstructive inflammation of the right side of the abdomen sudden cessation of pain may be of the greatest importance, particularly if not associated with a corresponding drop in the temperature or pulse rate. Under such circumstances it is an unfailing index of gangrene or rupture of the appendix or of a breaking down of the barrier between an abscess and the general peritoneal cavity.

Signs of Pain

It is difficult to estimate the degree of pain, but there are certain signs of suffering which are unmistakable—the pinched features, the knotted brow, the rolling eyes with widely dilated pupils, the shallow countenance, the cool and clammy skin, the throbbing pulse, the increased blood pressure, the hands alternately clenched and opened, the cries and groans and the bodily contortions. All these present a definite picture with which every experienced physician or nurse is familiar.

Trim Twin Falls Five After Hard Battle at Gooding—Team at Shoshone Tonight

GOODING, Jan. 17.—Pursuing into the night the final minutes of play, Gooding High defeated Twin Falls High at basketball last evening by a score of 43 to 20.

Apparently showing the wear of a hard game at Rupert, the night here, Twin Falls nevertheless put up a superb battle and was very much in the game until the finish, Jack Yuchen, featherweight forward of the visitors, led his team's attack with a brilliant exhibition of goal shooting. He was clearly seconded by Carter at center and Speed Newby, the other forward. Puzler and Taping put up a hard defense for the Blue and White, but had difficulty coping with Hoelter and Ruby of the Gooding team, who ran up enough points to pull their side under the wire a winner.

Warroll of Shoshone refereed the game, with Timms of Gooding Court as umpire. The play was fast and clean throughout.

Twin Falls will play at Shoshone this evening, completing a three day road trip.

Best Results Had From Advertising In Times—Burton

"We have tried every advertising medium available and the Twin Falls Times has given us the best results," declared J. F. Burton of the real estate firm, Nygard and Burton, yesterday.

Nygard and Burton are local agents for lands at Grand, California, and have located many purchasers there from this section. Like every successful business firm they have found that advertising means results and results mean ad-vertising.

"We do not discriminate between advertising mediums except in one way" said Mr. Burton. "That way is circulation, which of course affects the results. And it is results that we are after when we spend our money for advertising. Advertising in this business proposition with us. We have tried them all and the Times has given us far the best results of any. Personally I consider could you save from twenty five to thirty five cents of all the necessities of life it would amount to a great deal in the course of a year. Indeed the amount would be surprising.

In most cases it will be found that those who can least afford it are the very ones who will overlook these little opportunities to save. They cannot see the "big" in the little things.

For men who have grown wealthy are the ones who learned early in life the value of careful buying. They never overlooked a chance to save no matter how small.

Our part in helping reduce the high cost of living is to advise wherever you can. Patronize those who through new methods and a large volume of business can offer you the best for least.

Consider our "car to home" plan when buying coal. It has saved hundreds of dollars for the people of Twin Falls this winter. Were you one of those who know of this?

Of course you know that during the coal strike every dealer sold all coal direct from the cur, but no other dealer offered to give you a discount when they did.

A penny saved is a penny earned" Said Benjamin Franklin. And no doubt he practiced what he preached for he rose from a poor printer to a position of wealth and influence.

Look at it this way. The less coal can be handled the cheaper it can be sold. When we sell direct from cur for 25c to 35c less we give you what a man would charge us to unload.

So you by watching your coal bin place your order a day or two ahead? If you can you will always get the advantages of this saving no matter how scarce coal may be.

In most days we have a car on the track, but sometimes we haven't. It is then it will pay you to be able to wait just a day or two. While you think of it, Why not look at your coal bin?

SCHOOL NEEDS IN TWIN FALLS ENUMERATED BY SUPERINTENDENT. Hal. G. Blue Points Out Need of New Buildings to Care for Increased Number of Pupils.

The wonderful era of growth, development and expansion which seems just now to be coming to Twin Falls is not without its attendant problems. There is a real need for every citizen to survey carefully the entire situation which is now looming up with the purpose of determining just what fundamental problems and issues are involved.

Last year was a normal year in the history of Twin Falls. There was nothing unusual in the way of business expansion. Yet, today, our schools enrolling 2,800 pupils show an increase of more than 200 over a year ago.

At the close of the last semester of Friday, January 9, about 25 boys and 25 girls of the beginners' grade were unable to be promoted. Some of these failed because they entered our schools late in the year and were unable to get the sort of adjustment necessary to carry on the work.
