DECLARES EXERCISE OF POWER OF EXPULSION OF SOCIALIST ASSEMBLYMEN IS FIRST BLOW AT REPRESENTATIVE GOVERNMENT, AND A FATAL ONE

Responsibility for Their Being Elected Lies With People, Not With Assembly, Says Member

Man Who During Campaign Personally Charged Socialists With Disloyalty Holds Power to Disqualify Them Rests Solely With People Who Vote

TO MAINTAIN FORM OF GOVERNMENT NATION MUST REPLY UPON ELECTORATE

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 22.—The judiciary committee of the New York assembly which is considering the ousting of five Socialist assemblymen, produced one friend for the socialists this morning. This is William S. Evans, a Democratic member of the assembly. Before taking testimony against the socialists began this morning, Evans handed to chairman Martin a lengthy statement in which he said he disapproved from the rulings of Martin against the discontinuance of the proceedings. The incident was quiet, and all not one to light until the respondent noted the passage of the paper. Chairman Martin said simply "I will consent that this be entered on the minutes."

Evans speaking to the press said: "I'm not trying to raise a row here, but I think these proceedings are all wrong and did we are going to look for some change in the charges that have been brought up here. My statement speaks for itself. I don't believe we are within our rights in doing this without a hearing."

"I couldn't get any other members of the committee to feel as I do, however."

The attorneys at the socialist table before the five socialist members of the assembly, Evans' statement, said they expressed delight at Evans' attitude. The assemblyman Evans' statement follows:

"On the first day of this proceeding counsel for the five Socialist assemblymen moved that this committee report to the assembly that this proceeding be dismissed because there was neither constitutional or statutory authority for it. The chair denied the motion."

"The reasoning of counsel for the socialists on this proposition is legal of sound. I desire to be recorded as dissatisfied from that time on. I am glad that the assembly has no constitutional or statutory power to suspend or expel a duly elected member of the assembly from the grounds specified in the constitution or statute, namely disqualification on grounds of election citizenship, age, domicile and so forth. It is a well known fact that no such grounds are specified in the constitution or statute."

"I believe that the grounds specified in the constitution or statute are not further than counsel for the socialists has taken. I believe that no ground exists in law, not even provisions for conviction of crime, if it does not involve loss of citizenship nor residing with hostile nations, nor insanity nor other mental, moral or physical conditions."

"I believe that the state or nation has no right to expel a duly elected member of the assembly from the grounds specified in the constitution or statute, nor to disqualify from elective office any person who is not disqualified by the constitution or statute. I believe that the state or nation has no right to expel a duly elected member of the assembly from the grounds specified in the constitution or statute, nor to disqualify from elective office any person who is not disqualified by the constitution or statute."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—A surprise was sprung on congress by Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer this afternoon in his opening opposition to the proposed Seditious and Graham anti-sedition bills.

A letter from Attorney General Palmer was read at the hearing on the measure conducted by the house rules committee. The attorney general stated that neither accorded with his view as to "what the legislation ought to do."

Vigorous opposition to the bills was offered by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and a member of the senate's committee. It created a stir in the crowded hearing room. Palmer said he favored the Davery bill, but not the Graham measure. Gompers attacked the Davery bill. "The federation and myself have opposed the 'red' and the 'black' acts and everything in our power to stamp this out. I hate it, despite the fact that congress may hate me and they don't hate me as much as do the 'reds'."

AN OVERLOOKED MILLION

Officials of the national treasury department have issued a list of government securities on which interest has ceased at the beginning of this year and for which there are no claimants for redemption. These securities, including principal and accrued interest, total about $1,000,000. Some of them were issued before the Civil War, although most of them are of more recent date.

It is possible that in some cases the bonds or other papers representing these securities have been destroyed. It is more likely, however, that their existence has been forgotten by many holders, or that they are lost among old papers whose present owners are ignorant of their value. The treasury department therefore urges a general overhauling of papers handed down from grandfathers and great uncles.

Uncle Sam stands ready to pay up just as fast as the proper documents are brought to light. And in cases where there has been a definite loss by fire or other accident, if conclusive proof can be offered the government will pay the same. Where proof is lacking, but there exists a reasonable doubt about the destruction of the securities, congressional action is required before the alleged owner can be reimbursed.

Everyone who is so fortunate as to have an old stock or trunk or box full of dusty documents is advised to take some rainy evening off soon and, staying home from the movie show, to go through the papers carefully. He may have a share of that million dollars coming to him.

RADICALISM AND LOYALTY

A Pennsylvania labor leader, during the course of an impassioned address replying to charges of un-Americanism made against him, defended his pro-Bolshevistic utterances as a legitimate exercise of constitutional free speech. "I am and always will be a radical," he cried.

Oh, no, he won't. He'll get age and become a conservative; perhaps he'll get rich and become a reactionary. But with the years he will very likely gather, if not wisdom, at least tolerance or patience, and he will be content to sit back and take what comes with a genial fortitude.

For this labor leader, like so many others, construes radicalism as anti-Americanism. Or probably he thinks loyalty and patriotism are old-fogy conservatism. Still, ought to know he ought to be radical and still be a good American, just as the conservative ought to know that a man may be radical and still have the right of speech.

Surely our legislators can see that it would be just as fitting for the conservative critic to learn down the house because it is infested with their Red hordes as it would be for the Reds to tear it down for the reason that it hides a few score of profiteering bugs, or a hundred or two of crooked capitalist vermin, or a thousand or so of plundering rats and rascals. The radicalism that can't see snakes of the mad house. This labor leader from Pennsylvania, he never so radical, must get wisdom or, at least, understanding—an understanding both of those he thinks are his friends and those he stigmatizes as enemies.

ARE WOMEN PEOPLE

That is the question suffragists used to ask, making it answer the foundation for their demand for the ballot. They are now being given the ballot, and sex as an issue in politics ought to drop out of sight forever.

Women are people. They are citizens. They have equal rights with men in the matter of electing officers and making laws.

To demand, as some women have, that each state be represented on the national committee of either party by two representatives, one woman and one man, is ridiculous. It is to inject the question of sex back into matters of government.

On national committees, in congress or in any other department of government, citizens should be elected to serve, regardless of sex, for their qualifications to fill those particular offices. If a given man is better qualified, he should be elected. If a given woman is better fitted to occupy a certain place than anyone else, there's her the place should be given. There are jobs in the country peculiarly in need of women to carry them out. There are others better turned over to the men.

To make any political demands for women as women, and not as citizens, would be going back a generation.

STEAMSHIP COMPANY
BUYS A TRAINLOAD
OF COAL EVERY DAY

The largest steamship company operating ships from San Francisco to the Orient buys a trainload of coal every day.

This company buys King Coal exclusively because tests have proven it to contain more heat per ton than any other coal.

The fact that King Coal is preferred on big ocean liners speaks volumes for it. An immense quantity of coal is needed to drive a ship on a long voyage, and it is absolutely necessary that the coal they use contains the least amount of impurities per ton.

The City Coal Company expects to receive three cars of King Coal tomorrow. They make a special discount of 25¢ per ton when it is taken direct from the car. Place your order now. For rates that's fine, phone 8-92.

SHORTAGE OF TEACHERS IN PACIFIC NORTHWEST

MONMOUTH, Ore., Jan. 25.—The Pacific Northwest is high in need of teachers. The supply has been short throughout the last year, while the demand has been growing. High salaries in city schools are held responsible for the decline in the number of teachers for the rural districts. The same is said to be true of instructors who choose to enter the business world today in preference to remaining teachers. The schools are increasing in number of pupils and the demand for teachers is becoming a fruitful one in this section of the country.

JIM THORPE MAY BE COACH AT COLUMBIA

Great American Athlete May Succeed Fred Dawson.

Indian Would Surely Fill Bill as General Athletic Director at Any College—Nothing of Theoretician About Him.

Jim Thorpe, greatest American all-around athlete, may be named as athletic director at Columbia university to succeed Fred Dawson, who recently resigned. The position calls for a coach for football, basketball, baseball, Thorpe was great at all three sports, and still is. He plays professional baseball in the summer and professional football in the fall. We have never had his equal as a football player, and he just falls short of being a baseball star. Moreover, he is a great track athlete.

Thorpe would fill the bill as a general athletic director at Columbia or any other college. Few men have ever been in his class so far as knowledge of the various major college sports is concerned. There is nothing of the theoretician about the great Indian athlete. His knowledge of games has been acquired through actual participation in them. His broad and varied experience should make him an irrefragable coach. If he has the ability to instruct others he can't fail.

Columbia no doubt would have to pay Thorpe a big sum to obtain him as Dawson's successor. He would be worth a fancy figure. The big New York institution has had faculty reductions in football, basketball, and making plans to take its place among the mighty of the gridiron. There will be need of a man of Thorpe's type if Columbia is to have a high ranking eleven.

TENNIS LEAGUE IS PROPOSED

Plans Promulgated for Formation of Clubs Representing Various Eastern Colleges.

Plans for the formation of an association of lawn tennis clubs representing Yale, Harvard, Princeton and Columbia universities, and the University of Pennsylvania, and to be known as the Intercollegiate Tennis League, have been promulgated by C. LOCALS MEET BURLEY FIVE HERE FRIDAY

Twin Falls Hoop Stars Are All Ready For Tomorrow's Tilt—Been Practicing Hard

The Twin Falls high school basketball five will meet the hoop team from Burley Friday evening on the home floor. This is the second time this season the locals have exhibited their wares before a home crowd and they are expected to make a fine showing.

Coach Edward P. Nafziger has been putting his men through strenuous practice during the past week in preparation for tomorrow's fray. The strength of the Burley aggregation is unknown but the locals mean to be prepared for them whether they present a strong or weak lineup.

The two defeats at Rupert and Gooding, which they experienced on their first road trip, have not at all disheartened the members of the team and they mean to wipe out those losses when the Rupert and Gooding teams come to this city for the second contest.

The lineup for tomorrow's game will be much the same as in the contest played in the past as the men seemed to work well together. A Bull now-a-days, commenting on the recent Burley-Twin Falls game, stated in substance that the locals had the better playing talent but that Twin Falls beat them because of superior teamwork.

Baby Shower—A baby shower was given at the home of Mrs. Alice Patton on Main Avenue East yesterday in honor of Mrs. Gertrude Patton. Frederickson, Cora Patton, Alice Patton, Elaine Patton, M. P. Sears, B. T. Lewis, Edna Miller, A. H. Wood, L. H. Wheeler, A. S. Skinner, H. Ludlow, Orpha Peterson, H. Heartfield, H. Peters, L. C. Carr, A. L. Bradsher, H. Watkins, F. Minnerly, A. Erickson, Ruth Campbell, Gladys Williams, Blanche Patton, G. C. BATTERY CASE BEGINS TODAY

A. G. Brooks Alleges Assault By 3 Saxton Brothers—Being Tried In Probate Court

The battery case in which A. G. Brooks is the complaining witness and Earl Ober and Herman Saxton are defendants was begun this morning in probate court before Judge A. P. Duvall with Prosecuting Attorney Frank L. Stephenson for the state and Ostrom and Green of Juhl representing the defendants.

Brooks alleged that he was attacked and assaulted by the defendants, being knocked unconscious and losing for a time the use of one eye as well as receiving numerous injuries about the face. He was on the witness stand for a considerable time this morning and was examined and cross-examined. He told the story of his alleged beating, how he was attacked by one of the defendants while crossing a field. He stated that he could not swear that he was beaten by the three men. He had been told that after he was rendered unconscious he was kicked and otherwise abused by the three alleged assailants.

The court room was packed with interested spectators, mostly people who were close friends or relatives of one principal or the other.

Mrs. Emma Mordell of Eden was a Twin Falls visitor yesterday.

Frozen Pipes Are Being Thawed And Placed Deeper

A large number of frozen water pipes are being thawed out, according to Water Superintendent J. H. Leonard. As a rule the pipes freeze under the sidewalk or curb, while few are frozen under lawns. Some of the city streets are badly torn up by workmen.

Several homes, where the pipes are frozen, secure their water supply by connecting a hose with their neighbors' pipes. The workmen are placing the pipes deeper while thawing them as when the streets are paved it would be a big task to repair frozen pipes.

The United States Fuel Company, miners and shippers of King, Hiawatha, Black Hawk and other coals, has now their own railroad cars.

This is the only company operating in the west with such equipment. King Coal is the leader in this line.

BAKER OPPOSES CHIEF OF STAFF BY LEGISLATION

Says Military Autocracy is Impolitic in Opposing Elevation of Gen. Pershing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Plans of the senate military affairs committee to make General Pershing chief of staff by legislation were opposed today by Secretary of War Baker before the senate military affairs committee.

"We cannot make a military autocracy with one man at the head," Baker said. "Such action is impolitic and completely wrong."

Secretary Baker said he had no personal interest in the matter. Secretary Baker said the appointment of General Pershing as chief of staff would create a separate war department, and while Pershing would be acceptable to him and President Wilson, it might not be to the next president or secretary of war.

"It is well to honor General Pershing, but I would not suggest this honor for him. I do not think he would be happy in the place," Secretary Baker said.

"By treating General Pershing, who is the new army in organization, would wish control of the several divisions in the field," Secretary Baker said.

General Pershing is a great leader. It is unfortunate that we must couple this legislation with General Pershing.

His suggestion that General Pershing might be made president of the general defense board.

BOSS PENROSE RUNS CONGRESS

Failure to Enact Legislation Asked by President Attributed to His Illness

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—A large amount of reconstruction legislation was held up for an apparently indefinite period because of the illness of Senator Bob Penrose, the admitted "boss" of the Republican party in Congress. When the senate's financial committee, of which Senator Penrose is chairman, will be permitted to begin its work without his direction is a problem.

Senator Penrose has been ill at his Philadelphia home and is likely to go to Florida to recuperate. Until he delegates his power to either Porter J. Crammer of North Dakota, the second ranking Republican member of the committee, or Fred Stone of Utah, next in line, business of even more than national importance must wait.

This situation is causing some exhibitions of marked impatience among members of both the Democratic and Republican parties. The latter are more impatient than the former, and they are being the keener of the "big game" that they realize (in political circles) which Senator Penrose has put them and are attempting to scramble for.

They privately argue that so much valuable extra session of the Republican-controlled congress failed to pass hardly any of the constructive legislation recommended by President Wilson, or even to hear out party leaders, it is hardly good politics to withhold from the nation these financial bills. They are very surprised through the house of representatives.

The senate finance committee held but few meetings during the last few months of the extra session from May 1919 to November 19, and consequently many House bills accumulated in Senator Penrose's pigeonhole. Darling, most of that period the G. O. P. "boss" in Philadelphia fighting for his political position in a national primary fight and later in electing his party candidate. He returned to Washington in the last stages of the fight over the treaty of peace and neglected in temporary illings, together with the league of nations. He has not been present one day of the regular sessions that began December 1.

Since that date but one financial measure has been reported out by the senate finance committee. That was the Street Bill, providing increased compensation for military disabilities. In connection with the war risk insurance, and on that occasion Senator Stone acted chairman, Senator McCumber being engaged in a tour of the southwest.

The finance committee is now the dispatching agent for bills passed by the house of representatives, and many of them are important. In the pigeonhole are all the isolated tariff measures over which the house spent so much time and energy, only to have "Boss" Penrose openly sneer at such an "impure" in character and "illegitimate" legislation in effect, and to publicly state that they could not and would not be passed in their present incomplete form.

Some action to permit the senate finance committee to function (except in cases where it is impossible) is necessary, unless word comes that Senator Penrose's return may be expected quickly.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Progressive members of the senate were today making plans for immediate action on pressing legislation, irrespective of the desires of the leaders. "It is necessary for congress to play legislation on the statute books which is demanded by the people."
