WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Talk of a general railroad strike after the railroad men are brought to terms covering the announcement that the railroad unions in the American Federation of Labor and the big Brotherhoods have formed an alliance to operate as one big union, bound by a written agreement, "to act concurrently on a general offensive and defensive program."

"We have for years recognized that in our economic relations with the railroads that the injury to one is the injury to all," says the preamble to the agreement, "hence we, the chief executives of the bona fide railroad organizations of North America, particularly in this agreement, hereby declare our policy to co-operate in the adoption of a plan of offensive and defensive procedure to cope with the unprecedented conditions confronting us at this time."

"That there shall be no authorized strike by any one organization unless all agree," in concerted action, says the agreement, "all ballots for such vote shall be jointly prepared and approved."

GOVE AUTOMOBILE FACTORY AT POCATELLO SPELLS NEW ERA OF PROGRESS FOR IDAHO

Times Man Much Impressed by Inspection of Big New Industry Which Marks End of Tribute Levied on West by East

(By THOMAS W. STRAETH)
I stood on the edge of the plant which the Govt Motor company is pushing to completion the conviction came upon me that this enterprise is more than a Pocatello undertaking, that what there is of building up of tremendous import to not only the city but to the state of Idaho, to every man, woman and child within its borders.

For this is the beginning of the era sought by Idaho, the end of paying of unnecessary tribute to the East on the essentials of life. The state of Idaho which has been a victim of a tariff for and have it returned a finished product is a vast. In this making of autos and tractors, factors in the industrial, commercial and social life of today, in a great and growing degree, marks an era. With a corner of the horizon which has risen on the map of the Northwest.

And then men who are showing the faith that states it all, are a type which makes civilization. Up on the hillside, as the people approach, the buildings of industry mark the beginning of a new era. The knowledge of engines, tractor power, what they will do, who this time is a thing of beauty and that shifting of weight will result in increased efficiency, it was an eye-opener.

"Over sixty per cent of the cars on the market today are assembled cars, but here at Pocatello, Idaho, a distinct and growing advantage in that they can avail themselves of a factory which has a plant built to turn out a certain car in all save a few parts that may be imported from other parts of the world. The factory has invented something that rival makers will grab and attack, throwing away the invention of yesterday. The assembler can and does buy the best engine, clutch transmission, steering gear, and other parts. The car is the best, the highest equipment."

"The motor industry has grown to such a size that it can no longer be a local industry. It is a fact, is that Ford, and Packard, and all of them assemble to a greater or less degree. For Ford cars are made in Detroit and several other parts, and Packard does the same.

United at Last, Though It Is Only for a Bit of a Scrap

DUBLIN, Feb. 19.—The eve of the introduction of the new home rule bill, providing a dual parliament system for Ireland, took the greater part of the country convinced that Trevelyan's bill does not intend to carry the measure through to a final vote, according to political leaders here today.

"It is in substance just as were the proposals made by Sir George Harcourt in America," said Mr. Blackett. "It is impossible to make any scientific scheme for the rehabilitation of Europe. Europe must cover her war wastage by slow and painful efforts in a small but progressive scale."

Officials Row Over Forcing Prisoners to Watch Hanging

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Prisoners in the county jail will not be given a "front row" Friday in the hanging of Jack O'Brien, sentenced to death for the murder of a policeman. Sheriff Charles W. Peers today called off a storm he had made for the prisoners to witness the hanging. After obtaining legal advice on a threat by the state's attorney that he would be prosecuted for malfeasance if he allowed the hanging.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—This question of prisoners in the county jail before he was to witness the hanging of Jack O'Brien, sentenced to death for the murder of a policeman, started a row here between Sheriff Charles W. Peers, who wants the prisoners to witness the execution as a "moral lesson," and State Attorney Henry J. Lovvorn, who has refused to allow it for good reason. He carries out his plan.

Adopt Resolution Urging Adherence With Least Delay—No Reservations

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Following a heated debate, adhering workers at the meeting of the executive committee of the League of Women Voters adopted a resolution urging "adherence of the United States to the League of Nations with the least possible possible delay."

Among points of the debate to draw firm ground was a clause in the resolution adding that "no reservations as may be considered necessary" which was stricken out and an attempt to substitute a "league" by "the league." The definite article dropped.

Among the other resolutions considered were one providing for the teaching of teachers, one for the abolition of compulsory military training, one advocating it, and one urging cooperation with Mexico in forestry.

Says Must Stabilize Labor Before House Shortage Is Solved

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Labor must be stabilized before the shortage of new homes can be remedied and the building situation may return to normal. It was declared by builders meeting here today at a convention of associated general contractors, a nation organization.

"Under present conditions, it is impossible to erect houses fast enough to supply the demand," said M. D. Smith, a leading Detroit contractor. "The steady value in homes, labor and building materials now make construction work a wild-cat proposition."

LONDON, Feb. 18.—An inter-allied commission has been appointed by the premiers to insure that Germany keeps her promise to put German war offenders on trial. It was announced this afternoon. It will be headed by Lord Birkenhead, the British lord chancellor, and M. Cambon, of the French diplomatic service. Lord Birkenhead will leave tomorrow for Paris where the commission will hold its first meeting Friday.

Germany may start a communication to the allies giving assurances that "the German nation as a whole and the government will co-operate to insure its trial of the German offenders against whom the allied governments have lodged charges."

The president's position on the Adriatic question remains unchanged. It was learned, and his note, completed today, is understood to be similar to that of his previous reply.

FEEDING SILAGE TO DIFFERENT ANIMALS

Feed Any Place Where It Can Be Done Without Waste.

Good Plan to Supply It to Cows in Barns After Milking Has Been Completed—Not Advisable to Give Too Much to Horses.

"Corn silage may be fed out of doors in barns to the stall, or in fact any place where animals can eat it without waste of any silage where the animals will not waste it, and feed the silage in the barn after milking. It may be given twice a day in milk cans to 10 to 15 pounds at a feeding of 20 to 30 pounds per day."

"Silage silage animals will take a higher rate of the pounds of silage than milk and make good use of it. In feeding fattening stock or steers, silage may be fed twice a day in quantities ranging from 10 to 15 pounds at a feed for grown stock and for young animals from 10 to 15 pounds."

"Silage will continue from 2 to 10 pounds daily and horses from 4 to 10 pounds when not working."

"Feed the silage to the stall, but not to the stall, as it will be exposed to the air for several days."

ADVANTAGE OF SELF-FEEDER

Now Not Entirely Finished in Corn Field Should Make Profitable Gains in Drylot.

Some feeders believe that feed which are not entirely finished in the cornfield do not make sufficient gains if removed from the field and fed drylot. It is not advisable to feed drylot if they should be true provided the drylot ration is equal in amount and quality to that which the hogs have been obtaining in the cornfield. If the finished animals are full-fed on even properly supplemented, they should make no profit to the grower. If they have been previously doing so in the cornfield, The trouble is usually caused.

Full Pipe at Self-Feeder.

by the fact that the amount of the ration is decreased when the hogs are received. A self-feeder can be used to recoup advantage in such cases.

ADVANTAGES OF A SILO

By H. W. CHASE, Columbus Area National College, Port Collins, Ohio.

1. One-third greater returns can be secured from the land than when the corn is cured the ordinary way.
2. More live stock can be kept with silage than without it.
3. More of the corn crop can be saved than in any other way. This saving varies from 25 to 50 per cent.
4. Surplus silage can be cured over to years of scarcity. Good silage will keep for years.
5. The value of straw is greatly increased by feeding it with silage.
6. Silage nearly doubles the profits of dairying.
7. Silage increases the grade of beef from 25 to 50 per cent.
8. Good silage is a splendid and economical feed for horses, but poor silage may kill them.

FAILURE IN RAISING CALVES

One of the Most Common Causes Is That of Overfeeding, Which Usually Results in Scour.

One of the common causes of failure in raising calves is that of overfeeding, which usually results in scouring. When the amount of milk fed should be reduced, or in severe case no milk at all given until the trouble ceases.

VALUE OF POULTRY PRODUCTS

Equal in Value to One-Half of Corn Crop—More Than to Double Output of Chickens.

The poultry products of one nation are put in value to obtain the entire corn crop of the nation. It would be fairly easy to double the output of poultry and make that industry equal in value to the corn crop.

A United States Army MAN

There is a Canal at Panama, linking two great oceans and carrying the commerce of the world.

For a hundred years and more men dreamed of that Canal. De Lesseps had the dream—and failed, and the bones of men and wreck of machines remained to mark his failure.

It seemed a task almost impossible; yet that task was done.

It was done by United States Army men.

In Cuba and Porto Rico yellow fever once claimed victims by thousands.

Yellow fever is no longer a menace in those islands.

A great physician and his aids helped the people of those islands to conquer it forever.

And they, too, were United States Army men.

In the Philippines a raw civilization is arising; and its foundations are laid upon the courage and devotion of United States Army men.

You think of the Army as an instrument of war; and well you may; for the record of its men in France and Flanders will live as long as history is written.

But the Army has tasks of peace no less heroic—that mean a safer, and a better world.

It is for those tasks that the Army asks three years of the lives of America's best young men.

To those men the Army promises sturdy health—an asset for their business success in all the years to come.

It offers them opportunity for training in a useful trade. It gives them good food, good clothes and good care. It trains them to responsibility—it develops character and mind.

It promises them travel, and the knowledge of other lands, that will make them citizens of the world.

The United States Army seeks no inferior applicants. It wants men of whom it can be proud, during their enlistment, and in all the years to come.

Men who will look back twenty, thirty, forty years from now and say:

"Those years were the most valuable of all my years of training.

"They gave me health, and skill, and the capacity for managing men. They gave me a chance to share in grand tasks.

"I am proud of the record of those years, and of what they have meant in my success.

"Proud that I, too, for a little while, was a United States Army man."

YOUNG FRUIT TREES NEED PROPER START

For Best Development Careful Training is Required.

Closest Attention Must Be Given When Shaping Fruit on One or Two Sides.

By W. J. CRIDER, Horticulturist, University of California.

In order that a fruit tree may develop properly it must be carefully trained during its first summer in the orchard. If the shoots that come out first on the body of the tree are sufficient in number and well distributed, the problem is a simple one requiring only that three or four of the strongest be selected to form the permanent framework and the others removed. Very often, however, the shoots that appear on one side of the tree or come out in a bunch near the ground or it may be that only one or two will start. Such trees require one or more additional trees if allowed to continue their growth unimpeded they will assume unwholesome shapes that can never be corrected.

The best method of handling them is to remove all but the above stated strong one, preferably near the ground, and allow it to become the tree. As a rule, the ground or it may be that only one or two will start. Such trees require one or more additional trees if allowed to continue their growth unimpeded they will assume unwholesome shapes that can never be corrected.

MAN O' WAR IS ONE OF GREATEST HORSES EVER DEVELOPED IN THE UNITED STATES

Man o' War, Winner of Rich Futurity at Belmont Park, With Johnny Loft-Up.

The development of a number of brilliant races, among them Man o' War, which promises to rank with the great horses of all time, a season of racing that goes down in history as one of the most successful in American turf annals and the establishment of a new peak in the "racing" of the sport, were high spots for 1910 in the racing game.

Being in the forefront of the country in which it is permitted, race to a place of popular favor. This was evidenced by the fact that new attendances were created at nearly all the racing tracks.

High Mark for Purse. The new high mark for a purse was set at Belmont on Oct. 11, when the famous championship was run, the value being $20,000. This race was designed to decide the 3-year-old championship, but unfortunately many of the stars of that age did not start. FAMILY MARKED BY ODDITY

London Newspaper Tells of Strange Fate That Pursued Group.

There lived at Ipswich in the reign of William III a family known as the "odd family," a most appropriate name, as the following facts prove, London Annotators state.

Every event, good, bad or indifferent, came to that family in an odd year or on an odd day of the month, and every person was odd in manner or in their appearance. When the letters of their Christian names always amounted to an odd number.

The father and mother were Peter and Mary, their seven children (all boys) bore the names of David, Edward, James, Jonas, Matthew, Roger and Solomon. The husband possessed only one eye and his wife only one ear; Solomon was blind in his left eye and Roger lost his right in an accident; James had his left ear torn off a quarrel. Matthew's left hand had but three fingers.

Strange at birth, all died as strangely. The father fell into a deep sleep and was killed, the wife died five days after from starvation. Roger, James, David and Matthew died in 1718 in six different places on the same day; Solomon and Peter were drowned in the Thames in 1723.

BUYING IN GROUPS

Co-operative buying as a means to cut the cost of living is steadily increasing. This is not the type of buying represented in the co-operative store, but could perhaps be practiced through that agency, thus getting advantage of double co-operation.

The present class makes use of facilities already at hand. Workers in factories, stores, banks, members of local unions and other groups employed by the same owner or working in the same industry, simply do their buying as a large unit, then take their supplies home after paying for individual quantities at wholesale prices, plus any small cost of operation there may be.

In one city officials of the street car men's union are drawing up plans for the purchase of butter, eggs, milk and staple groceries co-operatively. In the same city the employees of one big manufacturing concern buy their groceries in this way; workers with a hardware firm buy household necessities co-operatively; those of a sewing machine company buy their cables, cigars and canned goods in whole sale lots. Employees of a prominent bank buy co-operatively every thing from ham and bacon to potatoes, oranges, luttar and eggs. There are many similar instances.

In most of these buying arrangements the problem of getting the goods purchased into the individual home is left to each buyer. As the system is perfected, however, each group could undoubtedly work out a satisfactory distribution scheme for itself at slight additional cost. This system seems simpler than that requiring the establishment of stores for neighboring groups. It could be adapted to the neighborhood, however, if the residents in a block or community wish to try it.

ANCHORING OUR CITIES

Announcement that an office building, or a warehouse, or something equally utilitarian is to replace the venerable Chapel of St. John in Varick street, New York, raises the question: Why is it American cities cannot maintain the places that trace their origin and growth? And why is it that American cities cannot be anchored, as are those of Europe, but are constantly shifting their moorings?

Our cities as well as old in America do not stay put. The trend is always away from the spot first settled. Business pushes into the back section, and the buildings of an earlier day are destroyed or left to decay in material and spirit. The towns grow away from their center streets, and forget them. Few there that take the trouble to preserve these landmarks for whatever of association they may have.

But one cannot conceive of London growing away from Westminister Abbey, or St. Paul's or the Parliament buildings. And London Bridge of three centuries ago is still London Bridge; the place has, in its activity today as it is in memories of an earlier life. There and other historic buildings seem to anchor London, to hold it to the spot imploved by age. But Brooklyn Bridge cannot anchor New York, nor Faneuil Hall hold Boston. Cleveland is not held to its square nor Philadelphia bound to Independence Hall, cradle of our liberties though it be.

It is not that St. John's Chapel is a memorable building. Its part in New York's early history was humble and unostentatious. But it is nevertheless a link with the past. What its preservation it perhaps Old Trinity itself may be next to go. Its loss to prevent it, America is careless of memories and finds little use for tradition, in spite of our national sentimentalities.

LOW PRICES

An anti-trust drug to the light a list of prices charged for commodities here in 1919, among which are these items:

Eggs, 6 cents a dozen;
Chicken, 8 cents a pair;
Oats, 19 cents a bushel;
Vinegar, 6 cents a quart;
Molasses, 15 cents a quart;
Coffee, 13 cents a pound;
And whisky, 32 cents a gallon.

Yes, these were the "good old days," sure enough! That is, if you consider merely the arithmetic of prices. When you come to consider the money itself, it works out differently, as usual. The same arithmetic adds this enlightening commentary:

"Money was tight, and because of the scarcity there were few transactions, and there was a great deal of exchanging or swapping."
"The market was tight and wool for molasses, etc."
"Prices were low because money was tight."

PREVENT WINTER ALFALFA KILLING

Common Saying Among Well-Posted Farmers That Plant Won't Stand "Wet Feet."

AVOID DEEP LOOSE SEEDBED

On Land That is Not Well-Drained Crop Will Either Drown Out or Have Out in Course of Few Seasons—Other Factors.

Four drainage is one cause for winter-killing. It is a common saying that alfalfa will not grow with "wet feet" and in land which is not well drained the crop will either drown out or have out in the course of a few seasons. The deep loose seedbed is an unfavorable condition for starting alfalfa, and the young plants in such a seedbed are likely to dry out or leave out during their first year. Other factors which frequently contribute to the winter-killing of alfalfa plants, thus making them more susceptible to winter-killing, are: (1) heavy frosts and snows and (2) insects, particularly moles and gophers.

The factors named, are qualifying factors which reduce the vitality of the alfalfa, making it more likely to winter-kill, but even under the most favorable conditions of growth, alfalfa frequently winter-kills in our northern climate, and this is the condition which we desire to investigate.

Kind of Winterkilling

Winterkilling is caused about in different ways by the leaving of the soil, by the smothering of the plants under ice, and through the killing of the roots by the extreme cold.

The leaving of the soil by alternate freezing and thawing lifts the root growth, and when the soil thaws, it settles with it. The soil, on freezing, takes a new hold on the roots which are again raised. Thus the alternate freezing and thawing finally draws the roots of the plant out of the ground, sometimes several inches, breaking off the tap root, and in the case of young plants, the roots are frequently thrown out on the surface.

Winter rains or winter thaws may cause the soils to become covered with a sheet of ice, which, if it contains snow, is almost sure to smother alfalfa of cover, and even grasses and all crops are liable to injury in this way.

The killing by extreme cold is most likely to happen in a dry open winter, one with few seedlings, especially late seedlings in which the plants are shallow rooted, and afford little cover, are most likely to be winter-killed.

Often old fields which have been pastured are practically destroyed, while new fields which have considerable soil growth left on the ground are not damaged so much. In the ordinary winter, the protection afforded by a strong fall growth is usually sufficient to prevent any winterkilling.

RETAIN FERTILITY ON FARM

Much Taken Off That Might Be Returned to Soil—L. Crops—Waste Fed to Stock.

In the marketing of the products of the farm, there is a tendency to neglect and haul to the point of delivery, the United States department of agriculture points out that this means much loss to the farmer and the consumer. There was a crash of glass and smelt, which is taken of which might be returned to the soil. If the products were fed to live stock.

If you don't want what you have or haven't got, you want, use a little of the waste.

Church Building Specialist Gives Talk Last Night

John H. Booth, secretary of the Church Extension board of Kansas City, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Ella Booth on North Fifth street, spoke last night at the Christian church on "Modern Church Buildings." He said: "I note with pleasure your splendid equipment for public school work. Twin Falls has with never ceasing giving her young people opportunity to know art and science. It must not be forgotten, however, that Twin Falls has the people are not only physical and intellectual beings but have religious natures as well. This side must not be neglected." Referring to the plans of buildings being erected since the war, Mr. Booth said: "About nine-tenths of the new buildings are arranged, not with the thought of the needs of the public but giving first consideration to the teaching service of the church. I would advise the Christian church of Twin Falls to erect a modern, complete building with equipment for complete departmental work. Do this, even though you must delay the building of your auditorium for a time."

Speaking of the auditorium, Mr. Booth said, "Build your auditorium with simplicity in architecture. Bright paintings make it a place that calls at once for silence, reverence and prayer." Twin Falls will probably not need an auditorium, but you, call on me and you will find you hold of church extension ready."

MATURE PLANS FOR ARMENIAN AID CAMPAIGN

The General committee of the Armenian Near East relief drive will meet Thursday night in Pocatello.

E. L. Ashton, chairman of the drive, has a very practical plan outlined for putting this drive over in quick order. Not over two hours work on the part of the committee will be required to complete the task. Many countries of the states have already completed their quota and finished the drive.

This present campaign is really a late part of the recent great war. The drive is thoroughly approved and endorsed by the United States government and is in reality a direct result of our present U. S. government legislation.

If congress were not now working on very economical bills in order to prevent another liberty loan this Armenian relief work could be accomplished through congressional action. Our senators and representatives are counting on this state to do its share in this relief work.

Governor Davis has repeatedly urged that we all be prompt and generous in our efforts and financial support. Christian churches and every American acquainted with the situation in Armenia point out that this relief is necessary immediately or our country will starve in that bankrupt country.

CARPENTIER WILL BE BUSY IN AMERICA

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—When Georges Carpentier arrives to this country from France next month, he probably will be greeted with offers from promoters in various sections of the country, not to mention challenges from some of our lesser lights in the heavyweight division and the strict contracts galore.

Georges is coming across the pond to fill a contract with a boxing punch concern. His trip will be more of a sort of honeymoon trip, for word from abroad says that the French champion is soon to be married.

Presently signed contracts notwithstanding, Carpentier will find himself swamped with offers of various sorts, and it is believed that he will be lured into the ring while in the United States.

Bob Martin, A. E. F. heavyweight champion; Gene Tunney, light-heavyweight title holder of the A. E. F.; Sergeant Ray Smith of Camden, now under the management of Scotty Montelli; the lanky Mr. Frederick Fulton, Al Belch, the New York Adonis, and others are not only willing but eager to be the first to meet Mr. Carpentier in the squared circle, for they are all enjoying visions of what such a match might mean to them in a financial way, not to mention the opportunity they would have of getting into the limelight through a bout with the Frenchman.

Martin, perhaps, stands the best chance of any of the would-be opponents of Carpentier to get on with him in this country in what would be considered a workout for Georges prior to his much-talked-of battle with Jack Dempsey.

The A. E. F. title holder is immensely popular among the ex-servicemen, and promoters in general are agreed that he would be a drawing card against Tunney or Fulton, as well as Carpentier, meanwhile Jimmy Bronson, Carpentier's manager, is hoping the trail of Scotty Montelli, trying to arrange a return bout between Martin and Ray Smith, who won a popular decision over the A. E. F. title holder in a top-round engagement.

Charley White, Chicago's leading lightweight, has severed relations with Nite Lewis and will hereafter manage his own affairs. So far, a majority of the lightweight getting his money these days, White has decided to venture to the ring and is ready to fight a six-round bout with Benny Leonard.

New Adelaide, the Australian lightweight champion, who recently returned to this country with Tom Amey, the Milwaukee pugilist and manager, will fight three bouts before leaving any offer to meet Benny Leonard.

According to a recent announcement, Edwards wants "time" to get acquainted and also wants to put three of his best fights under his belt before the attempt to knock Leonard down from the title. Edwards is to fight with Gene Tunney, Dundee, Eddie Fitzsimmons and Ritchie Mitchell before the "Big Water" club.

Johnny Kilbane and Deputy Valer will start their action at Newark on Saturday night in an eight-round bout which is believed as a caution, probably a title.

BRINGING UP FATHER

July article. Kilbane and Valer have both been training hard for this match, and because of Valer's rapid climb toward the top of the featherweight ladder, Kilbane's admirers are expecting to see the champion extend himself to break the East Side boy into the discards.

Valer's admirers in and around New York are backing him to defeat Kilbane and offering even money on his chances.

Joplin Will Stay in Western League

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 19.—A delegation of stockholders in the Joplin club surprised at the annual conference of the Western League when it announced that every requirement necessary for the retention of their franchise would be met. While the owners realize the club will be operated at a loss, they claim the town wants representation in a class A league, and its wishes will be gratified as long as the bank roll holds out.

Lubbock, Denver and Fort Worth have delegations to the next ready to step in should the Joplin franchise be declared forfeited by a majority vote.

Another Strike Is Called by I. W. W.

SALT LAKE, Feb. 19.—I. W. W. agitators have called another strike in the copper mines at Park City, near here. It became known today.

The strike order, issued by the "Strike committee" of the Mount Mine Workers Industrial Union No. 809, a branch of the I. W. W., had little effect, however, only about 25 men quitting. These are said to be new comers in the district. Several "wildcats" were told to leave camp now as present. The resident miners are all staying on their job, it was said.

Commercial Men Protest Against Gronna Measure

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Commercial taxpayers of eleven cities have presented a brief to the senate agriculture committee protesting against the passage of the Gronna bill abolishing the grain corporation.

The cities represented include Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Minneapolis, St. Joseph, Kansas City, St. Louis, Omaha, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

The communication said the market would be disturbed and the economy for the marketing of wheat, "which would be wiped out by the passage of the Gronna bill."

Denver Is After Dundee-Leonard

DENVER, Feb. 19.—With substantial financial backing from a group of Denver business men, Jack Kanner, local promoter, left for the East in an endeavor to sign Benny Leonard and Johnny Dundee for a 20-round lightweight championship match at the local yards stadium here. Kanner will offer a $20,000 purse for the match.

While in New York Kanner will make Jimmy White, the English flyweight champion a tempting offer to meet Steve Strick—the Western star—in a twelve round bout here.

No More Corn Suffering

The hurting "pep" was right out of this Gala-11 and thereon. It is smooth and soft.

Fourteen million men will make the corn getting loose and ready. In a day or so you'll be right off without any feeling. Gala-11 is the best and your troubles. Millions have proved Gala-11 to be the one and only safe, common sense corn remedy.

"Gala-11" costs but a trifle at any drug store and carries a money-back guarantee. Mfg. by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

According to information reaching the state department in Washington, Adams was being held for $25,000 ransom. Mrs. Adams lives in Los Angeles, Calif.

There's a World of Solid Comfort In the Rich, Red Tin

YES, sir, we mean that same warm red and gold tin that smiles a welcoming "Howdy" to you in every tobacco store. Know what those colors mean?

The red is for the friendly warmth, the mellow cheeriness, that Velvet puts into your old pipe. And the gold is where the Kentucky sunshine, that ripens good old Velvet, has just sort of soaked through.

Remember what Velvet Joe said about it?

"You've met canned meat and canned music. Ever see any tinned sunshine? Well, look into any Velvet tin."

And think this over:

We don't have to hide Velvet's taste or smell with a lot of this, that and the other thing. Because Velvet has naturally what pipe smokers want—real simon-pure tobacco taste and fragrance. It's just good, honest Kentucky leaf, made still more friendly and mellow by two years' ageing in wooden hogsheads. Just good tobacco. That's all. But it's mighty near enough for the man who wants a pipeful of tobacco and not a box of bon-bons.

The picture of a pipe on the tin needn't keep you from rolling a jim-dandy cigarette with Velvet.

How's the Velvet holding out in your old red tin?
