Johnson Has Made the Dakotas for League Tilt

California Presidential Candidate in Primaries

Both Parties Watching Outcome of Tests in Northwest

PEACE TREATY IS TO BE MADE ISSUE

Washington, Feb. 24.—Senator Hiram Johnson of California is head of the North Dakota today, bent on making it the primary fight in that state by placing the peace treaty and the league of nations squarely before its voters.

Johnson, a candidate for the republican nomination for president, is among the senators opposed unhesitatingly to ratification and commitment of the American people to the league who believe the treaty cannot be kept out of the campaign. He is confident a referendum on the treaty, such as President Wilson suggested in his Jackson Day dinner message, will result in the rejection by the people of the "whole league issue."

Both parties are watching the outcome of the tests in the Northwest. Johnson is in Chicago today, and scheduled to speak tomorrow, Thursday, Friday and Saturday in campaigning up and down North Dakota. He is then to head south to Idaho, to stay in Boise, then to the political representatives of both parties.

Meredith Is Believer in Agriculture

Says Basic Industry As Important to Business Man As to the Farmers of U. S.

Chicago, Feb. 24.—That the activities of the United States department of agriculture are of such importance to the city business man as to the farmers of the country, was the contention of the department's recently appointed secretary, E. T. Meredith, in an address before members of the church association of commerce today.

Meredith, he said, was the basic industry of the country and therefore city business men should interest themselves in this $300,000,000 question, which has some very serious problems now.

Secretary Meredith also told of plans of the department for a branch of the weather bureau, which will make a service for agricultural interests giving them reports on the condition of roads throughout the country.

Germany Collapse Will Mean Chaos in Europe, Said

Leasing Bill Revives Old Scenes in Territories--Bloodshed Feared

Washington, Feb. 24.—President Wilson is expected to take final action on the so-called "oil-lease" bill, the authority for the release of oil and mineral lands within the next twenty-four hours.

The president is expected to sign the bill, as it is understood to have received the approval of Secretary of the Interior Lane, Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Secretary of the Interior to be Payne, and Clifford Pinchot, famous conservationist.

According to reports reaching Washington today there will be a grand rush for the lands where there is supposed to be oil as soon as it becomes known that the president has approved the measure. It is said that claimants are camping within striking distance of reserves like "crimes on a fence" and the rush will culminate nothing that will be witnessed in the "hottest days."

Home of the claims will be the "hot" oil fields and areas trouble in the territories in some sections by people that have been following the situation. It is claimed that during the interim since the bill received the approval of congress rival claimants have armed themselves and that bloodshed will ensue as the result of predicted disputes over rich claims.

REV. W. A. MOORE RECEIVES CALL OUTSIDE STATE

Reserves Answer to Offer From Milton, Oregon—Says Big Work to Do Here

A message was received yesterday by W. A. Moore, pastor of the local Christian church, asking him to consider a call to the Milton, Oregon, congregation. The Milton church is probably the strongest single town church in the northwest, having a church and Bible school enrollment nearly double that of the Twin Falls congregation. When asked if he would accept the call Mr. Moore said, "I love Twin Falls and especially my congregation very much. All are very kind and I am sure I could do a great piece of Christian work in a hard job in Twin Falls, and while there are those who have assured me they are anxious to see me, I am fully convinced that the entire congregation had other to whom I can and I must be ready for the worst if I am to be successful in this work. A letter from Milton is on the way. On receipt of it I shall be better able to come to a decision."

IS YOUR GUARD DOWN?

Every man is a fighter, though he may not be a pugilist. His daily task is his fight—and he needs to be fit and ready for it.

Constipation is the business fighter is the "out-of-condition" of the pugilist. Constipation not only makes the business fighter dull and slow, and unfit for effort, but it is the "lowered guard" that leaves the opening for the jarring blows of serious disease.

90% of all diseases have their origin in the intestinal canal—in constipation. Constipation not only causes the generation of poisons, which are carried through the system by the blood and attack it from within, but also by thus lowering the general stamina makes the weakened system first easier prey to harmful germs from without.

By an entirely new principle Nujol keeps the poisonous food waste moving out of the body. Every other form of treatment either irritates or forces the system. Nujol works on the waste matter instead of on the system.

Nujol prevents constipation by keeping the food waste soft, thus helping Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world.

It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take—try it!

Nujol is sold by all druggists in sealed bottles only, bearing Nujol trade-mark. Write Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey), 50 Broadway, New York, for booklet "Thirty Feet of Danger."

THE TURK WINS A MANDATE

It seems likely, after all, that the Turks are to stay in Constantinople. The supreme inter-allied council, consisting of the premiers of Britain, France and Italy, has decided it. The Sultan is to keep his European capital. His territories, to his east, are somewhat reduced. His European domains are pushed eastward to the Chatalja line, where Turkish troops made their last stand against Bulgaria in the late Balkan war. The Gallipoli peninsula, for whose possession the British shed torrents of blood in vain, is to be taken over by the Allies, and the Hospitaller is to have all islands. The Turkish western foothold is shrunken to a few square miles, the mere tip of a little peninsula which can be raked at all points by allied warships. Provisions for such treatment were obvious. There will presumably become authority exercised, too, over the Turkish railroads. The big, salient fact is that the Turk is still left in Europe, where he has no business and never had any business, and that he remains in at least nominal control of one of the world's greatest ports and most glorious cities, when historic justice and practical morality alike demanded his expulsion. The Sultan is given a mandate for Constantinople.

Even self-determination will not account for this unexpected decision of the Allies. The Turks, it is true, are more numerous in the city of Constantinople than any other nationality. But the Greeks are nearly as many, and, what is more important, the combined Christian population is far greater than Turkish. This fact becomes still more obvious if the suburban population is considered.

It is one of the most shameful turns of the war settlement, and a compromise, particularly abhorrent to Americans, who have expected the Turks' banishment as a matter of course. It is inconceivable that this decision could have been taken except for the treaty deadlock at Washington, which has already destroyed so many fair hopes. It is another argument for the prompt ratification of that treaty, and a better chance for the American people to realize the ideals and safeguards for which they fought the war.

SAVE OUR INDUSTRIES

The manufacturing industry is known and treated everywhere in the world as one of the chief cornerstones of community growth. Those cities favored with natural facilities or resources to encourage and develop industries are rightly adjudged fortunate. To them accrues the prosperity of payroll and profit. They are the ones that eventually attract attention of the census bureau.

Twin Falls has many natural resources and advantages for a manufacturing center. The city also has one such industry that has proven its ability to remain and flourish if given encouragement. Knowing what an asset such industries are, it is more than passing strange that this industry—the Twin Falls Dehydrating Company—is being allowed to waste and suffer through indifference, even of those who have fostered its beginning and given its initial impetus. It is most inconsistent that those who were willing to experiment with the enterprise are now relaxing their interest, the experiment having proved a general success. What sort of public spirit? What sort of public spirit?

The Twin Falls Dehydrating Company stands threatened with dissolution by default, merely because the stockholders of the company will not take enough interest to attend their meetings. There is still time to save the situation, but only one way chance remains. That is by attendance at the meeting called for tonight at 7 o'clock. There is a private and a public duty resting on the stockholders, calling them to step forward and protest, not only their private investment but the industrial future of Twin Falls.

EVERYDAY USE OF TNT

The explosion at Halifax which caused such untold human suffering and great property damage helped to confirm in people's minds the fertile power of TNT, or trinitro-toluol. TNT was one of the most commonly used explosives of the great war and in civilian eyes at least, one of the most fearful.

Now the Scientific American tells us that TNT is probably safer than the ordinary dynamite used in blasting out stumps. Such stumps as that at Halifax were due to speedy and careless handling. Dynamite, handled as TNT was handled, would have resulted in most frequent and more serious disasters than could be blamed on the TNT. TNT is said not to be so sensitive to friction as 40 per cent straight dynamite. Its shattering force is tremendous. It is not proof, but it is less sensitive to percussion than dynamite and its explosive force is less dangerous, and can be used in places where dynamite would be used in vain. On the whole it is enough less sensitive than dynamite to make it far safer to handle for the ordinary peaceful purposes to which explosives are put.

On the whole it is enough less sensitive than dynamite to make it far safer to handle for the ordinary peaceful purposes to which explosives are put.

It is probable, therefore, that when the ignorant prejudice against the deacid TNT is overcome, that explosive will find many peace-time uses, such as removing stumps, splitting logs and boulders and digging ditches.

LUCRATIVE YEAR FOR LIGHTWEIGHT BOXER

Shekels Poured into Coffers of Champion During 1919.

New York Boy Drew Down $200,000 as His Share of Battles in Which He Participated—Filed His Trade With Diligence.

The year just passed was certainly a lucrative one for Bunny Leonard, the lightweight champion. The New York boy drew down a total $200,000 as his share of the battles in which he participated during 1919. Leonard was the most active of all the boxers, large or small, in this fertile land. He closed his trade with a diligence and vigor never before displayed by a champion in any class. He realized that the reign of a champion is not long at most and that a little hoard is no use if it will be getting in good.

Leonard engaged in 25 bouts during the year, an average of a bout almost every two weeks. This is exclusive of the several benefit bouts he had. According to his manager, Billy Gibson, the total gate receipts for these bouts amounted to approximately $500,000. If Leonard drew down $200,000 as his share, he averaged about 40 per cent of the gate in each bout in which he took part. To attract a total of $1 million during the year, Leonard for each bout averaged $20,000, and Leonard received an average of $8,000 for every time he entered the ring to do battle.

In eight of Leonard's principal bouts the gates totaled $200,000, an average of $25,000 a bout. The remaining 16 bouts drew $250,000, an average of $15,625. His biggest draw-card was his bout with Willie Ritchie at Newark, which drew a $35,000 house. His battle with Fay City came second with $37,000, and his next best was his with Johnny Dundee at Newark, which netted $23,000. The fact that Leonard was able to average one bout almost every two weeks is all the more remarkable when it is remembered that the champion did little boxing during the summer months. All through July and most of August he was idle. Then he returned to the scheduled campaign that had continued his winning during the spring and early summer months. As fast as matches could be made up him he boxed. He was ready to enter the ring almost any opponent the promoters might select for him. He recently concluded his year's work in the ring with a short but productive tour through the South.

WILL VOTE ON ORDINANCE AT NEXT MEETING

The city meat inspection ordinance passed its second reading at the regular meeting of the city council last evening. A few minor changes were proposed and the ordinance will be presented and voted on at the meeting next week.

A report from the Independent, Central and American Meat markets showed that there were 2124 calves butchered annually as well as 3293 hogs, 1265 sheep, 442 calves and 300 dozen chickens.

Sanitary Inspector Alex W. Murray brought up the milk ordinance question, inasmuch as it affected his work. He brought up a number of important questions which had to be considered, said, before Dr. W. A. Fulton, the new inspector began work. He was advised that until Dr. Fulton began teaching milk he should continue the work and that definite arrangements would be made later.

Mr. Murray also stated that many people objected to having their cattle fed as they were. In many instances, he said, only milk was fed to the cow and family and not selling to the creamery or to regular customers. Several courtiers believed that unless the people were vending milk they could not be forced to submit to a test. Mr. Murray was authorized to take up the matter with Dr. Fulton and City Attorney John L. Davine. E. R. Dooley, local chemist, said that he had frequently made tests of milk in Twin Falls restaurants and found it very poor in quality, being unable to pass the government test. He said he had also traced this milk right down to the dairies and found their milk right clean in every respect. This, he declared, would indicate that some one was diluting it. He stated they were trying to locate the party doing the diluting. A number of other matters in this connection were brought up, most of them being of minor importance.

HOG CHOLERA WORK WILL BE RESUMED SOON

State Specialist Promises That State Will Give Aid If Government Refuses

The work combating hog cholera in this district will be resumed soon, according to Dr. J. A. Adams, director of the Idaho Bureau of Animal Husbandry, who met with the farmers of this section Saturday afternoon in the rooms of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Adams, who is a specialist in this line, assured the farmers that this work will be pushed hard here although the plans and procedure may be modified, somewhat, if the necessary federal aid does not come immediately.

It was brought out at the meeting that there has been outbreaks of cholera in this section and also that over 400 cases are pending the tuberculin testing. Relative to federal aid for hog cholera eradication the local chamber of commerce is in receipt of the following from representative Addison T. Smith:

Further acknowledging your telegram of January 11, I regret to say that the last annual appropriation of $561,046 for the control of hog cholera was reduced by the committee on Agriculture for the next fiscal year by about $100,000 and by the House of Representatives an additional $100,000, all in the name of retrenchment of expenditures because of the $1,000,000,000 deficit confronting the government.

I think that a great economic mistake has been made in the reduction of this appropriation, and did everything I could to influence vote against the committee's action but without avail and the reduction was authorized by a vote of 157 to 104. We are hopeful that the amount may be restored in the Senate and accepted by the House when the bill is returned by the Conference Committee which will be proposed to adjust the difference between the two Houses.

K Turks Left in Constantinople Things Will Run Later Says Premier of Greece

LONDON, Feb. 24.—Warning that a new war would be bred if the Turkish government is allowed to remain in Constantinople was issued today by Venizelos, premier of Greece, who came to London to urge Greece's Turkish claims before the council of plenipotentiaries.

"Venizelos said that the Greek people and he himself were exceedingly disappointed at the decision to abandon the scheme for an international commission to govern Constantinople under the league of nations.

"The Greek peace negotiators charge that the decision was brought about by the French, who hope thereby to establish a working agreement with the Turks permitting French exploitation of the hinter mountain territories," said the Greek premier. M. Venizelos said that Greek officials were exasperated at what they term the French betrayal of Christian peoples.

"But I shall not protest the decision," continued the Greek statesman, "because the decision was made by the French, who have the right to do so. I shall continue to fight for the Greek claims in the Adriatic and Thracian territories. It is secured this territory we should be in a position to cope with the French troops in the Balkans."

The Greek official charged that the French hope to exploit the Turks, presently "locking up" Greece's aspirations upon the eastern mountain territories. M. Venizelos is banking upon British and Italian influence to back up Greece in her territorial and commercial ambitions in Syria and Thrace.

A dispatch from Damascus to the Daily Express quotes Prince Feisal, son of the king of the Hejaz, in Arabia, as saying:

"All of the east is in great danger. Britain's request we approved an agreement with the French, who have done the best to bring French and Arab interests together. But there are constant obstacles. It is well for the British to have their attention drawn to these points. The execution of Arabia by the British would be a greater source of danger to the British than any other power. The people do not wish any mandate."

The King of Hejaz was established in Arabia with the assistance of the British government. The king and his army fled from Turkey during the closing days of the war.

LONDON, Feb. 24.—"The whole eastern world is in a state of extreme disquiet," declared Secretary of War Winston Churchill, introducing the new army estimates in parliament yesterday. He said that conscription would end March 31 and that the British army would be reduced to 230,000 men, exclusive of the reserve.

He was defending his estimate of expenditures when he made the pessimistic comment upon eastern conditions.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 23.—Haltification of the outrage amendment to be voted upon in the special session of the state legislature which convened this morning is thought by many to be doomed.

G. A. DEPARTMENT STORE COULD BE BUY BRITISH GOODS

LONDON, Feb. 21.—American department stores have combined to purchase through an agency British-made household goods and clothing, which there is said to be a growing scarcity in the United States.

A. F. Robbins, an Englishman and former manager of a London bank, has been named manager of the largest buying agency of this character ever established, the American consumer represented having $200,000,000 capital.

His task is to find suitable supplies of woollens, linens, hosiery, cottons, underwear, toys and fancy goods to the American consumer's list of stores in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, San Francisco and other cities.

"It will be my business to find the best class of English goods that American firms want," said Mr. Robbins. The organization will enable an American buyer, when he arrives here, to go directly to the very thing he requires. We will say cash for delivery at dock.

American buyers recently filled in requests to connect with goods which could fill a half-million-dollar line order or supply $50,000 worth of socks. The new organization is to be made out such things as—Shirts, socks, brushes, table cutlery and glassware are said to be in urgent demand. American business is expected high prices in this leap year.
