And here's the biggest tribute the bureau can pay them: There are few tax dodgers among the women.

ENER GOES ACROUD ON ROCKY REEF

Forty-five Passengers Are Believed Safe, According to Radiograms.

NEW YORK, March 11.—The Ward liner Esperanza with 45 passengers on board, according to a report from Progress, Mexico, according to a radiogram picked up today by the naval communicating service. The Esperanza was on its way from New York to Vera Cruz by way of Havana.

At the local office of the Ward line it was said that the details had been received but that no alarm was felt for the safety of the passengers and crew as there are usually a number of ships near the spot where the liner went aground.

Wireless information to the Ward line officials stated that the Esperanza had been maneuvered and that the engine rooms were full of water and the engine disabled.

The Esperanza, commanded by Captain J. H. Curtis, was on its way from New York to Havana from Vera Cruz when she met with the accident.

The steamer Adelfo, which she was hastening to the relief of the Esperanza, would take off the passengers and crew if that were found necessary.

Other Ward steamer in the vicinity were reported to proceed to the Esperanza's assistance.

Speaker's Tribe Is Out to Win Pennant

By JACK YENICK

NEW YORK, March 12.—The Speaker and his Cleveland Indians have been the subject of much consideration among baseball writers in laying up American League pennants for the coming campaign for the 1929 pennant.

When Trillick took command of the "Indians," following Lee Fuld's resignation in mid-season last year, there was some doubt as to whether or not he possessed the qualifications necessary to a successful manager. That doubt has been removed.

Speaker made good from the start and manager. He kept the Indians leading until the very end of the season and the fact that they played even better ball under his leadership than they did under Fuld's is the opinion of those who are of the opinion that their hopes of seeing the Indians annex a pennant would have been established.

Trillick's speaker's tribe has been the start of the season. Who knows?

The Indians of 1929, then, must be considered as certain pennant contenders. On paper they look to be the class of the American League and the fact that Speaker's players are his main, and that their appeal for the fame of fortune that comes with the pennant is a fact that adds to the playing of the world's best ball has not been satisfied. In fact, that they are acting to win the greatest feat in the history of the club.

It appears that Speaker's chances of success with the Indians depend largely on how his pitchers show up and how he manages them. Pitching has been the Cleveland weakness. The Indians have been in need of a good left-hander or two for several seasons.

In this respect, Speaker believes he has found the man to solve the problem in Dick Nebusz, lanky south-paw hurler from the St. Paul club. Nebusz worked in fifty games for the St. Paul club season, winning nine and losing nine, with a record of 12 in the association where there is a whole lot of hitting and many good pitchers club swingers.

So Nebusz will be depended on to hold up the outpouring end of the pitching for the Indians unless Job Doehling returns to the club and if he does, Speaker and his admirers feel pretty sure that the Cleveland right-hander will be able to take care of the rest of it. Trillick probably figures that because he has had him 20th in the league here, dominating the batting order, the ranks of his right-hand pitchers in their league will be delighted to see good numbers would be able to take care of their clubs to the extent of winning enough games to make up the deficit in the "volume" that lost the pennant for the Tribe last season. In other words, Speaker and his supporters are a club of the calibre of the Indians can win a pennant with a right-handed pitching staff.

The Indians have a lot of class. In addition to Nebusz, they took fourteen pitchers to the training camp at New Orleans.

AMERICAN MODISTES ATTACK SUPREMACY OF FOREIGN STYLES

NEW YORK, March 11.—Fashion, too, instead of cloth alone, "Chiffons" today is spoken of as impending will be fully and completely "made in America." American modistes are attacking the supremacy of foreign styles, and designers to combine the styles of the midday's Spring frocks and cloth, in favor of Laced gowns and flower prints. Imported creations, their own creations for the first time during the war years, are being made in America before the words of American designers.

Fifth avenue modistes, led by George Bernard Company, who favor American styles, already have placed their creations for the coming season, but the importers of French designs will not begin the showing of continental styles until the middle of next month. Head "peaked" and "lattice" the greatest importers are now in the market for the following autumn, awaiting the first showing of Paris-creation.

The length of sleeves will be one-quarter of the contour length, to favor abbreviated sleeves, with the American designers favor either one-quarter or three-quarter length, with option evenly divided. There will be no material change in the length of frocks or dresses, depending on whether the frock will be from eight to fifteen inches. The frock will be as elegant, however, as the age and Bernard declares three-quarter sleeves will predominate.

Grass blades and the fables will dominate in dance frocks. The preferred tones will be "hearts of orange and green." In dinner gowns Chantilly lace will appear for the first time. The new frocks will be an added feature, which black will be the favorite color, with black over white.

Modistes favoring another sort of American fashions, favor dresses.

Jazz Makes Weather Wicked, Says This Prognosticator

ALBANY, N. Y., March 12.—While the weather has been stormy, a weather prophet for the city and county has predicted weather for six days, and last Fall predicted one of the hardest winters on record, he said. "The cause was that the upper air currents were heavier than normal and this was brought about by the large number of naval dirigibles with kites and balloons in this winter. Musical vibrations help to keep the air heavy, bringing down the storm clouds. It is an old proverb that the picnic and the thunder showers are usually found together."

Millionaire "Farmers" Plan to Do Less Farming

PITTSFIELD, Mass., March 12.—Deleah of Charles S. Mottin to do less farming is in keeping with the plans of other millionaire Berkshire "farmers" this year to cut expenses. MOVIE COMPANY TO FILM TWO REEL COMEDIES HERE SOON

K. K. Productions of Ogden Branch Out And Will Use Scenery Near T. F. As Background For Pictures

Twin Falls is to have a movie company all its own. The K. K. K. Productions of Ogden, Utah, are branching out and expect to produce two reel comedies here. The company arrived yesterday at noon and during the afternoon W. H. Robinson, president of the company, will be in the city until the week ends will under way, took him around the town to the Shoshone Falls and other scenic places. The company has several locations for the comedies.

The K. K. K. company has been producing over the country and during that period made a number of successful pictures. The company has been negotiating with the New York distributing agency and another large concern but it is not known which one will receive the rights to the pictures.

Stock is being taken by many Twin Falls business men and the company, which is capitalized at $50,000, is very optimistic over the prospect.

"We are beyond the experimental stage," said Mr. Robinson today. "Immediately upon completion of the pictures," we can distribute them and we certainly have some fine stuff coming up."

"Panhadde Pele," the well-known comedy clown, with his wife, said to be the smallest one in the world, has been appearing with marked success at various points throughout the country and during the winter on large vaudeville circuits. He will be featured in the first comedy picture to be written at the present time by Mr. Robinson, who is the author of a number of the plays.

The idea of the trick make it will take with the public like a "duck in water" for the animal performers without being spoken to, being a sort of mysterious creature which had appeared with its master many times.

"Panhadde Pele" once signed a contract to make pictures for William Fox, the noted producer of big class dramas and comedies but unfortunately was called to the colors before he was able to start work. Since his discharge from the service, he has been in Nevada and Mr. Robinson, realizing the great talent, has not been in corraling him to appear in pictures. It is expected that he will be signed in a very short time.

"The idea of the successful has been to bring to the public the best of the present picture production constantly."

A lay from Ogden, a very capable actor, according to Mr. Robinson will aid in the picture with "Panhadde Pele" and a number of comrades will also be engaged. The pictures will vary some in nature but all will be laughable in the extreme. It is understood that in the first picture, the male, or rather his blind leg, will play the most conspicuous part and there will be a number of action injected into the film.

One reason for locating a studio here is because of the bounteous scenery, the male, or rather his blind leg, will play the most conspicuous part and there will be a number of action injected into the film.

For some time Mr. Robinson has been aware of the scenic possibilities of this region, having made several trips here, and had visions of establishing a branch studio somewhere in southern Idaho. The scenic attractions around Twin Falls are about any other good state city and hence the company selected it.

There is at present a $1 per acre also but it is expected to be raised in the near future. A local manager will be placed in charge of the property and Mr. Robinson expects to remain in charge of the company's operations with headquarters at Ogden.

The committee, which has in its hands a bill for the purpose of amending the laws relating to the development of the country, "We have got to amend our laws so far as they apply to Alaska so as to make it possible for a man to acquire property and to improve his condition," said Mr. Curry.

"There is no reason for a man to leave civilization and go to Alaska when he can improve his condition in San Francisco or New York, I am going to present measures that will permit of the private development of Alaska.

"The land area of Alaska," continued Mr. Curry, "is 575,000 square miles. It is one of the largest of southern Alaska is more temperate and more equable than that of Washington. It is one of the most fertile and most productive of the northern portion has a soil of enormous vegetable, berries and hazelnuts, large quantities of gold, copper, lead, zinc, silver, iron, tin, and other minerals, and has a large population of less than 65,000 white inhabitants.

"There is but one railroad of any length in Alaska, and that is the Alaskan coast line, which is a private road built primarily for the purpose of reaching the interior. It is a road built by the owners of the road. There are safe harbors and feasible passages for terminal facilities and for passing large quantities of goods and passengers. PRIEST HELD AS PRO-GERMAN OUT

SALT LAKE, March 12.—Upon orders from the department of justice in Washington, Father Henry Dehn, pastor of St. Ignace, was arrested yesterday from the war prison camp at Fort Douglas where he had been confined for fourteen months. He was arrested because he was alleged to have written a letter to the bishop of the diocese of Salt Lake City.

Yesterday he denied this, saying that he had read the form printed by the pope to all German Catholics during praying for an early peace. Father Dehn left for New York last night where he will sail for Germany.

CHORUS GIRL'S Son Is Refused Share in Fortune

CHICAGO, March 12.—Henry Anthony Marsh, the young son of the late Henry Field, and Peggy Marsh, former London chorus girl, is not entitled to a share in the Marsh fortune, according to a ruling handed down today by Superior Judge Sullivan.

Judge Sullivan denied a petition filed in behalf of the boy by his mother, asking that he be permitted to share in the millions left by the late Margaret Field in his grandsons and children. The case largely centered around the court's interpretation of the phrase "lawful issue" contained in the Marsh will, which provided for reaching his decision Judge Sullivan set forth:

"Henry Anthony Marsh is not in the class of persons who were contemplated by the testator (Margaret Field), as being one of the heirs to the estate; and is not such an issue of the grandson, Henry Field, as will be permitted to share in any part of the share of Henry Field under the terms of the will."

The $100,000 contract between Henry and Peggy, which was made in 1910, however, so that the boy and his mother will be provided for.

The decision of Judge Sullivan thus leaves Captain Marshal Field III, and Wendell Field sole heirs to the Field millions.

The suit of Miss Marsh, and its consequent ending of her romance with the Field, attracted attention throughout the country.

PATERNALESTIC PRICES

Many people regarded it as a bluff when William M. Wood, president of the American Woollen company, declared that unless the merchants of Lawrence, Mass., lowered the prices of the necessities of life for his mill workers, he would do it himself. The merchants professed their inability to make any effective reduction, and Mr. Wood proceeded to keep his word. The results, as told in a recent dispatch from Lawrence, to a New York newspaper, are impressive.

The American Woollen company has a 10-story building piled with goods for the exclusive purchase of its 15,000 employees. There is nearly everything in the way of staple food, clothing and shoes. The saving indicated is such as to make an ordinary consumer gape with envy.

Round steak that sold last December, in retail stores, at 40 to 50 cents a pound, now sells at the company store for 25 cents a pound. Sirloin steak was dropped from 30 to 20 cents; Hamburg steak from 25c to 19 cents; fresh eggs from 95 cents a dozen to 69 cents. Canned goods that formerly sold for 30 cents are sold to the selling for 11 cents, and potatoes that was 75 cents a peck are down to 30 cents. Gloves have dropped from $1 a pair to 35 cents. Women's suits that cost $50 and upward in December are sold for $25; men's suits that cost $60 to $80 are $18 to $25; shoes are down more than 50 per cent.

And the employees are not the only ones to benefit, though they have the exclusive privilege of buying at this paternalistic store. Retail merchants in Lawrence have lowered their prices considerably.

What this company is doing in Lawrence is being done by other companies in various cities, though seldom with such thoroughness. In every case there is a very substantial saving to the workmen.

And it is noted that this service is not wholly philanthropic. The company is likely to gain rather than lose. For by lowering the employees' cost of living, it is meeting the fundamental labor problem and making it unnecessary to pay higher wages.

The practice is to be continued in so far as it is not carried to the extreme of unfair discrimination against legitimate merchants, driving honest retailers out of business.

A GOVERNOR ON HOME GARDENS

The governor of California has issued an appeal to the people of the state for planting of home gardens. The reasons he gives to Californians for utilizing the back yards for production are equally applicable in any state in the Union.

His address, which follows, falls in line with the best thought of the day on one of the simplest and happiest methods of reducing prices:

"The success of the home gardens during the war leads me to renew the appeal to all home-dwellers in California to engage in the movement again as an effective step towards lessening the high cost of living.

"With labor supply greatly decreased and demand for production greatly increased, our people must diligently expand their productive energies. To do this each and every family should begin at home on their own lot, and I may earnestly hoping that the housewives' leagues, which is properly conducted should be organized in every community, will take hold of and promote home grown vegetables and home grown meats.

"A large majority of all the homes in the cities, towns and villages of California are built on lots large enough for considerable area to be given to gardening. Indeed there is scarcely a family living in a separate home that cannot grow on its own lot some table vegetables. A few chickens or rabbits can also be raised with great profit and satisfaction.

"If luxuries are limited, if the price paid is less extravagant, if reasonable economy is practiced, if you will grow on your own home lots—as you can—all or a part of the vegetables used, a big decrease in the cost of living will be the result.

"Try it this year—grow your own vegetables—raise your own chickens and eggs and wherever possible, some rabbits.

"We owe it to our children and to our country to show up on extravagance and to speed up home production."

"It is reported that the Boston street-cleaning department was clever enough to think of using a steam shovel and motor trucks to remove unusually abundant snow from city streets. New York City street-holders were found to put up signs that read 'your next winter'.

He says also we are taller in the morning than in the evening. That is easily accounted for. When we wake up, we stretch ourselves.

Peter Jackson's Boxing Tips

W. F. Corbett recently wrote the following to the Sydney Referee: "I do not think there was a more capable, reliable or painstaking teacher of the art of boxing than Peter Jackson in any part of the world. He first instructed his pupil how to walk in knowledge of the same and he led him along, step by step. Peter Jackson did not first class 'boxers' than any other teacher of the game I have known or heard about. The secret of this success was in the fact that he could explain clearly every thing he wanted done and how it could be accomplished; also he never allowed a pupil to get away from one step before he was as much master of it as possible. Jackson had a good step in his method of teaching. The beginner was taught to stand. Larry Foley used to put it, with the eye, the arm and the foot in line, all pointing toward the opposing boxer. The toes of the left foot had to be absolutely straight in front of their owner, neither turned to the right nor the left; the slightest degree being that meant probable trouble. Peter Jackson's method was to let the beginner step away from his teacher's feet, forward, more leading and stepping till he reached the end of the rope, then it was the tutor's turn to help away.

Presently nowadays we see so called chess players, who play the whole or the major part of their game upon the front foot, thus neglecting shifting the rear foot forward before attacking. This neglect of improvement can be made. This delay might result in trouble, and occasionally disaster, where a rapid move would have been necessary to be contended with.

Never let from where you are standing except when at close quarters. Step in with your knee, advised Jackson. This is explained as the force of the delivery and helped materially toward its making contact with a back moving or stepping antagonist. Height and reach are distinct advantages in boxing. Peter would tell his classes, and so they would, to step in with your knee, as the fall of the knee, he counseled keeping the back foot no more than perhaps twenty-four inches away from that in front.

Bush Has a Hit

MADON, Ga., March 12.—Frank Bush, star pitcher for the Detroit Tigers, who are training here, has an underarmy this season in the person of Andy Higney, a star pitcher from the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College. Higney was signed by Manager Johnson for the 1922 season and the very experience was forgotten by President Navin and his staff. Charles, secretary of the Detroit club, filed a few weeks ago, Secretary Navin in "clearing his name" for the 1922 season and immediately got in communication with Higney, with the result that the Lone Star pitcher was signed for Bush who reported here with the thirty-five other Tiger players.

It is not likely that Bush will be pulled in favor of the youngster this year, but there is no substitute on the Bengal roster who can "sit in" for him. The Detroit club will have a fine chance for seasoning with a big league club, drawing a big league salary. President Navin hopes to develop a successor for Bush who is finally forced out of the game.

Northiders No Match for Local Hoop Stars Who Ramp Away With One Sided Victory

The Twin Falls girls basketball team triumphed over the Wendell females in a game played at the local gymnasium in the town of Wendell, Idaho, last night. The contest was very exciting and the Wendell girls did not score a single field goal. In fact, the Wendell basket shogers did not have the ball in their possession much of the time.

Lola McCracken on Twin Falls center played a star game, securing the jump over her opponent practically every time although the Wendell girls were considerably taller and had a greater reach.

Lola Taylor and Martha Sears, the local forwards covered the floor superbly well. The Wendell forwards were unable to guard them effectively. Their own work was good, their team work excellent and their baskets were over their feet throughout the evening. This combination was one the Wendell could not overcome and they were forced to cross the river with the short end of the score.
