Canal Election Case Trial Set Next Saturday

The petition filed by farmer stockholders of the Twin Falls Canal Company seeking to have the last election of directors set aside on the grounds of illegal influence will come on for trial in district court before Judge Inbeck next Saturday at 10 o'clock a. m.

Hearing of the protest against the Canal Company's election methods was postponed by a determination that had been made by the company to keep the matter from the courts. Two dissenters were finally overruled, their effect merely being to cause a minority of the complainants of the farmers.

Validity of the election of former directors, J. D. Barker, J. O. Lincoln, Claude Brown and F. A. Kennedy is in question. The petition contains that at least 60,000 ballots were illegally cast by voters who were not legal stockholders. Protest is also made against the election of several thousand votes being cast in the illegal and the total vote being 100,000.

Farmers throughout the tract are deeply interested in the suit. Among the protesters are Frank DeKlois, H. Merrill, Peter Erickson, I. G. Hill and George E. Jones. The protest was held at a mass meeting of farmers held following the election in which General Obregon was present. The suit was presented by the well-known lawyer, W. J. Weller, was unopposed from the canal board. One of the chief reasons for the suit is that the fight is the control and administration of the canal system of the Twin Falls tract, no longer bonafide stockholders of the company, or have no further interest in the tract.

Denies Limiting Number of Booze Prescriptions M.D.'s Are Allowed

WASHINGTON, April 28.—No limit has been placed upon the number of whiskey prescriptions a physician may issue under legitimate means. This was made today by John F. Driscoll, deputy secretary of the commissioner of the health department, who said that any limitation placed upon doctors, contrary to the law, would be considered as an infringement upon the constitutional right of the citizen to receive medical attention.

"Sincere reports stating that doctors could not use more than a certain number of prescriptions in a given period, may have been based on a letter of instruction for the use of the health department for exceptional cases of violence. For instance, one doctor issued 416 prescriptions in his office during the type of doctor who does not deserve a permit.

PESSIMISM IS OPENLY SHOWN

COVELESKIE MAY SET NEW HURLING MARK

Has Pitched and Won Four Out of Four for Indians So Far This Season

NEW YORK, April 25.—Stanley Coveleskie, star right hander of the Cleveland Indians is setting a pace that may win him the striking pre-eminence of his league this season. With the pennant race two weeks off today, Coveleskie has won four games in as many starts for the Indians' tribe and is showing remarkable consistency.

It was Coveleskie who started the Indians off on the right foot in the opening game of the season, when he beat out the St. Louis Browns with five hits while his own team made nine runs.

Since that victory "Cove" has registered victories over the Tigers, the Browns and White Sox in the order named. He handed Chicago its first defeat of the season by outpitching Urban Faber in Tuesday's game at Cleveland.

Coveleskie is a big strapper, six foot with a lot of speed when he wants to use it and a good curve ball, and is also an exponent of the splitter, which is to be talked over here.

The work of the big lad from Shamokin to the box for Cleveland has been enthusiastically lauded by the fans of the Indians. He was seventh in rank in the American league in effectiveness for 1918.

CLASSROOMS AT STATE U. OVERCROWDED

Much Difficulty Created by Rapid Growth, Declares President Ernest Lindley

MOSCOW, April 25.—Decided overcrowding in both class rooms and laboratories has caused no little difficulty at the University of Idaho in the course of the present year according to a statement made today by President E. H. Lindley.

"This lack of space is particularly burdensome in the Administration building and Morrill hall where the departments of geology, history, physics, geology, human economics and the agricultural sciences, all year have crowded and in many instances conditions arising from overcrowding, said President Lindley.

"The enrollment in several of these departments has increased more than 100 percent in the past three years, necessitating improvements in the way of augmented facilities and increased room which has been made until the limit of available space has been reached.

"As this increase in enrollment has been confined to the sciences alone, adjustment might have been made, but other departments in the college of letters and science have increased proportionately. The most phenomenal increase has been in the department of general economics, which is now 150 percent larger than it was three years ago.

"Also a situation will be somewhat relieved by the completion of the new south wing of the Administration building, which will be ready for occupancy before the next college semester opens, but even this additional space will not meet the quickly the needs of several of the largest departments. Substantial increases in the undergraduate body expected next fall will further complicate our problem.

"In order to make provision both for the present and the future the state board of education will be asked to recommend to the legislature that the university be granted a science hall which will house the departments of geology, botany, geophysics, human economics, bacteriology and forestry.

BERLIN CRISIS INTERESTS HOLLAND

Dutch Keep Close Watch on Developments in German Political Situation

THE HAGUE, April 25.—Will Dutchmen "sit" in Germany and what will happen to it is the great question in Holland today. All eyes are turned to Germany, and every Dutch news is eagerly seized and discussed. Most of the news, on account of the wires between The Hague and Germany having been cut, is obtained from England, but some comes from the relief that they have crossed the border at Brussels, and their reports do not tend to reduce the fear of the Hollanders.

"The average citizen of Holland," said a newspaperman who has had some 20 years' experience in the country, "is a cold, unimaginative character who is content to do his work and let the country be governed as the powers see fit to order. The Dutchman is a quiet worker in a large city, such as Amsterdam, Rotterdam, The Hague and other places, who has never greatly excelled by the Holands, but recently and particularly by the apparent success which has lately attended the movement.

"They are the class of men they most despise—the men who are at the top of the tree and killing recognition and admiration, naturally, they feel that if the peasant Dutchman can attain such an apex there is no reason why the hard-working and intelligent laborer of Holland cannot get to just as good a place.

"It is certain, therefore, that if the Bolsheviks or Spartacists call them out you will, they are the same—make a success of their attempt to grasp the reins of government in Germany, we will have much trouble here.

"That the Government of Holland is aware of the danger and is preparing to meet it, is a matter of fact. The army is ready—and has been for some time—to mobilize. The fact that Holland has received the German ultimatum that he will take no part in politics or political movements has robbed the pro-military party much of its ammunition and the great question now is will the Hollanders live the same and quiet life as they did to the present government as they did to the old one when there was a chance for the deposed Kaiser to return.

"The Crown Prince is not liked in Holland. The habit of living in a place where he has the temporary home, is watched day and night by Dutch politicians and the deposed Kaiser himself that now and again are under constant observation by the Hollanders. It was believed during the unrest and changes of Government in Germany that he might attempt to make an entry into Germany by aeroplane as "the man on horseback" in the big crisis of his country, and he received the understanding that a very strong intimation from the Dutch Government that any such action would be dealt with very harshly.

"So "Little Willie" is keeping very still at this moment, but it is well known that Holland will be given up the hope that he will be protected by the voice of the people of Germany as their ruler. He has confidence rings of callers who manage during the railroad strike

ATTACK ON BRITISH TARIFF

LONDON, April 25.—The British tariff bill, giving preference to the colonies and science, has been attacked by Sir George Curzon, secretary of state for foreign affairs, in a speech made in the House of Commons today.

"The reason for America's change of mind," he said in a speech here, "is that as a result of the war we have added to our territory a vast amount of territory to our empire. We now possess approximately 15,000,000 square miles.

"During the war we began putting a tariff wall around the empire. The tariff wall is now being raised to the level of nations and protection to our empire. If we do not make friends with America we must take down this wall.

"We must admit a free-trade policy on the same terms that we admit our own. Our interests demand that we should have a free-trade policy on the same terms that we admit our own. Our interests demand that we should have a free-trade policy on the same terms that we admit our own.

BEES LOST SEEKING POLLEN

Minneapolis Expert Recommends Insects Be Not Liberated Until Food Supply is Plentiful.

Bees sometimes get lost, says L. V. Pringle, of the Department of Agriculture. They do so because they are looking for pollen. Therefore, Mr. Pringle suggests that beekeepers should not liberate bees until there is a plentiful supply of pollen available in the neighborhood.

OVERHAUL FARM IMPLEMENTS

Matter of Economy in Using Various Machines and Make All Necessary Repairs.

It will be found a matter of economy on every farm to give the various machines and implements a careful inspection of the need for repairs. Incidentally, it will be found that it is better to have all oil put on all exposed surfaces of metal or wood. Costs of implements are increasing and a little attention in overhauling in advance of the season of use may more than extend the life of a machine for several years.

ITALY MAKES OYSTERS SAFE

Removes Impurities by Keeping Them in Sterilized Sea Water for a Week.

Washington—An Italian company has perfected a process for removing impurities from oysters, according to reports from the Italian Consulate in London. The process consists of placing the oysters in a tank of sterilized sea water and allowing them to remain there for a week before they are sent to market.

HAISH? IT JUST GROWS

Washington, May 26. (Special.) It is not a Warren bug sought for its fat content, as is the case with the house fly, but a new pest of oysters which is being reported from the Chesapeake Bay. It is called "Haish" and is not a fly, but a minute, worm-like creature which grows on the oysters and is believed to be the cause of the "oyster fever" which is now being reported from the Chesapeake Bay.

OLDEST MONEY FOUND IN DENVER

Currency 150 Years Old Discovered in Old Trunk; Called "Bag Money."

NEW YORK, April 21.—What is believed to be the oldest piece of United States currency ever has been unearthed here from an old trunk in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Hittell, of Chicago.

The history of the currency which has been handed down through several generations of the Hittell family, dates back nearly 150 years to the time when American paper currency was first introduced in the country.

"It is the oldest money I have ever seen," Mrs. Hittell said. "It was found in a trunk which I inherited from my grandfather, and which I believe was used for the purpose of carrying money to the frontier."

The money, which is made of leather, is of a circular shape and is about the size of a modern nickel. It has a hole in the center and is stamped with the words "ONE CENT" and "UNITED STATES OF AMERICA."

Mrs. Hittell's ancestors were real estate agents in Kentucky and she said that the money was worthless as money, but that it was of great historical interest.

The trunk was found in the attic of the Hittell family home in Chicago. It was found by Mrs. Hittell while she was cleaning out the attic.

VICTIM OF FATE'S HARSHNESS

Had story of Luther K. Linkenbooper Would Move Almost Any One to Tears

"As I was coming to town just now," said the witness, "I saw a peculiar sight; a thin, white-haired man, clad in a red-sash coat, perched in a top hat and every now and then crying 'I think I'm a victim of fate's harshness.'"

That was Luther K. Linkenbooper, a Chicago official and member of the Chicago Express & Freight Handlers' Union for conspiracy in slugging and branch bomb throwing.

How much should I give to make this a better world?

A CERTAIN man in New York filled out his income tax report.

It showed an income so large that his tax was $375. And his total gifts to church and charity for the year were $148.

Think of it—thousands spent for luxuries and pleasure for himself, and $148 to leave the world a little better than he found it.

Most of us do better than that; but not so very much better.

Our average daily gift for all church causes is

- less than we spend for daily papers
- less than a local telephone call
- less than a third the day's car fare
- less than 3 cents a day

No wonder that 80% of the ministers of America are paid less than $20 a week. No wonder that the church hospitals turn away thousands of sick people a year. No wonder that China has only one doctor for every 400,000 people. No wonder that every church board and charity society is forever meeting deficits, forever passing the hat.

It isn't because we are selfish; it isn't because we don't want to help. It's just because our own hearts are not great big programs to us, and asked us to think of the work of the church in a systematic business way.

The Interchurch World Movement represents the united program of thirty denominations. They have surveyed their whole task, no business could have done it better.

They have budgeted their needs; no business could have a more scientific budget. They have united to present the possibility of wars and disruption. At least a million dollars will be used to do that every individual campaign is joined in one united effort.

And they come to the men or women who love America—to you—this week asking you to use them as the channel through which a certain definite part of your income can be applied to make this a better world.

It's your chance to determine what part of your income that should be.

It's a good time right now to answer that question. We're passing through the world just once; how much better will the world be because you passed through?
