CONVICT GAINS LIBERTY IN BLIZZARD

Cuts Through Wall of Cell with Needles and Successfully Escapes

RAWLINS, Wyo., May 3.—Here again, considering the fact of the recalcitrant inmates of the Wyoming State penitentiary, engineered an escape from the prison during a daring and sensational than that staged by "Vanishing Bill" Carlisle, the notorious robber who eluded armed posse for nearly a month before his recapture.

Letton, but the prison warden, stocks and bail, and clad only in his striped convict garb, while a successful escapee by cold and wind, says.

William Smith, another convict, crossed with Letton, but was taken before he got outside the great array walls of the institution.

The death cell to which both Letton and Smith had been committed because of their escape is a lavatory. The lavatory drain carried through a hole in the hard steel wall of the cell, and was covered by a sheet of malleable steel.

Against this softer steel covering Letton laboriously scratched with needles that he had stolen from the prison work factory. When he had made a passage, Smith relieved him of the task. Eventually the needle cut through the softer steel and the plate was separated from the wall of the cell.

The convicts tore the pipe space, retraced the plate that enclosed it and crawled through the aperture to a corridor that led from the death house to the main part of the prison.

Still using the needle, Letton picked the lock of the door which barred his progress and found himself free of the death cell's restrictions. Unobserved, Letton and Smith scaled three tiers of cells and gained access to the prison attic.

Tracking the concrete and steel of the roof of the building they emerged into open air on top of the prison building.

With a Spring blizzard cutting wind and stinging snow—raging, the pair jumped from the roof of the building to the ground below, utilizing some bedding obtained by Letton to soften the impact with the frosted ground. Finding a bar of iron, Letton bent it into a hook and fastened it to a piece of rope and cast the hook to the top of the prison wall. Climbing the rope, Letton was able to get to freedom just as guards arrived and captured Smith.

Immediately upon the prisoner's escape was spread throughout the surrounding country, but from the incident the warden availed the help of less "sawbones" and stockings, and without a trace of him has been discovered.

His successful escape parallels that of William Carlisle, who made his way to temporary freedom by slipping in a box of shirts being shipped from the prison factory, but was later captured after being shot by deputy Letton in one of the most sensational prison hunts Wyoming has known.

Smith was serving a five-year sentence for grand larceny and because of his "sawbones" escape was confined in the death house.

HATS VERY SMALL OR LARGE

Advance Notice of Season Shop Well-Marked Tendencies and Some Novelties.

The advance hats for spring show many indications of the current fashion, some well-marked tendencies and some novelties. These novelties, from the very fact of their entrance, are apt to remain novelties and to lack definite influence on the mode. Many of the first spring hats of the season are made up rather to interest and attract the designer buyer. Later a more conservative charm marks the millinery fashion both in France and America, after they have been modified by the influence of well-dressed women.

Several general tendencies may be noted. Hats are either very small or of quite large proportions. This does not mean that the enormous "Merry Widow" headdress is in any danger of returning. The Frenchwoman does not look well in a very large hat, though it often becomes to her a tall and slender American cousin. If the hat is small it is almost sure to have a lot of something sticking out sharply at an angle. Scalloped effects defining the shape of the head are shown in Vogue. They are popular, especially with ribbons. The most elaborate of ribbons are of light shades of green or blue, set at right angles to the head at the right side over the ear.

FASHION NOTES OF INTEREST

Overstays fall below the foundation line. Hat and gold lace is a good combination.

Vanity cases are of brocade velvet, leather or suede.

Leather is much used for a millinery decoration.

Moccasin brown is a new color among neckties.

Handkerchiefs are of printed linens in vivid colors.

Lace collars define the collarless styles of simple serge dresses.

Chamois hosiery shows with pink quilts is a recent vogue idea for a hat.

A dominant vogue in color schemes and designs is of oriental inspiration.

Tailored slacks show and the latest tailored necks are also favored.

Tucked and scalloped chemisettes of white organdy are used on serge frocks with breast openings.

Paris sport skirts are short, with fullness about the hips, many being draped with cascades rather than panel effects.

NEW DEMAND FOR RIBBONS

Vestees incorporated in Garmonts Accounts for Silk Manufacturers Entering Trade.

Businessmen now on the road with ribbon lines are sending in good orders and the trade as a whole is described as being in a healthy condition. Production is being stepped up to what manufacturers desire, and the record prices of raw silk are giving a very bright outlook for the future.

Call from the trade is not as active as it was, the loss in this direction having been made up by the fact that the demand for the silk trade. Vestees are no longer separate articles, but are incorporated in garments, which accounts for the movement of the mill manufacturers into the ribbon trade for the first time in several years.

IN JEWELRY FADS

Decorations Sensational Rather Than Extravagant.

Throat Latch and Pendant with Matching Earrings Brings Forth the Most Comment.

The present mode of wearing all sorts of striking jewelry has passed the stage where it may merely be referred to as extravagant; now it has become positively sensational, according to a Paris fashion writer. Quantities of remarkable jewelry were seen everywhere during the season in the south of France.

The jewel which created the most comment was a throat latch and pendant with matching earrings. These were very large and were made of platinum and diamonds. The earrings and the pendant were the same size and of the same design, the delicate chain which held the three together being of platinum and brilliants to match the three pendants.

A famous Parisian beauty wore this extraordinary ornament, with the simplest possible costume, the hair being brushed straight back and twisted into a low knot at the nape of the neck. Her dress was an extreme décolleté in black and she kept a sabbie coat on most of the time, as her black was absolutely made to the waistline. No other jewels were worn, not even a finger ring, but the marvelous brilliancy of her throat latch and earrings made the more pronounced the severity of the remainder of the toilette.

Another striking novelty in jewelry is a double bracelet of onyx set with rows of pearls with little clusters of pearls holding the two together. This is the many of the new bracelets, it worn above the elbow.

Very large earrings are much in vogue, like other present-day jewelry, are usually in combination of black and white or white and one colored stone, green and white being the combinations most often chosen. The preference for green and white jewelry has brought the emerald into even greater prominence and despite the fact that the prices of these stones have become almost fabulous, quantities of them are worn.

Watches are quite as elaborate in their design as earrings and bracelets.

FEMINE FANCIES

Scotch heather sweaters are prominent. The new Balkan blouse has a high collar.

Hat laces are used on tailored lingerie.

Figured net is the latest lingerie material.

Figured tulle is used for children's play frocks.

The entire hat today is expressed in the crown.

Shot tulle are printed in pompous patterns.

Excessive trimmings are features of the crechehouse.

Colored cotton embroideries are very charming.

The new up-and-down trimming is much in vogue.

Some tailored and Irish-trimmed negligees are of heavy, lustrous silk.

Black satin draped with black tulle is a wise choice for an evening gown.

A smart accessory is a dressy sort of silk tulle, bordered in printed silk.

All-white evening dress for second mourning is made of ring dot silk net.

Agony cloths in Scotch plaids, or with plazer stripes, are used for sport coats.

Early copies of gray squirrel fur are among the most luxurious garments.

Bulgarian embroidery, in bright colors, is seen on some of the spring frocks.

HAT MADE OF WOOD SHAVINGS

From wood pulp and shavings this exquisite hat is fashioned. It was recently shown in New York, and a number of other late Parisian ideas.

Washing Tapes.

The lace should be heated to a piece of cheesecloth before they are washed. Wash by "misting" up and down in lukewarm water, and then dip in several clear waters.

Take out hat in partially dry and then iron on the wrong side. If the hat is very old, it can be washed with the cheesecloth and not directly with the lace. When ironed and thoroughly dry, the lace will be as fresh as new. If care is taken.

FURS TO BE SUMMER CRAZE

Milady's spring or summer wardrobe are not complete unless she has one of these stunning white fox neck pieces.

HOW ABOUT NEW HAND BAG?

Series of Fascinating Loops Is Latest Style. How the Convenience is Constructed.

And here are some plans for a perfectly delectable little example of ultramodern tendencies in bags. It is a hand bag this, but a most different sort of hand bag, the beauty not being used in silver effect or even in outline effect, but in a series of perfectly fascinating loops.

Judging from what you've already been told, then, you will say your beads already strung, not trouble yourself to unstring them. Also, you will say them quite small, and of gold or silver, or any of the variety of colors that may suit your fancy, or, better still, your costume.

Now, this bag model begins with the usual satin or tulle foundation, and on more or less conventional drawing bag lines. Before you even think about "drawing" it, though, mark it off with horizontal lines about half an inch apart, much depending on the size of the bag itself, though in the first place.

For the marking, choose either chalk or conspicuously colored bast-ink sticks. Then using these stripes as guide lines, begin, one of the bag straps in place, to pull it tight to reach the guide line below. The lines secure half an inch apart, or an eighth of an inch from the first tacking.

Continuing that way all along one line, so to the line below, until you reach the bottom, where, for finish, you will use either a great tassel of the beads or a fringe of loops entirely larger than those used to cover the bag proper.

Finally go back to the opening of the top thereof, and pull a heavy silk cord through to act in the capacity of drawing string.

ARE DELICATE IN COLORING

New Vests Dresses Contrast With Trend of Handkerchief Linen Which Are Very Gay.

While the new vests dresses are delicate in coloring, those of handkerchief linen are very gay. The pale blues and pinks of past summers are colored in the bright oranges and even deep mahogany tints of this year. Organdies are introduced in these same bright shades. An orange colored organdy dress is made very much like the straight line voile dresses with the exception of a highly striped waistline, the stripes being held in place by an inch-wide black velvet ribbon which lies as a sash. The designer has cleverly added a touch that makes this model becoming to any woman. It is the addition of a deep collar of white organdy that is much like a little cape fastening with one button in the front at a low neckline.

Lines and volles, however, will not have the fashion felt entirely to themselves this summer, although they are very important. There are beautiful cross-barred dimities of the abstract sort which more than any that we have ever had before.

GRAPESIES IT YOGES

A glance the pretty dresses in the windows of the shops indicates that one may make use of any old thing to furnish no color spring over this season. An old silk dress may have draped over it an old lace dress and short sleeves may be lengthened by additional lace to the top. The only black used over bright colors, red, green and blue, but contrasting with the colors of the new season. For instance, on an amethyst vest, they all look very pretty. But dress, but experience has shown that it is not so easy to judge the fashions of the early summer and spring by the first displays.

"Posyfoot" Johnson, returned from his prohibition missionary work in England, prophesies that that country will be dry in eight or ten years. If that's so, any American can tell England's first families that it's none too soon to start laying in their private stock.

What do you suppose the birds think about that new fashion of wearing birds' wings on women's shoes? Maybe it looks to them very much as it would to us if birds, being bigger and stronger and more whimsical than human beings, took to wearing neckties of human cut.

France is going to deport undesirable now. If every nation did that," inquires a paragrapher, "where would the undesirable be dumped?" There's a new job for the League of Nations—establish an international dumping ground.

Do we realize that every time the government lets a billion slip into the pockets of special privilege, $50 slips out of every family budget in America?

The 100 per centers naturally suspect the farmers and the working people because they know who has been on the other side of the profit mongering.

America is going to participate in the European concert again, at least, an American symphony orchestra has just left for Europe.

Southern moonshiners have formed a union. For raisin wages, of course.

Clare's System Had One Fault—He Ought to Have Made Escape

CHICAGO, May 3.—When it came time to bring cattle to Chicago "to slaughter," a farmer of Shoshone, Miss., always accompanied "to the city." That this year his son "Clare" came for a chance at it, and "Clare" duly consented.

With a warning against "city slickers," Clare brought the cattle to the stock yards and exchanged them for $4,000 draft. Remembering "Clare" was a prominent member of the home, but not before a tax cab chauffeur had seen it. The latter offered to aid Clare in seeing the signs and Clare agreed.

The "signs" proved to be a honest woman named Belle. When Clare spoke of not having any ready money, the taxi driver agreed to cash checks for him. Therefore writing checks became Clare's main cash source. A new suit and hat for the "taxi slicker" brought the reply: "Don't know of any such party."

"Old man's just giving me a lesson," said Clare today. "Guess he'll help me out of this all right. But gee, I hope my girl Mary up in Shoshone don't find out about it."

France Fighting Big Labor Strike

By NEWTON C. PARKER.

PARIS, May 3.—Premier Millerand called a meeting of the cabinet again today to consider the strike situation. The impression grows that the government has decided to take a more radical labor element, who have been advocating a general strike. Dock workers at some French ports struck today and seriously impeded shipping movements. At Havre, the liner La France was held up and could not sail for New York on scheduled time. At Marseilles and Toulon, the Mediterranean ports, the dock laborers quit work.

Warships have been issued for the arrest of some of the labor agitators but had not been executed this afternoon.

News reached Paris today that the miners of the north of France had refused to strike, which was received with official satisfaction in official circles. Officials declared as long as coal could be kept moving to factories and industries the prospect of a general strike seemed remote.

"FINEST IN THE WORLD" HE SAYS

J. T. Hickey Praises Tanché Because of His Wife's Remarkable Recovery

"What I have been Tanché to do for my wife convinces me that it is the finest medicine in the world," was the statement made recently by J. T. Hickey, well-known employer of Taylor's Mill, who lives at 4623 Chicago St., Seattle, Wash., in telling of his wife's recovery after taking Tanché.

"My wife has been in bad health for over a year, troubled with indigestion, nervousness, headaches and rheumatism," continues Mr. Hickey. "She has never recovered whether she ate anything or not and when she did force herself to take a few bites it was more and more for her to have cramping pains. She would blot her up so bad that it caused us serious concern, and almost cut her breath off entirely. Her health was badly abandoned, and she had to be taken to the hospital in a pain in the small of her back. She had rheumatism in her sides and thighs, her back ached, she had no end of trouble and made it hard for her to get about the house. She was troubled with severe headaches and dizzy spells and her nerves were so upset that any little unexpected noise would excite her. At night she was so restless she could not get her little sleep and as a result of all her suffering she was in a miserable, run-down condition.

"Our daughter had taken Tanché and it had helped her so much that I thought she would be able to do it. I helped her right from the start and it looked like it was no time before she was able to do anything she wanted and digest it without the least bit of trouble. The rheumatism went away, her back ached no more, her head and dizzy spells are a thing of the past. Her kidneys are in good condition, the nerves are all restored, and she has just about gone and the nervousness has all left her. She is doing so fine every morning that it is an easy thing for her to do her housework. She has been in bed every way and is so much stronger that she looks like a different woman."

Tanché is sold in Twin Falls by City Pharmacy and by the leading druggists in every town.

"Flappers Called Saddest Type By Actor's Wife

LONDON, May 3.—"Girls with no aim in life but to walk up and down the streets, satisfied if they can get enough money to take them to picture palaces and keep them supplied with high-heeled shoes."

That is the judgment delivered by Miss N. de Silva against the modern girl of the middle class. Miss de Silva is the wife of the actor, and she herself is in the way of the play world.

She was speaking on the subject of "Women's Work" at a meeting in Dranglof of the People's League and in the course of her remarks she strongly arraigned the modern young girl. Other points she made were:—

"The girls who take a larger share in public life they must realize that they do not know the value of the money they are spending, which in the past had been the backbone of England's life of home."

"These little girls, the type of woman known as the flapper, who have children and half women, have become almost a type of this generation. It is not only in England, but in this country, they are everywhere. They do nothing and are of no use to the country. They are like a large barn. They do not qualify for mothers or for wives and therefore in the future they will be a burden on the state."

"The streets of our towns are crowded with these little girls, flappers and their kind, and they are everywhere. For the most part they do nothing or serve in shops and they are the cause of the waste of work in order to be able to dress up and walk about in the streets."

"Miss de Silva, however, was found exactly the same thing—there is no place for home and very little respect for the home. The girls are in life in tea and lunches in hotels and smoking cigarettes. What is the use of money and nothing else. Smoking itself is not a harmful thing, but when acquired as a habit it is a never been able to give up."

"Why should a girl smoke? I have had a pretty long experience and I can count on my fingers the women who smoke in the evening. It is a waste of money that you must have enough recreation and pleasure," said Miss de Silva. "It is not the girls, it is the deeper things that matter—mothers, fathers, home life and work."

BEFORE MAPLE SIGAR CROP REPORTED IN VERMONT

BERLINGTON, Vt., May 3.—A careful survey of the Vermont maple crop has been made and it is estimated to be about 200,000 tons to the crop at present, and on the east side of the State there are several days more of the season.

About 2,000,000 trees were tapped this year and this year the crop is a crop of more than 10,000,000 pounds, the largest crop in six years. In spite of the late start, the farmers have stretched every effort, and as many trees were tapped as in an average year. The late start has not hurt the maple sugar products paid $1.15 and $1.15 per gallon, and they expect to receive $1.15 per gallon for the crop of the high price paid for confectionery and sugar.

COSTLIEST R.R. IN U. S. IS TO BE DISMANTLED

Line Built to Top Rich Gold Field Expected to Suspend Service

CHIVEE CREEK, Colo., May 3.—Because of a production in the course of one of the greatest of Colorado bonanzas a dispute ago, has resulted in the past few months to a very large scale a section of the Colorado Springs and Cripple Creek railroad may suspend operations and its track and equipment be sold.

The railroad, known in many instances as the "Shury" line, runs throughout the country at the "Shury" line probably cost more money per mile for construction than any railroad in the United States. It is estimated that $400,000 was expended for each of the two-mile miles of railroad.

Receiver George S. Taylor, for this road, will petition the federal district court for permission to discontinue service, with the view, it is expected, that the line eventually will be sold.

Disruption in the mining business of the Cripple Creek gold camp is given as the reason for closing the railroad, which was built a score of years ago by New York financiers at a cost of more than $2,000,000, to give the first gold area from the mountains its reduction mine.

Although the Short Line handled 100,000 tons of ore in 1919, it carries a tonnage of gold ore, it was probably better known as a scenic line, and its construction was considered one of the greatest engineering feats of the late nineteenth century.

Through unannounced action of the receiver, the line was built, regardless of cost. Practically all the way the ties were laid on the ground. The first and best set rails were used and the road was provided with the best equipment.

The announced plan of the receiver is to run a brief "holiday trip" over the line, which would be charged, and the passenger service, including passenger service, discontinued for the remainder as soon as permission is granted by the court.

REV. BENNETT PLEASURES CROWD

Talks on "Will the Churches Get Together"—Much Interest Manifested

"What is it that divides the churches?" asked Rev. A. Bennett last night in the M. E. church, speaking to a great congregation that came to hear the church, the subject being "Will the Churches Get Together?" Largely it is not a question of creed but of order, or church government," he said. "American Christianity is in substantial agreement of faith."

"It has been said that what the soul is to the body, that the Christian is to the world together. Forward-looking men and women, with and without the membership of the churches are becoming convinced that cooperation, or union, is not only desirable, it is the wise and worthy program of the modern denominations."

BUHL FARMER IS SUICIDE

Willis Popp, Aged 32, Hangs Self By Rope Early This Morning In Barn

Willis Popp, aged 32, a farmer residing 11/2 miles south of Buhl, committed suicide at his ranch house this morning about 12:30 by suspending himself from the roof of the barn by a rope. He had been depressed for some time, it is said, and had previously shown suicidal tendencies.

At 12 o'clock, according to County Operator P. J. Greenman, who was called to the scene, Popp had entered the house and entered the barn, where he found a rope and suspended himself. This is the theory of Mrs. Shiro, his wife, who is living with her mother and father in Buhl.

The body is at present in the funeral parlors of Johnson-Kearns in Buhl and services will be held in the near future.

SCANDAL STIRS IN WAKE OF COW RACE

Loers Who Bet Against Molly Assert She Did Not Win Dash Honestly

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2.—Horse racing long has been known as the "sport of kings" but it remained for college students to stage the first cow race. And Molly, known also as the "Gallop and Galloway," a black cow with white spots and spotted ears, will go down in history as the winner of the first bovine Marathon.

Molly came stumbling into Berkeley recently and dropped anchor in the shade of the Campanile on the University of California campus. In taking a 100-mile dash from the University farm at Davis, Cal., Harold had the short attention span of a trout when a cloud of scandal arose to dim the lustre of Molly's athletic achievement.

To give point to the story it must be recorded that Molly carried with her on her 100-mile sprint, the support of many thousands. Molly's abominable black and spotted ears were not the only thing that attracted the attention of the thousands who gathered to witness the dash. Molly who had left Davis five days before.

An investigation is now under way by farm officials and university heads to ascertain if Molly was shipped in to race on the Stockton or is a brand new cow which never saw the highway at all, but was sent Berkeley from a nearby ranch where she was born, for the cow Molly which left Davis, but according to those who suspect that she is another cow, several have been found answering the description.

According to every motorcycle journalist between Stockton and Berkeley the highway is as void of hoofmarks as an iceberg in a flower. Although every one kept an eye out for the bovine racer, no one sighted her.

Just how Molly managed to pass over the highway between Stockton and Berkeley without being sighted is a mystery which no one is able to explain. The astonishing fact concerning Molly is that telephone calls to all points between Stockton, where the cow was last seen and Berkeley, reveal no information as to Molly's probable latitude and longitude.

It has been said that Molly was shipped from Stockton to Richmond by two cars and then led into Berkeley by a single cow. It is only a matter of time to make a 100-mile jaunt in five days.

The college boys on the network of highways between Stockton and Berkeley were "lured" with persons with telescopic eyes, and were looking for a trace of the bovine racer, but they looked in vain. Harry Kilburn, who wagered fifty cents on Molly, declared that it was not his ability. He gave vivid pictures of how Molly looked like through the telescope. The race between the farm school and Berkeley is an effort to maintain the honor of all cowboys by winning the first 100-mile race in history. He said: "These fellows who are trying to show that it was a farm-up and that this is not the same cow that left Davis, or that the race was a scam, have only personal gain in view. Molly wins a mighty boot." Molly left Berkeley with her head in the air and arrived in Berkeley in the same manner. She was pleased and seemed to realize that upon her arrival here depended the honor of the farm school, and the question of ownership of several dollars in good hard money.

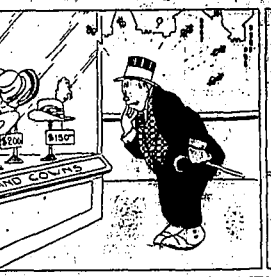

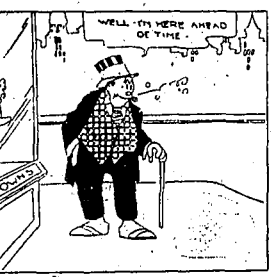

It was a hard trip for Molly. She was nearly all in when she arrived. It was striking work. Every night and morning she stopped to be milked. She plucked along as much as she knew exactly just what she had to do to reach here on time. I tell you that when a cow has as much sense as Molly has it is a shame to discredit her effort."

JOHNSON AND WOOD CRASH TODAY AFTER THE CAYLAND APPROVAL

The battle for the House delegation was, in substance, as the republican state convention to be held here May 12 and 13. The state convention was a 100-0 vote election in district convention will select the delegates to the Chicago convention. Although in all probability the Chicago delegation will be unimpaired, political opponents look for a real test of strength in the state convention where it is declared individual districts may be captured to stand pat on delegates to the Chicago meeting favorable to preferred presidential candidates. Observers say that the deep bucket may be upset and that Johnson's "halting" may mean nothing, when the convention's business is finished.

OUTFIELDER LAMAR ACTS AS FATHER'S STENOGRAPHER DURING HIS "OFF TIME"

This photograph shows Bill (Jack) Lamar, former Red Sox outfielder, on a hunting trip. Bill is his father's stenographer during "off time." His father is solicitor general of the post office department of the United States. Young Lamar is the only boy in the Lamar family for six generations who has not made the law his profession. His grandfather was chief justice of the United States under Cleveland, and his great grandfather was chief justice of the supreme court of Georgia. Bill intends to start the study of law next fall.

Young Lamar was recently released to the Louisville club of the American association in exchange for Tim Heurdez, for whom the Louisville club dropped various offers.

TAD'S TID-BITS

(Written for International News Service)

The Greatest Fighter In Ever Saw
NEW YORK, May 3.—Dear Tad—The interesting items about the "Great Fight" it seems strange no one has yet mentioned "The Greatest of Them All." So I will check off the following for your column:

Have the memories of some of the onlookers absolutely deserted them so that they have forgotten the man who was the victor in 10 battles, the man who cannot the death of four of his opponents, the man who took on all classes, who would fight for a pot of beer or a purse of $50, the man who an opponent would ever fight again once he had faced him in the ring, the man who came from generations of fighting attack and whom Jack McAuliffe, prince of seconds, claimed could take any living man in the world, irrespective of weight, looked up in a room with him and make him jump out the window, the man who came to America in 1887 from England to fight the lightweight champion, Jack McAuliffe, the man who was matched with Jimmy Mitchell in Philadelphia a "light" fight, to try him out, and who gave Mitchell an unmerciful beating in a couple of rounds, and then coolly faced the audience and said in a loud voice, "Bring on McAuliffe!"

Then the famous match at (forgot) near Boston, the same year. It is one black blotch on the history of American ring history. McAuliffe could not make the weight, so he hurried him from pillar to post, the gloves were lost, the shirt was on the trail, everything was done, give McAuliffe the fight, and he had always been. The end of that all was Jimmy Carney from Birmingham. To soothe his feelings he was given a belt and money amounting to about $1000 before he sailed for home. Your truly.

The man who has seen them from Billy Edwards, Arthur Chambers and Sam Collier to the present champion.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES

HERO FOR A DAY—Habe Ith of the Yankees.

The Babe set 25,000 fans wild with joy when he knocked a homer at the Polo Grounds, starting the Yankee rally that beat the Red Sox.

Not being satisfied with tying a scoring game with the Braves, Babe Ithob's Yankee last a 12 inning contest to Philadelphia. George Smith checked waiting ball for the Braves.

Over Fiesch's honor featured the victory of the White Stockings over the Browns.

The Tigers are out after the world's losing attack record. The Indians, with Hughie Piching, made too many runs.

An error by Javris enabled the Cubs to tie the Cardinals in the ninth and they won the game in the tenth when Killifer's double scored Parnes.

Walter Johnson acted as a pinch hitter for the Senators in the ninth inning of the game with the Athletics and saved the game against the Mackmen.

Cooper's brilliant pitching gave the Pirates a victory at Cincinnati. Not a Red player got as far as second base. Cooper gave up but four hits.

He had always been. The end of that all was Jimmy Carney from Birmingham. To soothe his feelings he was given a belt and money amounting to about $1000 before he sailed for home. Your truly.

The man who has seen them from Billy Edwards, Arthur Chambers and Sam Collier to the present champion.

PHENOMS OF 1920

JESS HAINES

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 3.—Once upon a time a wise old story brought a trout-baiting boy to an Ohio farmhouse. They named him Jesse, the rest of it being Haines. If that story is alive today he must be a proud old bird for Jesse Haines promises to be one of the masters of the St. Louis Cardinals in their fight for the National League hunting.

Haines, with a starboard delivery and change of pace, has won himself a berth with the Cards. Showing up in remarkable form during the Spring training, Haines went into the fourth game of the season for the Cards and pitched thirteen innings of superb ball against the Pirates. The Cards lost the game, but that didn't detract from Haines' scintillation, for he struck out five and failed to walk a man in the entire thirteen innings. And it was his premier big show performance.

Haines came to the Cards from Kansas City, where, joining the American Association club in June of last year he won twenty games and suffered four big defeats. Some time in the new club he has proved good ball for the Topics club of the Western League, but that was soon after he broke away from the farm down in Ohio.

Haines' value lies in his rapid change of pace and terrific speed. He hasn't any revolutionary curves or secret processes of dialing 'em up, but Old Burt a French 75 wouldn't appear to have so much on his shots for speed.

Card wisecracks predict he will win at least twenty games this season.

PROBLY KILLED HIM

LINCOLN, Neb., May 3.—Thomas Morris, Nebraska's oldest resident is dead at Westerville, Ohio, at the age of 123 years. Up to a few years ago he had actively participated in a steamboater.

Morris made two claims to fame—he never married and never attended school a day in his life. He was an inordinate user of tobacco and was not averse to having a nip of liquor.

Morris was born January 15, 1794, at Beloit, Montgomeryshire, Wales; His only brother died nearly thirty years ago.
