Federal Probe of Utah-Idaho Sugar Company Is Result of Price Raise

Attorney General Palmer Wires Salt Lake Official to Inspect Books for Profits, Claiming a Increased Price Unjust and a Violation

WASHINGTON, May 4.—Attorney General Palmer today wired District Attorney Evans at Salt Lake City to take immediate steps to have the Utah-Idaho Sugar Refining Company inspected in order to determine the price of refined sugar from 13 cents to 22 2/3 cents per pound. The department holds that such an increase is unjustifiable and instructs you to examine the books of the corporation to ascertain production costs and take other steps necessary to determine whether this company is profiteering.

Late Capitol Dope Ranks Wood Ahead of Johnson in Indiana but on the Scene of Action the Senator Rules a Favorite—Hoover and Johnson Will Pit Their Strength on the Pacific Coast Bailwick

Maryland Delegation Instructed for Gen. Wood

BALTIMORE, Md., May 4.—Practically complete returns today show that General Leonard Wood has defeated United States Senator Hiram V. Johnson of California for the Republican presidential preference in Maryland. The entire state gave General Wood 15,500 votes as against 8,669 for Senator Johnson.

General Wood will have instructed for him the 16 votes from Maryland to the national convention.

(By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 4.—From coast to coast the G. O. P. today is holding breath and clinging with both hands to its seat in the grand stand while it watches the hair-raising finish of the two big fights in Indiana and California.

According to messages coming in at Republican headquarters here no political battle has taken place this year half year equaling in thrills the presidential primaries being held in these two states today. National committee officials believe both decisions will be close.

In California Senator Hiram Johnson and Herbert Hoover, both of them native sons, will be voted on as party standard bearers, while in Indiana four candidates are in the field: Major General Leonard Wood, Senator Johnson, Governor Lowden, (of Illinois), and Senator Harding.

The betting here is that these four aspirants will come out of the Indiana primary in the following order: Wood, Johnson, Lowden, Harding, without a majority for anybody. This would mean an unstructured delegation to the Chicago convention, the Indiana law decreeing that the presidential preference must be indicated by a majority of the votes cast, otherwise the state's delegation goes without instructions. On the ground, however, Indiana opinion predicts a Johnson victory.

The battle in Indiana has been the hardest fought in any state since the beginning of this campaign. Each of the four candidates for the nomination has been up and down and across the state, and each has had the support of friends, both from within and without.

General Wood was the first to open fire and since his initial appearance in Indiana his supporters have never forsaken the field of battle.

If Senator Johnson remained in the distance it is more than half admitted that Wood, in all probability, would have obtained a majority, thus clinching the 30 delegates to the national convention allotted to Indiana.

But Senator Johnson did not remain in the distance. Not only did he invade the state in person but with him, and after him, came some of the heaviest oratorical guns in the Republican party, supporting him with might and main. Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, noted as one of the most convincing speakers in the United States senate, was among the Johnson cohorts.

One result of this raid of Johnson, Borah and Company into Indiana, has been to make it difficult to get advantageous Wood money here in the betting on first place.

"The Johnson vote is the unknown quantity in the Indiana equation," one Republican here put it. "He and his friends made a violent fight against the league of nations and kindred issues, and it is certain their audiences were very large and very enthusiastic. So there is no telling the strength Johnson may develop today."

Johnson's friends, however, will not admit there is doubt. They predicted today he would lead the field with a substantial plurality. At Woods' headquarters here no claims were being made.

The Johnson faction here is even more confident as to the result of the California primary. Members predict an overwhelming majority over Hoover. Hooverites merely smile knowingly at this.

Today's results are expected to have the most far-reaching consequences. Should either Johnson or Hoover be in the also ran class in California, it would be such a blow to the loser's Chicago prospects that it is problematical if a recovery would be possible. Something similar is true of the contest in Indiana, especially as it regards the candidacy of Senator Harding and Governor Lowden, between whose states—Ohio and Illinois—the scene of battle is located.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

(BY HERBARD D. BARSTON, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 4.—While strange future Senator Hiram Johnson of California in the state-wide Indiana primaries today if reports reaching the senator's headquarters may be taken on their face value, The Indianapolis News, a prominent supporter of the candidacy of Major General Leonard Wood from the beginning, has concluded that "typically everybody is of the opinion that the state will be carried by Leonard Wood or Hiram Johnson, hereafter the News has not openly stated that Johnson might carry the state. Coupled with the fact that bets of five to four are being placed here in favor of Johnson, the Californian's adherents accept this as a combination of Johnson's victory.

THE THREE PLATFORM FOR A GREATER TWIN FALLS CITY AND COUNTY

- 1-Democracy at home. 2-Mutual light, heat and power in city and county. 3-Efficiency in public schools. 4-Encourage manufacturing. 5-Railroad to connect with Southern Pacific to the south. 6-Improve water supply by pumping waste water back into irrigation canals whenever possible during shortages. 7-Swimming pool in summer and skating rink in winter. 8-Approved street lighting system. 9-Good roads throughout tributary territory to city. 10-Minority railroad of Idaho.

THE SUGAR REMEDY

The first, obvious remedy for the sugar situation is to prosecute the profiteering monopolists. For any reason that cannot be done, the public can take matters into its own hands. The plainest principle of economics is that demand makes prices. Now apply that to sugar. The sugar growers, importers and refiners have been making huge profits out of the public, and are preparing to make still more, and are able to "put it over" simply because the public keeps up its clamorous demand for their product.

THE COAL SUPPLY

It was recognized bitterly two winters ago, and driven home to the public again last winter, that there might be a coal shortage created in the summer to take care of the winter demand. It was emphasized during the recent coal strike that the custom of working the mines irregularly during the summer results in inconvenience and loss to the miners as well as to the consumers. It was supposed when the strike settlement was made, that this old difficulty was pretty well straightened out at the same time—that the coal industry was to keep the mines running more regularly, the miners were to work more steadily and the railroads were to cooperate more effectively in furnishing cars. Great quantities of coal were to be stored by the mine operators and industrial and private consumers were to be given special facilities and inducements to store fuel in their own bins against the time of need.

Unless conditions improve, the country may suffer the same fuel handicap next winter as it did last winter and the winter of 1917-18. Are we never to profit from experience? Surely something can be accomplished in the way of better co-operation by government authorities, coal operators, miners, railroads and public.

PRICE REDUCTION

A great department store of Brooklyn, N. Y., has undertaken a serious price reduction on all necessities that it handles, particularly shoes and clothing. It is said by the managers that the movement is in no way forced, but no charges of profiteering have been preferred against them, but that it is an honest attempt on the part of the owners to perform a patriotic service in starting such a price reduction as shall tend to benefit the buying public.

Of course, competitive merchants will hasten to the move as will the demand. However, sellers will probably find that the street for luxuries and high-priced goods is on the wane and hence greater activity must be forced in other departments. Let them race? Even if the owners of this store race a fortune, they will be the greater public benefactors, for they will be proving to both buying and selling public the truth of the statement that "there is more money in many small sales than in a few big ones." The important thing is that a well known, sound business house has started a definite campaign in price reduction. If the public avails itself of the opportunities offered, other merchants will soon take similar action, and the general price level will be lowered.

Jerome News

The citizens were greatly shocked and surprised on hearing of the accidental death of one of our best men, Henry Peterson, of the town of Cold Springs. His death was caused by the discharge of a shot gun. On descending a hill, he fell into the water and was killed or the gun was discharged in some unknown manner. His remains were taken to Jerome and buried by his partner. The deceased was a fine citizen, was highly respected and has no more relatives here. Funeral services were held Monday, April 24, by Rev. MANDET, CHIEF STARTS ON REVOLV... (Continued from page 1) ment of the republic. Until such time as Generals Oregon and Gonzales withdraw their candidatures, I will remain neutral and content to let the revolution have its own course. I have done so since my spin with Carranza at the Agnes Calientes convention in 1914. I had been advised, at the time I joined the revolution, that our movement in northern Mexico, that both Oregon and Gonzales had withdrawn from the presidential race and would take the field against President Carranza. "But since that time I have been in the hands of the revolutionists and at Mexico City as to the actual condition of affairs and thus have withdrawn my forces from the cause of Carranza. I am confident that the country brought the confirmation that some 150 Americans as members of Villa's new army, the "Constitutional" officers, and that his main force is well equipped with modern arms and plenty of ammunition. Why Girls Need RELO Every mother knows the danger of that critical period when her daughter approaches womanhood. She knows that the tenderest care is necessary and that her daughter's future happiness, perhaps even her life are in the balance. The wise mother will safeguard her daughter's health and not permit her to overtax her strength or undermine her health by worry, social affairs and tasks that are too heavy for her strength. The healthy girl becomes the strong, beautiful, successful woman—the happy wife and mother. It is every girl's birthright to be happy and healthy. Mothers should watch this danger period and make sure the overtaxing or overstraining the strength does not take the energy, deplete the blood, and weaken the nervous system and lower the vitality. Girls who are pale, anemic, nervous, overtaxed, or whose vitality or are overtaxing their strength should take RELO. RELO is a wonderful tonic and supplies the missing elements of oxygen and reconstructive material that the body must have to maintain its vitality. G. O. P. Holding Breath for High Explosives in Two States Today

bert Hoover today are battling at the polls for the Republican presidential endorsement of their home battalions.

The polls opened at 6 a. m. this morning and will close at 6 p. m. tonight.

The issue is clear cut between Hoover and Johnson as no other Republican candidate entered the Illinois primary.

Workers for both candidates were busy early "getting out the vote." A big vote was expected although some non-partisan observers declared that despite the recent brooding atmosphere, the primary vote today would not be as big as expected.

The campaign which culminated in today's primaries, was unique in many ways. Neither candidate appeared in the state during the campaign. Publicly, mass meetings and personal solicitation were held in both of the candidates' home states.

Conservative Johnson forces today claimed victory by 60,000. Hoover's campaign managers expressed confidence in their candidate's success but made no estimate.

In the Wood county, the admission of defeat was forthcoming. Governor Frank O. Lowden's opponents virtually conceded that headquarters indicated that Lowden would make an "excellent showing."

"Some of his supporters went so far as to state that Lowden should a 'good show of coming in second'."

The cards apparently were against Senator Warren C. Harding of Ohio, the fourth presidential aspirant in the Indiana Republican list.

His campaign was not so vigorous as that of his opponents. It was predicted, and by some observers, W. C. Field held that a set back in Indiana for the Ohioan would result in a majority as favorable to his candidate in his own state—would bring about the certain on his candidacy.

Good weather prevailed for the balloting today. Despite the fact, however, the Republican campaign was one of the hardest fought in Indiana's record. It was believed that the total vote would scarcely exceed half the total presidential vote, 675,000 in 1916. Wisconsin had no voice in today's balloting, although they will vote for president and governor in the fall elections.
