

DOES THE WORK SAYS WARING

Has Gained Twenty-five Pounds and Feels Fine Since Taking Tanlac

"I know what I am talking about when I say there is one medicine that will do everything they say it will, and that's Tanlac" was the enthusiastic statement made by Frank Waring, a well-known ranchman living at Rossmore, Washington, a few miles north from Seattle.

"I gave Tanlac a fair trial," continued Mr. Waring, "and I want to tell the world that it did the work. Several years ago my back broke down and since that time I suffered so much that I hardly knew what it was to be free from pain. I had indignation so bad that I did not care to eat, for I knew I did it more to hurt myself afterwards. The little I forced down on my stomach could not be digested, and I was so weak that I felt nauseated and miserable. I had pneumonia in my shoulders and right arm so that I had no use of my arms and it was impossible for me to pick up anything or to do any work. My back was all out of order and my back was weak and pained me so bad that if I stooped over it ached for me to try to straighten back up again. I was badly constipated and subject to severe headache and my eyes were all on edge, and when I went to bed I would roll and toss nearly all night long and could not get any sleep at all. I was terribly run down, too weak to do a day's work and never happy. I would see a well day again."

"Several of my neighbors were taking Tanlac with such fine results that I started taking it myself, and in my time I began to feel better. My appetite came back and a week or so later I agreed with my doctor that I was in weight and strength. My digestion was better, better than it ever has been. I know what it is to ever have a headache, the rheumatism in my arms and shoulders has completely disappeared and I can use my arms as completely as I ever could. My kidneys are in fine condition and I can sleep peacefully. I have all disappeared, and I can now do as big a day's work as any man. My wife and I have taken Tanlac and at night I sleep like a log, and when morning comes I get up feeling like a new man. I have gained twenty-five pounds in weight, and I feel better than I have been in years and I can never say too much for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Twin Falls by City Pharmacy and by the leading druggists in every town.

Blames Parents For Children's Delinquency

OAKLAND, Cal., May 12.—The startling increase in the number of cases of juvenile delinquency is due to the failure of parents to keep step with their children. This declaration was made by Police Chief Vollmer, in addressing a police club meeting here.

"The complexities of childhood are too much for the average father or mother who does not delve down into the cause of things," said the chief. "Moreover, the average person is not equipped with adequate knowledge to diagnose situations that may arise. It takes an expert trained in such things and for that reason a public bureau where parents may bring their children and their problems would not only help the individual but the community at large."

STAMPEDE FOR HEEVES BEER PROVES A FIZZLE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 12.—Excitement was at a high pitch around Kansas City's war-stampede when, on the other day, Old feet beat new paths to the brass rail. The procession soon developed into a "Real Beer" inspired the thrifty throng.

The "bees" traveled like a prairie fire, whipped on by a sixty-mile gale. Finally Federal officials heard of the "bees." An agent took a "chance" on a "two-bit" bottle. Upon examining the label he found that it read: "Alcohol contents approximately 34 per cent by volume. Somebody had overlooked the alcohol point."

THEY WILL NEVER KNOW

Fire Insurance First Paid in Babylon

BOSTON, May 12.—The first insurance policy ever paid in 2500 B. C. in Italy. Fred S. Smith, of Boston, told members of the Boston Chamber of Commerce that the Hamurabi Code was King of Babylon when the law was made on the basis that all others who had suffered fire loss. It was not until the seventeenth century, he said, that the first voluntary premium contributions was instituted.

TREASURES LOST IN HOTEL FIRE ARE RECOVERED

SEATTLE, Wash., May 12.—If your home has been destroyed by fire, take heart and consolation and search the ruins. Guests of the fashionable Lincoln hotel here, recently destroyed by fire, and having returned to their former residences, have discovered valuable treasures that miraculously escaped damage.

"A woman's purse, charged and badly burned, was opened and there, intact and undamaged, were two $1 bills, neatly 'wadded' and perfectly good. The woman, Mrs. Jane Gaylor, had a leather trunk in her room containing several hundred dollars' worth of silverware. 'I'm afraid when found burnt apart, it was an awful loss, and yet the silver was unharmed and the deeds, although slightly burned on the edges, were the full description of the properties. So, if your home has been burned, it might pay to search for such things. Then again, if you haven't anything else to do, it might pay to search the ruins of some other fellow's home."

Mrs. Hargest claims her husband had had some time during his married life. Hargest told Hargest. "I might even get me myself."

H. C. L. PLEA SAVES HIM FROM JAIL SENTENCE

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 12.—A high court of things here saved Ernest Miller, an Illinois Central Railroad baggage man running between St. Louis and Carbondale, Ill., a possible five years in prison. At a preliminary hearing Judge Park charged with negligence in the death of Miller pleaded that he was driven to his inability to properly provide for his wife and five children. Due to high prices.

MOTION PICTURES USED IN SUIT AGAINST ROAD

NEWARK, N. J., May 12.—Motion pictures were used as evidence in the trial in Federal Court of the $100,000 damage suit of Mrs. Elizabeth Hargest, of No. 242 Centre street, against the Lackawanna Railroad for the death of her husband, Frank E. Hargest, who fell from a train at the Orange station in 1917. Mrs. Hargest claims her husband had had some time during his married life. Hargest told Hargest. "I might even get me myself."

FORMER HOME OF BRIGHAM YOUNG SOLD FOR $100,000

SAN FRANCISCO, May 12.—An old home of Brigham Young, and built by him for his wife, Amelia Young, has been sold. An announcement was made here by Mrs. Edwin P. Holmes, the "widow" who bought it 26 years ago for $50,000 and made it the center of Salt Lake society during her residence there. The property was purchased by the directors of the Latter Day Saints church for $100,000 and a new six-story building will replace it.

"Best investment I ever made" AFARES. Advertisement for a water system, featuring an illustration of a water pump and a map of the Santa Cruz Valley.

EDWIN R. POST COMPANY, Tucson, Arizona. After four days' investigation of your Santa Cruz Valley lands I have brought 30 acres and an excellent site in the best investment I have ever made. Irrigation is not new to me as I have had thirty years' experience in farming under irrigation in Colorado. Naturally I feel that I am competent to size up and can appreciate the unusually favorable conditions you have here in character of soil and drainage. You have absolutely eliminated any danger from seepage or alkali. The water system is the best I have ever seen and here one can be sure of plenty of water at all times. It is soft and pure. The location on the main line of the Southern Pacific and being so near Tucson which is one of the most beautiful and up-to-date cities I know of, together with the State University and Agricultural College, which means so much to parents having children of school age. I can see no reason why this land will not sell for $500.00 or more within a few years. I have never met finer people in my life than those on your project and on the adjoining land and that means so much to one selecting a location for permanent home, which I am doing. I am also glad to be able to say that the statements in your booklet are conservative and not, in any way, exaggerated. Yours sincerely, A. F. ARBS.

Santa Cruz Valley Farms (SUBURBAN TO TUCSON, ARIZONA) $200 to $250 PER ACRE "DOUBLE-CROP LAND" $75 an acre cash, or approved securities—balance $25 per acre per annum. Interest 6% per annum, payable semi-annually, first payment due Jan. 15, 1922. "Are you ambitious? Do you want to become independent under farming conditions that practically assure independence? Does land that will produce 7 to 10 tons of alfalfa per acre (readily salable at $30 to $35 a ton) interest you? Does land that will produce bumper crops of long staple cotton (the $1.00 a pound variety) appeal to you? If you could roll up a 100% profit in 90 days by fattening range cattle—wouldn't it please you? If you were independent of rainfall, and were free from water-logged soil, floods, droughts, humidity, cold, damp winters, storms, cloudy skies, malaria, and all the disadvantages and drawbacks peculiar to the average American farming district—wouldn't you enjoy it? Santa Cruz Valley offers you all these things and much more. We want to tell you all about it here—but we have a big free illustrated booklet that tells the whole story. Write or call for it today. Read why $2,000,000 worth of this land was purchased by eager farmers in just a few months. Read about the great irrigation system. Read the intensely interesting statements of the men who have bought and are now developing these thousands of fertile acres. Read why prosperous Salt River Valley (Arizona) farmers have been our heaviest buyers. Why wait? Investigate Now! Edwin R. STAIN, MURDERER OF MINISTER

Boy of 18 Shoots Missionary; Father Takes Him To Sheriff

SEATTLE, May 12.—Somewhere west of a town in the Pacific Northwest on the arctic coast and Candidate, a father today is taking his 18-year-old son to a police station where he will be charged with the murder of Rev. H. H. Hume, Episcopalian missionary to the Point Barrow region.

The youth is James McGuire, Jr., son of James McGuire, Sr., of Lenora, superintendent of the Northwest district of the Bureau of Education at Fairbanks, north of Nome, according to word reaching here from the young man who shot and killed the missionary while the latter was in Alaska on the settlement. When the father arrived at the station, the boy was already and started for the marshal's office with a dog team.

Says All Women Should Teach

That women have rights and obligations of their own relating to their families is the assertion of Mrs. Eleanor Green, teacher, furnished by the Oregon Women's Educational Association, in a letter to the Seattle Times today. Mrs. Green spoke before about 2000 women and girls at the monthly meeting of the Women's Club in the city hall in April, addressing them on "The rights of women in education." She contended that women are always being told they are doing something wrong in their homes, and that they are not doing their duty in their homes, during the war.

ITALIAN HOUSE SERVANTS ASK INCREASED PAY

Servants in Houses of Noblemen Threaten Strike for New Wage Scale

ROME, May 12.—Summerlike Italy has witnessed the first strike of Italian and Nobles owing to the threatened strike of servants of nobles. This is the first time since the war that being under paid by their aristocratic masters, have addressed themselves to an organization for redress in the papers.

Although all classes of workers have witnessed their conditions have obtained no improvement whatever and wish to increase their wages from 100 to 160 lire a month, the strike of the nobles has been the only one in Italy.

Use New Mineral Makes Cheap Glass

LONDON, May 12.—The American Chamber of Commerce in London announces the discovery of a material called granite, which is of the same importance in the manufacture of glass. The material is a composite of silica, soda and alumina, and is to be found in large quantities on the northern border of Dartmoor.

It is declared that by using this new material it will be possible for British manufacturers to make glass bottles cheaper than they can be made anywhere else in the world. The cost of the material is less than 1/3 of the price for the cheapest material at present.

A syndicate has been formed and the supply of granites is practically unlimited the promoters have high hopes of success.

Good Recipes For Brains Cooks

Stuffed Plank Steak
Plank steak (about two pounds) cut in strips, one-half cup water or stock, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon pepper, one-half small onion, one clove garlic, 1 small carrot, one small stalk celery.

Wipe steak, remove skin and lay out flat for stuffing. Make a dressing of butter, salt, pepper, onion and a small amount of celery and spread on the meat. Roll tightly in strips of meat. Place the sliced carrots and celery in the water and add two or three cups of water. Stand upon side of pan, cover and bake three hours, or until tender. When cooked remove the meat and slice between bread.

Beef Goulash
This may be made from the chunk, cut the beef into cubes or slices and sprinkle with vinegar and a little Worcestershire sauce. Simmer one-half hour, add one-half pound of paprika; half an onion for each pound of meat, stew in one-fourth of a cup of butter substitute. Add the cooked onions to the meat, cover and simmer slowly for about two hours. The food may be increased just before serving by the addition of fried onion, stock, or other sweet or sour cream.

Savory Beef
Two pounds beef fat in size for serving, 1/2 cup salt, 1/2 cup onion, 1/2 cup tomato, 3 tablespoons ketchup, 3 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon onion powder, 1/2 teaspoon ground celery and thyme or summer savory, 1/2 pint brown stock or boiling water and root extract, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 tablespoon catsup.

WILL PROTECT PROPERTY SAYS GEN. OBREGON

Future Mexican 'Constitution' Says New Government 'Will Welcome New Capital'

NEW YORK, May 12.—It was learned today that a constituent of General Obregon, leader of Mexico's revolutionary armies, stated New York during the last week a series of conferences with "the business" interests. The Obregon and General Obregon in Mexico, Obregon's plea to protect American citizens and American property rights in Mexico.

General de Koidt, it was learned, is slated for the post of consul general in New York under the Obregon regime and his visit here is to outline the policies of the new revolutionary government. In the course of conferences in Wall street, General de Koidt stated that Obregon would protect all property rights and was welcome the investment of American capital in Mexican industry.

De Koidt was accompanied by Manuel de la Pona, who has been closely identified with Obregon and who will be assistant consul general here when Obregon reaches the presidency.

Another ally of the Obregon, Adolfo de la Haza, announced today that the National Association for the Protection of American Rights in Mexico had issued a statement in which Obregon's propaganda. This association, which was bitterly opposed to the Carranza regime, carried on propaganda against the first chief for the past two years. After attacks on American property or outrage on American citizens in Mexico was given wide publicity in this organization.

An official stated that Carranza has been proposed and that Obregon has promised protection to Americans, there was no further news of "outrage" propaganda.

JUST LEAVE IT TO TERRY

Harvard Authorities and Students Rely on Memory of Colored Human Encyclopedia.

No one knows how he does it. Terry doesn't know himself. Yet Terry never forgets a face or a name. He never took a memory course. He never did any special mental gymnastics to develop his memory. He has no theories on the association of ideas. He has no little tricks, such as remembering a man's name by comparing him to a bull like a bull. He simply remembers, that's all.

Terry is a polyglot little colored man who for 20 years has been the human encyclopedia of the recorder's office at Harvard college. Terry Harvard man since 1900 knows Terry. The remarkable thing is that Terry knows every one of them. More than 10,000 men have come and gone in Terry's time. Terry remembers them all.

His extraordinary faculty for remembering names and places caused his being installed in the position of secretary of the Harvard-Yale football team, but on Harvard history generally. When members of the faculty want to know the date of the first World War, or when the course government was started, or the names of the presidents of the United States, or the score of the Harvard-Williams baseball game ten years ago, or any miscellaneous bit of Harvardiana they ask Terry. And Terry always knows.

LIKE EACH OTHER'S COMPANY

Stones Found in Nevada Seem to Have a Distinct Aversion to Being Separated.

In Nevada are found curious mineral specimens known as "selenite stones." No better name could be given to these stones, for they are distributed over a level floor two or three feet apart they will begin to move toward one another to a common center with an alacrity that is ludicrous.

Camera first noticed these stones. They had used wrapping paper for a tablecloth and weighed the stones with some of the stones spread over the level top of a table. A few minutes later one of the stones noticed that the paper was flapping in the breeze and that the four or five stones were huddled in a group in the middle of the paper like a nest full of eggs. He thought the wind was responsible, straightened them and added more stones.

The next time he looked around the stones were back in the heap again. Once more he replaced the stones and set them to watch them. They began to roll and huddle along toward one another again until they were in a pile.

"Who Wrote It?"

When Demetri Yaka, author of "Hercules" and "In the Shadow of Islam," first came to this country, he was here for a year to the two little grandsons of J. Fenimore Cooper. The children had been brought up with the utmost reverence for their famous grandfather, and had unhesitatingly subscribed the belief that all the best literature was the offspring of his pen.

Something was said in the elder boy's hearing one day about one of the books of Bible with some reference to its authorship, and the boy looked-up at his governess with a puzzled expression.

"Who wrote the Bible?" he demanded, as one whose first faith has been shaken.

Demetri Yaka explained as best as he could about the various books, and the boy asked, with his incredulous eyes shining thoughtfully, "but slowly, that grandfather wrote it?"

The Trend of the Times.

President Roosevelt of Junotown college was talking about the trend of the times.

"A minister," he said, "had a friend the minister of the trend of the times the other day. His brother-in-law, a lawyer who has always rather looked up to, called him and asked humbly for the loan of a two-dollar bill. The minister handed it to him and said, 'I'll be glad to lend you a two-dollar bill, but you must give me a receipt for it.'"

Passing of a Pre-War Pet.

Nonadays, if you decided to make a present to your youngest nephew, you would find a Japanese walking mouse in the country. It is true that their derisive dance is out of date in the use of almost slakers. But they don't account for their extinction. The war, which took so many lives, reached even to the mouse world. However, no longer raise these eccentric little creatures, according to Ed Honey, the bird and fish man. Perhaps they still live in Japan, where they are kept through immigration laws. But as far as this country goes, these long pets of children are now but a memory.—Minneapolis Journal.

Berger Items

MINNEAPOLIS, May 12.—Miss Ota Ager is spending a few days with her friend Marjorie Haggard of Kimberley.

W. Howard Pierce is among the graduates of the Twin Falls High School this year.

All Berger boys attending the Twin Falls High School are home now for their summer vacation.

The Haggard school closed last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Fugate, Mrs. Laura Koefler and David Parrott took a trip to the Salmon Dam Sunday.

The water conditions are looking up. A. G. Ager and family ordered by the Salmon Dam last Sunday on a picnic.

Mr. Hays made a business trip to Hollister Saturday afternoon.

George Parrott, David Parrott and Clifford Thomas made a trip to the hills with a bunch of horses they received last of water.

W. W. Powell was a Twin Falls visitor Saturday.

Last Thursday evening Mr. J. Hines of the University of Idaho gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "How to Make Profits." After the talk Miss Laddie gave a short talk. Following the adjournment of the meeting the Ladies of the Y. W. C. A. members served sandwiches, coffee and doughnuts.

P. C. Hills and Lewis Trout invited to the Hill club on Snake river Sunday.

Among those who attended the circus in Twin Falls Saturday were: Gerald Parrott and sons, Alexis Christensen and A. V. Halloway, A. A. Joiner and family.

The trip to the hills was almost a success for David Parrott for he has been in better efforts ever since.

B. A. Ager had the misfortune to lose several of his cattle. The cause of their death is uncertain. The ranch will stand has been in from the hills.

TURKEY REFT OF MILITARY FEATHERS

Gets Her Peace Treaty; May Object: Opans Dardanelles,
Bosphorus

PAHIS, May 22.—Although Turkey is expected to produce a peace treaty which was handed to the Turkish delegation yesterday, neither was expected to be a peace conference today that the allies would carry out their program without modification.

The Turks have one month in which to make written comment upon the terms of the treaty. The treaty provides for free navigation of the Dardanelles, the Bosphorus and Sea of Marmara under the direction of an international commission upon which the United States has a voice.

The boundaries of Mesopotamia and Syria which are ceded to Great Britain and France respectively will be fixed later. The Turkish army and navy are reduced to a minimum.

FEW PITCHERS GAIN NO-HIT LAURELS

By JACK VEITCH
International News Sporting Editor
NEW YORK, May 22.—No-hit games by pitchers are not as common as old times.

The latest pitching performance in the United States was that of a pitcher whose name and team are not recalled, and who without receiving the credit of a no-hit game, threw over on a nine-to-five no-hit game.

With the new pitching rules in force and freak deliveries under the ban, it is altogether probable that no-hit games will be more scarce than ever.

Of the famous list of hurlers who have broken into the no-hit circle since 1870, only 119 have been checked more than one no-hit game, but this list is exclusive of some of the old Worcester Club, who was the first pitcher to earn a strike out game by pitching a no-hit game.

The pitching distance has been lengthened and all restrictions regarding the delivery of the ball with the exception of the recent ban on freaks have been removed. But the few no-hit pitchers have been able to turn in more than one no-hit game over a long period of years.

It is noteworthy that the most difficult feat in baseball.

1. Richardson Preyer and Cy Young stand alone a charmed trio of star pitchers who have turned in three no-hit games. Preyer pitched two no-hit games in 1870, one against Chicago and one against Springfield. The following year he pitched his third no-hit game against the Cleveland club.

2. Richardson Preyer's no-hit performances came two years apart. He pitched his first strike game in 1870 against Boston. In 1872 he came back with his second no-hit game and Worcester was the victim. He pitched his last no-hit contest against Providence.

3. Cy Young's no-hit games came in 1901 and 1902. He pitched his first no-hit game against Philadelphia and his second against Cincinnati.

Seven big league pitchers have turned in the no-hit feat since 1870, starting with Oatley, of the old Buffalo Nationals. The list includes Oatley, of the Athletics; Terry, of Brooklyn; Hurlbut, of St. Louis and Cincinnati; Matheson, of the Giants; Addie Joss, of the Cleveland Americans; and Tom Hughes, of the Boston Braves.

The complete list of no-hit games in which no player reached first base is given below such performances.

Leslie Gooden, who pitched the first no-hit game in major league records in the late twenties, succeeded in keeping the White Sox clean.

The first no-hit game pitched by pitcher without a runner reached first, and John M. Ward, who pitched a hitless game for Providence in 1870, pitched the Buffalo Nationals in 1870. kept first base clean from runners. Cy Young had perfect a hitless game in 1901. In his second hitless game in 1902, and Addie Joss turned back every Chicago batter in the year he pitched in 1903. A feature of Joss's two no-hit games lies in the fact that both were pitched against the Chicago club.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES

HERO for a day—Babe Ruth. The sturdy socker socked out two homers and a triple, enabling the Yankees to beat Chicago.

The Reds raised the National League excitement and culminated by hitting the giants. Roush and Duncan made circus catches at the expense of the McGraw men.

Ross Young of the Giants got three triples at Cincinnati.

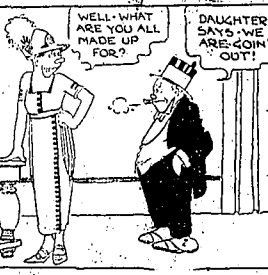

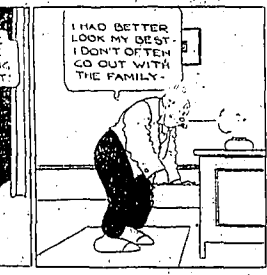

The Browns fought to make any run off Louis Paw Kliney and the Athletics won easily.

Three hits and passed batter in the ninth gave the Tigers a first game against Washington. Jennings used four pitchers.

Plumage was effective against the Cardinals and the Boston Braves won their eighth straight game.

In baseball in all positions left-handers have held their own with the best of them.

Left-handed pitchers like Knickerbocker of the White Sox and Nance of the Cincinnati Reds, carried off leading honors in the no-hit list of the year.

In the clubs days Woodell, Plank, Marquand and other left-handed pitchers led all others in no-hit games.

Tyler of the Cubs and Williams and Herz of the White Sox are only a few of the left-handers who are expected to do great things in the major league this year.

While Cobb and Ruth, both left-handers, were leading hitters in the American league last year, in 1918 Wheat of Brooklyn, Hough and Southworth of Cincinnati, all left-handers, were the three top men in the National League. That proves how effective left-handed players in baseball are when it comes to reaching first base on a hit.

SAYS BRITISH NAVY HELPLESS POINT PANIC

President's Secret Cables to Sims Made

DANIELS BELITTLES
SIMS' AUDACITY

Says That Admiral's Plan of Sending All Sub-Boats
Away Costly

By LEE ELMARKER
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Belittles to the point of panic was the characterization of the British navy made by President Wilson, July 1917, three months after we entered the war in a cable to Rear Admiral Sims, United States naval attaché in London, asking for reports on "exactly what the admiralty has been doing."

The president's cable, read today before the Senate subcommittee investigating charges made by Sims against the navy department by Secretary of the Navy Daniels, made the statement that the trouble with the British admiralty "is that their plans and methods do not seem to be sufficient."

"From the beginning I have been greatly surprised at the failure of the British admiralty to use every resource of the British navy superiority in an effective way," the president declared. "In the present submarine emergency they are helpless to the point of panic."

"Every plan we suggest they reject for some reason of procedure. In no way this is not a time for procedure for holders even at the cost of great losses," Daniels continued to quote the president's cable.

"In most of your cables you have quite properly advised us of the need of aid and co-operation desired from us by the admiralty. The trouble is that your plans and methods do not seem to us as effective. I would be very much obliged to you if you would report to me, confidentially if course, exactly what the admiralty has been doing and what they have accomplished, and add to the report your own comment and suggestions based upon it."

the independent thought of the whole situation, without regard to the judgment of anyone on that side of the water.

"The admiralty was very slow to adopt the plan of convoys and it is not now, I judge, placing convoys on a large scale within the danger zone, according to keep small craft with the great fleet. The absence of a large force of mine sweepers on the French coast than on the English coast and in the changes I do not see how the necessary military supplies and supplies of food and fuel can be delivered to British ports in any other way during the next few months than under adequate convoy. These presently will not be ships or tankers enough and our ship building plants may not begin to yield important results in less than 18 months."

"I believe that you will keep these functions absolute and entirely to yourself and that you will give us such advice as you would give if you were handling and if you were running a navy of your own."

(Special) WASHINGTON, May 22.—In reply to the letter Admiral Sims sent to Rear Admiral Sims, Daniels declared, "The plan of a sustained sea and land attack to force back the German right flank and down them the use of Zeebrugge, was a wonderful idea. This was the kind of a bold and audacious thing we would do and the department had been arguing from our entrance into the war but even then Admiral Sims said it had not been definitely decided by the war council."

The attack on Zeebrugge, which was made later would have been more successful if it had been attempted at an earlier date "when the navy department was using such a bold plan, all of which Admiral Sims first thought impracticable," Daniels declared.

Daniels stated that Sims, in his reply referred to plan of the United States for preventing the progress of the submarine "is unimpeachable."

Admiral Sims called the president the "most generous, most of which had been decided upon and put into operation before Admiral Sims had suggested them," Daniels continued.

"I added that we should adopt an organization similar to the British command, that we should strictly master all naval authority in the United States for preventing the progress of the submarine in London and that we should be given a large staff. He was careful not to say thought that as fast as American destroyers arrived at Ostend, the critical area, as he described it, the destroyers were withdrawn."

NEW YORK, May 22.—Babe Ruth has come over the top today in his campaign to shatter all existing records for long distance slugging.

As a self-appointed delegate at the latter-day war mark of 20 home runs and he now has four circuit swags to his credit.

Ruth was slow in getting started, but he has apparently found his batting eye and 15000 New York fans who saw his account for the defeat of the White Sox will verify this statement.

In four trips to the plate Ruth hit out two homers and a triple and drew a base on balls. He averaged three runs, hits and drove two runs more across the plate, and his run.

THE NEW PITCHING CODE

Here are the main things the pitcher must do under the 1920 amendments to the rules.

Ruth hit the ball in the soft or on his toes.

Discolor the ball with licorice or any foreign substance.

Scraper the surface of the ball with sand or emery paper.

Loosen the ball to another player in order that its surface may be roughened.

Pitch a ball that has been "doctored" by another player under penalty of arbitrary suspension for ten days.

Drop the ball in the act of delivering it to the batter, which now constitutes a balk in both major leagues.

"Expectorate on the ball."

"This rule does not apply to pitchers nominated to use the spitball this year."
