Provisional President Will Soon Be Appointed; Election, This Year

VERA CRUZ, Mex., May 18.—Railway communication between this city and Mexico City was restored today after having been cut for more than a week as a result of fighting between Carranzista forces and revolutionists along the line.

Tuxtlan and Campeche have joined Carranza, the state department is advised.

A train carrying more than 100 officials of the Carranza regime, under guard, arrived at Mexico City on May 16. The train was met by General Goyanes who immediately gave the officials their liberty.

The message, filed Sunday at Mexico City, further declares that complete harmony now reigns between the rebel forces of General Obregon and General Pablo Gonzalez, regarded for a considerable time as rivals.

The text of the telegram is as follows: "I take the honor of reporting in brief that the forces of liberal constitutionalists have succeeded in restoring peace, quiet and harmony in the federal district, and in guaranteeing the lives and property of all foreigners."

Million Bushels of Grain in Western Grain Elevators for Lack of Cars

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The interstate commerce commission today reached a decision today on the application of the railroads for a partial embargo on freight cars.

While the commission debated the merits of its program, the railroads and mills were jammed with requests for relief from industrial, agricultural and other shippers.

Priority is also expected to be given the movement of military cars, including the trucks, and it is believed they are most needed.

The interstate commerce commission is understood to be in effect during the war, and it will be finally acted upon on Wednesday or Thursday, it is understood.

DEMOCRATS ABHUR PEACE RESOLUTION

In Further Evidence of G. O. P.'s "Moral Victory," Declares National Committee Chairman

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 18.—The Knox-Porcupine resolution seeking to make a separate peace with Germany is further evidence "of the moral victory which is being out of the heart of the Republican party," declared national committee chairman, Hon. S. C. Pomeroy, at a recent public hearing.

Senators Underwood and Hitchcock, Democratic leaders in the Senate, declare the resolution to be not only unconstitutional but imperfectly drawn and that it amounts to nothing but a makeshift.

The so-called Knox Peace Resolution, which has been introduced in the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, is renewed evidence of the moral victory which is being out of the heart of the Republican party, in the name of peace it proposes dishonor," said Chairman Cummings.

"An analysis of the resolution discloses that, first, it recognizes the defect in the recent peace resolution which attempted to make a separate treaty with Germany by act of Congress. Second, as the one measure of protection, it requests the president to commence negotiations for a separate peace with Germany. Third, it attempts to terminate, by a paper resolution, a state of war without protecting American rights. Fourth, it attempts to take advantage of the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles without securing its ratification. Fifth, it requests the President to negotiate a separate peace with Austria.

New Policies for Railroads

All variations of the Interstate Commerce Commission having now been filled—that is, the two additional members of the board existing in the original board—the country will watch with attention interest the spirit in which it shall approach the vast problem of railroad regulation. The new members, Mr. Dummey and Mr. Duffell, are both Republicans. Mr. Dummey is a labor leader of conservative tendencies who was once president of the United Brotherhood of Carriers. Mr. Duffell is a lawyer, and the Commission's policies may naturally be expected to reflect a larger conception of the whole question, as a far as the nation's industry and stability. In other words, the time has come when it is as much the Commission's duty to protect the whole as it is to regulate its rates or punish their managers.

INFLUENCE OF TRAYLOR ON USE OF HORSES

The number of horses displaced by tractors in the corn belt is largely determined by the number it is necessary to keep for corn culture, and this in turn is determined by the amount of tractor which the tractor can do. This is, perhaps, the most important factor brought out by an investigation recently made by the United States Department of Agriculture in the corn belt states, relative to the influence of tractors on the use of horse-drawn implements. The results are published in Farmers' Bulletin 1023.

MOTORIZE THE FARM TO MEET MODERN LIFE

Goodyear Farmer Establish Bureau to Help Farmer by Tests. Great Help to Farmer

Yoters in 66 of the 88 counties in Ohio voted overwhelmingly in the past election for the adoption of a secondary or local roads. The money to be spent in the next five years or the rate of $2,000,000 a year, all of the roads to be improved will look up with the state's intercounty and main trunk highways.

Development of Ohio's road building program follows rapidly in the wake of the federal highway program. Approximately 600,000 man-hours, of all kinds, were harnessed in the highway drive toward the close of 1919 making Ohio the leading state in the number of cars in operation.

There are about 6,000,000 cars in America including nearly 900,000 motor trucks. These figures are a factor in visualizing the nature of power driven vehicles. Only in the last few years has the motor truck come into its own with the adoption of pneumatic tire equipment. While the motor truck has been sold on the 6,000,000 farms in the United States, the farm field is still the potential market for this industry.

In 1880 70 percent of the population of the country lived on farms and produced food. Today only 30 percent live on the farms and are producers. To enable the farmer to meet this greater demand for his products he must have the most improved type of machinery.

As it is in the motor truck, the farmer's valuation, the Good Year Tire & Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, has established a motor truck division, has established a MOTORIZE THE FARM Bureau.

Through this bureau the company will organize tours and demonstrate trucks by taking them on the farms and placed fields to haul grain, livestock and produce and show by practical tests that the truck can do everything on the farm that is demanded of the horse.

The bureau will help the farmer to select the best type of vehicle for his particular farm and show him the advantages as he may direct to the local dealer regarding equipment, maintenance in labor and cost of operation.

WORLD TRADE CONDITIONS ANALYZED

British Official Reports Indicate Plentiful Food Supply but Sugar Shortage

LONDON, May 18.—The world's shortage of vital supplies may be estimated by the British official reports as follows: Wheat—No difficulties are expected by England in obtaining sufficient supplies, because the competition for world's supplies will depend upon the price of wheat. The price of wheat, most of which are forced to restrict purchases far below normal requirements, is expected to be high. Italy has cut down cereal imports to half those of last year.

Wool—No scarcity is expected except for the finer varieties. Australia and New Zealand clip up to the limits of their carrying capacity. The British Government, and negotiations are proceeding for later supply.

Lumber—There is a heavy paper-pulp shortage in Norway, Sweden and Finland. The supply of lumber for countries today. This is due to rapid development and enlargement of forest areas in the Scandinavian countries. The great demand for Canadian pulp in the United States, British papers will not exceed one-third of the supply.

Coal—Production both in England and in the United States is under pressure of a serious shortage in England. The price of coal is expected to be limited still further. But the price is increasing owing to continued war.

Oil—Supplies are becoming scarce owing to the fact that the war gave great impetus to the motor industry in England. The expected exhaustion of American wells, while affecting Great Britain, is not likely to curtail development of British oil interests throughout the world, especially in the Middle East, Persia, Mesopotamia and India fields. Power alcohol also will be diverted.

Iron—Production in the world is expected, owing to non-recovery of production in Central Europe and the United States, to be the extent of crops this year.

News of the Polish-Russian war does not appear definite enough to enable anyone to draw conclusions as to how it will go. We were told of the capture of Kiev. It may be probable that Russia was able to get out of the trap. The fighting in the extreme south of Russia and in Siberia has not taken most of her military strength.

This theory is also substantiated by the reports of hostile armies moving on the border and their overwhelming defeat. Would be just to say that the war is a three-way struggle in Poland and support from western nations. Also it is rather difficult to see how the war will end. The war has drawn off the Russian forces from that part of the Russian.

It is not only our duty to make the right known but to make it prevalent.—EDMUND BURKE.

PRIZES WILL TOBAGOAN.

THURK seems no doubt that "the smash is on," as one writer writes in it. The largest silk wholesaler in New York cut his prices from 50 cents to $2 a yard recently, and the reason he gave for his voluntary act was: "We are doing this to get out while the getting is good."

The profiteer is having his last days, glory be! If the Government will do nothing except assume a lackadaisical attitude towards the profiteers, and have an occasional district attorney to argue that the profiteers could have done still worse in the matter of skimming the "lovely common people," then the people themselves can, as they are wont, once in a long while to do, take the fall by the horns, defy economic laws, and form those lines into split-against-their-chin.

One of "the largest department stores in the East" has recently cut all its goods 20 percent. They also want to get out apparently, while such getting is the better part of prudence.

Dunn's Review for Saturday says that the reduction in prices is more largely the outcome of consumers' disinclination or inability to indefinitely meet the extreme prices, and to the growing practice of economy and retrenchment. And further says Dunn: "Business has entered upon the expected era of readjustment, recent developments would seem to indicate; and conditions will ultimately be the more wholesome if the price reaction that now appears to be in motion is continued in a gradual and orderly manner."

That will be the difficult part—in a gradual and orderly manner. The people have felt their muscles of price-biting, and after being for so long, and at such an unseasonable rate, proffered on they are not likely to cease ordering things as the government should long ago have ordered.

AND AS PATRICK HENRY SAID ON A MEMORABLE OCCASION, IF THAT BE TREASON MARK THE MOST OF IT. O, yes, there have been intermittent efforts since in a while to make a show at price regulation. A few retailers were named upon. The latter was allowed to make a four-fold profit entirely unhampered by anything as molesting as governmental interference or suggestion.

In regard to "defaults," or business men going broke, Dunn says: "It would not be surprising if some increase over the 1919 defaults were to be shown during subsequent months of this year."

The same authority says: "Manufacturing is still much disorganized, with some establishments not running above 20 percent of their capacity." Also, "a significant turn came in the dry goods situation this week, and markets now display some instability." As an indication that merchants of different classes are thinking it is noticeable that "both jobbers and retailers are keeping out of the markets as much as possible, notwithstanding that many are short of supplies."

That consumers are having their mite of influence is shown by the fact that "price resistance on the part of consumers is reflected in more pronounced dullness in retail goods." Note also "the unsettlement in silk industry, which is the result of the recent violent break in prices."

Obviously the little merchant is taking time by the forelock to both get from under and to keep from under.

NO BOLT FROM JOHNSON

THE idea that Senator Johnson would bolt the Chicago republican convention if he is not its choice for the nomination, is held here and felt by a few optimists only.

When the different opinion-groups of the United States senate met to agree on some form in which the treaty could be passed and it became evident that no agreement would be reached, Senator Johnson said that he would not bolt the republican party. He has said the same thing later and in a considered speech.

The Senator knows that the movement back to sobriety in the republican ranks has been more of an away-from-Armageddon movement than one involving the carrying forward of Armageddon principles. To instance, in 1912 it was "principle," and "right platform pledges" with the bolting Moores, bull and other, but in 1916, in order to get the nomination, their supplication amounted to this: "Any old platform—we are not stipulating a single condition in regard to it—so that we can name the candidate."

And to a great extent, the candidate they got, for as Roosevelt said, if it had not been for the career of the Progressive party the nomination of such a man as Hughes on the republican ticket would not have been possible in 1916. And right royally did Roosevelt support Hughes.

No, Johnson will not bolt. His prospects of getting the republican nomination are not rosy in any marked degree. It would, as the delegates stand today, require the most astute bargaining and the use of almost the entirety of his administration's patronage, to give him the nomination.

If the probable occurs—and, to drop to the mythic vein of prophecy, the improbable is not reserved a non-occurrence—Johnson will not be nominated, but will have much to say as to who is nominated, and the candidate will, in all likelihood, be one whom he will support with ardor.

Abu Martin says: "Had carrier Joe Clark not go to work this morning on account of a defective starter." Yes, Abu, a "thin" egg woman hired a servant girl recently who brought along her pug dog, her poodle dog and her Ford, saying she would have her pug dog killed in a few days.

PRIMARY LAW IN WASHINGTON

(Seattle Post-Intelligencer.)
The Republican state convention has disclosed in its proceedings in a credible manner and the results obtained doubtless will have the approval of the rank and file of the party. The delegation to the national convention at Chicago will have the latest freshened up by the choice after it has employed every worthy means to bring about the nomination of Senator Miller. The whole-hearted and earnest support there can be no question in the mind of any delegate as to his responsibility in carrying out the will of the party in this state.

It is worthy of commendation that the Republicans were not afraid of the Nonpartisan League (the "Triple Alliance") or themselves in turning down the resolution calling for an advisory convention to eliminate superfluous candidates. The convention wisely concluded that any attempt to circumvent the will of the party would be met with the approval of the people. As a result of this party platform, through the process of elimination probably would cause a great deal of trouble within the party and defeat the purpose for which the proposed advisory convention would be held. The primary law of good methods by which party candidates are nominated and any scheme to defeat the purpose of the law can not hope for general approval.

Bamboo a Dual Purpose Plant

(Agricultural Bulletin.)
Nebuchadnezzar has attracted some centuries of criticism as a grazing human, but he deserves the credit for the unique quality of his exploit. The Bureau of Plant Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, asserts that the bamboo grass, which was being eaten in the form of edible bamboo sprouts long before the time of Babylonian royalty, adapted the diet. And now the fresh sprout of the bamboo, prepared for the table in the same manner as asparagus, is declared to be a delicious spring vegetable for American tables.

It probably is news to most Americans to learn that there are several bamboo plantations of undoubted value already established in Georgia and Louisiana. Bamboo, according to records, is not a tree, but a giant grass. It grows like asparagus, the new plants forming from the original ones. The bamboo sprout, developed up at the incredible rate of a foot a day, and when mature has a stem 4 inches in diameter and 50 feet high. It requires no cultivation. The grower thins his plants to the light composition of the wood and its long, tough fibers. It can be used for barrels, hoops, ladders, trolleys, etc.

It is a valuable crop. In 1902 the leading Japanese growers estimated an annual profit of $30 an acre from the sale of the edible sprouts and grown timber. Present conditions would warrant a much larger profit. An acre of bamboo will produce about 1,000 bushels of sprouts each year and will continue the production for 30 or 50 years without being removed. More general introduction is urged for the South Atlantic, Gulf, and Southern Pacific States, where conditions for bamboo culture are favorable.

Substitute Rice for Costly Potatoes

(Agricultural Bulletin.)
That the use of rice for potatoes, a substitution already made by many thrifty housewives, could be even more widely adopted with profit, is a suggestion of the United States Department of Agriculture, prompted by the present high prices of potatoes. The department's food specialists point out that potatoes are approximately four-fifths water and one-fifth food material, whereas in rice, as well as in most other grains, the proportions are practically reversed. Under normal conditions the prices of these two commodities usually are so close to one another as to nearly equalize the two from the standpoint of food cost.

Recently, however, potatoes have sold from $1 to $1.50 per sack, which means about 7 to 10 cents a pound, whereas rice has retailed at 15 to 17 cents a pound. So long as the price of the two foods is substantially in this relationship, it is obvious from a comparison of their food content that a given sum of money can be spent much more economically for rice than for potatoes.

The estimated production of rice in this country for the past year was 11,000,000 bushels, an increase of nearly 3,000,000 over 1918. While some export business in rice has begun to develop, the supplies for domestic consumption are considered sufficient to meet a growing demand.

The department is not so much concerned with the development of any sudden increase in demand as it is in having an increasing number of people learn the value of this product not only as a dessert but as an item ranking with other cereals and with vegetables in the menu.

SAVE WASTE OF PURE-BRED BULL CALVES

(Agricultural Bulletin.)
Nature has her own percentage rules which are inflexible, in the long run, as the dealer's margin at a Monte Carlo gambling resort. According to this inflexible law of averages, there are about as many bull calves born each year as there are heifer calves.
Every good breeder knows the value of a pure-bred sire of good worth, and what such an animal may accomplish in the way of improving a grade of scrub herd. Despite their acknowledged value, it appears that 75,000 pure-bred bull calves of dairy breeds were killed for veal or were fattened for beef in 1918.

A chart has been prepared by the Dairy Division, United States Department of Agriculture, which furnishes a graphic illustration of what happened to the pure-bred bull calves in 1918. The line representing pure-bred Holstein-Friesian cows registered in 1918 runs out to 80,000. The line for the bulls of this breed registered during the same year runs only to 30,000. The difference, 50,000, represents the approximate number of bull calves not registered. Presumably most of them were either vealed or fattened as steers.

The Jersey breed in 1918 registered 30,000 cows and about 12,000 bulls—a loss of 18,000 pure-bred sires, many of which might be more profitably employed in the work of improving scrub herds. Guernsey and Ayrshire totals are less, but the percentage of loss is heavy there also.

In the face of this waste it is estimated that five grade or scrub bulls are in use for every pure-bred bull. According to experts of the United States Department of Agriculture the replacement of scrub and grade bulls with good pure-breds would quickly and materially raise the average production of dairy herds. One of the reasons for the surprising situation outlined is probably an underdeveloped system of distribution.

MOTOR TRUCKS, VERY USEFUL

Bought by Farmer Not as Single-Purpose Machine, But for Variety of Uses on Farm.

It is only in the past two or three years that tractors have been used exclusively as general-purpose machines. They were bought for and used principally for plowing, and to pull an engine for throwing and filling silos. Now they are used for harvesting, preparing the seedbed, drilling, hauling manure, spreading, and so on. The tractor, if by a public investment on most farms, is not profitable for a variety of uses.

Truck Gathering Potatoes in Field. The hauling of crops to market or shipping point. This is a very important item, but it is a long way from carrying all the farm needs for a truck. The truck salesman's hauling-to-market argument is comparable to the editor's use of the tractor when it was sold around the plowing idea. In fact, both the truck and tractor will be bought by the farmer not as single-purpose machines, but for their application to a variety of uses.

STRAW ROUGHAGE FOR STOCK. This has been found to be a satisfactory for Cows. Boy's straw which is obtained from threshing out very heavy corn makes a very good roughage for all kinds of stock. It will not dry up, cook, but on the contrary it has been found that it is a common practice in sections where the crop is grown extensively for seed to take the straw after threshing and sell it to dairymen and stock feeders.

ESSENTIAL PIG POINTS. The essential points in the care and feeding of the brood sow and litter are: 1. The provision of comfortable farrowing pens. 2. Individual attention to each sow and litter at the time of farrowing. 3. Plenty of exercise and sunshine for young pigs. 4. The provision of the sites on grain in addition to milk of the dam.

GENERAL FARM NOTES. The legumes are our most important crop. Farming is a profession as much as a business. Garden, chickens, bees, fruits and other activities are worthy of attention. Some seed and manure might cover up that bare spot in the meadow or pasture field. Hogs should never have damp sleeping quarters and their bedding should be changed often. Examine clover and grass seed with a magnifying glass to see whether there are any noxious weeds in the lot. Do not neglect the fence till planting time when it will be a difficult matter to spare the time required to repair them. A good cellar under the house where it is cool in summer and warm in winter is one of the best places to organize an incubator that can be found. The farm library goes with the farm office. The bulletin from the farm experiment station and state college ought to be handy to the desk where you keep your papers and accounts. Oscar Kani of Hatley arrived in Twin Falls yesterday for a couple of days looking after interests here.

ILLINOIS TOWN FALLS HEIR TO WORLD'S MOST WONDERFUL CLOCK

ATHORA, Ill., May 15.—This city has what might be called the world's most wonderful clock. It is an ingenious piece of machinery that looks forty years in the making.

William H. Hainford, an eighty-two-year-old clockmaker, is the inventor. He died here recently after a residence of sixty years, most of which time was spent in perfecting the clock.

On his death Mr. Hainford left the invention to the City of Aurora.

Diapers, astronomical claims that operation of years could not be accomplished by machinery.

This is a calendar of 36,000 years—over the double life years are produced in a single day.

Time equation operates automatically. Has an astronomical dial, recording winding but once in sixty-eight years, or but fourteen times every thousand years.

Is expected to operate without impairment or attention for 5,000 years. Has a calendar which registers the number and name of each day, each month and each year.

Shows the latitude and longitude at 127 principal cities of the world, showing the time at any hours of the day or night.

Has an improved compensation mechanism which makes the clock accurate and adjusted to normal temperature and automatically controlled by expansion and contraction as the result of changes in heat and cold.

Upper dial is covered by an elliptical movement. Has a moon phase showing precisely the phases of the moon, changing automatically at each quarter.

Shows the earth and its revolutions around the sun, the time it enters the constellation or signs of the zodiac, the parallel of the earth's axis, and the variations of the seasons.

Operated by two fifty pound weights, capable of driving the mechanism for two months, when the weights are automatically re-wound by an electric motor.

Has a thermometer and aneroid; attachment shows the exact temperature within one-tenth degree Fahrenheit.

At night the several dials are automatically illuminated. Hainford made the entire clock—cabinet and mechanism—beautifully carved. It stands nine feet in height, three feet in width and two feet in depth. The main dial is four feet in diameter.

Hainford was the son of an old English clockmaker. He came to this country in 1879 and located in Aurora where he constructed this wonderful piece of machinery in his home. It was his hobby which still remains in this city. Offers of purchase from cities and universities of the country have been declined by the city.

PHOTO'S CLATTER NEWS

PHOTO WORTH, Tex., May 16.—The parrot did it. He did it because the cause.

Such is the latest plot for securing a divorce according to the petition filed in the District Court here by John A. Petrovsky, an Austrian, against his wife, Marie, whom he charged, threatened his life when he attempted to chastise her per parrot for talking too much.

Marie, according to John's complaint, accompanying the application for divorce, declared: "You have killed my poor poultry; now I'm going to kill you."

Since Marie's declaration, according to John, he has lived in constant fear for his life. Therefore, he seeks separation from his spouse—the parrot.

SCIENCE, GIRL EXPLAINS AN LIGHTNING CALCULATOR

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 18.—Evelyn Kaplan, thirteen years old, seventh grade schoolgirl, who last month established an interesting record as a rapid calculator, again successfully defended her laurels in a contest for an adding machine at the Garfield School.

Miss Kaplan solved six standard problems in addition in forty-seven seconds. The tests that Miss Kaplan was one minute and forty-two seconds, with one error. Miss Kaplan will compete in the international contest at Cincinnati in June.

EVERYBODY WANTS IT THUS

The millers—these poor, down-trodden, out-of-the-road chaps—want high prices for flour. The producer and consumer, who have to count every penny, are pitted against an aggressive corporation like the Gravelly Flour Mills, which has paid out 25 per cent in dividends for each of the last three years. Today the stock of the company is selling at $250 per share. Certainly a company with a record like that needs all the assistance that the producer and consumer can furnish. Twenty-five per cent on your money does not seem enough!—The Farmer, St. (Toronto).

How Can I Save Money?

Wise buying means economy. The way to buy wisely is to read the advertisements.

- because advertised products are good products. -because merchants tell you of their bargains through advertisements. -because almost every new opportunity is offered through an advertisement. -because practically every unusual buy is advertised.

-because you save time and trouble by choosing what you want and where to get it from the advertisements instead of hunting all over town.

How can I save money? By reading the advertisements.

Not today only.

But every day.

You'll save money by keeping up with every opportunity to get full value in buying—by reading the advertisements regularly.
