PLUMB PLAN IS DUE FOR FIGHT

Opposition? Gompers Blurs B. B. Unions—Miners' Want Tried out in Mines

By MELIHED MORRIS, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.

MONTREAL, Que., June 15.—The New York harbor and transportation strike which has cost many millions and crippled traffic in America's foremost port, will be called off by President T. V. O'Connor of the International Longshoremen's union, it was announced today.

"They said the strike would be called off regardless of the conditions which were conducted by the strikers on the question as to whether the tie-up shall continue.

O. A. Anderson, president of the longshoremen's union of Galveston, took issue with the report that O'Connor would call off the marine strike in Texas.

"O'Connor cannot call off the longshoremen's strike on the South Atlantic coast and the Gulf of Mexico," declared Anderson. "I have refused to call off my men in Texas. We are out to win. The striking longshoremen are going to fight it out to the finish all the way from Texas to Canada."

The International Ladies' Garment Makers' union also added to the troubles of the federation today when the executive board announced that it had appointed a committee to confer with the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America on plans for an international conference of the workers' federation in regard to the first step towards severance of relations with the American Federation of Labor by the International Ladies' Garment Makers.

The Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers and the National Aid Workers organization's confederacy is still confined to its executive council but leaders of the factions hostile to the Amalgamated Association threaten to bring the question to the floor of the convention.

It is reported as a foregone conclusion that John Fitzpatrick, one of the chief leaders of the steel strike, will be forced from the committee.

"The tailors and other heads leaders in the federation with the exception of the United Garment Workers of America are expected to follow the action of the International Ladies' Garment Makers' union."

A movement to oppose Daniel J. Tobin, American Federation of Labor candidate for reelection on the executive council, has developed among the insurance faction that is opposing Gompers.

NO DROP HERE IN SUGAR, SAYS LOCAL DEALERS

Utah Reports Cannot Be Verified in Twin Falls—Still Up to Same 6000 Pounds Level

Failure to verify, locally, the reported drop in the price of sugar, caused Twin Falls sugar contractors today to say something rather more forceful than "oh sugar."

Utah dispatches declaring an allotment by the United States Sugar company of a quantity of its output at $12.25 per hundredweight wholesale brought visitors to the local housewife who has been paying from $17 for best to $27 for cane sugar, retail. Wholesale prices were $11.25 per hundred for best sugar and $27 to $37.25 for cane sugar. In some cases supplies are exhausted and no sugar can be obtained at any price. One retail dealer reported wholesale quotations of $12.75, which he said would make the retail price about $15. But the wholesale dealer, as stated, gave no indication of such a figure.

HARDING SURE UNITED PARTY SUPPORT GIVEN

Expects Convention Wounds to Heal—Will Quit Race for U. S. Senator

By A. O. HAYWARD, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Senator Warren G. Harding, republican nominee for the presidency, announced today that he will withdraw this week from the race for U. S. senator from Ohio. His petition as a senatorial candidate was filed with Senator Harding in Chicago and before the republican convention last June.

In a statement given out today Senator Harding said: "There is absolutely no possibility of my continuing in the senate. I intend to serve my term out. Why should I? I desire, however, instead to withdraw my petition filed in Ohio announcing my candidacy as United States senator."

The first sentence of the statement by Senator Harding, was with Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury, on matters connected with publicity work being presented.

Shaw will take the matter up with the campaign committee, which will have charge of this feature of the coming campaign.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Senator Harding is confident he will receive the united republican support for president.

He stated today that he will give no consideration to rumors of defection by republican rank.

"Time will be allowed for defection would be great. Wounds that remain open will be treated after permanent organization for the campaign has been perfected.

Since his nomination by the convention last Saturday he has received congratulatory messages from the unsuccessful candidates. Within a few hours after the nomination had been made Governor Lowden issued a similar message to Senator Harding.

Senator Harding accepted a sincere these declarations from his leading opponents and their representatives. He stated that he would not be held by the party because of lack of sympathy with the platform, of other reasons are not distinguishable.

"It is because chief executive of this nation I am asking you I desire to have the spirit of friendship with France," he declared.

He returned to details of his foreign policy. It is significant, however, that the congratulatory message to Governor Coles of Massachusetts declared by the republican vice president, Senator Harding expressed "that truly great and trusted American" was named for the office.

Senator Harding saw the newspaper correspondents in the forenoon, and again in the afternoon for general conference.

LEADER AROUSED BY G. O. P. BETRAYAL OF AGRICULTURE

By Harry L. Rogers (I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Thoroughly angered by what he considers the betrayal by the republicans of the farmers of America, Benjamin C. Marsh, secretary and director of legislation of the farmers' national council today embarked upon a campaign of publicity planned to convince politicians the farmer vote is a power to be reckoned with at election time.

Mr. Marsh has just returned from Chicago where he presented the platform of the farmers' national council to a committee of the republican national convention.

The section of the republican platform on agriculture does not contain a single declaration to reassure the farmers of America," said Mr. Marsh. "While it expresses the belief of the republican party that the crux of the present difficulty in the farming industry lies in prices, labor and credit, and that the situation can be improved by adequate farm representation in appointment of government officials and commissions it does not pledge this representation. Why not?"

Mr. Marsh asserted the platform mentions several specific evils in the agricultural situation without attempting to provide a remedy for them and declared "no suffering patient would be persuaded that a diagnosis was as good as a cure."

Failure of the platform to provide for amendment of the federal loan act to facilitate acquisition of farm land, lack of a pledge to enact legislation to give farmers long time credits and failure to authorize continuance of the federal trade commission were other shortcomings with which Mr. Marsh charged the framers of the republican platform.

Gen. Wood Very, Very Mad At Pres. Nicholas Butler

CHICAGO, June 15.—One of the hottest statements of the republican political campaign and it will be red hot. General Leonard Wood was a member of the Wood supporters, "but in language of such as Gen. Stable Foll of Dark Nags, So Hirschbeck—Cummings Will Be the Keynote

By ELIAS H. MARTIN, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—On one slight bit in the unclouded prospect for the first day of the democratic national convention here June 22 was in sight today.

The first day convention program announced today calls for a keynote speech by Senator Champ Clark, Hon. S. C. Cummings, the annual report of committee appointments to the national convention will be made at the next day.

However, it was feared that the night light to abrogate the rule requiring a two-thirds vote to nominate was required. The movement, it was said today, has been met with strength over since Champ Clark's nomination after nine consecutive votes even though he had a majority. Whether the rule will be changed is problematical. The chairmen in a traditional in the past and has plenty of supporters.

According to preliminary reports, the first day of the convention will call the convention to order on the 22nd. He will introduce National Chairman Homer S. Cummings as the "keynote" of the session.

Then follows the selection of permanent chairman. Although the percentage made available, it is finally reported today that Daniel Polley, secretary of state, and elected to represent the "realists," will be the permanent chairman. It is expected that the permanent chairman, no confirmation of this report was made at national headquarters, although it is understood that the platform committee, the same reporter, Charles Glass, secretary of the treasury, finally believed one of the permanent chairmen to be the permanent chairman. The resolution committee, Glass has spoken of as permanent chairman on account of his familiarity with the platform committee, which lines administration board endeavor to have the national platform built, "the which" was announced by the administration board.

It is believed, Chicago committee of the attempt of the Wilson Bryan force will come. Bryan is expected to make a speech, but the majority of the resolution committee and it is successful will at least a member of that committee and a prominent part in shaping the platform.

A POPULATION PROBLEM

TEN years ago 53.7 per cent of the population of the United States was in the country districts and 36.3 in the urban communities. It was then predicted that in a few years the drift to the cities would soon place more people in the towns than in the rural regions.

Forty years ago seven out of every 10 Americans lived in the country sections and but three in towns. Twenty years ago there were four town dwellers to every six ruralists. It was as late as 1890 that almost 50-50 a divide-and-gone at the same rate of progress, a 23 per cent increase in the number of urbanists and only an 11 per cent increase in ruralists, the ratio between 1900 and 1910, the city folk were yearly tipping the farm folk higher in the air.

The drift to the towns has been increasing in the last 10 years by leaps and bounds and worse than that, the war shut off immigration to replace the loss from farm and today the census calculations show the growth of urban communities are looking for a sensational drop in the rural ratio.

This is much more than an academic question. The remarkable decrease in the number of food producers, coupled with a remarkable increase in the number of those fed away from the farms, threatens to become an acute problem.

There is a tendency in some quarters to look askance at the man at the head of the big railroads, "manufacturers of great wealth," who have no acquaintance themselves with poverty, and hence are unwilling to give the underdog his chance.

From Bottom to Top: There is a tendency in some quarters to look askance at the man at the head of the big railroads, "manufacturers of great wealth," who have no acquaintance themselves with poverty, and hence are unwilling to give the underdog his chance.

NO PANIC SAYS BANKERS

AT THE annual convention of the American Bankers at Cleveland, Ohio, a few days ago Mr. Richard S. Hawes, president of the bankers' association said that there was no danger of a panic.

Mr. Hawes is speaking more particularly for the City Reserve bankers, as their association is more exactly termed. It is noticeable that the bankers in different parts of the country have approved of the recent nationwide slashing of prices, the financial experts saying that as money gets scarce on account of reluctance of the money class to take risks or to encourage more than the usual routine of speculation, there will be still money enough for legitimate uses.

It is likely that the prophecies of the pessimists as to our being on the verge of hard times and unemployment will be entirely overthrown by a continued increase in production, and that alone cannot fail to keep things fully as good as they now are.

A BID FOR FAME

THAT particular brand which in former years was currently reported to have made Milwaukee famous being faded, Milwaukee has turned to the one-piece female bathing suit as a seduction with which to replace the skirts and stevens of the days foregone.

It is a drowning cut—we read that madmen garbed in said one-piece suits may go swim and not get the water, so long as they stay close to the same.

IDENTICAL RESULT. The ice box that refrigerates a chill. The furnace that warms a home. But either costs but a trifle more. The finish is the same.

FASHION HINTS

PAIRN, June 15.—Black and white have come into their own again. Some of the best dresses are being made of these two colors in different shades of white. The thing to avoid is a white that is too white and it is better to fall into beige rather than into pure contrast.

A favorite costume is composed of a dress and a check-out. The dress is to be made of a fine material, and the check-out is to be made of a coarser material. The trimming may be embroidery in tones of black and white, or it may be a simple check-out in the same material.

The fashion of wearing floating veil is one that has become so popular already, but for evening wear they are still called smart. Some are being made of lace, others of silk, and still others of a material that is called tulle.

There is a tendency in some quarters to look askance at the man at the head of the big railroads, "manufacturers of great wealth," who have no acquaintance themselves with poverty, and hence are unwilling to give the underdog his chance.

TOPKA, Kan., June 15.—A curlew in the shape of a chicken was hatched in an incubator owned by Gilbert Vaughn, of this city, a few days ago.

EVERYTHING WAS STILL; THEN ALARM WAS HEARD

NEW YORK, June 15.—One of the highest paid workmen in New York is a little, withered, foreign-born, foreign-speaking man who works from 11 o'clock to 11 o'clock every week after work, in his cheerless, little little dwelling, which serves as both home and workshop.

When he retires, as he expects to do within the next few months, physicians advise that he should use high-precision thermometers which have more difficulty than ever in obtaining the true temperature of the body.

Dr. Prussian birth, this thermometer maker who lives in the end of the Coney Island elevated line, learned his trade as a glass blower in "the old country" and he learned to use only a boy. He learned also to make delicate thermometers, from the blowing of the glass, painting on the following filling of it with a certain amount of mercury and attaching it to its metal back.

His came to America a few years ago, he suggested business for himself, although he experienced a few months of bitter poverty before a prominent New York firm, the makers of instruments the Prussian was producing, when the was cut off their help and more orders that he could supply.

Although the Prussian thermometer maker, a man of middle age, his wife and two children, he is a devoted member of the poorer peasant class in Europe, they are not his only interests. He has several guests always with Prussian cakes, sour wine and other foods of his own land and taste.

SAYS TANLAC IS WONDERFUL

Was So Running at Times He Couldn't Walk—Gains Twenty Pounds by Taking Tanlac

"I have not only gained twenty pounds by taking Tanlac but it has rid me of the nervous indigestion which made my life miserable for three years. I am now eating like a king, and I would often get so nervous and dizzy that I would have to lie down. I lost weight until I got down to only one hundred and ten pounds and my household was simply a burden to me. I was so run down and weak I could not walk at times and while I was in bed, I heard of nothing but one good name.

I read so many testimonials for Tanlac that I decided to try it and the very first bottle improved me wonderfully. I have now taken seven bottles and my appetite is strong and without the least trouble afterward. My appetite is splendid and my nerves are so calm I sleep like a child every night. I have been so strong and well as I did before my troubles started three years ago. I am glad to make this statement for Tanlac, for if I had not seen similar statements from others I probably would still be a sick, miserable wretch.

HOPES TO WIN BIG HONORS ABROAD

NEW YORK, June 15.—Some years ago an agile, dark-skinned girl hit a tennis ball for the first time and a splinted pane of glass was shattered by that ball.

The former Molla Bjarstedt, now Mrs. Franklin I. Mallory, of New York, is in England to take part in the women's mixed doubles championships at Wimbledon, June 21.

Mrs. Mallory is a member of the American team which has been quartered in the London tennis championships at Queens Club, starting June 14, and played the national title match the week following.

William M. Johnston, our national champion; H. Norris Williams II, Williams T. Tilden, H. Charles S. Garland and Samuel Hardy are the other members of the team.

The male contingent comprises the American Davis cup team, which is to compete against France at Eastbourne, England, in their first Davis Cup tie on July 8.—But we digress.

From the time Molla Bjarstedt hit her first tennis ball she has been ambitious to win fame as the holder of the English national title.

For some years she has been abating things on the courts of this country, and played the national title match last year.

Her husband, Mr. Mallory, has an often demonstrated her wonderful ability on the courts that she may be truly mentioned as America's first woman player, and as such her play will be watched with keen interest by critics abroad.

The daughter of the Vikings has held the American national championship three times, starting in 1915 and carrying on until last summer, when Mrs. Whitman won the title at Philadelphia.

Mrs. Mallory has also held the national indoor singles title, which she won in 1915, at the Hotel Waldorf Astoria, New York.

Mrs. Mallory's record closely parallels that of Mrs. May Sutton Hardy, also a former champion, who has won the title in this country who has ever played the "hard" game.

Mrs. Mallory has also won the world's greatest women's play, the United States Lawn Tennis association.

Few women who have ever played tennis have stroked as powerfully as Mrs. Mallory. It has been the crush of the ball across the net that has attracted the eye to her play, and this characteristic of her play, by the way, is only limited to a certain extent.

It has been fifteen years since May Sutton Hardy, then May Sutton, played hard play and her double play, as Mrs. Sutton she won the all-England championship, the highest of the courts. Two years later she went back to England and repeated the performance. Mrs. Mallory hopes to follow in her footsteps.

TAD'S TID-BITS

THOSE ENGLISH HEAVENS

When Lackey, the anti-English candidate for president of the Actors Equity Association, just as big a fight bug as he is a ball fan. The other night he was talking about England and her great heavyweights and pulled the following yarn told him by an old-timer concerning the great John L. Sullivan.

Sullivan was the head of the American pugilist, visited England while he was champion of the world and made quite good impression. He was wine and food and introduced to the "dons" everywhere. John, very proud of his title and his prowess, declared that it was a treat for these people to meet him, and fell the same way when he was introduced to the Prince of Wales.

"The despised, the English heaves, and looked upon them as negligible trifles.

"One day he was shown an article in a New York paper which alleged over quite a recent about him. John L. was very sore. He passed the door thinking of America. He hit his lips and kept on shaking. Sullivan was a very proud man, you know.

"Finally he turned around to the friend who showed him the clipping. His face scarlet with rage. Shaking his big fat head he growled: 'Say, you know what I ought to do. I OUGHT TO LET ONLY THOSE ENGLISH AMBASSADORS' would beat about it. THEN?'

The Dud Apple Spelling a Box. "One had apple will spell a box," that was the motto of the Dud Apple Spelling Club at your Yanks. They were nice, home-loving boys before that Ruth bonnie got into the layout. He's the best sport in the Yank line.

Home runs were scarce as Scotch highballs until Ruth joined the gang. LOOK AT 'EM NOW, BRIGGANS! LOOK AT 'EM NOW!

Up to date they've made TWENTY-EIGHT HOME RUNS, and it's early in June.

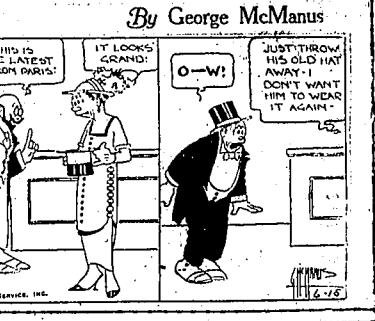

Within the past week or so the following hits have picked the old apple for homers: Quinn, Peckinpaugh, Ruth, Henrich, Lewis, Babe and Meusel. No use questioning him. Pipp and Pratt are the only regulars who haven't made hits lately.

Clark Griffith's Troubles. They were chatting with Clark Griffith. The press last yesterday about his good players.

"Tough that Judge was hurt," some one remarked.

"Yes," replied Clark. "It is tough. People demand the stars. Say, I want to tell you something else. If I came to New York or went to Cleveland without Altrick, I'd be mobbed. Why, one day last year I went to Cleveland and he left. Sick at home. Why, they nearly took my skin off. I was mobbed in all the parks and hoisted on the field. I don't dare tell that hero get hurt.

Yea, I'll bet, Bab, I'm no hero!"

PROBE SCENE OF ELWELL'S DARK MURDER

Detectives Question Members of Party With Whist Expert on Last Night

NEW YORK, June 15.—The mystery, 24 West Seventeenth St., where Joseph Brown Elwell, wealthy man and international authority on bridge whist, was slain last Friday morning was the scene of official activity all night long.

Persons who were with Elwell at the whist party and outside only for a few hours before the tragedy were questioned by Assistant District Attorney John E. Boyce and detectives.

The interrogations were conducted in secret and after they were completed early today the detectives disclosed that they had made progress toward a solution of the baffling crime.

Among those who were examined in the room where Elwell's dead body was found at eight o'clock on Friday morning were Mrs. and Miss Walter Lewison, Miss Vela Krans and Mrs. Kralus, divorced husband, Victor von Kralus. The questions chiefly concerned Elwell's women friends, and his private life in general.

The theory that Elwell was slain by a jealous woman in the way suggested by the finding of a piece of woman's silk lingerie in his sleeping apartment. The detective felt that the murder took place on Friday night, and that Elwell was shot to death, and told Elwell that the writer was living at the Elmore hotel.

GREEDY PLAYERS ARE WEAKENING BASEBALL

Avarice, Strikes and Gambling Scandals Hurt Game.

Big League Club Owners May Decide to Abandon World's Series or Divide Net Receipts Among Themselves in Future.

So much trouble in baseball has been caused by the playing of the world's series that the big league club owners may decide either to abolish the game altogether or to divide the net receipts among themselves, say a well known baseball veteran, to Irving Sun.

The players are responsible for the lowly attitude of some of the managers, who say that the squabbles over world's series shares are counteracting baseball to such a degree that sportsmanship soon may be of no importance.

Great for gold is receding, though still feeling in the game of the Yankees. Although the players received double salaries last year, with eight per cent extra for winning the championship, under the new world's series rules, they grumbled because the grandstand, the trainer and two assistant, the players were bonded to the union outfit.

In spite of heavy financial burdens, which the owners of the Yankees have placed on the players threatened to call a strike unless their demands were granted. They were prepared to drop their employees, of game receipts from exhibition games, which hardly pay the expenses of the south on training trip.

Scandal on the part of ball players is slowly but surely dismaying and disgusting the public. When the Cubs and Red Sox, during the 1918 world's series in Boston, struck for more money than they were entitled to, under the rules adopted by the national commission, they dealt the game a body blow.

Last year certain players openly expressed a desire to have money to participate in the world's series. Several stars have repudiated contracts for the purpose of getting more money.

With charges of collusion between a few players and professional gamblers, shaking the confidence of the fan, it cannot be long before baseball will be a treacherous sham.

Why Does Twin Falls Grow

Intensive irrigation farming and allied industries combined with its pleasant, healthful surroundings, give Twin Falls a single impetus for growth.

The facts about farm production stand unimpaired to the person unfamiliar with this big, fruitful country. Southside Twin Falls 1919 crops $12,215,903.

Since Twin Falls tract is the largest and one of the oldest irrigated bodies of land in the state, it is a practical demonstration of ideal irrigation practices in Southern Idaho.

SOIL. The soil of the Twin Falls country is of a volcanic ash, of good depth and exceptional fertility and over porous volcanic rock.

These Snake river plains have in general a slope of 20 to 40 feet per mile, hence reduce the problem of drainage to an insignificant matter.
