SUMMER SCHOOL U. WASHINGTON OPENS JUNE 22

John Spaworth League, Institute
Set July 19-26 Expected to be Fine Affair

BEATTLE, Wash., June 18.—Registration for the annual summer school session of the University of Washington which opens here June 22, and the indications are that it will be the largest, most interesting summer session ever conducted by this school.

Appealing especially to graduate and under-graduate students, who wish to take advantage of work at school teachers and other professional people, the summer school is proving a valuable adjunct to University work. This session will be especially interesting because of the full program of sports, dramatics and social activities, which has been prepared by the associated student body.

The University campus is the largest west of the Mississippi river, and the ideal climatic conditions, taken together with the opportunities for canoeing, boating, swimming and touring in the scenic Puget Sound country will no doubt serve as attractions which will draw a very large attendance.

The fourth course of graduate medical lectures given through the extension service of the University, with the co-operation of the state and King county medical societies, will be held at Dargy Hall June 23 to July 2. The lectures will be given by Dr. Henry Johnson, University of Boston, and Dr. Berce Cooke Hurst, Philadelphia. This course is offered for graduate surgeons and physicians.

WHITE CROSS TO MERGE SECTIONS

Organization of Baptist Women to Plan Work on Larger Scale
at Convention

BUFFALO, N. Y., June 18.—Annals of the national and district divisions of the White Cross Service League, under the inclusive name and symbol of the White Cross, will be discussed at a joint meeting of the Women's American Baptist Home and Foreign Mission Societies during the week ending here and the tenth annual meeting of the Northern Baptist Convention in Buffalo, June 22-23. Miss Ina Barton, of Chicago, national director of the White Cross, will present new plans.

The White Cross, organized in Ohio, April, 1918, along the lines of the American Red Cross, has successfully passed its experimental stages. It was formed with the aid of employing more efficient methods of the cause of Christ as the Red Cross employed American women for the cause of America.

The object of the league is to serve the mission front and for this purpose two divisions were originally established, the White Cross for the mission and the Overseas, for foreign mission work. Both departments have far surpassed their original objectives, and are now being reorganized separately through district and state directors.

At the pre-convention meetings methods of combining the divisions as well as extending the organization will be carefully worked out. The White Cross has been heavily equipped by the state and individual churches. However, there are three areas still unorganized.

The White Cross admits primarily as a clearing house for needs of missionaries and their families, wherever they may be located. A missionary's family and children are not to be located, but accepting household articles, clothing, medicines, toys, in now and then to the White Cross, which in return issues a check, or certificate, or other order receipt which he needs.

Addressing to Mrs. L. J. P. Bishop, of Ohio, one of the founders of the league, who will be present at the joint meetings, a union of the Overseas and American divisions was suggested for greater efficiency in the administration of the organization.

"We hope to have a branch of the White Cross in every Baptist church in the country," said Mrs. Bishop. "With White Cross chapters in every church the old custom of sending out missionary parcels, filled with costly, non-essential articles which may be of little use to the recipient, will be a thing of the past."

"The White Cross will be able to directly what he needs and be sure of getting it. He will not see a set of dishes, little daughter may want dolls, or perhaps books are desired, or garden tools. Whatever it is, the White Cross will see that the missionary gets it. The League aims to be to our missionaries what the Red Cross was to our soldiers during the war."

During the joint conferences, the closer coordination of the White Cross work, such as, World Wide Child, Christian Endeavor, Prayer and Stewardship, will also be considered.

GOMPERS HOLDS LEADERSHIP OF AMERICAN LABOR THOUGH RAIL POLICY IS DEFEATED

Samuel Gompers

MONTREAL, Que., June 18.—Samuel Gompers, for nearly forty years the executive head of the American Federation of Labor was unanimously re-elected here by the Federation for another year at the annual convention here today. James Duncan, of Quincy, Mass., newly appointed successor of the late George Meekins, was elected vice president.

The election of Gompers came after the veteran leader "outlined" his program of defeat yesterday when the convention endorsed government ownership of railroads over his vigorous protest. It was predicted early that his re-election would be bitterly contested but opposition crumbled when his name was brought up in the convention this afternoon.

It was declared the railroad union which forced action on the ownership of the railroads revolution would show "his power against" the revolution of Samuel Gompers.

Chas. McKeown, representing the railroads, seconded Gompers' nomination, however, stating that the railroad workers had no intention of "repudiating Gompers' leadership."

Although the election was at first pronounced an unanimous, James A. Duncan, secretary of the Seattle Central Labor Council, later announced his desire to contribute a "negative vote."

"FLAPPER" SHE CALLS MAID OF TODAY

No Charm, No Dots, No Soul, No
Crude, Says Dr.
Arabella

LONDON, June 18.—Take it from Dr. Arabella Kenally, the modern feminist of the species is becoming increasingly lax and decadent in tone and manner, in dress and is not to be compared with the Victorian maiden who, when enquiring influences did not touch her, was "respectable."

Dr. Kenally's declaration that girls of the flapper type developed at length by Dr. Kenally in her book, "Feminism and Sex Distinction," has attracted much attention.

"For the most part," she says, "the faces of our handsome women are prominently pagan—bold, sophisticated, clever, without sweetness, softness, imagination, sensitiveness—in a word, without soul."

"At twenty-two," states Dr. Kenally, "they are keen on politics, and finance, resorts, presentiments of materialistic middle-age."

"This," she says, has led to development of those "savage" knowledge flappers, with vulgarly movements, crude manners and manners and without charm. Dr. Kenally is shocked by the heavy makeup which English girls' colleges have taken up "sport," which, she declares, makes women have a combative habit of mind and develops girls into being half men.

"Here are seen," she says, "abundant in force content during the exhausting heat of Summer afternoons, grim-visaged maidens of slender build, hard and tight and set, as working women in their forties; some with braids, (braids, and squint, about of thought, identified with the republican party.

The senior republican organization will figure prominently in the direction of the Harding campaign.

Senator Lodge, Brantledge and Fall already have discussed with Senator Harding many details of the campaign and especially with reference to New England and the southwest. Senator Harding had hoped to see Senator Harding in Chicago before the latter left yesterday for California, but was disappointed in this respect. Friends of Senator Harding say the latter will soon make known his plans for the party support of Harding and Coolidge. They declare that while his appointment in falling to secure the nomination for president was declined, he will soon begin active support of the republican ticket. They have no fear of his bolting under any circumstances. Senator Harding expects great results from the help of Governor Lowden of Illinois, and the latter's friends in the middle western states.

HARDING SAYS DOES NOT KNOW HERRING ON LEAGUE JAMPER

He feels that this is due to the friends, who, without money and in the face of many discouragements, brought to him the convention delegates and held them, loyally through the strain of 10 ballots until success came to him. This republican national committee will be an important part of the campaign machinery. It will not, however, be all. The Harding organization will be the ultimately working, driving power of the candidate, Harry M. Daugherty, of Columbus, O., who arrived this morning and conferred with Senator Harding in the broad of the national campaign of the republican nominee. Daugherty is a former Ohio politician with loyal friends and bitter enemies. The latter defeated him for election as a Harding delegate to the Chicago convention while electing most of his friends. At their conference this morning the senator and Daugherty considered plans for the campaign, but have been worked out by the latter.

Daugherty is insisting that he might be best left getting down to a systematic campaign, full of vigor. He has proposed the Harding organization throughout the country to be a "hardly" party.

While these plans carefully drafted Senator Harding will be ready for his conference with him Monday, with Chairman Will H. Hays, of the national committee who will present suggestions on his campaign. It will be necessary to Senator Harding to coordinate the general plan free from outside and complications.

Seneca he has finished his difficult task, Senator Harding will confer with as many republican leaders as he can meet. He has invited them to a conference with him, the invitation being confined to go forward but extended to republicans of every shade.

There are rush periods in every line of business, especially where the public is being served, and when these rush periods come the capacity of the utility is invariably overtaxed and someone must wait for service.

A man will wait in line patiently several minutes to make a deposit in a bank, to buy a two-cent postage stamp, to register a letter, to buy a railroad ticket or a seat in the theatre, and make no complaint. He will go personally to see a business man and will sit in line for half an hour before he can be "seen," and think nothing of it.

The vast system of the Mountain States Telephone Company, which cares for 306,301 telephones in its own territory alone, is set up to answer calls in a very few seconds. Any variation therefrom is usually because a number of calls have come in simultaneously.

In telephone operation, as in everything else, when an overload occurs, patience should be exercised by everyone until the jam has been relieved. The operator is not always to blame—the equipment may be short of capacity, or the number of calls may be so great that the public that rush periods is not to be blamed.

Abnormal conditions is the answer. Patience and reasonable demands are the temporary remedy until adequate equipment may be had.

PEACE TREATY WILL BE ISSUE NEXT FALL SAYS MARK SULLIVAN

Noted Journalist Declares Wilson's Decline in Popularity Due to Failing Health—Low Birth Rate in France

Declaring that the state of President Wilson's health during the later months was the one cause of the want in popularity which he said was so universally evident and stating that the peace treaty would be the deciding presidential campaign in the fall, Mark Sullivan, editor of Callier's and noted political correspondent, who was in Paris during the entire period of the peace conference, spoke last evening in Lavering theatre before a large crowd.

Speaking an unprejudiced decline in power and prestige. Mr. Sullivan characterized France as a dying nation stating that the birth rate even in normal times barely balanced the death rate and that now it even failed to do that. Approximately 2,000,000 male residents of the land of Napoleon were killed or rendered useless for industrial purposes by the war, he said. Those who were equipped so that they could not work are a great handicap to France, he said, because they have to be supported and while France appreciates the aid of the American people she cannot help build up shattered France into the nation it was previous to the conflict.

The French newspaper, Mr. Sullivan declared, did not want to outbid the obligations of the conference and while the representatives of the new-papers of the other countries of the globe desired that accounts the war was not accepted to.

Mr. Sullivan also spoke of the part played by the resolution adopted by President Wilson on his European trip by the people of the various countries he visited and made the assertion that the much of the success of the negotiations was arranged by the diplomats with gain as the end in view. Arriving seemingly a popular idol of the globe, Mr. Sullivan stated that Mr. Wilson's popularity rapidly declined toward the later days of his visit.

Newspaper men in Paris, the speaker stated, could feel the decline in prestige as the days sped by but there was nothing which could be done. Toward the last the president himself seemed to lose heart. Questions relative to the Monroe doctrine which the American people so much desired answered were replied to after expending delay by the conference and the answers were not always satisfactory to the American people or the act.

In regard to the settlement of the Shantung problem in China for which the president was severely censured, Mr. Sullivan stated that at that time, with a myriad of questions of pressing importance coming up, chief of which was the Panama controversy, the president knew that if he fought against the others relative to Shantung the Chinese delegate would depart for the Orient while premier Orlando, acting for Italy, would leave for Italy should he not accede to their demands. Thus he granted the Shantung concession.

Toward the end of the conference with delegates from the various countries either on the way to the home shores or at least absent from the gathering of prominent men the number of delegates had dwindled to Lloyd George, Clemenceau, Wilson and Lansing and they met in a small room much too small for the seating of reporters even had they been allowed. A large amount of final business was transacted, all in secret, he said, with the American chief executive experi-

THE GEM THEATRE Today and Tomorrow HARRY CAREY in "Overland Red" The Romantic Adventure of a Joyous Vagabond, the Best Thing Harry Carey Ever Did—A Great Six-Part Production Adopted From the Famous Novel by Henry Herbert Knibbs: The poetry of a nomad's life, in the romantic setting of the glorious West, is convincingly portrayed by Harry Carey, the greatest of film stars, in his latest picture, "Overland Red." Here's one of the most enjoyable photodramas you've ever langed and thrilled through—the rollicking romance of a happy-go-lucky knight of the road, who passes suddenly from poverty to riches—with vigorous, humorous Harry Carey keeping you chuckling all the time—the purest tonic for the blues that you ever took. Now playing. See it without fail. Carey has achieved a reputation as a strong western type actor—a picturization of the two-gun man who gave vitality to the old frontier days. In his present role as a knight of the road, a plain hobo, he has an even greater appeal.

RIDDLE'S COLT BUT ONE OF GREATEST

Man o' War Is Wonder, but Cannot Be Ranked Above Old Cracks

NEW YORK, June 18.—Just how great is Man o' War?

Those and others who follow the sport o' klegs are pretty generally agreed that General Riddle's illustrious son of Fair Play-Mahuba is one of the greatest race horses ever foaled. Many predict that he will outstrip the record hung up by the great Bayson and shatter the marks made by Colin. Having captured the Breckness at Danvers and the Withers at Belmont Park, banking up a new American record in the latter race at 1:35 4-5, he is widely a wonderful prospect. His record in the Withers clipped four-fifths of a second from the track record made by Stromboli in 1914 and at the same time lowered the American record of 1:14 1-5 made in 1913 at Saratoga by San Frisco. This mark is a new record for a mile in competition. The fastest mile was covered by a horse in this country when he raced against time by the late Ad-drew Miller's Roamer. Roamer covered the distance at Saratoga in 1:14 3-5 against time.

The best horse ever Man o' War will prove himself to be remains to be seen. That he will probably win the Klappan of three-year-olds for the current season is generally admitted, and if he succeeds he will only be carrying out the pace he set last year when he captured the two-year-old title. It is a debatable question, however, whether or not the Riddle horse is really greater than the best thoroughbred developed within the last decade or so and one old-timer, a great admirer of Man o' War, by the way, debates the question as follows:

"With reference to Man o' War's exceptional performance in the Withers, it may be well to remember when comparing his feat with those of other great horses that the track today runs much faster than they were run on and larger in size.

"The races in England are run on much faster tracks, which is a big advantage. Calumet and other horses have made better time. When they were made up of 125 or 130 pounds they made runs from one mile to two miles quicker, miles against the best horses in training of the class of today. Prince, Phalaris, Flying Fox and many others, when he can be compared with the greatest ever, but not better.

"The slowest has been that Flying Fox was the greatest racehorse ever known, and he has ridden the best in his country, England and France. Flying Fox beat Calumet's 1:35, 1:30 and could run five miles against six horses that ever lived, and beat him.

"Man o' War is wonderful so far, but not the greatest by long means. Nobody would have set a record for a mile in a purse to $25,000 if it had not just such a sad end, and although I believe Man o' War would have beaten him at one mile, Riddle would have proved his master at one and one-half to two and one-quarter miles. Man o' War has a great future, and I hope he makes good and all is predicted of him. Not until it does, it is premature to proclaim him the greatest ever."

POCATELLO BOY TO FIGHT FOR MIDDLEWEIGHT TITLE

Gordon McKay and Mike O'Dowd, of St. Paul, the Fighting Champion, Will Tangle at Pocatello July Fifth

When Gordon McKay of Pocatello meets Mike O'Dowd of St. Paul in the ring in Pocatello July 5 the Pocatello boy will be afforded the opportunity of annexing the middleweight championship of the world—a goal he has had in mind constantly during a remarkable ten years' ring record.

With due credit to Mike O'Dowd as one of the greatest champions the middleweight class has ever produced, friends of McKay, who have been watching his development, believe the time is ripe for the blossoming of a new champion.

Since McKay burst his sturdy body into the fight ring ten years ago, he has participated in 42 battles in which he has won 35 by knockouts. It is by reference to these, three by the new-quarter decision, four draws and lost only one decision and that one of decidedly disputable character, that McKay has won seven of his last eight fights by knockouts. During his pugilistic career, McKay has met many real fighters, yet he holds the extraordinary record of never having been knocked out in his feet. Carrying a deadly weapon in either mitt, hitting victims has been decisive.

However, a real ring general, with a wonderful physique, a multi-kick hitler, and yet a defensive phenom, McKay has won his present right to contend for the championship by putting his body behind his muscles, and by a development of those fighting qualities which make champions, and by a meticulous avoidance of every low-bait or practice which would handicap him in his path to the championship goal.

The McKay-O'Dowd fight will not develop the slightest tinge of unpopularity which has blighted the encounter of other pugilists. Both McKay and O'Dowd were enlisted men in the army and did their full duty to the country in their time of need. McKay became a sergeant in the 13th Infantry.

The life history of Gordon McKay shows him to be a man of exceptionally strong character. McKay has a clean record. His late contacts do not incur in "police court" or by law of association with questionable persons.

In the ring McKay has developed his head, his muscles and his eyes to function in lightning flashes, synchronized and with highest speed. McKay is not a flashy, spotlight fighter. His moves count, his energy is always conserved. When he rushes, his left, then his right, short, short, powerful, well timed and well aimed trip-hammer blows.

After giving the complete route over his fist, after 42 contests he has earned an unimpaired right to participate in the world event July 5, when the championship in the middleweight division will be fought.

Gordon McKay was born in Prince Edward Island, Canada, August 25, 1897. His father and mother now reside upon the farm where McKay passed his boyhood days.

After his graduation from high school, Gordon set out to see the world. His first work was performed as an apprentice electrician in Winnipeg, Manitoba, where he remained until becoming a full fledged journeyman electrician, which membership in good standing of the Winnipeg local of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

McKay first displayed talent as an amateur boxer in Winnipeg amateur circles. His first professional experience was at Calgary, Alberta, where he was on the training staff of Tommy Burns, manager of Arthur Petcher (Peky), who delivered the main blow to World's Light Heavyweight Champion, Luther McCarty. McKay worked out with Peky during his entire training period and shortly after the Peky-McCarthy battle, McKay made his first public appearance in the well-weighted ring. He was unable to get matches with

The attendance at Salt Lake between the Beas and Beas broke all records for attendance at the Utah State Athletic Union. Besides because of the fact that it was the "crucial" one of games to determine the league leadership which the Beas now possess. The series with the Athletics which is now on is also drawing good crowds. Los Angeles was the runner up last year.
