RED TERMS OF PEACE HANDED TO THE POLES

Delegates Are Reported to Have Returned to Warsaw With the Proposals

Stipulations Unknown

Nothing Has Been Learned of the Conditions Which Bolshevik Will Impose

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Russia-Polish armistice negotiations opened in Minsk at 7 o'clock last night, according to an official wireless received from Moscow today. After the delegates had exchanged credentials, adjournment was taken until today.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—Polish peace delegates have returned to Warsaw from Minsk, bearing terms of peace according to news received here today. Nothing can be learned of the alleged terms.

Advices from members of the American mission in Warsaw, relayed by way of Posen, said the Poles had pushed the issue back about 100 miles to the west, in the vicinity of the capital, recapturing Iudzynski (20 miles north and east of Warsaw, on the river Ruzica). The situation in the Lublin sector was described as "unimproved."

Russian Loss Tonn
The Polish legation here claimed that Russian losses were 200,000 tons. This was said to give the Poles an opportunity to cut the forces west and southwest of that city.

A general strike in protest against the Polish-Russian war was reported here. It was said to have broken out in several places. At Katowice, the crowds were reported to have attacked French cavalry, killing one trooper and a machine gunner. Nine of the attacking civilians were killed and 20 wounded. The French were withdrawn.

May Define Terms

After consulting with the Polish ministry regarding the Russian terms and receiving the latter's proposals, it was reported today that the Poles will not enter into negotiations with the Russians before the end of the week. It is reported that the Polish government will not accept the new terms submitted by the Russians, inasmuch as they would mean a complete withdrawal of Polish forces and munitions.

German military experts here declare the fall of Warsaw depends wholly upon the amount of munitions for the Russian artillery. According to Lithuanian reports, the Bolsheviks will play a part in the defense of the city, inasmuch as they are in proportion to their other units. Warsaw was said to have three weeks' provisions, while other foodstuffs are being hoarded against air raids.

COX AND LEAGUE INTERPRETATIONS

MR. Cox stands with Mr. Wilson for the ratification of the covenant of the League of Nations. Mr. Cox says, however, that he believes in "interpretations." The covenant evidently needs "interpretations."

Article III provides that "the assembly may deal at its meetings with any matters within the sphere of action of the League, or affecting the peace of the world."

Article IV provides, "The council may deal at its meetings with any matter within the sphere of action of the League affecting the peace of the world."

It would appear that these two articles need some "interpretations"; for suppose the council starts to act upon some matter "affecting the peace of the world," and while it is acting the assembly should undertake to pass upon the same controversy "affecting the peace of the world," and suppose the two bodies should come to different conclusions, shall the conclusion of the assembly be followed, or shall the conclusion of the council be followed?

Then again Article XIII provides that among the subjects to be considered under the covenant, and which shall be subject to "arbitration," are "disputes as to the interpretation of a treaty."

Article III, Section 2 of the Constitution of the United States says that the judicial power of the supreme court of the United States "shall extend to all cases in law and equity, arising under this Constitution,—the laws of the United States and TREATIES MADE, OR WHICH SHALL BE MADE, UNDER THEIR AUTHORITY."

Now then, what "interpretation" shall we give the covenant as to its nature concerning the treaties to which the United States is a party? Shall the president and senate ratify the covenant, trample upon the constitution of the United States and make it a mere scrap of paper, and oust the supreme court of the United States from its jurisdiction, or shall we submit the "interpretation" of the treaty to the supreme court of the United States for its "interpretation" and also to arbitration? And whose decision shall we follow, if the decisions should not be alike, that of the supreme court, or that of the board of arbitration under the covenant of the League of Nations?

GOING TO SCHOOL IN A TENT

WOULDN'T it be fun to go to school in a tent? Of course it would,—just like living in a circus,—that is, it would be like a circus if the pupils at the tent school were not hungry, half clothed and with no comfortable homes to go to after school. At Tirana, in Albania, over 200 children are attending a Junior Red Cross school, and their schoolhouse is a great tent, but these little boys and girls do not call it a circus probably because they never saw a circus and also because they were without sufficient food and clothing until the American Red Cross came to them. Most of them are orphans, their fathers having died for their country. While they go to school every day, they do very little studying at first, for their weak bodies have to be built up and made strong after years of insufficient food. Of the 200 school children, all but 90 are in the kindergarten not because they are such little tots, but because they have been kept out of school for five years by the terrible war.

At Tirana the Red Cross will soon open another school where boys and girls will be taught trades. It will be what is called a vocational training school and will be located in an old stone building, needed more than twenty years ago, when Albania was a part of the Turkish empire. This building, the walls of which are still standing, was originally designed as a college, but the Turks prevented its completion. Now it will be rebuilt and before long will be filled with the hum of happy childish voices for the school girls and boys of America, who make up the Junior Red Cross will provide them with books and paper and pencils and put them in the way of securing for themselves an education.

Tourists travel from Paris as a center has reached such enormous proportions that the Cook's famous headquarters has been reduced to the rank of a branch and a new and greatly enlarged establishment has been set up in the Place de la Madeleine. Incidentally money for the rehabilitation of the war-worn continent must be pouring in from the old familiar sources.

Among the blessings due to the war few optimists will be hardly enough to enumerate paper clothing, samples of which have been ordered from Germany by the department of commerce. The civil war gave us paper clothes, paper tubes, and paper shoes, but gratitude for the gift was never very great.

When one gets a profile view of the average Eve Trader advertising the virtues of Free Trade, it is easier to understand why some people still claim that man descended from the monkey.

Some people could pass themselves off for two different persons, if they wanted to,—it is such a simple difference between them on Sunday and other days.

If Columbus had been looking for a house to live in instead of a continent we would appreciate the fact that he had a hard job of his hands.

De la Huerta says he has no intention of keeping the president against the will of the Mexican people. He is showing rare judgment.

More Job Hunters in Country Than Jobs

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 18.—United Press.—Office workers and clerical men are feeling the pinch of summer unemployment in business, according to F. M. Smith, attending the convention of the National Association of Technical, Educational and Commercial Employment agencies which opened here today.

"While collar workers have not the grip on their jobs they had six months ago," office managers are warning the job hunters, and strikers and unemployees especially are being worried out," he declared. "In times of depression the banks, seeing the emergency first and act by cutting down on profit to business concerns in the mercantile world, there follow special sales and bargain offers, efforts to obtain quick money. Supplementing this comes a curtailment for the reduction of operating expenses, and blue collars to white collar men become common. Such a condition exists at the present time."

David Holloman, secretary of the Illinois Employment Agency Association, stated that the return of large numbers of clerical workers from Washington, D. C., to their former localities has resulted in an over-supply of applications for positions. "Particularly," he declared, "but applies for office jobs are on the decline, especially where applicants are assured that the positions are permanent." Many delegates representing employment agencies from all parts of the United States convened here today at the LaSalle Hotel in their third annual convention. J. B. Ellis, of Minneapolis fledging, industrial situation offering employment through out the country were discussed. Leave takers to the number of regular permanent employment agencies were indicated by speakers. A plan for conducting regular surveys abroad to business was adopted. It was declared that government supervision over the activities of employment agencies had resulted in coming away largely with employment work. "The convention will be in session daily throughout the week."

Baker Upholds Plan of League of Nations

COLUMBIA, Mo., Aug. 18.—(United Press.)—The plan to "hand" in world affairs, "It must be a strong hand," Secretary of War Baker said in a speech before the congressional state convention here Tuesday. His address was devoted entirely to a vigorous argument for the league of nations convention. "If we do not go in the league we must continue to arm," he said. "We must build a greater navy; we must keep pace with the improvement in arms, constantly and increasing our credit building up greater reserves of the most modern, most ingenious, and most complete implements of defense and offense."

Baker sharply attacked Senator Harding's peace plan, assuring that the republican candidate was "filling in a phoney heart and asking everyone to be gullible."

JAPANESE FRAME LAMP TO DEFEND THE F. S.

(By United Press.)
TOKYO, (By Mail Press.)—A particularly interesting bill which is likely to be introduced in the session of the Diet which has just opened in Tokyo, providing for ownership by foreigners of land in Japan, which may act as a counter move to the proposed Japanese land legislation in California. As a matter of fact, such a bill passed the Diet some ten years ago, but as it never manifested any real deal as a result of the war." "The features of the new law," said the minister of justice, Mr. Yoka, "is in the restoration of the right of the old law, recognizing land ownership by foreigners, provided Japanese are granted reciprocal rights in their respective countries. Furthermore, this new law will be applicable to all parts of Japan, except Korea and districts having strategic value."

FRENCH DESERT SHIPS FOR RUSSIA

MONTREAL, Aug. 18.—(United Press.)—Ships and freight boxes on the wharves and piles of Montreal are now inundated with warnings to sailors not to desert their ships while in Canada's largest and wettest port. The warnings are the result of a campaign by the Shipping Federation and the local police to put an end to the numerous desertions, occurring when vessels reach this port, which in the last few weeks have left many ships with only part crews for their return voyages. Cheap rail fares to the harvest fields of western Canada, big wages and whiskey are given as the reasons for desertions.

New United Press Head

W. W. HAWKINS
New President of the United Press Associations

W. W. Hawkins, who has just been elected President of the United Press Associations, is a native of Illinois. He later succeeded to become general news manager, general manager, and managing editor, having worked his way up in the latter part of the 1900s in the United Press, which became a part of the newly-organized United Press in 1910. Portuguese Pay Honor to National Patron

By WILLIAM A. BRENTLY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
LISBON, Aug. 18.—(By Mail Press.)—The day has just been organized in Lisbon a national crusade to do honor to the memory of São Alberto Pereira and initiate a movement throughout Portugal for celebrating annually on August 14, the anniversary of the battle of Aljubarrotta and São Alberto Pereira, the national patron of Portugal. "No figure in the galaxy of medieval chivalry is more venerated than that of São Alberto Pereira," the "Saint King," a contemporary of Chaucer, Walter Scott, Boccaccio and Mark Twain, as a brave soldier, a daring and successful general and a type of the perfect and gentle knight, he ranks with the best. The hero of the national history, a figure of no less amount of nobility and sainted figures of the great age of the Church of Europe.

He had, too, the rare fortune to find in the anonymous author of the "Chronicle of Condestable" a chronicler worth his theme. This fine thought from the pen of a Portuguese chronicler will compare with the very best of the personal chronicles of early European literature with the justice of the "Chronicle of Condestable" which has been here, and the book is not common.

Big Circus Will be Joy to Everyone

Circus days, when the crack of the flying maverick whip, the growling of the jagged beasts, trumpeting of elephants, and jibes of clowns will blend into midsummer melody, when Twin Falls will welcome John Robinson's circus, which arrives Sunday morning, when everything will be put into shape, but the two formations will be given in Twin Falls Monday, August 22.

"There are elephants that walk on their hauses," says the circus "showman." "There is an ape that does the 'Hip Hop' on forepart, and Simlans who will do stunts as maximum."

There are arid articles, for the first Nelson family and others who will defy death to entertain, and with others who do stunts on horses, which could not do on terra firma, as well as those who walk on tight and slack wires as a rule, as they walk on the ground.

Not a thing will be lacking, and supplementary to the circus there will be the usual fair, with a 'Satanic Show'—the indulgent, fat woman buster, with man and large managerie including a jungle mixture of baby wild animals in which will appear an infant elephant, three feet in height.

On the whole, the circus present agents declare, "it will be as fine, if not better, than any circus ever before seen here," which is saying a good deal.

Track shipbuilders have consented an out of date warship into a cargo vessel of modern design and equipment.

Reindeer Meat May Help to Lower Cost

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 18.—(United Press.)—According to an order, in council just gazetted here a vast territory in Baffin's Land will be leased to Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the Arctic explorer for the purpose of raising the reindeer and musk ox herds, the meat of which will, it is said, go toward solving the problem of cheaper food. The land which is to be leased for thirty years with a renewal period not to exceed twenty years, is that section described as the southern half of Jaffin's land south of parallel 83 degrees north latitude and including a strip 10 miles wide along the north boundary of Lanks Settlement.

For the first fifteen years Stefansson will be given free grazing privileges, but for the remainder of his lease he will be asked to pay $12,500 a year. According to Stefansson's statement to the Dominion government he has interested sufficient capital to insure the success of the project.

While reindeer meat is known only to a very few sections of the north land, reindeer meat is quite a common dish on the northern Pacific coast and is often available in restaurants at Seattle as well as at Poughkeepsie. The meat of the reindeer is very palatable and not unlike that of the white-tailed domestic deer of the western states.

Boy Musicians Tour the Eastern States

KINSTON, N. C., August 18.—(United Press.)—What is pronounced here as a unique vacation project has been undertaken by 28 members of the towns juvenile band. The boys will journey on a vacation and sightseeing trip to Washington, Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York, stopping at several cities en route to give concerts, the proceeds of which will be used to defray traveling expenses.

Full camping equipment including tents and mess kits will be carried, for the boys will seek to bring down costs to the minimum. A conductor from this section will accompany the youthful band.

The oldest member of the party, with the exception of the land tender and instructor, is 18 and the youngest 12. The uniforms are blue piped with brass gold stripes. The drum major will wear a red and black fur hat and carry a shiny cane.
